French Railway Strike Puts Paris On Short Rations

PARIS REVERTS TO WARTIME FOOD DISTRIBUTION—STRIKE LEADERS THREATEN SOVIET RULE OF RAILROADS—VARIOUS FOOD PRODUCTS TAKE JUMP IN PRICE.

PARIS, Feb. 28.—Siege regulations governing the distribution of food were in prospect for Paris when the Government yesterday ordered a return to the war-time restrictions, in the hope of tiding Paris over the railroad tie-up due to the strike.

The walk-out has not yet assumed Soviet proportions, thanks to the energetic measures taken by the Government, but the leaders threaten to bring about a condition which will amount to a Soviet rule of the railroads. Although the strike may be said to be general, still it is not complete, for trains were still being operated at wide intervals on the Eastern, Orleans and Northern systems. The Western lines were almost completely stalled.

Leaders of the strikers seemed to be more conciliatory after a night of heated conferences with Premier Millerand, during which the Premier offered the Government's services as mediator on their claim to the right to strike and to attend union meetings.

Restaurant Restrictions.

Restaurants will be required to serve not more than two dishes per customer per meal if the strike continues. Prices for fish, meat, vegetables, butter and poultry took a sharp climb today, rousing the authorities to action to prevent hoarding or speculating in food. Milk will probably be restricted to the sick and infants. The Government today had mobilized 10,000 state employees and may oblige them to operate food trains, although the strikers have expressed a willingness to permit union men to run flour trains without restriction.

Following Millerand's declaration in the Chamber that the strike is purely revolutionary in character, the Government requisitioned all commercial airplanes to carry the mails.

Suit Sale Blocks Traffic In London

Millionaire M. P. is Making Onslaught On Clothing Profiteers

LONDON, Feb. 28—One hundred thousand tailor-made suits, offered to the public at $14 each blocked the traffic along the Strand, one of London's busiest thoroughfares, throughout Friday in the midst of an almost continuous rainstorm.

The sale was the beginning of a tremendous onslaught on clothing profiteers by Harry Mallaby-Deeley, millionaire member of Parliament, which is thrilling all England.

From an early hour in the morning, long before the sale opened, thousands of well-dresed men and women, boys and girls, stormed the doors of the public benefactor's "place of business" So great was the congestion that the police reserves had to be called to clear the street. But the crowd soon came back. Thousands were held up for hours at a time, causing great business losses but the crowd laughed and did not care as long as it got the highest grade of clothing for one-fifth of the original price, the general cost of a tailored suit in Britain being $75

Explaining his purpose to the correspondent, Mr. Mallaby-Deeley said:

"I am simply trying to help protect the public against the profiteer, the greatest factor in the present unrest which is at the point of shaking the constitution. I am fighting the prohibitive prices of absolute necessities which are utterly unjustified.

"We are offering the highest grade of clothing the output of four factories—10,000 suits a week, one garment to each customer, and with no profit whatever to ourselves.

"It is a simple lesson in mass production enabling the public to have the first benefit instead of letting combines reap illegal profiteering harvests. Our prices are the lowest in the world. I am not acting as a manufacturer, merchant, or tailor, but as one who wants to give the people what they are entitled to."

Dropped Six Miles In Blazing Plane

DAYTON, O., Feb. 28—Major Rudolph Schroeder, a Chicago aviator, dropped from an official altitude record of 63,250 feet, a distance of more than six miles, saving his life within 2,000 feet of the earth by semi-consciously grasping his controls and guiding his airplane into a long, gliding sweep, which landed him safely on the ground. The height reached by Major Schroeder breaks all previous one-man altitude records.

The dizzy drop and a temperature of 63 degrees below zero caused the flier's eyeballs to freeze, temporarily blinding him. During the descent his oxygen tank broke, sending out a streaming flame.

TO GROW COTTON IN MESOPOTAMIA

Blackburn, England, March 1—Returning from an investigation of the possibilities of Mesopotamia and the Soudan, made on behalf of the British Cotton Growing Association, Fred Hodkinson says that when those countries are opened up by canals and railways, the growing of cotton for commerce under a system of irrigation offers excellent prospects. The results of the experimental farms in Bagdad, Mesopotamia, and in the Amara region of the Eastern Soudan, he said, had shown a yield of more than double that in Egypt and three times as great as that in America. He expressed the belief that America would use all the cotton she grows, and therefore, it was urgent that Great Britain should develop cotton growing within the Empire.

CRITICIZES WILSON FOR DICTATION

Washington, March 1—Senator Kellogg said the President without justification had "undertaken to dictate absolutely" an Adriatic settlement. He added, that the development was "discouraging" to friends of the peace treaty. The Senator said he did not know "why Italy should not defend herself."

"My position is that it is none of our business," he continued.

"I do not believe the President is justified in attempting to dictate an adjustment.

Ocean Liner On Rocks Passengers Rescued By Tugs

S.S. BOHEMIAN OUT FROM BOSTON WITH PASSENGERS AND CARGO WRECKED ON "BLIND SISTER" ROCKS NEAR HALIFAX—TUGS STANDING BY.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

HALIFAX, March 1.—The liner Bohemian, which left Boston last Saturday, went ashore this morning in a storm at St. Ambrose Ledges. Tugs have rescued the passengers and are bringing them to port. The vessel carried sixty-four cabin passengers, a crew of two hundred and a valuable cargo. She had been expected to dock at Halifax for a few hours today to take on more cargo and coal.

The passengers were taken off early this morning and brought here by the tug Roebling. No further word has been received of the condition of the ship, which grounded on the sinister rocks known as the Blind Sisters. A number of tugs are standing by the wrecked steamer.

Concerted Action Against the Turks Now Decided Upon

LONDON, March 1—The council of Premiers has decided to take "concerted action" in connection with the massacre of Armenians in Asiatic Turkey, it was announced officially. Military experts were called into the council's session.

Conflicting Statements Issued

Turkish and Armenian bureaus continued to issue conflicting statements over disorders in Asiatic Turkey. The Armenians claimed additional massacres of their countrymen in the Aintalo and Marash districts and again appealed to the French Government, which now has some soldiers in this territory, to protect Armenians. The Turks, while admitting there have been clashes, blamed the Armenians for the disturbances, claiming the Armenians were the aggressors.

Another Hamilton Murder Mystery

Body of George Williams, With Head Battered, Discovered Near Valley Inn Mill

HAMILTON, March 1—Hamilton has another murder mystery. At two o'clock Saturday morning, George Williams, night watchman at the Concrete Pipe & Products, Limited, near the Valley Inn Mill, was found by Thomas Williams, another employee reporting for duty, with his head smashed. A blood-stained pick-axe nearby was evidently the weapon with which the murder was committed. The body was in the doorway of the main entrance.

The police failed to unearth any motive for the crime or a clue to the slayer. Williams was 62 years of age, and came here from St. Catharines with the owners of the firm, J. Weller and W. M. Weller.

The authorities say Williams had no relatives.

Williams' frozen body was found lying by the door leading to the boiler room at 2 o'clock Saturday morning. It is the belief of the police that Williams met his death at midnight. He had not been robbed, as he still had his watch and money in his pockets when the police took charge of the body.

The murder of Williams recalls another mystery that occurred two years ago this month at the same plant when Como Georriefsky was found slain on a gravel pile.

The body was removed to the city morgue and Coroner Rennie will open an inquest Monday, March 8.

GERMAN VESSELS READY FOR ALLIES

Berlin, March 1—One hundred and twenty vessels, including eight battle ships and a number of cruisers, will be handed over to the entente next week by the German government under the terms of the treaty of Versailles, according to an announcement made at a meeting of the association of German fishermen at Hamburg today. These vessels, the announcement said, would be manned by officers of the German mercantile marine.

Excitement prevails at German seaports as the time approaches for delivery of the last German commercial ships, and several unions have appealed to the government, advocating the retention of the boats. It is claimed that reconstruction of the industry may be impossible and that new disturbances in the labor market are inevitable.

"CLASS DISTINCTION OF WORST TYPE"

Hamilton, March 1.—Answering criticisms of his recent utterances regarding the Ontario Temperance Act, Mayor Booker said today:

"The Ontario Temperance Act is one of the rottenest laws ever placed on the statute books. It teaches young men, the hope of the country, to be deceitful. It is class distinction of the worst type. The wealthy man's cellar is full. The poor man has to pay $2 to a doctor for a script and an extortionate amount for a bottle of whisky. This law is creating Bolshevism. The manufacture of liquor should absolutely be stopped or sane legislation enacted."

Heligoland No Longer A Menace

Allies Have Removed Sting From Island Naval Base Which Menaced Their Food Supply Throughout the War.

BERLIN, March 1.—Helgoland, two years ago Germany's most impregnable barrier against allied sea power, is today a dismantled hulk of no military importance. The black, imperious bulk of the island itself, surmounted by tons of masonry and ingeniously constructed gun emplacements, is all that remains.

Guns, Dismantled.

Germans concerned in the construction of the fortress declare another seven years' work will be necessary to complete Helgoland's "demobilization." Work has been in progress for over a year. All the guns have been dismantled, but the destruction of the harbor works and other fortifications on the island is proceeding. This stronghold was built at a cost of more than $175,000,000, but its mighty guns were fired but once throughout the war. The British warship Shannon was the target. The island played a negative part in the defence of the German coast, probably because allied experts agree that it would have been impossible to silence its batteries.

The foundations of the harbor, which is about 800 yards in length and 500 yards wide, consists of huge blocks of concrete. All these have to be destroyed.

To Return to Sea.

The ground on which the barracks stand, to reclaim which from the sea a multitude of Germans worked for years at a cost of $5,000,000, is to be returned to the sea.

Everything in the defence of Helgoland is worked by hydraulic power. The water necessary for the defence and sanitary purposes is drawn by huge pumps from 50 feet below sea level. The subterranean galleries, which are electrically lighted, are regarded by military men as wonder works.

Although the Germans considered that the secret of Helgoland had been kept inviolate, it is now revealed that a British naval officer, posing as an American student, saw all the fortifications in 1913.

WINTER HANGS ON

Saturday completed thirteen weeks of straight winter; or the "straightest" ever known to any resident in these parts—not a rainfall, not a thaw, and nine weeks of a snow-covered earth; also zero as the prevailing record of the thermometer, and still going strong. When the thaw comes the city streets may be full of holes and ruts in the frozen snow.

Spring is not dated in the calendar until March 21, three weeks away. But winter set in three weeks ahead of the almanac. What is it to be from now on? Like the high cost of living, is it, too, to hold on?

As for the flu epidemic, an unusual number of people are still being carried off by sudden illnesses.

The sun does its best in mid-day to bore into the snow, but from a starting point 20 degrees colder than freezing! Winter still reigns and snow and ice still prevail! But old Doctor Chase, who continues to publish his almanac, though he must send his predictions from an undiscovered bourne, says it will rain on the coming Saturday. Good old Doc!

U.S. Railway Lines Returned to Owners

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—President Wilson last night signed the bill restoring the railroads to private ownership at 12.01 a.m. Monday. The President attached his signature in the face of determined opposition by organized labor, which had gone to such an extent that the American Federation of Labor, the four great railway brotherhoods and also the Farmers' National Council had asked him to veto the bill.

No Special Wage Tribunal

In a letter to the heads of the railway brotherhoods and unions, the President refused to grant their request to appoint a special wage tribunal to pass upon the pending demands for increases in pay. Instead, he declared that he believed the bi-partisan board, as provided in the legislation just enacted, would not only be fair and just, but would be "found to be particularly in the interest of railroad employees as a class."

In fact, the President said he found the bi-partisan board established by the bill "an appropriate substitute for the committee of experts he had suggested to help settle the wage plan."

Rejects Labor Demand

The point was made by the President that the Labor board was required to provide wages commensurate with standard paid for work in other industries, and was also empowered to prescribe sufficient rates to pay for reasonable operating expenses of the railways, including wages. This last statement was taken to mean a hint of coming rate increases, particularly as a suggestion of that kind is included in the annual report of Director-General Hines, made public today

President Wilson's letter to the railwaymen was considered here as an absolute rejection of all the demands of Labor in relation to the bill.

Mr. Crerar stated that conditions in the west as far as the Farmers' party was concerned was distinctly encouraging.

Armenians Are Slain In Countless Numbers

TEN THOUSAND MASSACRED IN CILICIA DURING PAST MONTH IS ESTIMATE FROM REPORTS SENT TO WASHINGTON — DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS CONTINUE AND MURDER AND LOOTING OF AMERICAN SCHOOLS IN LIST OF CRIMES.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The gravity of the situation in Cilicia, Syrian Turkey, was emphasized in reports received and made public by the State Department, stating that the Turks have cut the Bagdad railway beyond Adana, that the French troops sustained serious reverses at the hands of the Turks, and that Armenians have been massacred by the wholesale.

The report stated that up to the beginning of "regular" fighting between the French and the Turks the number of Armenians killed was estimated as having "exceeded five thousand." The report added that "it is feared that as many have been killed since then." Unless this information is inaccurate, and it came to the State Department from what is officially described as "a reliable source," it would mean that over 10,000 Armenians have been massacred in Cilicia since the latter part of January, or approximately a month.

The American Government's advices show that fighting, which began between the Turks and French on January 20, took the form of a regular battle on January 21, which continued until February 10, when the French had to withdraw because they were "greatly outnumbered" by the Turks. It was before the beginning of the "regular battle" that the Turks began the slaughter of the Armenians, but the slaughter of the Armenians continued during February, and on the 7th of the present month the Turks sacked a rescue home for Armenian girls that was being run by Americans at Marash and murdered 85 of the girls. They also burned the mountain cottage of the missionaries, the building of the Near East Farm, and fired upon Americans in the American College at Marash.

A Woman's Trouble

Stratford, Ont.:—"I do think Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription one of the best medicines I have ever known for the ailments of women. I had for quite a long time been having woman's trouble which caused me to become all run-down, weak and nervous. I doctored but nothing seemed to give me relief until I began taking 'Favorite Prescription.' This medicine gave me such wonderful relief that I am glad to recommend it to others."—MRS. A. GODWIN, 60 Brant St.

NERVOUS AND RUN-DOWN

Brampton, Ont.:—"A few years ago I was in a nervous and run-down condition and felt greatly in need of a tonic. A friend who was being helped by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advised me to try it, too. It helped me from the very start and eventually restored me to perfect health. I feel in a position to praise the 'Golden Medical Discovery' very highly and take pleasure in recommending it to all those who are at all nervous, weak or run-down."—MRS. ESTHER PEATSON.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is made of lady's slipper root, black cohosh root, unicorn root, blue cohosh root, Oregon grape root and Viburnum. Women who take this standard remedy know that in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription they are getting a safe woman's tonic so good that druggists everywhere sell it in liquid or tablets. It is without alcohol.

Claims Big Saving To Users Of Sugar

An estimate that in the seven months they have had control of the refining and sale of sugar in Canada they have saved the Canadian consumers a total of $21,000,000 on this item alone, is made by the members of the Board of Commerce and is set forth in the order issued on Thursday by the Board declaring its control of sugar at an end for the time being at least. It is pointed out that for some months past the normal retail price of sugar in Canada has been from three to seven cents per pound less than the retail price in the United States and that a reduction of merely three cents per pound on the sugar consumed in Canada amounted to a benefit to the Canadian consumer of $100,000 per day, $3,000,000 per month, or during the period of the Board's control, to more than $21,000,000.

These figures are based simply on the difference between the Canadian and United States prices, but it should be remembered also that as a general rule the American price of sugar has been about two cents per pound lower than that in Canada. Moreover, it is reported, that in several parts of the United States retail prices of sugar have reached the 20 cents per pound level within the last few weeks.

How Vaccine Is Obtained Healthy Calves Employed

GREATEST CARE EXERCISED AT CONNAUGHT LABORATORIES—PROCESS WHICH IS USED IN SECURING SERUM COMPLETELY TESTED BEFORE RELEASED FOR VACCINATIONS.

"One drop of that on your skin would kill you; that's the deadly stuff." Some newspaper men who were in a big refrigerator room at the country branch of the Connaught Laboratories looking for smallpox specimens, stiffened up automatically, felt a creepy sensation around their scalps, and opened their eyes very wide, when Mr. Frank Scruby, who was doing the entertaining, held up a gallon glass jar, marked "Diphtheria Toxin." One-twentieth of a c.c. of that injected just under the skin of a horse sends his temperature up—perhaps as high as 102 degrees; gradually increased doses twice a week make him immune and ready to be tapped for the anti-serum at the end of three months. Rows of similar bottles of blood plasm and the broth in which the bacteria thrive, stared in an inscrutably belligerent fashion from the shelves. They were all marked "Diphtheria Toxin;" the smallpox bottle packed in ice, had gone down to the city early in the morning to be refined.

As we started off to discover the smallpox calves—the conviction was firmly settled by this time that the smallpox vaccine really did come from calves, not from horses—the weather suddenly changed. A snow-storm, driven by almost a blizzard, lengthened the shadows inside and the creepy sensation, especially when the possibilities of dozens of little test-tubes containing spinal-meningitis microbes were explained. What might have happened from the tetanus or lockjow bacilli, which fortunately, it seemed, were fostered at the laboratories only during the war, was even worse, that is if cleanliness and care were ever relaxed. That, however, is what never happens, one is quite sure. Inside and outside, the building is as neat and clean as a hospital, for human beings. As you come to the end of the twelve miles up Dufferin street, the remembrance of the distance seems to fade; the grey-stucco bungalow looks like the residence of a wealthy business man, who prefers to live on the outskirts of the city. A stream runs across the road and past the house, and twenty scenes that a landscape painter would covet are there, as you stand in one place, and look around. Hundreds of shrubs and trees are covered along the fence, waiting until the spring comes to be set out in the grounds. Inside cement, polished tables, and green tiles, are easily kept spotlessly clean. The tables were models. In the stalls twelve curious horses turned their ears to survey the visitors. "'That's Buck, the spinal-meningitis horse," said Mr. Scruby, pointing out a light bay, who winked affably, when the story of the amazing number of microbes he had absorbed and the amount of anti-toxin he had surrendered in four years was told. James, the diphtheria representative, and his brethren, and three pneumonia cousins nodded in turn. The two little calves, when the end of the passage was reached and their door was opened, frisked and baa-ed.

Vaccinated 1,000 Times.

Here was a vital link in the smallpox chain at last. Two little black and white Holstein calves were in a bare green-tiled room about twenty feet square; on the chipped marble inlaid floor sterile sawdust had been spread. In spite of a drowsy look they came and rubbed their heads sympathetically against the humans' hands and legs. They were drowsy because they had been vaccinated not once, like the Toronto school boy or girl, but a thousand times all at once. They had been to the barber. Especially was this in evidence on the abdomen, where they had been shaved to the skin, which was curiously salmon pink in color. Here they had been vaccinated three days before by what is called the "seed virus." On the sixth day, they will be chloroformed and killed, and an immense increase in the "seed virus" will supply thousands of doses of vaccine for people in the province. In other words, the "seed virus" is scarce, and the calf gives the largest supply in the quickest way.

"Seed virus" is the virus of cowpox; and cowpox is the preventative of smallpox; that is why a calf and not a horse has to be used. The scoffer asks how cowpox vaccination prevents smallpox; the scientist and the doctor might just as well ask the scoffer why is fire. The two facts are just as well established. Just as Watts discovered by observation the power of steam, so Jenner, by observation, found that an attack of cowpox prevented smallpox. Facts are facts, and that is all there is to it. Jenner watched facts for over twenty years. He carefully studied the fact that milkmaids who had been affected with smallpox, usually found on the udders of the cow and transferred to the fingers of the milker, did not contract smallpox, which was widespread at that time. This he proved by experiments on human beings.

How It Is Obtained.

The whole process of the preparation of the vaccine was explained by Dr. R. D. Defries, associate director with Dr. J. G. Fitzgerald, of the Laboratories in the Medical Building of the University, where the finished product is produced. "The purest vaccine virus is used for their purpose," the doctor said. "That is, we get certain batches of vaccine virus which is particularly active, and we save that for vaccinating calves. The "seed virus" is further obtained by collecting crusts from healthy children's arms."

He explained all the details at the farm. The same care is observed as for a major operation on a human being. Hospital conditions are the first requisite. There are three rooms: the preparation room, the operation room, and the calf or stall room; all with tile walls, chipped marble floor, hot and cold water, and all modern conveniences.

"The first essential," said Dr. Defries, "is to get a healthy calf—about 200 pounds—and then to keep it absolutely clean. It is first kept in quarantine for a week, to make sure that it has no infection, and is then prepared for vaccination. It is scrubbed in a tub, even its feet. After it is strapped on a table, and after sterile cotton leggings have been put on its feet and legs, the abdominal wall is carefully shaved.

"The method of vaccination is by a blunt instrument, the back of an ordinary scalpel, or anything that will not draw the blood. Scratches that draw the blood either on the calf or on human beings are evidences of faulty technique. Mere abrasions of the skin to allow the vaccine to enter the system are all that is necessary. The abdominal region is carefully cleansed with alcohol before the vaccine is applied; and after it is returned to the stall it is carefully fed, and its temperature taken twice a day to see how the vaccine is progressing. A night and day attendant watches the calf, to see that it is kept absolutely clean."

Scrape Off Vaccine.

On the sixth day the patient is chloroformed, and the vaccine virus removed. The whole area is washed lightly with sterile warm water, which removes all the superficial material containing bacteria, often a process of two hours or more. The whole precaution is to get everything absolutely clean. The vaccine is then scraped off, and all the internal organs are examined to see if they are perfectly healthy. If such is the case, the vaccine is forwarded to the University laboratory, packed in ice.

"When it is brought here," said Dr. Defries, "we speak of it as fresh green virus. This material contains the virus of smallpox, a living agent that causes cowpox in cattle, together with a certain number of bacteria from the surface of the skin, which it is almost impossible to have absolutely sterile in the scraping off process.

"The 'ripening' is simply the process of killing off these extraneous bacteria, at the same time not affecting the virus present. To accomplish this a mixture of glycerine and carbolic acid is used. The 'pulp' which was collected at the farm is very carefully ground with this mixture, through a very fine bronze wire screen, so fine, indeed, that it looks like thick cream. This material is then kept for a period of weeks to months until tests show that the bacteria are reduced to the minimum number, and it has been definitely proved by injections into animals that there are no harmful bacteria present. Further, to prove that the vaccine virus is fully potent, it must produce typical results on rabbits.

Virus is Released.

"When the virus has been completely tested on animals, it is released for tests on persons, and a high standard of 'takes' must be obtained, or else it is discarded; otherwise it is distributed in individual doses done up in fine capillary tubes."

Of late years great changes in the preparation of vaccine have taken place. The first method was a transference from arm to arm. The next was the saving of some crusts and grinding them for use. By the third, before the time of our knowledge of bacteria, we used to save some of the virus on bone slips. The first great advance in preparation came in 1890. The use of glycerine to preserve the lymph was introduced by Sir Moneton Copemen. At that time, and till four years ago, they did not use the 'pulp,' but the bloody serum that oozed up after the pulp had been scraped off. Until four years ago doctors used little ivory tips that had been dipped into this liquid or applied by a camel's hair brush. In comparison with the old method an absolutely pure virus is obtained now. So sure are scientists and doctors now of the purity of the vaccine and its efficiency that they have no time to answer the criticism of stray opponents.

Thirteen million meals

OR to be exact, 12,806,943 meals were supplied by the 282 Social Institutions of a single organization in a year.

MOST of them were paid for—Sometimes only the few cents the applicant could afford—but a very great number—millions, in fact—were free to men and women in actual want.

YOU may not know what it is to be hungry—perhaps you never will. But if you, or anybody belonging to you, were ever "up against it" you will appreciate to the full this sidelight on the Social Service Work of the Salvation Army.

TYRONE POWER NEXT SEASON

The remarkable success which has attended the transcontinental tour of the famous English actor, Tyrone Power, so far in "The Servant in the House,' has encouraged Trans Canada Theatres, Ltd., the All-Canadian theatrical organization under which Mr. Power is touring to go ahead with arrangements for a similar tour across the continent by Mr. Power next year in two famous plays well known and popular everywhere—"A Bunch of Violets" and "The Middleman."

Special productions will be built in Canada for both plays, and special companies engaged to support Mr. Power. The great reception given these two works throughout Canada when they last were played by E. S. Willard affords a good index as to the propriety of their selection as the next vehicles in which Mr. Power will be presented.

The delightful sentiment of "A Bunch of Violets" has made a fragrant play for all theatre-goers who like clean drama. This is what Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., aim to give the Canadian public.

The dramatic strength and the intense humanity that are found in "The Middleman' similarly commend that drama to those who find in the theatre something more than a place in which to idle away an empty hour or two.

Plans for an imposing list of other productions for next season by Trans-Canada, Ltd., will be announced in due course.

Bookings made by Trans-Canada Booking Office for their own and affiliated houses for this and next season include "Chu Chin Chow" for return dates; Davis Belasco's "Tiger Rose, "Ziegfeld Follies," "Al Jolson" etc.

CONTINUED TRIUMPH FOR "BIRD OF PARADISE"

Richard Walton Tully's Hawaiian love-play, "The Bird of Paradise," continues to be the reigning success of the London season. Produced there by Tully early in October, it is constantly playing to capacity houses, with every indication that it will continue to do so for two or three years. Meanwhile Tully has launched a second company which is touring in the larger cities of Great Britain, while at present he is rehearsing a third company for the smaller British cities. That completed, Tully will go to Paris to start rehearsals of the French production of the same play.

WALLOP ON THE JAW SAVES LIFE OF A GIRL

New York, Feb. 28—Flames leaping from the clothes of sixteen-year-old Frances Nosicla as she stood too near the fire in her home at 246 First ave., was a signal for her elder sister, Mrs. Sadie Emori, to give the young woman a straight right punch to the jaw. She did this to prevent the younger girl, who was shrieking hysterically, from running and thereby fanning the blaze.

Francis fell to the floor, for the right-handed wallop was a "pip" of a "knockout." Mrs. Emori then hurriedly rolled a piece of carpet around her sister and extinguished the flames, burning her hands slightly in so doing.

Dr. Eldowitz of Bellevue said her prompt action saved the younger girl's life.

CANADA'S REVENUE.

Large Income Needed to Meet Our Mighty Expenditures.

Canada's revenue from all sources during the month of January reached a total of $34,266,188, and was more than sufficient to meet the ordinary expenditures of the country, including those on interest and pensions during the month. The January statement issued by the Finance Department, moreover, indicates that revenue during the ten months of the fiscal year which have now elapsed were well up to expectations. During the period receipts from all sources aggregated $288,230,911, as compared with ordinary expenditures of $271,352,190; there was thus a surplus of revenue over ordinary or consolidated fund expenditure in the period of $16,878,721. Should the average of receipts be maintained during February and March the revenue for this fiscal year will attain a total of approximately $345,000,000.

Customs, $16,135,304; excise, $3,063,847; post office $1,700,000; public works, including railways and canals, $3,643,883; miscellaneous, including excess profits and income taxes, $65,575,983.

Capital expenditures during the ten months aggregated $334,599,182, made up of $298,815,088 expended on war account, and $35,662,428 on public works. In January war expenditures reached $59,105,904, and public works expenditures $3,073,829. Capital expenditures for January thus reached $62,179,734, and about equalled the increase in the public debt for the month of $62,015,109. The expenditure on war account during the month was heavy by reason of closing up and adjustment of overseas accounts. The funded debt at the end of the month stood at $2,447,542,908; the gross debt at $3,323,087,801; net debt, $1,900,146,168.

He Told the King So.

"I am not a Bolshevist, but I would rather waste five years in prison than sacrifice the right to strike." It was typical of the frankness of "Jock" Brownlie, the chairman of the executive council of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, that when King George sent for him for "an absolutely frank expression of views" on the labor situation, he should thus express himself.

And there is a twinkle in his eye as he tells you some of the humors of strikes. An "incident" which appeals to him concerns an employer who arrived at his factory to find all his hands on strike. "What's your grievance?" he asked one of them.

"Dunno yet, sir. We ain't heard from the gentleman in Lunnon yet."

NEW BILLIARD RECORD.

Claude Falkiner, in playing "Mel" Inman, billiard champion, maade a break of the 870 record under the present rules. The previous world's record break under the Billiard Association's revised rules was 836, made by George Gray, the Australian, on August 25, 1909. Gray was only 17 years old when he made this break. Falkiner will also hold the English record as well as the world's record, as the previous English record was 802, made by H. W. Stevenson on February 16, 1905.

BROUGHT BACON HOME, BUT TOO MUCH OF IT

New York—Louis Leavitt, former Tammany chieftain, on trial before United States District Judge Chatfield and a jury in Brooklyn, charged with food hoarding, maintains a household of nine persons, it was testified recently. First there's Mr. Leavitt, two chauffeurs, three maids and a gardener.

Mr. Leavitt, it has been testified, is a manufacturer of paint and varnish. Under the Food and Fuel Control Act only provision dealers may buy and sell foodstuffs. The Government, therefore, is manifesting keen interest in Mr. Leavitt's open purchase from the Surplus Property Division of the United States Army of 2,500,000 pounds of bacon.

This amount of bacon for a household comprising nine members would insure each for one year a daily supply of something like 761 pounds.

The Government's action against Mr. Leavitt is the first of its kind under the Leever Act. Fourteen witnesses have established the fact that Mr. Leavitt is not a provision dealer, and that his household is not of proportions sufficient to warrant his bringing home 2,500,000 pounds of bacon for the table.

Testimony also has been adduced to the effect that Mr. Leavitt refused to sell his bacon when offers were made entailing a profit.

Thomas F. Bell, Mr. Leavitt's bookkeeper, testified that his employer had "speculated for about fifteen years." Never before, he said, had Mr. Leavitt "speculated" in foodstuffs. Besides the bacon, the former Tammany chieftain purchased 5,656,000 pounds of oleomargarine. The purchase of the oleo, however, is not charged in the case as a crime.

Frank V. Borick, a broker, with offices in the Produce Exchange Buildings, swore that he sold 250,000 pounds of the bacon for Leavitt, at a profit ranging from 45-8 cents to 63-8 cents a pound. He said Leavitt refused to sell eleven carloads of the bacon at 34 cents a pound.

Short and Stormy Annals Of Bela Kun, the Despot, Hungary's Red Leader

BELA KUN'S "downfall" is considered by some observers to indicate the gradual break-up of Bolshevism in Hungary, but Bolshevik sympathizers, or the Communist element, as they officially desire to be recognized, see in the reported overthrow of Hungary's Red leader nothing more than one step farther forward on the path of Communist progress. The first despatches giving word of the new turn of affairs in Hungary spoke of the general demoralization of Bela Kun's army, which was straggling back from the different fronts in utter lack of discipline. The break-down in the spirit of the troops was attributed to the cessation of fighting against the Czechs and the Roumanians, and also to the hasty increase of the well-drilled loyal army of 60,000 to 125,000. From Budapest reports indicate that Bolshevism in Hungary is confined almost exclusively to the capital, and that the peasants have made the Bolsheviki unpopular by obstructing shipments of food to the city, which is rapidly reaching a desperate state.

The "terror troops" are masters of the capital. They stormed the garrison, disarmed the troops of the Bela Kun Government, and distributed arms to the "ragged proletariat." The new leaders in control are the People's Commissaries Varga and Szamuely and Vice-Commissary of Foreign Affairs Moses Alpary. The Tageblatt correspondent smuggled out of Budapest parts of a speech of Bela Kun before the Executive Council of the Soviet, in which the one-time leader stated that Hungary was facing a triple crisis — in power, economics, and morale. The crisis in power was evidenced by the counter-revolution, in economics in the unbelievable prices of food, and in morale, in corruption, which had attained undreamed-of limits. According to Bela Kun, all officials in Hungary were susceptible to bribery. They were making out passes for persons to flee from Hungary, charging for them from 50,000 to 300,000 crowns, and they were also buying illicitly in the provinces. Every one, he declared, was swindling and willing to take any criminal steps to live well. Bela Kun assumed the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Hungarian Soviet Government in March, 1919. The Hungarian Soviet Government succeeded the Republican Government of Count Karolyi, and immediately he took office Bela Kun got in touch with the heads of the Russian Soviet Government. He was considered the founder of the Communist party in Hungary.

BELA KUN.

As to the Communist view of Bela Kun's retirement, we learn from the editor of the New York Elore, a radical Magyar daily, that it is immaterial to the Council-Republic of Hungary whether Bela Kun or some other person is in power so long as the instructions of the Workers' and Peasants' Councils are faithfully carried out. It is pointed out that there was great dissatisfaction with Bela Kun because he was not strong enough as a leader. A counter-revolution was springing up and the great bloodshed inevitably involved in such a movement could only be avoided by the firm arm of repression. The men named as new officials of the Communist Government in Hungary are said to possess the force and resolution necessary for such repression. But we are assured that whatever the change of personnel, the system of government remains the same, which is one "built upon industrial democracy, an industrial government system for the workers, and of the workers. It may be overthrown by a force that is superior to the force of the proletariat, but at present no such superior force exists in Hungary."

Warts Are Contagious.

Warts are contagious, as is proved by experiments on their own fingers made by Drs. Udo J. Wile and Lyle B. Kingery, of the University of Michigan Medical School. These physicians seem to have proved that the warts are caused by some sort of a virus that passes easily through a filter and therefore through the sound human skin.

CONTAGIOUS ABORTION

A Too Common Trouble With Some Farm Mares.

Cause of the Disease Discovered—Method of Spreading Described—Measures for Control—Oystershell Bark Louse With Its Treatment.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

CONTAGIOUS abortion of mares is due to a specific bacillus (Bacillus abortivus equinus) which gets established in the uterus, fetal membranes and foetus, setting up local inflammation leading to expulsion of the foetus dead or alive at any time during pregnancy.

The symptoms of approaching abortion are not usually in evidence until just before abortion takes place. Then the animal is seized with colicy pains, restlessness and straining, and a swollen vulva with a mucous discharge is noticeable. After abortion, the symptoms are more specific. There is a chocolate brown fluid discharge from vulva which has a typical offensive odor, and the foetal membranes are inclined to remain intact, thus necessitating artificial removal to prevent blood poisoning.

The disease has been known in Europe for many years, but it was not found on the American continent until 1886 when it appeared in the Mississippi valley. Since then it has spread far and wide in the United States and Canada. Although many investigations were made both in Europe and America, it was not until 1912 that the cause of the disease was discovered. In that year E. S. Good, of Kentucky, discovered the bacillus which causes the disease. The same year Dr. Schofield, of Toronto, discovered the same bacillus in some cases of joint ill in colts which had developed in districts in Ontario where contagious abortion of mares was prevalent and the following year found the same bacillus in cases of contagious abortion of mares in Ontario.

Method of Spreading.—The disease is spread mainly by the discharges from the vulva of aborting animals. If a mare that has aborted is served before all discharges from the vulva have ceased and the genitalia have been efficiently disinfected, then the stallion is liable to get contaminated with the bacillus and spread the disease to other mares which he subsequently serves. If the discharges from an aborting mare are allowed to contaminate the bedding or other materials that other mares come in contact with, then the mares are liable to contract the disease. If the discharges are allowed to contaminate water or food materials that are given to other mares, the latter are liable to contract the disease.

Measures for Control.—1. Three months must elapse between abortion and subsequent breeding.

2. Mares that have aborted must not be bred if there is evidence of uterine catarrh, even after three months.

3. Mares that have aborted must only be bred at the end of the stallion season.

4. Application of an efficient disinfectant to the external genitalia of the stallion after each service in affested districts.

Measures to Be Employed at Time of, or Subsequent to Abortion.—1. Isolation of mare at first sign of approaching abortion.

2. After abortion the foetus and membranes should be burned, if possible, or buried deeply in quick-lime.

3. Those handling the foetus and mare should disinfect hands and clothing.

4. Bedding should be burned and the stall washed with a strong disinfectant.

5. External genitals, thighs and tail of mare should be washed daily with a good disinfectant. Two per cent. bacterol, lysol, or cresol, is satisfactory for this purpose.

6. Isolation of mare should be maintained for at least a month or until all evidence of uterine discharge has ceased.

Treating the animal with drugs, as carbolic acid, black haw and methylene blue, though popular in some districts, cannot be recommended as being of any value.—Dr. J. H. Reed, O. A. College, Guelph.

Oyster-shell Scale.

This is a very common orchard insect. It attacks not only apples but also pears, plums, currants and many ornamental and shade trees and bushes. Full grown scales are found almost exclusively on the bark and are easily recognized by their oyster-shell appearance. They are about ⅛ of an inch long, 1-24 inch wide, taper towards one end and in color resemble closely the bark.

The injury is caused by their sucking the juices out of the bark and thus weakening the trees. When very abundant they almost completely cover the bark and in that case may kill either the whole tree or portions of the branches. Most infested trees, however, are not killed but only weakened.

Control.—Spraying the trees just before or just after the buds burst with lime-sulphur solution, 1 gallon to 8 or 9 gallons of water, is a satisfactory remedy. The regular Codling Moth spray with one gallon of lime-sulphur to about 39 gallons of water, to which two pounds of arsenate of lead paste or one pound arsenate of lead powder is added will also help greatly, because it will hit the young scale insects just after they have hatched, while they are still unprotected and easily destroyed. Dead scales may remain on the trees for several years after date of killing. Pruning the trees early makes it easier and cheaper to spray them well.—Prof. L. Caesar, O. A. College, Guelph.

Strength of R.N.W.M.P.

Last year the strength of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, all tod, was 1,221. Of these men and officers, 738 were overseas on active war service.

Northern Farmers Taking The Lead

The results of the various acre-crop and profit competitions carried on by the Department of Agriculture last fall, were announced. The returns to the Department showed some exceptional yields of grain and root crops during the year, with the prize-winners evenly distributed over the Province. Northern Ontario maintained its claim to leadership in several crops, Kenora winning the acre-crop competition in barley, Oscar Kurz of Waldhof having a profit of $17.50. The Sudbury district produced a potato winner in Leo Lamoureux, who took 314 bushels of patatoes from an acre of land and made a net profit of $379.50 from it. The record for wheat went to Roy Becks of Manitoulin, who made $25.94 from an acre yielding 213-5 bushels.

John E. Hurd of Grimsby, won the oats competition, with a yield of 50 2-3 bushels and a profit of $27.15. Cecil Wallace of Dundas county, won the corn for silo contest, with a profit of $83.39, from 38 3-4 tons. The seed corn winner was Irvin Hohson, of Kingsville, Essex, who returned $20.68 from 34 bushels.

In the feeding hogs for profit competition, Edward Sandham of Norfolk county and C. E. Pollock of North Grower, were tied with a profit of $11.91 per cwt.

In the dairy profit competition, Charles P. Harris of Grenville county, won with a net profit of $109.00 from his milker in the test period of seven months. He secured a yield of 6,225 lbs. of milk, which gave 252.1 lbs. of butter fat.

The best baby beet was that raised by Leslie W. Turnbull of Galt.

In estimating "profit" in the various competitions, a fixed price was placed upon feed, labor, etc. as well as upon the market value of the grain or animal, in order to give a fair basis oc comparison.

The prize winners are receiving short courses at the Guelph, Kemptville and Monteith agricultural schools.

OTTAWA TAKES IN MOUNTED POLICE

Ottawa, March 1—Within a few days Ottawa will have in its midst close to two hundred men garbed in the striking uniform of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Negotiations carried on for some time between the mounted police officials and the civic authorities, with a view to procuring quarters for the men have reached a satisfactory culmination. The members of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who are to be permanently stationed in Ottawa, will occupy quarters in Howick Hall. These quarters will be occupied by the "mounties" until some arrangement will have been made whereby permanent quarters can be secured.

Coming From Regina

The members of the mounted police who are to take up residence in Ottawa are at present in Regina, the old headquarters of what was formerly the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, but will arrive here in the course of a few days.

The squadron which is coming from Regina is fully equipped, and comprises 160 men and about the same number of horses.

Inspector R. Cadiz will be in command.

Ottawa will not only be the headquarters of a squadron, but will serve as a recruiting and training centre. Recruiting work will be undertaken immediately and enlistments proceeded with as fast as men of a suitable type can be secured. While service in the mounted police is congenial, the conditions of enlistment are somewhat severe. No married men are enlisted and the men who are taken on must be of a very superior class, both physically and mentally.

WANT THEM REINSTATED

Hamilton, Feb. 28—This week nearly a hundred employees of the Harper Presnall Cigar Company quit work. They demanded reinstatement of two discharged employees, claiming they were let out for agitating for a wage increase. An apology from the firm was also exacted. The firm claimed the two men were discharged for taking liquor on the premises.

The company heads refused to confirm a report that the factory would be removed to London. But in the newspapers the four-storey factory building is advertised for sale.

"FOR A BIGGER, BETTER AND BUSIER BELLEVILLE"

The first number of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce Bulletin has been issued and is a very creditable publication, full of interest and information to members and the citizens generally. The Bulletin is introduced by the Editor, Ernest P. Frederick, Secretary-Manager of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, as follows:

> The purpose of this Bulletin is to keep the members of the Chamber of Commerce and others in touch with its work, its plans and its hopes. More than this, it aims to keep alive that spirit of determination which has been the inspiration for the new organization and which is the motive power behind our efforts.
> If we can communicate this same spirit to other than members of the Chamber of Commerce we shall have made an added gain in our community work. Every resident of the city should be, in purpose at least, a member of this organization for all our aims and efforts are along lines of mutual interest and benefit.
> The man who has no interest in the welfare and prosperity of the city has no business here. Everyone who sees for Belleville a bigger and better future and is willing to help, even in a small way, to bring about this result, is an asset to the city. We want all such assets that we can get, but we have no page in our programme of civic betterment for any liabilities.
> Join the Chamber of Commerce if you can, but in any event lend a hand in the big work ahead and let it be known that you stand ready to serve. To all such citizens this Bulletin will be an occasional message of cheer, encouragement and suggestion. At present we shall have no regular date of publication but will issue an edition as the occasion requires and when we have a live message to convey.

RELIGION IN THE MELTING POT.

The latest religious movement to attract attention in the United States is toward a Community Church. Whether the Community Church will result in a religious revolution or prove only another flash in the pan, time alone will tell, but the proposition has interesting features. Even if all the various sects were merged into one, it is almost too much to hope that differences of opinion would not arise, resulting in the breaking away of dissatisfied groups to form their own congregations.

Will the democratization of religion cause the abolition of sects and the discarding of individualistic dogma? Is there, after all, any inherent difference among the churches which will prevent them from amalgamating effort along a common line and in merging themselves into a community church, which shall evolve, not into an established, but into a national church? hopefully asks the Literary Digest. In the last hour on the battlefield creed had no place. The Cross on the roadside stood for all, without respect to denomination. Abraham Lincoln, an earnest Christian in practise and precept, joined no church because he could find none which had inscribed above its altar, as the qualification for membership, the substance of both law and gospel: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself." Henry E. Jackson, a pastor for nearly twenty years, who is now doing government work as a special agent in community organization of the United States Bureau of Education, tells us in "The Community Church" what, in his view, is wrong with the churches, and offers constructive criticism. If religion be an attitude to life instead of a dogma, there is no necessity for the label of sect, and theological interpretation of the life of Christ is outworn. If the church is not an end, but a means to an end, the community church, which owes no allegiance save to the people it serves, will best meet that end. As we read in Mr. Jackson's book:

> "I appreciate the fact that the sects had their origin in honest attempts to emphasize and stand for particular elements in the Christian theory of life, which were in special need of emphasis. But the distinctive truth which each sect volunteered to sponsor has now become the common possession of all Christians. Whatever need may have existed to justify their original division into sects no longer exists to justify their continued separation."

Before the war ended, the revelation of the church's moral bankruptcy inaugurated in England a movement among the sects to regain their sense of relative values and to mobilize their moral forces, showing an apparent tendency to forget denominational differences in the interest of humanity. We have had many surveys of various sorts, and "the upshot of it all is that the church is still in the woods." We know the facts, and the writer comes to this conclusion:

> "We must replace all sectarian churches by a new and fundamentally different type of church. What that type ought to be, the pronounced signs of the time abundantly indicate. It is a community church. The only way to reform the present church is to replace it with a better one. The church of to-morrow is the community church."

To attempt to reform the church from the inside is futile, in this writer's belief, and he suggests:

> "There is a more excellent way. It is my conviction that the churches will ultimately evolve from sectarian into community churches. They will do it when they are compelled to, and not before. The compelling force will be the pressure of public opinion from the outside. Therefore, I conclude that the effective way to bring this pressure to bear is to organize community churches as new enterprises. It is the testimony of history that the churches have almost never been reformed from the inside, but only by pressure from the outside."

Mr. Jackson widens his horizon of religious communization, for he believes that eventually the community centre will be an all-sufficient church, and we read:

> "While I believe that the community centre is destined to perform all the functions of a true church, it can not do so now, because the lowest common denominator, on the basis of which all public organizations must conduct their activities, will not permit it. Therefore, I believe that some form of volunteer community church is a present practical necessity."

Pickwickian Reservations.
Toronto Star.

"No American, we think, can fail to feel the force of the simple and straightforward statement of the position of Canada on the so-called 'voting power' reservation proposed in the Senate, as made by N. W. Rowell, the Canadian Acting Secretary of State for External Affairs," says the Fort Worth (Texas) Star-Telegram. The opinion it offers is that the reservation, if adopted, would never have practical effect, and it wishes Canada would regard it in that light. But why should Uncle Sam make Pickwickian reservations

Have Their Chance.
Toronto Star.

If the Farmer-Labor Coalition fails it will because of its own weaknesses; not because the people of the province did not insist that it be given a fair trial. Place-seeking politicians are learning that if they are to retain any measure of respect even on the part of their followers they must dissemble their desire to embarrass the administration at every turn.

The Strike Trials.
Toronto Globe.

It is estimated that the aggregate cost of the Winnipeg strike trials will be $1,000,000. That's a big amount for the State to lose because of lack of common sense and a resort to arbitration.

Law Enforcement.
Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

According to the Ottawa Journal, the practice of tricking people into violating the law for the sake of securing convictions against them is employed, not only by the liquor license authorities, but by the Dominion Inland Revenue Department and other branches of the Government. It is a practice that should be discontinued. The power of Government should be used to enforce the law, not encourage violations of the law; to protect the innocent, not to lead people into temptation. The Police Magistrate of Hamilton has laid down the rule that he will not convict people accused of offences against the Ontario Temperance Act when the only evidence against them is that of whiskey "spotters," who admit inducing people to break the law, and their evidence is contradicted. There may be need for such "spotters," but they should be restricted in their operations to legitimate means of securing evidence.

A Laugh or Two

Not a Beggar.

Little Marjorie had enjoyed her visit to her aunt very much, until Monday morning came. Then auntie went out to collect some rents in a very poor district, and took Marjorie with her. After calling at several houses and receiving the usual reply of:

"I'm sorry, but I can't give you anything this week," the small girl's face assumed a look of great disgust.

"Auntie," she said coldly, "I think I had better go home this afternoon, please. I'm quite sure my mummy wouldn't like to know you had taken me around such dirty streets begging."

The' Poet's Corner

RAIN ON THE ROOF.

When you're tucked beneath the covers of the big old-fashioned bed,
And you hear the rain a-beatin' on the tin roof overhead,
As you lie there half a-dreamin', don't you see the goblins peep,
As they did when all the big folks chased the youngsters off to sleep?
Don't you hear the old clock strikin' and your mother sayin' "Son,
Better get the lantern ready," or "It's time you had begun
To take those shoes and stockin's off your tired little feet
And let mother tuck you, sonny, underneath old granny's sheet."
Then you hear the wind a-blowin' and the patter of the rain
As it beats against the window, and you beg with might and main
Just to stay a little longer 'fore the fire in the grate,
But you move when daddy orders, "Scamper, boy, it's gettin' late!"
Then you follow dear old mother as she climbs the attic stairs,
And you feel the breath behind you of the goblins and the bears,
And you move a little faster in your haste to reach the bed,
Wishin' Ma would let you crawl in 'fore your prayers had been said.
Don't you love your dear old mother when she smooths your rumpled hair,
When she says good-night with kisses and you solemnly declare
That you'll always love and mind her, never come home late from school,
Say the prayers she taught you, and obey the golden rule?
Then dear mother tucks the covers in 'round your little feet
And you close your eyes and mumble, "Now I lay me down to sleep!"
But before you've time to finish with "The Lord my soul to take,"
You throw the covers off your head and sit there wide awake;
You rub your eyes and wonder if things as they seemed
Had just vanished for a moment, or if you really dreamed;
Then you try to find the rumpled hair—your old bald head is proof
That 'twas just a trip to Dreamland—rain upon the old tin roof.
—T. B. Buckholz.

THE BOB SLED.
Mina Irving.

When the crust is hard on the frozen snow,
And the tall black pines that stand a-row
Are bending under their burden white,
And the moon is light and the stars are bright,
Ah, then get out the old bob sled
With its body blue and its runners red,
And pile right on with the girls and boys,
To know the rarest of winter joys.

Down from the top of the highest hill,
Reckless either of crash or spill,
Scooting over a road of glass,
While trees and fences and houses pass,
Holding on in the dizzy rush
To a form ahead in silky plush,
Whipped in the face by scarf and curl
And stocking cap of the dearest girl.

Trudging up to the top again,
Madge and Billy and Maud and Ben,
Clasping hands in their mittens gay,
Laughing, frolicking all the way.
Motor boat, plane and racin gear
All can travel both fast and far,
Swift is the Arab's thoroughbred,
But the king of them all is the old bob sled.

A PROFITABLE TREE

Mr. David Johnson, of Ross Township, drew to Walter Costello's saw mill Cobden, Addington township, a pine tree, which made six logs. There were two sixteen ,one ten, two twelve and one thirteen foot logs. It was twelve inches at the top end of the last log. It grew within two miles of Cobden. There were 2,400 feet of lumber in it.

SAD DOUBLE DEATH.

A sad double death occurred in Trenton last week, when John H. Gordon Salisbury's demise was followed by the death of his wife, Mary Ellen Stevens, on Wednesday evening. Both deaths occurred at the residence of Mrs. Salisbury senior. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Salisbury were on their way home to Campbellford from Toronto, and stopped off at Trenton to visit his mother.

KILLED ON C. P. R.

Mr. Thomas Doherty, an employee of the C. P. R., was instantly killed at Trenton when struck by a freight engine while it was shunting in the yards. The unfortunate man stepped back off the tracks; apparently to avoid the engine, which was moving slowly, but did not succeed in getting clear in time to avoid being struck. Deceased leaves a wife and one small child.

FROM THE DEAD

To be mourned as dead by his relatives for over two years was the experience of a well-known young man living at Gananoque in the preson of Thomas Lucey, son of Mrs. George Lucey of that town. The report was an error, and his relatives were given a most pleasant surprise when he arrived at his home, accompanied by his English wife and baby. Lucey went overseas in 1914 with the 3rd battery of the 1st Brigade.

AT LAW OVER AN ACRE

Despite much litigation, Jas. D. Cooper, hunter and trapper of North Hastings county, lives peacefully on his acre of rock upon which is built a log cabin on the banks of the Moira River. An appeal involving his humble home was heard at Osgoode last week. Nicholas Fleming, a farmer, has bought the surrounding land, and says that Cooper agreed to pay $1 a month rental. Cooper says that he has lived peacefully in his home for 25 years. Both parties have a judgment in support of their claim. The acre of rock is said to be a valuable flourspar mine and the only natural watering place for a 500-acre ranch to gain access to the Moira River.—Tweed News.

THE FLU SITUATION

Upon enquiry it was ascertained that a number of employees at the G. T.R. shops here have, during the past fed days been incapacitated from work being victims of the flu. A few other railway employees were also effected, but the situation is improving. At the Canada Steel Company's plant and other industrial concerns in the city some of the employees have been compelled to take a few days' holidays owing to indisposition. Throughout the city the flu situation seems greatly improved there being but a few new cases.

ANOTHER ARMADA TO BE HANDED OVER

London, March 1.—The transfer of the remaining German warships to the allies has been fixed for March 10. On that day eight battleships, 11 cruisers and 42 destroyers will be formally surrendered.

Seventy per cent. of them will go to Great Britain, 11 per cent. to Italy and eight per cent. to Japan.

Health Perfect Now, Says Brown

Suffered Ten Years—Is Relieved by Tanlac, Says St. John Man.

"I had suffered from indigestion for ten years before I began taking Tanlac and the way it has built me up is something remarkable for I am feeling like a young man again," was the statement made recently by T. H. Brown, proprietor of the Valley Meat and Fish Market, who lives at 41 Winter St., St. John, New Brunswick.

"I have certainly had my share of suffering in this world for I have been bothered for the past ten years with the worst sort of stomach trouble," Mr. Brown continued. "I had nearly lost my appetite and when I did force myself to eat a little something it was almost impossible for me to retain it. I even hated the sight of food because everything I ate would sour on my stomach and give me an awful distressing feeling afterwards. My sleep was restless and when morning came I always got up feeling tired and worn out.

"Here is how I got hold of Tanlac and started taking it: A customer of mine had been trying to get me to take Tanlac as he had tried it and with remarkable results, but I kept putting it off. One day he walked into my shop and put a bottle of Tanlac down on the counter and said: 'Try that!' I took his advice and I want to tell you that proved to be the turning point of my life. That very first bottle hit the spot and I kept taking it until now I am in absolutely perfect health. I eat heartily now and enjoy every meal. My digestion was never better and I am not troubled afterwards at all. I sleep sound at night and get up of mornings feeling brimful of life and energy. Yes, sir, I am a new man to-day and feel years younger."

"Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town."

Chicago Wild Man Visits Belleville

An Adventure in Imagination With Belleville as the Scene of Sensational Fiction Paraded as Fact

Belleville readers of the Chicago Blade were amused by the sensational article recently published in that paper of a wild man captured near this city. The article, briefly referred to in a previous issue of The Intelligencer was profusely illustrated and was published as a true story. The only wild man in connection with the story that Belleville citizens have any cognizance of is the wild man on the Blade staff who wrote the story, the full text of which is as follows:

(Saturday Blade, Chicago)

Belleville, Ont., Canada, Feb. 19—A startling discovery which brings the story of Robinson Crusoe to real life was made here when a party of hunters in search of game on Amherst Island, in the Bay of Quinte, found a huge, hairy man clad only in the skins of wild animals and leaves who was unable to utter a syllable of any language. He was discovered in a cave and resisted ferociously until the hunters captured him with a lasso. After being brought back to Belleville he was identified by Mrs. Florence Masters who keeps a millinery store as her husband, who dissappeared after going on a fishing trip twenty-two years ago.

"We were tramping through the wild underbrush on the island," say Henry Flerville, one of the members of the hunting party, when we decided to smoke out a cave. The smoke from the wet wood poured into the cave. Suddenly we heard a violent commotion from within.

Wild Man Rushes Out

"A huge hairy being, which resembled an immense gorilla more than a man, rushed out. Several of us fired but luckily in our fright, we did not hit him. The wild man picked up a boulder as easily as if it were a clod and threw it as us. If it had hit any of us it would certainly have killed the victim.

"Then followed an exciting chase through the underbrush. One of the members of the party had a rope, which he made into a lasso. After a few unsuccessful casts, he threw the rope around the head of the wild man. I slipped up behind him with another rope and tied his arms fast to his body. Then, with the aid of several farmers living near here, we loaded him into a boat and took him to Belleville."

Was Put in Zoo Cage

After the wild man was brought to Belleville he was put in a cage for safe keeping which had formerly been occupied by a Zoo gorilla. During the first night of his captivity he uttered blood-curdling howls which could be heard for miles about.

The next morning the residents of Belleville attempted to feed the monster. They offered him breakfast food, pie and other dainties at which he sniffed contemptuously. Then a large piece of raw meat was thrown into his cage. The wild man tore it into shreds with his long fingers and claw-like toes and devoured it voraciously.

After the monster had been in captivity for a couple of days, Mrs. Florence Masters, proprietress of the village millinery store, who had been advertising to find her lost husband more than twenty years, came down to the cage out of curiosity.

"Ethelburt!" she cried the moment she set eyes upon the wild man. "It's my dear husband."

Identifies Man as Husband

By several scars and moles, Mrs. Masters positively identified the wild man as her husband. Her mate had gone on a fishing trip twenty-two years before and had never been seen since then. The waters were dragged for his body and he had been given up as dead, but Mrs. Masters always clung to the belief that he was still alive. It is now thought that he had become stranded on the island which was seldom visited in those days, and had led a Robinson Crusoe existence almost in sight of his former home. It is believed he lived on roots and herbs and what game he could capture with his hands, and finally reverted to a savage state as a result of the life he was leading.

"I am going to try to teach him to talk and wear clothes again," says Mrs. Masters. "For a time I will have to keep him in a cage, but I am confident that it will not be long until Ethelburt is himself again, and can tell me of these terrible years he spent on that island."

PAYING $900 FOR A SUIT HON. BLONDIN HOLDS RECORD

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 28—Even members of the Government itself are pursued by high cost of living phantom. Hon. H. E. Blondin, the only French-speaking member of the Cabinet, ordered a suit of clothes the other day. His colleagues admired the fit and asked for the name of his tailor, but when they heard the price was $900 they did not trouble to ask the tailor's address. The suit was a Windsor uniform with enough gold on the tunic to adjust the international exchange situation if it were shipped to Wall street.

FORCES DOMINIONS TO WORK TOGETHER

New York, Feb. 28—That the British Dominion would be forced by the exchange situation to trade more among themselves, was declared by Mr. Mary Sheldon, High Commissioner of Australia, at a luncheon of the Bond Club here.

"Adverse exchange is forcing more business in to the British Dominions than ever before," said Mr. Sheldon. "We must trade more and more with ourselves until our country and Empire can clear away its enormous debt."

Mr. Sheldon declared that the people of Australia were remarkably prosperous at the presen time.

"Every second person in Australia has a bank account of more than $200" he declared. "The resources of Australia are only scratched. We don't need capital; we need population. Australia can find employment for ten million people, and the production that would result must of itself produce a great revenue which would assist in solving the problem of exchange."

TORONTO TEACHER DEAD

Toronto, March 1—One of the most prominent educationists of Ontario passed away on Saturday in the person of Mr. William Scott, B.A., 567 Church street. The late Mr. Scott served for 56 years in the schools of Ontario and was for twenty-one years principal of the Toronto Normal School, retiring from that position in the fall of 1919.

Born at Ashkirk, Roxburghshire, Scotland, in 1845, the late Mr. Scott came to Canada with his parents in 1854. He was educated at Bowmanville, Toronto Normal School and the University of Toronto. He married in 1870 Mary Hughes, sister of Sir Sam and Dr. James L. Hughes. He is survived by his wife and three sons, the latter being: Col. Wallace Scott, C.M.G., F.R.S.C.; Prof. Fred Scott of the University of Minnesota and John Scott, B.Sc., of Toronto.

PATROLLING BORDER FOR LIQUOR IS BIG TASK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29—The House unanimously refused on Saturday to appropriate one million dollars for use until July 1 in attempting to prevent the smuggling of liquor over the Canadian and Mexican borders. Provisions for the appropriation had been inserted in the General Deficiency Bill by the Senate.

Chairman Good of the Appropriations Committee, said the expenditure would be useless.

"If we are to patrol the Canadian frontier of 3,000 miles and 1,800 miles of Mexican border to search travellers for liquor," he said, "it will take millions of dollars and require three searching shifts a day."

Representative Cannon, Republican, Illinois, declared that nothing short of an army, the navy and the coastguard could stop the smuggling of liquor into this country so long as there was a demand for it.

Canadian Victim Of Mexican Raid

Store in Arizona Robbed—Jack Fraser Wounded and Brother Killed

WASHINGTON, March 1—With Major-General Joseph Dickman in complete charge of military moves at the border and cognizant of the bandit raid which resulted in the death of a United States citizen and the wounding of his brother, who is supposed to be a Canadian citizen, was department officials were unable to confirm the report that United States troops had crossed into Mexico in pursuit of the murderers.

The only word received by the State Department of the killing is contained in the following bulletin, issued today:

"The killing of Alexander J. Fraser, United States citizen and the wounding of his brother, Jack Fraser, who is said to be a Canadian citizen, during a raid by two Mexicans at Arivaca, Pima County, Arizona, on the night of February 27, has been reported to the State Department by the American consul at Nogales.

"The bandits looted the general store occupied by the Fraser brothers and robbed the post office at Ruby in Santa Crusa, Arizona.

"The Department was advised that Jack Fraser was wounded in the head and was taken to the base hospital at Nogales."

LOEW ENTERPRISES HAVE GREAT YEAR

Propose to Introduce Many Innovations in Chain of Theatres.

Reaching New York on Washington's birthday, after a triumphant trip to the coast, where he consummated a deal for the purchase of the Metro Film Corporation properties, Marcus Loew, head of the great chain of theatres, bearing his name in Canada and the United States, cast aside business cares for a few hours to go to a private hospital to see a grandson born while he was in California. Mr. Loew was accompanied by a few members of his executive staff, who added joy to the occasion by the announcement that the close of the business and financial year of the Loew theatrical enterprises had been productive of the greatest year's business in the history of the company. All records for receipts and attendance were broken all over the circuit, which now extends from coast to coast in Canada and the United States.

In view of the tremendous success recorded, Mr. Loew announced that the ensuing year will be marked by the introduction of many innovations in his string of theatres on a scale never before attempted in popular-priced theatres. With the addition of a number of big-time acts that will greatly reinforce the army of entertainers now playing the Loew circuit, Mr. Loew intimated that with the acquisition of the Metro Film Corporation properties, he had also engaged a number of new film stars who will appear in a series of pictures to be shown exclusively at his theatres.

Respecting his operations in Canada, Mr. Loew said he proposes building theatres in all the large amusement centres of the Dominion, and thus establish one of the greatest chains of theatres ever attempted by a theatrical corporation on the North American continent. Mr. Loew will be in Toronto in a few weeks to inspect the new theatre under construction in North Toronto, and also at Ottawa and London, the latter being opened a few weeks ago.

MORE ACCUSATIONS OF FALSE PRETENCES

Windsor, Feb. 28—Although the Corwn came into the Police Court here with half a dozen additional charges of obtaining money under false pretences against H. V. Martin and his Consumers Association, another remand of a week was ordered in order that further charges against the concern may be pepared and the necessary witnesses subpoenaed. Bail for Martin was renewed in the sum of $2,500.

Sergt. Birdwhistle, of the Royal Mounted Police here, who is pushing the case against Martin, says that new complaints against the Consumers company are coming in every day from different sections of the country.

It developed that around October of last year Martin's firm was doing business under the name of The Independent Grocery Company, but later changed its name after the Postoffice authorities had denied the Independent Company the use of the mails.

ARTIST REFUSES $5,000,000 TO PAINT 300 PORTRAITS

London, Feb. 28—Sir William Orpen, the distinguished artist, has refused an offer of $5,000,000 for painting 300 portraits which is said to have been made him by an American.

"It is quite true the offer of $5,000,000 to paint portraits came to me from America," Sir William said in confirming the report, according to The Daily Mirror. "To complete such a task, however, would take far more than the ordinary lifetime—it might take as long as 300 years.

Sir William will go to America this fall on business.

TENANTS WON'T PAY HIGHER RENT AND WON'T VACATE

Chicago, Feb. 29—Members of a local Property-owners 'Association decided at a meeting Friday night to "let tenants march out if they will not pay higher rents." Saturday morning they were met by a counter move—a tenants' strike. Forty tenants agreed they would not pay higher rents and would not move. They have retained an attorney.

Police Fired on Mob.

MILAN, March 1.—As the result of a collision between a crowd and the police here yesterday in which officers fired on the mob, mortally wounding two civilians, a general strike was declared at midnight. Work was suspended throughout the city today. The clash occurred in connection with a meeting of demobilized troops. The police fired when stones were thrown from the crowd.

An Army Of Women Invading Every Calling In England

TWENTY THOUSAND STUDYING MEDICINE — WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT, IN THE LAW COURTS, ON THE BENCH —AND THEY'LL MAKE MANY CHANGES.

(By Helena Thomas)

The war years gave women their opportunity, which they were by no means slow to take advantage of, and so in peace they are getting a foothold in spheres which in pre-war days bore the sign "For Men Only." Lady Astor, the woman M. P., is now a hackneyed story; Maude Royden, occupying the pulpit of an old London church, the City Temple, is a tale retold; a bonnie girl who as an embryo lawyer has entered the ranks of the Law Society, and taken her place in and among the benchers of Lincoln's Inn, the first woman to sit among them since Queen Elizabeth.

Twenty thousand women studying for the medical profession tells a potent story; while we also find these feminine invaders in the ranks of the chemists, engineers, auctioneers, estate agents, and chauffeurs. Then there's Miss Manicom, the woman twenty-eight, who organized and fought the Pearl Assurance strike, and has just won a vital victory; and Mrs. Butler, of Ryde House School, Ripley, Yorkshire, is ambitious on quite another field, the football field. She presented herself before the Surrey Referees' Examination Committee as a fully qualified referee. She proved she had a sound knowledge of the game, trains the school team and referees the matches. (Imagine a Canadian woman wanting to referee a ball game and you'll appreciate the sensational innovation.) - Now meet Miss Jessie Stephens, who has been elected a member of the Bermondsey Council. She was formerly a domestic servant. In turn she has been a parlor-maid, general, cook, old-maid and warehouse porter, and her next move will be to enter Parliament. Politics being such a dirty game, she is the right one to "clean up."

Another innovation is women justices of the peace (one on the bench with Col. Denison and Co. would be a good idea). The Lord Chancellor has appointed Mrs. Lloyd George and Mrs. Lesee of Oldham, to the bench. They will do incalcuable good in the cases in which women and children are concerned. And the sooner they are appointed to run the "Children's Court" the better. Consider these events: A lady publisher, Miss Joan Beauchamp, was serving a sentence in Holloway Jail and on her release said there was a little girl, a fellow-prisoner, who screamed piteously all the time for her mother. The girl,Trallie Smith, fourteen years old ,is a gypsy living with her parents in East Ham. She was charged on remand with stealing two dollars from a clergyman, but the solicitor Miss Beauchamp engaged to defend the child proved there was no case to answer and the charge was dismissed. I venture to say a woman would have wanted stronger grounds before remanding an innocent girl of fourteen to seven days' solitude and misery. Nineteen-twenty women will work changes in many of the old ways.

Board Adjourns Newsprint Inquiry

Decides Not to Press For Appearance of Sir William Price

OTTAWA, March 1—The Board of Commerce will not press its demand for the appearance of Sir William Price and the manager of the Price Brothers' plant before the court of the board in its newsprint inquiry, which was adjourned sine die after Col. O. M. Biggar, K. C., Government counsel had presented before the board the facts of Friday's proceedings in the Supreme Court.

Col. Biggar, having informed the board that leave had been given to Price Brothers by Mr. Justice Anglin to bring action in the Supreme Court to test the jurisdiction of the Board of Commerce only on condition that it ship newsprint paper at once to certain Montreal firms at the fixed Canadian price. Commissioner W. F. O'Connor, chairman of the board, said that the object of the board's prosecution had been attained for the present .and no useful purpose could be served by further action to compel the appearance of the head of the firm in his court. Price Brothers, through its counsel, Aime Geoffroin, K. C., has communicated its willingness to answer a questionnaire of the board on costs and deliveries and this Mr. O'Connor thought was a fair way of dealing with the case.

Assured Supply of Paper

Col. Biggar mentioned that Col. Peers Davidson, representing the Montreal Star had agreed at the hearing before Mr. Justice Anglin to a stay of proceedings on condition shipment of newsprint was commenced at once. The arrangement made was that the publishers would pay the fixed price of $80 per ton, but would deposit with a Trust Company the difference between the Canadian and the United States market prices pending settlement of the case.

In the ordinary course, the Supreme Court will reach the Board of Commerce case about March 14.

RESUME NORMAL SIZE

Winnipeg, Man., March 2.—With newsprint reaching the city today and the assurance that more was on the way, Winnipeg daily newspapers will resume publication of normal sized papers. Since Wednesday last, all have been printing six-page editions.

Strategical Camouflage Mackenzie King's Motion

CALLING FOR IMMEDIATE GENERAL ELECTION—KNOWING THAT MOTION WOULD BE DEFEATED—HOPES TO WIN PRESTIGE—NO CONSTRUCTIVE SUGGESTIONS.

OTTAWA, March 1—No time was lost by the Opposition in making the situation in which the Government finds itself by reason of the ill-health and absence of Sir Robert Borden, and the consequent postponment of Cabinet reorganization, a subject for criticism in the Commons. Upon that situation Hon. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, and the first speaker from his side of the House, founded an amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, calling for a speedy appeal to the people at a general elections. The amendment which was subsequently described by Sir George Foster as a "piece of fine strategical camouflage," put forward the more readily because of the certainty of its defeat, was introduced at the close of an address in which Mr. King showed himself a fluent and vigorous speaker, but inclined to offer destructive criticism ,rather than constructive suggestions. To the attack upon the Government embodied in the amendment, Sir George Foster replied in the first place by an effective statement of Sir Robert Borden's position, and secondly, by a concise but complete recital of the achievements of the Union Government since its return to power in 1917 in redeeming its pre-election pledges to the electorate. The Acting Prime Minister spoke with evident emotion of the causes of Sir Robert Borden's absence. "The right honorable leader of this Government," he said, "is away unfortunately—and sadly we say it— in search of health, to be absent one, two or three months from the cares of office. Upon the result depends whether he will ever lead this Government again. If a kind Providence permits,' declared Sir George, "and his health is restored in reasonable time, we shall have the leader of the Government back again."

Refutation of Rumors

The announcement, a refutation of rumors that Sir Robert Borden had definitely decided to terminate his public career, whether or not he regained his health, was received with enthusiastic applause from the Government's supporters in the Chamber.

New Skating Rink Project Meeting With Great Favor

STEEL AND CONCRETE CONSTRUCTION PROPOSED — CAPACITY 4,000 — SEPARATE ENTRANCES — ARTIFICIAL ICE — SUMMER ARENA.

That Belleville will next season have one of the finest rinks in the Province if not in eastern Canada, appears to be definitely assured. W. J. Carter and Ernest P. Fredericks, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who have been working out the plan, have received such encouragement that there does not seem to be any doubt but what the project will be successfully carried out in the very near future. Although the matter has been discussed only for a week or so several thousand dollars have already been pledged for the erection of the rink along the lines suggested and it is believed that when the real work of securing support is undertaken that the necessary money will be forthcoming without any trouble.

Steel and Concrete

Although no definite plans have been decided upon it is proposed to erect a thoroughly up-to-the-minute rink, of steel and concrete construction and large enough to accomodate from 3,500 to 4,000 people comfortably. There will be a large skating surface, ample dressing room accomodations and a band stand with the latest style sounding board equipment.

Rush Seat Entrance

On either side of the ice will be the reserved seat section while at the end of the rink, and extending across th entire width of the building, will be the rush seats. These will have a separate entrance and will be built so that a good clear view of the ice can be had from any seat. In most rinks the rush seat patrons are given short shift but the local plans will provide for a square deal for those who cannot afford the higher priced seats. The object is to provide comfort and a clear view to every patron of the rink who goes to see a game.

Site Question

A number of sites are being considered but this phase of the matter will be carefully considered because the idea is to get a location that will be central and easy of access. Tentative plans are now being prepared and when they are completed a public meeting will be called to lay the whole project before the interested people here. It has been suggested that blocks of stock in small denominations probably $25 or $50 be set aside for those who would like to have an interest in the new rink and in order that as many local people as possible may have a direct interest in the undertaking.

Champion Hockey Team

Of equal importance is the declaration that steps will be taken at once to build up a winning hockey team for the city. It is felt that with one of the best rinks in the country that the city should be represented by a team on a par with the rink and every effort will be made to have such a team. It is believed that Belleville has enough material to provide the backbone of a championship team. A competent coach will be engaged to take charge of the candidates and the work outs will begin early.

Summer Arena

During the summer months the rink would be devoted to various indoor amusements and it is believed that many events, that now lack proper facilities, can be held under the right conditions.

Artificial Ice

Whether the rink will have a natural or artificial ice surface has not been decided although many supporters of the project favor artificial ice. The advantages of the latter are numerous, because it would not only permit a longer season but would permit games to be played no matter what the weather conditions might be and would remove the handicap of soft ice which often hampers the players during a mild spell.

Wherever the project has been discussed it has met with enthusiastic endorsement and a number of local sport lovers have come forward voluntarily with offers of financial aid. As soon as the type of rink is decided upon and the cost fixed the stock will be offered for subscription. From the present indications it will not require much solicitation to get the required amount.

No Nation Wide Railroad Strike

Positive Announcement is Made by Officials of U.S. Labor Unions.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—There will be no nation-wide railroad strike.

This positive announcement was made last night by high officials of the railway labor unions, representing the more than 2,000,000 employees who operate the roads which passed to their private owners this morning.

Although these officials manifested the greatest resentment over the passage of the Cummins-Esch bill and its endorsement by the President, they indicated that they will fall into line behind Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who has taken a "what's the use" attitude.

Railroad labor chiefs, after a series of meetings, held an executive session at which a committee was selected to draft a reply to the President's communication of Saturday, in which he counselled patience on the part of the unions in the settlement of their demands. It was stated that no verbal announcement of labor's policy will be made until the written answer to the President is completed.

It was learned authoritatively, however, that the union heads will not attempt to force the issue by calling a strike. It is probable that in their reply to President Wilson, the Railroad Brotherhoods will have some suggestions to make regarding the handling of the wage controversy and their insistence upon some method which will hasten the decision.

With the wage question temporarily in status quo, all details involved in the enormous turn-over of the roads were worked out smoothly, it was announced by Director-General Walker D. Hines. The great transportation systems of the country, operated as a single road during the war began competing with each other at 12.01 a.m., when the roads passed out of Government control.

Brandon United Farmers decided to enter Provincial politics and to have a candidate.

Farmer Members Will Sit Together

OTTAWA, March 2—At the request of the four Farmer members and the thirteen or fourteen dissentients from the Government's tariff proposals of session, a row of seats has been left vacant between the Liberal Opposition to the left of the Speaker and the Farmers' party. It is not that the Farmers object to the company of the Liberals, but for the present they wish to accentuate the fact of their aloofness.

It has not yet been decided by the Government whether the Farmers who were elected as Unionists, will be able to attend the Unionist caucus or go into room 16 set apart for the Unionist members or not. Some will not atted but others intend to go to every caucus if allowed. It might make some difference in the result when the caucus selects a successor to Sir Robert Borden and there is, therefore, no doubt that partisans of the high and moderate-protectionist candidates would just as soon see them shut out. On the other hand a vote is a vote and the Government may need a dozen votes at some time during the session before the tariff proposals come down and the Western and the Farmer votes referred to would consequently be lost entirely.

The Hon. T. A. Crerar, ex-Minister of Agriculture, has arrived in the city. Asked if he expected a big fight during the session, he said blandly, "Why should there be a big fight?"

There is a fine old bull moose carved out of wood on the railing of the Speaker's gallery just over where the Farmers' party sits, certain wags as a result are now calling them the 'Bull Moose party.' The name may stick.

Seven Lives Reported Lost When SS. Bohemian Sank

STRANDED LINER, POUNDED BY HEAVY SEAS, BROKE IN TWO AND DISAPPEARED — SOME OF CREW LOST IN ABANDONING THE SHIP.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

HALIFAX, March 2.—The citadel signal station reports this morning that the Leyland Liner Bohemian, which stranded on the Sambro Ledges early yesterday morning and was later abandoned, broke in two this morning and sank.

Seven lives are believed to have been lost and several persons were injured when the crew of the Bohemian abandoned their ship as she was breaking up on the Sambro Ledges this morning. A number of the crew had remained on board after the stranding. Late last night a swell developed and the ship pounded so heavily that it was feared she would break in two. At four o'clock this morning it was decided to abandon her. Three of the ship's boats got away safely, but the remainder of the crew were unable to take to the boats, according to reports reaching here. The tug Roebling came as close to the stranded ship as possible and the transfer of those still on board was effected by life-lines. It is believed that it was in this operation that the loss of life occurred. Not long afterwards the steamer broke in two on the jagged rock on which she was pivoted and disappeared.

U.F.O. Govt. Engage Lawyer Elliott

Farmers Need Another Lawyer, So They Engage J. C. Elliott, Ex-M.P.P.

TORONTO, March 2.—J. C. Elliott, ex-M.P.P. of Glencoe, has been appointed Legislative Counsel for the Drury Government during the session. Mr. Elliott represented a Middlesex constituency in the Liberal interests for many years. He withdrew from the contest in the last general elections.

At the Liberal convention last summer he was mentioned as the Leader of the Liberal party before the selection of H. H. Dewart. Later it was rumored that he would be offered the Attorney-Generalship in the U. F. O.-Labor Government.

With but one lawyer in the Government it was felt thatmore legal help was required, especially in the framing of legislation. The Government, to overcome this, created the post of Legislative Counsel, and appointed Mr. Elliott to the position. He started his duties yesterday.

The Attorney-General's Department, besides all its own work, has been getting legal work from other Ministers without legal training.

It is understood that the Ontario Government is in accord with the spirit of this memorial and will bring forward at the coming session of the legislature necessary legislation to this end.

Turks Murder Armenians 20,000 In Marash Region

ARMENIANS MASSACRED BY TURK AND ARAB SOLDIERY—150,000 MORE IN DANGER — FRENCH FORCES IN CILICIA UTTERLY INADEQUATE TO PROTECT THE PEOPLE.

WASHINGTON, March 1—Cablegrams received today by Professor Abraham der Hagopian, Vice-President of the Armenian National Delegation, who is in Washington on a special mission, corroborated reports that 20,000 Armenians had been massacred by Turks in the region of Marash, in Cilicia, Asia Minor, and stated that the French forces in Cilicia where the situation is acute, were wholly insufficient for protection

The first telegram, signed by Nubar, the Vicar of the Patriarchate of Constantinople, relayed from London read:

"I regret to inform you that the French troops evacuated Marash in the night. Unfortunately they did not inform any one. On the following day, surprised at this sudden retreat, 3,000 Armenians made their first exit and they were massacred. Fifteen hundred others succeeded in reaching Islahie. A great number of them were frozen. Out of 20,000 remaining in the town, 16,000 were massacred. Please bring to notice of the Washington authorities. Publish in the press.

"(Signed) Nubar."

The second cable was sent to Prof. der Hagopian from Cairo, and read:

"Almost the entire Armenian population in the Marash region, over 20,000 murdered. Present situation in Cilicia awfully alarming. One hundred and fifty thousand Armenians in danger Fernch forces are quite insufficient for protection.

"(Signed)

Doctors Would Be Servants Of State

By Fred G. Griffin

It's a long stride from the days of leeches and bleeding for the vapors to the socialization of medicine. The discovery of ether or the rebuilding of war-shattered faces would at one time have seemed more visionary than is now the idea of having annual physical inspection of every individual in the State in order to prevent disease. Talk to an enthusiast like Dr. Gordon Bates of Toronto and before your eyes you will see a vision of the perfect state where disease is not, where suffering and pain have been eliminated, where every individual is fit physically and mentally and therefore efficient and where death for all is simply a peaceful laying down of tasks well done when the allotted span is reached.

A little more than a generation ago the surgeon was a "saw-bones" a crude carver-off of limbs. Today he is in a position to become the keystone of the fabric of the efficient modern state where happiness is within the grasp of all.

The whole question involves much more than a mere lining-up of the State's medical men for the State's use. According to Dr. Bates the great force for increasing the efficiency of every individual is prevention of disease. "Where you get low standards of educaton," he declares "you get all the elements that go to produce the spread of disease." Several things, he says, lie at the root of the evil: poor teaching, resulting in low ideals; low wages, too long hours of labor, improper nutriment; and as a sort of sequel to it all, the tenement evil with its overcrowding, its low standards and loose morals.

After outlining these disease causes he went on: "As soon as you can create facilities for the study of the conditions at the bottom of this condition of affairs you begin to understand the problem and to seek machinery the operation of which will eliminate the disease.

"The interesting part of it all," he added emphatically, "is that it's all preventable."

"What chance has a rosebush in a cellar?" he asked. "What chance has a man in tenement? Both are stunted. The rosebush in the hands of the expert gardener reaches its full beautiful development. The child under experts in child-growing will develop like a rose, mentally and physically.

"The most valuable crop in the world is the crop of babies and yet some States spend more annually to help raise hogs or to eliminate some insect that bothers vegetables than they do to see that their babies get a chance."

THE CHANGED VIEWPOINT

Even before the war the world was beginning to realize that the good health of the citizens was a national asset resulting in efficiency. The old hit-and-miss individualistic system of doctoring, where it was the doctor's business alone whether the patient lived or died or lingered on diseased or crippled was beginning to pass away. Germany was the first to get the point of view. And then Great Britain in 1909 introduced her National Insurance scheme. Still more, industrial corporations became more and more interested from an efficiency standpoint in the physical welfare of their employes. They employed hygienists. They installed rest rooms. Some of them had annual medical inspection of their workers. Insurance companies began educating their policy holders to medical inspection, realizing that prevention kept down the mortality rate by prolonging lives. And now we have come to a point where Dr. Gordon Bates says:

"It seems to me we should have every one in the State inspected once a year."

A great deal of disease, he points out, develops unnecessarily and a great deal is not being treated because no effort is being made to educate people or provide facilities for its treatment.

His solution is organization. There should be a Federal ministry of health as there is now in Canada; there should be Provincial ministries of health. They should be well financed. Functions should be the prevention of disease by the preservation of health and the promotion of the physical and mental well-being of the people. They should have departments dealing with mental hygiene, child welfare, social diseases, tubercolosis, etc.

"I am not sure," adds Dr. Bates, "whether they should control things from a social point of view or not, but they should be able to exert a great deal of influence on conditions and see that every man gets a living wage and a fair chance."

TAKE OVER PROFESSION ?

As to the taking over of the whole medical profession by the State on that point, there is controversy. It has been proved that only by organization comes efficiency and yet it is a fact that some of the greatest doctors do their work because of the incentive that success brings. Would they lose the impetus if they became servants of the State? But some of the greatest preventative work has been done by the doctors in the army and navy. Witness the practical wiping out of malaria on the West coast of Africa by Sir Ronald Ross, R.A.M.C.: Col. Leishmann's work in the prevention of typhoid fever and Gen. Gorgas' cleaning up of the Panama Canal zone. The work of army doctors mobilized in the war showed that disease could be practically eliminated by prevention. In the Boer War there were over 15,000 deaths in the British army from enteric or typhoid, or nearly twice as many as died from wounds. In the great war the disease was not heard of.

"This shows what organized medical science can do," comments Dr. Bates. "If it is good for the army it is good for the civilian population. The army is an efficient fighting force. The civilian population is not only not an efficient fighting force; it is not even an efficient working force."

Dr. Bates would begin with looking after the people who were not able to look after themselves. In England only a proportion of the people below a certain level and only a proportion of the doctors come under the National Insurance Act. He would begin similarly here.

"There is a curious anomaly," pointed out Dr. Bates in conclusion, "in the present system of medical service. The two people who get the best treatment are the millionnaire and the people without any money at all. The former calls in the best doctor. The latter applies to the City Relief Officer and gets the same man's services for nothing.

"But if self-respecting people of the lower middle class, clerks with low incomes, or their wives fall ill, they are too proud to go to a clinic and yet they can't pay for the best medical advice or the nursing necessary. As a result they get inefficient medical service and pay far beyond their means for it. This tends to bring about conditions which might be prevented."

YOUNG TORONTO BRIDE FOUND HURT IN NEWARK

Newark, N.J., March 2—Mrs. Irene Gays, 18 years old, was found in her room here with a bullet wound in her side. A pistol, which her young husband used in the Canadian army in France, was beside her.

A note to her husband read in part: "I know you do not love me as you did not even kiss me good-bye when you went away today. Leland, I cannot live without you. I am broken-hearted over you and love you. When you write to my mother tell her I was sick and died of the flu."

She is the daughter of John Broderick, of Toronto, who before the war, was a wealthy lumber merchant.

Toll Roads Gone, And An Era Passes

Province of Ontario Now Free From The Last of the "Turnpike Trusts"

The last toll road in Ontario is gone! The last turnpike gate has for the last time held out its arm to stop the progress of the passer by until he should have dug into his pockets for the number of cents necessary to purchase a right of way. Speaking a few days ago at the annual convention of the Association of Land Surveyors, G. F. Henderson said that within the last ten days, "the last barbarism in the shape of toll roads had disappeared from the highways of the Province."

"The last barbarism," he referred to was in the neighborhood of Ottawa.

The end of the toll road is more than an incident. It marks the passing of an era, almost 100 years during which the turnpike played its part. It is in a sense a shattering of one of the last few shreds of romance, clinging to a modernized Canada, the romance that meant adventurous driving in a swinging, bumping cariole or buggy along terrible roads, instead of the romance of the whizzing auto and the roaring railway train.

It means too the passing of yet another era when the possession of public utilities enriched the few instead of being primarily for the service of the many. "Turnpike trusts" occupied somewhat the same position in the public mind during the last century that private ownership of practises for this and that does at the present.

But the toll road played its part in the development of the country. Under the French regime the seigneurs or landholders kept the primitive roads passable. But the necessity of better roads for military purposes became evident and the beginning of a military road system was inaugurated in 1791 by Sir John Simcoe when the Province of Upper Canada was created. In those days the lakes and rivers provided means of transportation and communication. Thousands already inhabited the Niagara district but they only heard from Quebec and Montreal once a year. The commercial possibilities of roads were not dreamt of. A land journey was looked on as a more or less tedious portage.

First Highway Law

The first highway legislation of Upper Canada was enacted in 1793, compelling all inhabitants of parishes and townships to work twelve days a year or provide substitutes to work on the roads. Another Act in 1807 put the assessment and collection of district rates on a uniform basis. The taxes were too light to cause dissatisfaction and Upper Canada received many compliments from English visitors on the condition of its roads.

Although the first stage in Upper Canada was not established until 1798 along the west bank of the Niagara River from Newark (Niagara to Fort Welland and Yonge street had been built by the soldiers under Simcoe's orders, and Dundas street was well under way. Simcoe had a scheme for making London the capital of Upper Canada and his military roads were aimed at that end rather than the opening up of the country. Complaints even from the judges on circuits, were constantly being received. The difficulties of campaigning in the war of 1812 accentuated the neglect of Upper Canadas roads, except in a few instances.

Shortly after this there was an improvement and from 1816 stages were etsablished. In 1817 a weekly journey from Kingston to York could be made for $18. The first stage between York and Niagara was established in 1826, the fare being $5. By 1842, the four-horse coach having appeared, a daily line capable of meeting mail requirements had been established throughout the Province.

So the day of the toll road had come, for it was obvious that the old system of maintenance by groups of settlers could not keep pace with the need for the good post roads. There was much opposition to toll roads on the part of thinking men, and it was only after negotiations lasting from 1821 to 1828 that a toll bridge was built between Kingston and Point Frederick by the Cataraqui Bridge Company. The toll was tenpence for every foot passenger and a half-penny for single draught animals. The Government paid $300 annually for permission for soldiers to cross the bridge in discharge of their duties.

Many Others Follow

Many toll companies followed this experiment. By 1831 Dundas and King streets and Kingston road were improved by a toll roads system.

York County has the distinction of being the home of the Ontario toll road, a Government loan of $50,000 being raised in 1833, with interest payable from toll revenues. The penalty for turning off a toll road to avoid paying toll after proceeding part of the way was ten shillings.

But the toll roads were not an unmixed blessing. There were numerous "kicks" among the enlightened because they were in the hands of stock companies or lessees who laid out nothing on them that could be avoided. So by an Act of 1845 the Province entered among the turnpike trusts on its own account, and in 1849 legislation was passed providing for the shareholding and ultimate purchase of these toll roads by the municipalities.

The last year of the old Province of Canada saw the beginning of a County Highway System for by the Act of 1866 counties might assume roads and bridges under their own jurisdiction. Swift progress was made after Confederation when Ontario's Department of Public Works came into being. In 1899 the passing of an Act to facilitate the purchase of toll roads by municipalities sounded their doom. Although a few of the toll companies clung till the very last, the roads were gradually forced from them.

But it took to 1920 to complete the emancipation.

JUST ONE APPLICATION AND THE HAIRS VANISH

(Toilet Talks)

Any woman can keep her skin free from unsightly hair or fuzz if she will follow these simple instructions: When hairy growths appear, apply a simple paste, made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. Apply this to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a harmless treatment, but be sure you get the real delatone.

FLAX-GROWING IN CANADA.

Industry Has Shown Signs of Reviving Since the War.

The carefully considered effort which is being made by the Provincial Government of Ontario to encourage the cultivation of flax in the northern part of the province is a welcome evidence of foresight. For there is a very considerable shortage of flax in the world's markets, and the old sources of supply are, for the time being, at any rate, seriously curtailed. Thus, in the days before the war, and for some time after its onset, great quantities of flax came from Russia, whilst Belgium and Holland also made considerable contributions. To-day, Russia is practically out of the market, and the supplies from Holland and Belgium are still limited. This condition has, of course, obtained for some time past, and, two or three years ago, when the demand for linen for airplane wings and other war purposes was making heavy calls on the linen production capabilities of the Allies, Canada applied herself seriously to the question of increasing the flax production of the country. To this end the Government promised a fixed price for the crop, and a bounty, running from two to nine cents a pound, to the spinner for the finished yarn. The authorities, moreover, suffered no delay in the matter. With characteristic energy they established a complete plant at Regina, Saskatchewan, for the extraction of the fibres from the flax, and arranged for the carrying out of a series of experiments in spinning, in Kitchener, Ont. The idea of the Canadian Government was, of course, not only to establish an industry which would help to meet the war needs of the Allies, but one which might be developed, after the war, to the increasing advantage of the Dominion as a whole.

Now flax is essentially the crop for the small holder. There is, it is true, really no limit to the scale upon which it can be grown, but the process of hand weeding, to which it so readily responds, makes flax a crop particularly adapted to the kind of labor generally available on a small holding. It is for this reason, no doubt, amongst others, that the Ontario Government has adopted the scheme, just referred to, of encouraging flax growing in the northern part of the province. Under this plan, various mills in older Ontario, will supply seed to be distributed among selected settlers in the north country, in quantities sufficient to plant two or more acres, whilst the settler when he has harvested his crop, to return to the mill an amount of seed equal to that which was sent to him. It is proposed then to compare the northern seed and fibre with the product grown from similar seed in the older districts, and if the results prove satisfactory, the Government is prepared to take still further steps to encourage cultivation.

Ultimately it is hoped to establish in Canada a complete linen trade, on a large scale, and not merely to cultivate flax for export. There is, however, to-day an immediate market for exported Canadian flax, not only for the sake of the linen which may be made from it, but for the sake of its many greatly needed bye-products, such as linseed oil and cake.

Fertile Soils for Alfalfa.

Alfalfa will not thrive on poor land, or that which is deficient in lime. Even soils that are moderately fertile and produce good average grain crops will not produce profitable crops of alfalfa unless first limed and then planted in sweet clover, which should be turned under while it is green and juicy in the fall or late summer.

Instal farm motors for pumping water, pulping turnips, cutting straw, etc.

Frog's Anatomy.

If size of skull were an index of brain-power, the frog would be an intellectual prodigy. Its cranium is huge, but, alas! its brain is very small.

The frog has only nine vertebrae—fewer than any other animal with a backbone possesses. Lacking ribs, it is obliged to swallow by gulps the air it breathes, instead of projecting its chest as we do and creating a vacuum for air to pour into.

Its pelvis hinges on to its backbone so as to give it a joint in the middle of its back, and it has another hinge in each foot. These extra joints are a great help in leaping.

Froggy is in his way the most wonderful animal we know, inasmuch as he begins life as a vegetable-eating fish (or the equivalent), and later on turns into a carnivorous air-breathing land quadruped.

KINGSTON QUALIFY FOR O.H.A. FINAL

Kingston, March 1—Kingston executed a whirlwind finish in the return game tonight with Brampton and won the round by three goals. The game tonight resulted 9 to 3. Kingston had to make up three goals which Brampton had to their credit last Friday night but when the second period ended they led by only 3 to 2.

In the last period Kingston scored six goals, as against one by the visitors. Jimmy Stewart scored four in succession in this session for the locals. The game was a splendid exhibition.

BROCKVILLE HANDED UNMERCIFUL BEATING

Ottawa, March 1—Dishing up brilliant hockey and outplaying the Brockville team in every department, the Munitions team, winners of the City League and conquerors of the Wanderers, defeated the Island City sextette at the Rideau Rink tonight by a score of 18 to 2. It was the record score of the season.

Munitions will, unless a miracle happens, be the team to play off against the Montreal Victorias or the Quebec Sons of Ireland for the honor of going into the Allan Cup semi-finals.

W. G. FREDENBURG DEAD.

The northern section of Leeds County has lost one of its leading residents. William G. Fredenburg, actively connected with the life of the county for many years, passed away at his home in Westport on Sunday morning after a short illness. Mr. Fredenburg was a son of the late W. H. Fredenburg, of Westport, who was a miller, manufacturer and the owner of a line of barges on the Rideau Canal. Associated with his father during his early life he took charge of the milling business on his death in 1901 and continued to conduct it until a few years ago, when he retired. A Liberal in politics he was a vice-president of the Leeds Liberal Association and in 1908 followed in his father's footsteps by contesting the riding of Leeds against the late Hon. Geo. Taylor, of Gananoque, being defeated.

SAYS THAT TROOPS WERE SOBER MEN

Toronto, March 2—Speaking to a congregation of 2000 people at Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Captain Gypsy Pat Smith, the Scotch soldier-evangelist, who is conducting a two weeks' campaign here, characterized the statement that British troops had been "doped with rum before going over the top" as "a lie and a libel on the finest men that every breathed God's fresh air."

"All the time that I was in France I only saw two British soldiers who were drunk," said the speaker.

One of these was a captain and the other a sergeant in the speaker's own company.

The evangelist said that the reason the returned men were not attending church in as large numbers as had been expected was because they were "having their fling" after the rigorous discipline and hardships of the war. He predicted that they would eventually come back to the church, however, if the preachers stuck to the gospel. That was what the men wanted in the front line trenches, he said, and that was what they got. They were not receptive to "new fangled conceptions of religion.

Letters To The Editor

OLD AGE PENSION

Belleville, Ont, March 2, 1920

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—Although this open communication is addressed to the City Council and Dominion Government, it will prove to be good information to all people who are not up in social or political economy, and do not know how old age pension is paid for, and the following is a key to the solution. As I have not got a blue book before me I cannot give the exact revenue discount on all the necessaries of life, but I do know there is a five cent revenue stamp on every box of matches at 15 cents a box. The old age pensioner invests $1.00 for matches. He gets seven boxes with five cent revenue on each box, which makes 35 cents, which means 35 cents in the first investment of $1.00. The grocery keeper does not consume the dollar, he uses the dollar to replenish his match stock and makes purchases from the wholesaler which make 35 cents more, which makes 70 cents. The wholesaler hands the dollar over to the manufacturer which makes the revenue on three investments of one old age pension dollar to $1.05. Now sir, the old age pension dollar keeps in circulation and goes from the manufacturer to the employees and the employees recirculate it and every time it is invested it means about 35 cents for the Government and one old age pension dollar in circulation may purchase $100,000 in revenue discounted goods which would mean $30,000 in revenue. Is it any wonder that Great Britain and her colonies are expanding their old age pension investments.

I remain, yours,
THOS. SULLIVAN

Brutality Better Than Ardent Love Says Wife

Wife Asserts That She Was Smothered With Kisses

San Francisco, Cal., March 2—How much should you love your wife?

That is the absorbing question brought up here by the divorce action of Mrs. Leigh M. Stewart, who sues her husband, Commander Stewart, because he loved her too much.

The divorce courts are cluttered with actions because "love has died." Now there comes the reverse—the newer and absorbing question for a judge to determine: Just how much should a man love his wife?

A modern cave man was Commander Stewart, according to his wife. A cave man with gentle, human kindness, but overpowering in his love.

"His love for me was so overpowering, so terrible in its intensity, that it killed my own love for him. As I look back over the period of five years of our married life something tells me if he had loved me less I could have loved him more.

"He was never satisfied unless he had me in his arms, kissing me. He never seemed to be able to caress me enough.

"Then we married. It is easily imagined how he won me by his love, but later, incessant as it became, it tired me. I was never free from the very awfulness of his love.

"Life became hateful. Can you imagine sitting at a breakfast table with a man who wouldn't permit you to eat because of the time it took from kissing? At luncheon he would have thought up a new love poem, the kind he always returned with from a sea voyage. Then at dinner it was more kissing, kisses, kisses, kisses.

"Not so very long ago I tired so utterly of his kisses that I asked him to leave me alone for a moment. He flew into a rage and choked me. I thought then that he was going to kill me, and I came nearer at that moment to loving him than in any of the long years of our married life.

"His caresses were so tiring that brutality was welcome."

BALLOON BASKETS FILLED WITH SNOW

Montreal, March 2—L. A. Kloor, W. H. Cushing and R. A. Thompson of the United States navy who left Rockaway naval air station, New York, Saturday, in a free balloon race, together with two other competitors, passed over Alburg, Vermont, at 7.45 a.m. and shortly after ran into a severe snowstorm, which filled the baskets with snow and forced them to descend at Burlington, Vermont. From this town they came on by train to Montreal, their original objective, and reached here in the evening, where they will await instructions from Rockaway and news of the other two balloons and their occupants.

ASK PROHIBITION OF HEARST PAPERS

Guelph March 2—At the close of the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon, a joint meeting was held with the Red Cross Society, when the matter of allowing the Hearst publications into Canada was taken up. A strong resolution was passed asking the Dominion Government to issue an order prohibiting all the Hearst publications to enter this country, the opinion being expressed that they are nothing but German propaganda and have a tendency to stir up strife and cause unrest, as well as making an effort to create a spirit of antagonism between the United States and Great Britain. The resolution was heartily endorsed by the I.O.D.E. and a copy ordered forwarded to the proper authorities at Ottawa.

OLD ACTOR DIES IN N.Y. WAS SMITTEN IN TORONTO

New York, March 2.—Fred Hallen, sixty years old, a veteran actor, died yesterday. He became ill last December while playing in Toronto with his wife, Mollie Fuller.

MARKED INCREASE IN HERRING CATCH

Ottawa, March 2.—Due mainly to the greatly increased catch of herring in British Columbia during January, the total value of sea fish, at the point of landing shows a great advance over the month of January, 1919. Figures issued by the Department of the Naval Service Department of the Naval Service show that the total value of sea fish landed in Canada during January of the present year was $967,840. In January, 1919, it was $608,256. Fishing operations on the Atlantic coast were greatly interrupted by unusually cold and stormy weather during January and certain catches were not quite as good as during the same month a year ago. There was a falling off in the catches of haddock, hake and pollock and also of scallops.

Herring were in great abundance in the Nanaimo, Alberni and Clayoquot districts of British Columbia and the total catch amounted to 36,000 cwts. against 5,[illegible]00 cwts for January, 1919. About the same quantity of halibut was landed as during January, 1919.

OH, JOY! OH, BOY! LISTEN TO THIS!

Barney Baruch, a great financier of the United States, says that the end of high prices is in sight. "Only a cataclysm, an act of God, or some development such as the overthrow of the Government and the establishment of some unwarranted substitute can prevent a drop in the cost of living," he said. From a painful consideration of the machinations of the profiteers these cheering words from a financial prophet will be welcomed with the hope that he knows whereof he speaks. It is to be hoped that the proletariat will watch their step and not spill the beans before the high price orgy is terminated. People who need bread are clamoring for the ballot, but the ballot might not be as productive of a full dinner pail as its advocates would have us believe. Amplifying his prophecy Baruch said:

> "When the hoarders and profiteers see that greatly increased production is in sight—and they will be the very first to see it—they will unload and run to cover. With the restoration of normal transportation on land and sea, and with the world back to work, as it is going slowly but surely, reduction in the cost of living is an absolute certainty.
> "After the war broke out in 1914," Baruch said, "it brought from production to destruction 25,000,000 men. It took five men and women to care for the wants of every one of these fighting men. This made the enormous total of 125,000,000 persons withdrawn from their normal pursuits. Factories were changed to produce agents of destruction in unlimited numbers. This went on for the war period. But with the armistice the world began to get back to work.
> "We in the United States now are about back to normal. True, a great many have not yet resumed the job at top speed. But they are getting back. The great forces that of necessity had to be dedicated to destruction now are about to aid construction with all of their ability. Production will reach the maximum and the result will be that prices will go back to normal and all the people will benefit. Because of my belief in this I am opposed to any price fixing by Congress in peace times. The law of supply and demand can be depended on to take care of this."

NO TROUBLE TO GET CARS HERE.

Belleville's advantages as an industrial centre are many, but one of the most important of them in which Belleville has a distinct advantage over many other places is the fact that this is a terminal for the Grand Trunk Railway company with interswitching connection with the C. P. R. and C. N. R. Belleville manufacturers never have any difficulty or delay getting cars and this is a factor appreciated highly by large business enterprises. W. E. Schuster, chairman of the Transportation Committee, writing in the Chamber of Commerce Bulletin upon this subject, says:

> One great advantage that our city has over its competitors in the race for new industries is that Belleville is located on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway System and is one of the chief divisional point of this great road. This outstanding feature should never be lost sight of in discussing the advantages of Belleville as a centre of industry. It is an absolute guarantee against a car shortage, and railway equipment of every description can be procured on short notice by industries located here.
> Our location as it relates to the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National systems, with interswitching mutually arranged among the three railroads, is of course, of great importance to our industrial growth.
> The new Government dock, with a railway track running its entire length, is a further advantage to the city and should be in our minds constantly in promoting the interests of Belleville. It provides a water terminal and will unquestionably loom large in connection with the activities of our city in the future.
> By reason of necessity, traffic from the Midland district of the Province to the American side will be routed via Belleville and the new Government dock, while traffic from the American side for points in the Midland district will be routed the same way. This is the logical route for this traffic and it must be developed. It is the purpose of this committee to further all these things and make the most of our wonderful transportation facilities.

Deseronto Post man evidently does not appreciate Belleville's idea of closing places of public assembly by permitting a thousand or two howling hockey fans to get together in small space. Says the Post: "It remains to be seen how many people who attended that hockey match in Belleville will contract the flu, or act as carriers for the dreaded disease. Dollars should not be considered above the spreading of an epidemic that has so far carried off some nine hundred people in the province of Ontario. Shame, shame, Belleville!

The Trenton Advocate makes a valuable suggestion which may mark the beginning of Belleville's Zoological Gardens—that is if it would be strictly proper to place a wild man in a zoo. However, if the Chicago Blade can spare its wild man we'll find a place on Zwick's Island to chain him where he can play with the rest of the squirrels. Says the Advocate: "We republish an article from the Chicago Blade of Saturday last telling of a wild man from Belleville, hairy, ape-like and vicious—a man of much interest to Bay of Quinte residents. Would it not be wise for our sister city to start a Zoo and build a neat iron cage for the man-animal and have him on exhibition. We fell sure that "it" would be quite an attraction to tourists and others visiting that city."

The' Poet's Corner

THERE ARE NO DEAD.

With faces looking toward the light
They left us, ere the dawn was red
They wakened to the fuller life.
There are no dead.

And where they rest in slumber sweet
The birds are singing overhead
A threnody of love and hope.
There are no dead.

O'er wooded hills, in valleys green,
By river bank and mossy bed,
They wait the coming of the morn.
There are no dead.

And from the turmoil and the strife
Those tender spirits now have fled
Into the twilight of God's love.
There are no dead.

They have no terrors of the grave
Who fight in freedom's cause—nor dread
The hand of death, they live—who die.
There are no dead.

Somewhere beneath the stars they lie
Yet let not sorrow droop her head;
Away with grief! Rejoice! They live!
They are not dead.

Young Oxford Graduate
Who Led 200,000 Arabs
Against Turks in Syria

SOMEHOW, overdone with soldiering, popular fancy has all but missed its two romantic figures, Allenby and Lawrence. Allenby's capture of Jerusalem, his gift of organization, his wonderful strategy in Northern Palestine, and his way with Orientals, exhibit him as perhaps the one soldier-statesman of the war. But Lawrence, save for his masterly squiring of the Emir Feisul at Paris, has remained almost unknown. Yet we must look on this small chetif figure as on a Clive of the twentieth century. With one qualification. Clive kept the Empire he won; Lawrence will have to surrender a good part of his to France. It was all very thrilling; a feat of moral conquest no less than of arms, a proud witness of the living genius of Britain.

Col. Thomas Lawrence—Shereef Lawrence is endowed with an unusual grace of modesty, and we are told that, when he discovered he was to receive decorations in Egypt, he jumped into an airplane and followed the Israelites across the deserts of Sinai, no doubt singing to himself, "Oh for the wings of a dove." Some tell us that modesty is the mark of genius. In Col. Lawrence we seem to find the combination, and the quality of his genius is of peculiar interest to English people.

We are told that he was a young Oxford man, whom the beginning of the war found pottering about the Euphrates, studying archaeology and Arabic, of which, indeed, he was already a master. A small man (5 feet 3 inches in height), beardless, easily passing for a woman in Arab dress, but so careless of appearances that, even when he got into British uniform, he neither knew nor cared how many stars he had on his shoulder straps, nor whether he had three on one strap and none on the other. Entirely ignorant of military art, yet possessing such knowledge of the Arabs and their country that some general, who must have been gifted with an almost inconceivable genius for disregarding War Office etiquette, resolved to put him to use in the service, and apparently sent him down to Arabia proper.

There the Arabs made him a "Prince of Mecca," which is as high a title as it sounds and has never been given to a foreigner before. He was attached to the staff of Emir Feisul, and gathered a random army of 200,000 men, Bedouins and other Arabs. A random army, indeed, it must have been, if we may judge from the pictures of the white-robed hosts wandering in haphazard crowds, without any attempt at formation, over the rocky hills. But somehow or other he led them up through Petra to join Allenby in the north of Palestine, occupied Damascus under his command, and ruled it as governor. In any case, it was a remarkable exploit for a young Oxford student.

But the most remarkable part of the story is the young man's personal influence over an untamed, half-barbarous, and exclusive people. It has lately been the fashion to extol the Arabs as a noble race longing for freedom and self-determination, capable of unity and respectable self-government. Those who have known the Arabs at first hand do not speak of them so smoothly. Readers of Maj. Sandes' book, "In Kut and Captivity," for instance will remember that, however much the British soldier hated the Turk, he hated the Arab (even as an ally) twenty times more—hated him for his treachery, his meanness, his cruelty.

Yet it was among these Arabs that Col. Lawrence exerted so peculiar an influence that they served him as their king, regarded him as a prophet, and endowed him with something of supernatural power. His modesty, his indifference to dress and personal state, even his ignorance of military science (from the appearance of his army we must assume that he was incapable of saying "Form Fours"!)—all such things do not seem to have mattered in the least. There appears to have hung a magic "aura" about the man, a "daemonic" quality, something of that "authority" which even mad Lear retained.—The Nation, London.

SUSPECTED FORGER
HELD BY POLICE

Quebec, March 2—With cheques in his possession totalling a sum of $58,000 signed in the name of Van Ripen and payable at the First National Bank of New York, a young man giving his name as Frank Payzan, was arrested here Saturday afternoon, on suspicion of forgery. The arrest was made in the jewelry store of G. S. Elfert and Sons, Fabrique Street, at the request of the Banque Nationale of Quebec. Payzan produced letters of introduction from a Montreal bank managed and also from prominent Canadian, including Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King. He explained that he was coming to Quebec to open up a branch of a New York bond house.

PROMOTING PURE BRED CATTLE

Alberta Stock Ranch: Purebred Calves for Alberta University Farm.

The livestock men of Alberta have adopted a novel means of promoting their industry, and, incidently, of bringing to the notice of the people both within and without the province, the standing of Alberta as a livestock country.

Thirteen of the largest breeders have donated thirteen steers, mostly purebreds, to the University Farm without any charge whatsoever. These steers represent the cream of twenty-four of Alberta's leading herds, and constitute what is thought to be the finest selection of its kind owned by any institution in Canada.

During the past a number of grade steers had been bought from time to time by the University Farm for judging purposes for the students of the College of Agriculture. The best of these were shown at the local live stock shows and later sold. It was next to impossible however to secure the class of stock best suited to this purpose with the funds available, as it entailed going to the larger breeders and paying top prices for selected individuals, and in all probability the breeders would not care to dispose of the animals of the age most suitable. It was felt that this work could be made more valuable to the province at large if instead of using ordinary grade steers, animals of higher merits could be obtained. In any case the cost of labor, feed and housing would be the same.

To Professor A. A. Dowell, Chief of the Department of Animal Husbandry, of the University of Alberta, came an inspiration whereby the University was able to get the required animals without paying a cent for them, yet giving their owners a good return. It appears that there are a number of breeders in the province of Alberta who are not in a position to do their own fitting and showing. Consequently their herds suffer from a lack of advertisement. Prof. A. Dowell evolved a plan by which the breeders in this position would get their herds advertised at the exhibitions, and the University Farm the desired class of animals. The plan suggested was that the breeders donate five or six calves of the three leading beef herds, and the University would use them for judging purposes for two seasons, and exhibit them at the International Live Stock Show at Chicago. Practically all of the breeders approached were perfectly willing to assist in carrying out this scheme. The plan was submitted to the Alberta Breeders Association at their annual convention held at Calgary last May, and, receiving the entire approval of the Association, twenty-four breeders offered the best calves of their herds.

Immediate steps were taken to visit the various farms, and after three months thirteen calves were selected from the twenty-four herds. Grades were not debarred, but pure breds were preferred.

The big difficulty that Prof. Dowell had in selecting these calves was not getting the owners to consent to part with them, but rather in refusing animals from breeders who offered them. Many of the breeders actually urged the University to send a representative to their farms, and take the best of any of their calves.

What is most outstanding about these calves is their uniformity, quality, and also their age. At the present time most of them are from five to seven months old, and without exception they can all account for a 100 pounds per month. All of the animals are on exhibition at all times in the University stables, and a placard hanging over each stall denotes the breeder, and the breeding, of each animal. The animals are kept in the pink of condition and it is the expression of many of the leading live stock men visiting the stables from time to time that, collectively, they are the finest lot of steers of their age owned by any one concern in Canada today. They represent the very best that there is in Alberta.

The best two or three animals of each breed will be exhibited at the International Stock Show at Chicago next fall by the University. The selections will be made by a committee appointed by each breed Association. All of the steers will be shown individually, and each will stand upon its own merits.

If the steers in this exhibit make a creditable showing in Chicago, it should prove an excellent advertisement for their breeders, as well as for beef producers and farmers generally, not only in Alberta, but throughout Western Canada. On the other hand, it gives to the students of the College of Agriculture, the future breeders of the Province, absolutely the best class of live stock for their judging work.

The live stock breeders who have made it possible for the University to assemble these excellent animals, and from whose farms the selections were made, are as follows: Shorthorns, The Hon. Duncan Marshall, Olds; Geo. E. Lane Company, High River; Two pure bred shorthorn calves were added from the University Farm. Herefords, John Wilson, Innisfail; S. M. Mace, High River; Curtiss Cattle Company, Shephard; J. McD. Davidson, Coaldale; V. W. Smith, Camrose; and Pym Bros., Mirror. Aberdeen Angus, A. E. Noad, Olds; C. H. Richardson, Bowden; Chas. Ellet, Edmonton South; Canada Land and Irrigation Company, Medicine Hat; and J. D. McGregor, Brandon, Man. The total number of calves including the two added from the University Farm is fifteen.

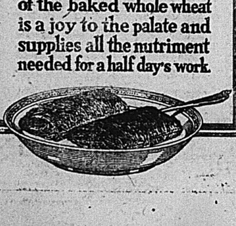
FINDS NEWSPAPERS ARE MOST EFFECTIVE

Toronto, Feb. 28—E. R. Fisher, president-elect of the Ontario clothiers, speaking at their banquet paid a tribute to the advertising value of the daily newspapers. He stated that after being in business for a number of years and having tried out all manner of advertising schemes, he had found that everything else in the way of advertising is but a side issue to the advertising in the daily papers. Personally he had come to the conclusion that the newspapers are the most valuable asset in his business. The toast was responded to by George Scroggie who, from his interest in advertising, appreciated Mr. Fisher's viewpoint.

J. C. Begg, Hamilton, was elected to the executive committee.

FOR A TOPPY, TASTY BREAKFAST that puts you on your toes, mentally and physically: Heat two Shredded Wheat Biscuits in the oven (to restore their crispness): pour hot milk over them: salt or sweeten to suit the taste. If you don't like milk pour hot water over the Biscuits, drain off the water, place a small bit of butter on each. The tasty goodness of the baked whole wheat is a joy to the palate and supplies all the nutriment needed for a half day's work.



Why Not Divorce Court Here?

Ontario Seems in Need of One

THIS AND QUEBEC ONLY PROVINCES WITHOUT LOCAL POWER TO BREAK MARRIAGE TIE—BUT OPPONENTS FORSEE WHOLESALE PERJURY AND APPLICATIONS IF COURT IS SET UP.

Since Manitoba now has its own Provincial Divorce Court along with all the other Provinces in the Dominion—except Ontario and Quebec —Mr. and Mrs. Ordinary Citizen are beginning to wonder why this Province does not establish its own divorce mill.

There are now 115 applications for divorce before the Senate Committee and of this number 64 are from Toronto, and nearly half of the remainder and from other parts of Ontario.

If Manitoba has power to unite the knot that binds one may fairly ask himself why has not Ontario or Quebec the same power. Are they not both Provinces of the same Dominion?

Quite so. But there is one big reason standing in the way of Ontario and Quebec and that reason is the constitution of Canada. Some of the Provinces in the West have overcome the constitution by a process of legal reasoning; others in the East have jurisdiction in divorce cases outside of the constitution, but Ontario and Quebec are apparently stuck and held fast in the iron clamps of the constitution.

In the light of recent decisions of the Imperial Privy Council it appears that Manitoba has had the right to grant divorces since 1888 and Alberta and Saskatchewan since 1887. But apparently they didnt know it. In these years the Dominion Parliament very probably also without knowing it, created jurisdiction for the present divorce courts. Possibly some astute legal authority will arise who will find a similar divorce "cakce" for Ontario.

How Manitoba Got It

Briefly the legislative development by which Manitoba, for example, secured jurisdiction to grant divorces was as follows: By section 91, subsection 26, of the British North America Act the jurisdiction in reference to legislation touching marriage and divorce was retained for the Dominion Parliament. The same Act, by section 139, also determined that all existing lays in respect of subjects that fell under Domnion jurisdiction should remain in force in the various Provinces until they were changed by some legislative authority which was competent to do so Now in 1888 the Dominion Parliament (a "competent authority as provided for) by the Dominion statute in 1888, chapter 33, section 1, introduced the English law as it stood on the 15th of July,1870. It happened that in 1857 a divorce court was established in England under the Matrimonial Act of that year and the Privy Council has held that a divorce law of England, as it existed in 1870 by virtue of the Act of 1857 in Great Britain, introduced into Manitoba among other laws the law of England in reference to divorce.

In Alberta and Saskatchewan, by the Dominion statute of 1887, the same English laws were introduced and the law was similarly introduced in British Columbia and the Northwest Territories. New Brunswick has a divorce court and matrimonial causes similar to that in England, and in Nova Scotia a divorce court exists under an Act of 1866. In Prince Edward Island jurisdiction rests with the Lieutenant-Governor and five members of the executive council under a statute of 1836. In Ontario and Quebec alone is Parliamentary procedure necessary, following the English practice prior to the Act of 1857 above referred to. In Newfoundland, as in Italy, Spain and Ireland there are no divorce courts.

For some years reforms in the divorce law, particularly the procedure for securing a severance of the marriage tie, have been talked of and the last time the subject was under discussion in the Dominion Parliament, both the Prime Minister, Sir Robert Borden and the acting leader of the Opposition, Mr. D. D. Mackenzie, conceded the need of some reform, but nothing emerged from the debate. Mr. W. F. Nickle's bill providing for uniform jurisdiction and procedure in all the Provinces was given a second reading by a vote of 68 to 25, and then left over for further debate.

Obstacles to Divorce

Opponents of the proposed reform regard the high cost feature as nothing more than a desirable deterrent against interference with the sanctity of the marriage contract. They look upon divorce as an evil and declare they will place every possible obstacle in the way of it. They are unalterably opposed to placing the marriage contract on the same footing as an ordinary commercial contract to be disposed of by a court of justice. They claim such procedure will lead to multiplication of suits for divorce and open the door to wholesale perjury. Give the Supreme Court of Ontario jurisdiction to make decrees of absolute divorce, they argue, and within the next few years ninetenths of the litigation before our courts will be composed of actions for divorce.

Only in very recent years have divorce applications become comparatively numerous. Last year, after the return of the men from overseas, 87 applications for divorce were made to the Parliament of Canada, and about fifty were recommended to the House. In 1918, however, only 10 divorces were granted and in 1917 a similar number went through. Since 1906 the number of divorces granted by the Dominion Parliament up to the session of last year is 199 while British Columbia alone, from 1906 to 1918 inclusive, granted 195 absolute divorces.

PARENTS AND THREE CHILDREN DIE OF INFLUENZA

Cobalt, March 1.—The health situation here has so greatly improved that the Influenza Committee has decided to close the emergency hospital in the town hall tomorrow. Reports from the north indicate that conditions are serious in the Timmins district. At Cochrane the disease epidemic is on the wane. There were fifteen deaths, most of them of non-residents of the municipality. One family of seven, named Pillon, lost five of its members by death, the parents and three children. Another victim has been brought to Cochrane from the Hudson Bay Company's post at Moose Factory.

Duty.

"What does my little man want to buy today—candy?" asked the kindly shopkeeper as the little boy entered.

"You bet I do," was the reply, "but I've got to buy soap."

THE PARIS OF THE BOULEVARD.

An Unsavory Mixture, Having Nothing Really French.

Paris attracts more foreigners than any other city in Europe. It is in this respect a true cosmopolis. Around these visitors—for them and thanks to them—a big business of luxury and a profitable traffic in pleasure have grown up; imposing restaurants, brilliant cafes, elegant shops—all of them places that the Frenchman hardly knows and never frequents. It is in this artificial world of the "boulevard" that the theatre industry has developed. We already possessed the "espirit du boulevard," which was not the true French spirit, or was, at any rate, only a very small part of it, says Firmin Roz in the Yale Review. Then there was added to this a certain boldness of language, a tendency to freedom in expression—for it is the French way to be outspoken. Imperceptibly this boldness became the worst sort of license, where grossness too often took the place of wit. It is this unsavory mixture, having nothing really French, which strangers are shown and by which they are to judge our race. This is the memory they take away with them from Paris—from the Paris of the Sainte-Chapelle, of Notre Dame, of the Louvre, of the Invalides, and the Arc de Triomphe de l'Etoile; the Paris of history and art, of libraries and museums, of great schools and the oldest university in the world; the Paris of Boileau, of Moliere, and Voltaire; the Paris of the seventeenth and eighteenth century salons; the Paris that has in all times inspired kings, statesmen, scholars and artists.

Borden to Visit Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—The latest report as to Sir Robert Borden's whereabouts and plans to reach Ottawa is to the effect that Sir Robert, on landing in England will go to Cornwall and spent a couple of weeks, then returning to Canada. It is expected that he will be in Ottawa in about a month or five weeks, and after a week or two in Ottawa will leave again for the south, accompanied by Lady Borden.

Canadian Delegates Arrive In Paris.

OTTAWA, Feb. 3.—A cable received by the Government on Saturday announced the safe arrival in Paris of the Canadian delegates to the meeting of the governing body of the international labor office in that city. Messrs. F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labor, and Tom Moore, president of the Central Trades and Labor Congress represent Canada at the deliberations of the governing body.

OAK LEAF FOR "MENTIONED"

A new badge of honor has just been announced. In all cases of men who have been mentioned in despatches during the past war, provided that mention has been made by a commanding officer in the field, a small bronze oak leaf is to be worn in the ribbon of the Victory Medal. The list of units covered in the order include practically the soldiers on every front in which British troops participated during the war. The leaf, it is stated, will be a miniature one, somewhat like the bar to the D.S.O. in size.

THE GOLDEN WEST

Mr. C. F. Draycott, a veteran employee of The Intelligencer, presiding over the Bindery Department, has received a letter from his son, C. F. Draycott, Jr., who has a large farm near Fort Pitt, Saskatchewan, and is looking forward to the Belleville Old Boys' Reunion to renew old acquaintanships here. In writing his father and mother he reports a good crop last year including 700 bushels of barley, 650 bushels of wheat and 1600 bushels of oats, besides plenty of garden vegetables and poultry. They have also had a busy winter on the Draycott farm with eighty head of cattle to care for, besides pigs and horses. This year a big crop will be put in with a three-quarter section in wheat, barley and oats. In addition to his material prosperity Farmer Draycott announces an addition to the family forces in a wee baby girl recently brought there by the Stork.

800,000 STARVING JEWS.

Good progress is being made in Ontario with the organization for the appeal which shortly will be made for funds to relieve the 800,000 Jews who are starving in Eastern Europe. Sir Edmund Walker, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is honorary treasurer of the fund, and will receive all contributions. Such men as Sir Edmund Osler, Sir Mortimer Davis and others equally prominent are taking an active part in the campaign. In addition to the provincial, local committees are being organized to take charge of the advertising campaign to make the direct appeal in their localities. The committee which has consented to undertake this duty in Belleville consists of W. B. Riggs, chairman; Major R. D. Ponton, vice-chairman; Donald MacFadyen, treasurer: H. W. Ackerman, Dr. C. T. Scott, A. G. Davie, D. V. Sinclair, H. Yanover.

MEETING WITHDRAWN.

Obeying the order of the Board of Health there will be no meeting tomorrow (Wednesday) evening of Moira Masonic Lodge.

YARD JURISDICTION CHANGED.

The Manitoba yard of the Grand Trunk railway has been transferred to the jurisdiction of the Sixth district, of which N. P. North, of Belleville is trainmaster, and J. D. McMillan, Belleville, superintendent. The Fifth district, under Trainmaster George Cooper, will hereafter extend only to the Perth street crossing of the G. T. R. at Brockville.—Brockville Recorder

NINE CASES OF LIQUOR STOLEN.

W. A. Mott, 12 Keefer street, Brockville, has reported to the police the loss of nine cases of liquor, stolen from his cellar during the past three days. The liquor was purchased from a licensed firm in Montreal and the cases were labelled with the owner's name. In the lot were four cases of G. & W. special, two cases of Imperial, two cases of White Wheat whiskey and a case of Seagram's whiskey.

PRESTO MUSICAL CLUB

Few citizens are acquainted with the fact that Belleville has a real live musical club that has been thriving for some months. Early in November a few young energetic lovers of music organized themselves in to a society for knowing better the great Masters. Each fortnight a meeting is held at the home of one the members where a school, a group of even one of the great music masters is read, performed or racked generally over the coals. As in all musical organizations great care is taken in the selection of members—the main qualifications being the ability to learn—perform—and read about the classical and modern musicians—a willingness to work and a general aversity to knocking. Last night the 8th meeting of the club was held at Mr. Chas. Dolan's Church street and Scandinavian composers were under discussion. The program was arranged by Miss Elizabeth Potter and was most delightful. The result being a better understanding of the country and surroundings that produced a Jenny Lind—a Grieg—or a Sinding. Soon after the ban on public gatherings is lifted the long-suffering public will have an opportunity of hearing and criticising this newly formed organization, when an "open" meeting will be held, which will be announced later. The following programme proved very entertaining and instructive:

Reading, (Grieg)—Mr. Sam Anglin.
Piano, Lyric Pieces (Grieg)—Miss Phyllis Bogart.
Vocal, Group of Songs (Grieg)—Mr. Anglin.
Piano Duet, Peer Gynt Suite (Grieg)—Misses Bogart and Potter.

Piano, March Grotesque ((Sinding)—Mrs. Lewis.

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Morton B. Weese, of Ameliasburg, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Carolla Margaret, to Mr. Harry Cunningham, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cunningham of Ameliasburg. The marriage to take place very quietly the last week of March.

In the list of graduates from the Montreal General Hospital the name appears of Miss Catherine (Kate) Dulmadge, formerly of this city. Her many friends will be pleased to hear of her success in completing her training and that she is a graduate nurse of that institution.

L. E. Allen, C.E., left this afternoon for Toronto to attend the Ontario Good Roads Association eighteenth annual meeting. Members and officials of Hastings County Council will also be in attendance, and the entire association will be guests of Lieut.-Governor Clarke at Government House on Thursday.

PUNY, AILING CHILDREN NEED VINOL

Because it Enriches the Blood, Makes Sound Flesh and Muscle Tissue, and Little Thin Limbs Round and Plump

Druggists Guarantee It

When a child is tired all the time, no appetite, weak, sickly and ailing—no energy, no vitality, they need the strengthening elements of tonic iron, combined with the rare flesh, muscle and tissue building elements of good old-fashioned cod liver oil as contained in VINOL. That is what makes them respond so quickly to its use.

VINOL is easily assimilated and contains no oil to upset their delicate stomachs like emulsions.

Just try it on our guarantee and you will get the same results as this mother who writes: "My little girl was weak, puny and tired all the time, did not want to do anything. VINOL was recommended, and it built up her strength and made her healthy, and now she romps and plays like other children, and is robust and rosy."

If you have a sickly, ailing child do not wait another day, but get a bottle of VINOL and try it on the guarantee of your druggist to return your money if it fails to benefit.

Called by Death

MRS. CAROLINE STORIE

Mrs. Caroline Storie, a resident of Toronto for the last 25 years, died suddenly on Saturday. Mrs. Storie was in her 84th year. She was born in 1836 in Belleville where she resided until the death of her husband, when she went to Toronto to live with her daughter, Mrs. W. J. Copp. She was a member of St. John's Presbyterian Church. Two daughters, Mrs. W. Greer, of Oshawa, and Mrs. W. J. Copp, of Toronto; one son, Mr. J. D. Storie, of Oshawa; one grandson and one great-grandson survive.

PATRICIA J. COUSINS

Patricia June Cousins, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cousins, residing at 53 South George Street, passed away yesterday evening. The sympathy of many friends will be extended to the bereaved parents.

AMOS FREDERICK

Mr. Amos Frederick, who was an inmate of the County House of Refuge died yesterday afternoon. Deceased was 77 years of age and had always made his home in this county. The body will be interred in Belleville cemetery.

REV. FATHER MURTAGH

Rev. Father Murtagh, parish priest of Marmora, died at his residence in that town on Saturday afternoon after a lingering illness. Father Murtagh had been ailing for some time but lately grippe made his illness more serious, and he grew worse until the end came on Saturday. He had been parish priest at Marmora for a number of years and had accomplished much work, placing the parish in a very favorable position financially. Since he first went to Marmora, Father Murtagh built a church and house and a new separate school also has been erected. He had a kindly disposition, which made him liked by all who came in contact with him.

GRACE WRIGHT.

Miss Grace Wright, aged 17 years 9 months, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wright, residing on the 8th concession line of Thurlow Township, died this morning after a brief illness. Deceased was born in Thurlow and resided there all her life. She was a young lady well known and had many friends who will regret her passing.

ED. J. JONES DIES, WELL KNOWN AS HORSE DEALER

Brampton, March 2.—The death occurred here of Ed. J. Jones, well known throughout Canada as a prominent horse dealer. He was seized with an attack of paralysis when curling at the local rink last Wednesday evening and all efforts to restore consciousness proved unavailing. Dr. Howland was summoned but he found that nothing could be done.

Mr. Jones was born in Brampton forty-six years ago, and built up a high-class connection throughout the Province, which he continued when he removed to Ottawa ten years ago. Returning here from the Capital after an absence of six years he entered business as a coal merchant and he proved very helpful when the people needed coal during the general scarcity of fuel experienced in the past three winters.

He leaves a wife and two children.

MEXICAN BANDITS SLAY EX-CONSUL

Washington, March 2—Augustus Morrill, formerly American Consul at Manzanillo, Mexico, was killed by Mexican bandits.

The present Consul at Manzanillo in reporting the killing to the State Department, said Morrill was attacked while on his way to the Hacienda Ell Balcon three miles from Colima where he lived, and that in a fusilade of pistol shots received two wounds.

The American Embassy at Mexico City has been instructed to make urgent representations to the Mexican Government looking to the arrest and punishment of the murderers and the American Consulate at Nanzanillo has been instructed to make similar representations to the local Mexican authoritiesm.

Mr. Morrill's widow, who is eighty years old, lives at Colima.

SMUGGLER KILLED.

EL PASO, Texas, March 2.—An unidentified Mexican smuggler is dead and another Mexican is in a critical condition as a result of a battle yesterday between American military border guards and Mexicans said to have been attempting to bring a quantity of whiskey into the United States. Forced to withdraw, the alleged smugglers retreated across the river, leaving behind two of their number wounded. One of them died after reaching a hospital. The other was wounded in both legs. Ninety bottles of whiskey were seized by the soldiers.

WON FAME AS TRAITOR

HOUSTON STEWART CHAMBERLAIN HATES ENGLAND.

He Deserted the Country of His Birth and Became More German Than the Strongest Junker — Strange Career of Man Who Hated the Jews and the British.

HERR HOUSTON STEWART CHAMBERLAIN has again burst into the international limelight, on this occasion with a book advising the Roumanians to continue in their refusal to grant citizenship to the Jews. Roumania has so far declined to sign the Peace Treaty, because one of the provisions is that full rights of citizenship shall be granted to "ethnical minorities," which is diplomatic language in the case of Roumania for the Jews. A similar stumbling block appeared at the Congress of Berlin in 1878, when Roumania, before her full independence could be recognized by the Great Powers, was called upon to give the Roumanian Jews the same rights as other Roumanians. This was done, according to Herr Chamberlain, at the instance of "the Jew Disraeli." Roumania grudgingly submitted and nominally the Jews can obtain full citizenship, just as nominally the negroes can vote in Alabama and Texas. Practically, the Jews cannot obtain full citizenship, so many difficulties being thrown in their way that the promise given the Berlin Congress is "kept to the ear and broken to the heart." It requires a special vote of the Legislature for each application, a two-third majority being required, and to remove this injustice was one of the minor aims of the Peace Conference. So far Roumania remains obdurate.

In the early days of the war one of the most detested names in the British Dominions was that of Houston Stewart Chamberlain, the English renegade, who became more German than Hindenburg, more bitter than Lissauer. His story is a remarkable one. He was born in England of English ancestry back to the time of the Norman Conquest. For generations his forbears had been military or naval officers. His father was a rear admiral, and his mother the daughter of a naval captain. Two of his uncles were generals, another was a field marshal. He himself was intended for the army and was sent to get his training at the Lycee Imperial at Versailles, and later at Cheltenham College. There can be little doubt that if his health had not given way he would have become a British officer and probably would have upheld the staunch military traditions of his family. But he suffered a nervous collapse, and became almost a semi-invalid. It was feared that his health would not stand the rigors of an English climate, and so he was sent abroad to live.

A tutor was engaged and he turned out to be a fine specimen of pan-Germanism, one who believed that it was the ultimate mission of Germany first to conquer, then to rule the earth. How it was that young Chamberlain fell so speedily and completely under the influence of his tutor is for neurologists to explain. Fall he did. He almost worshipped his tutor, and incidentally began to worship the doctrine he preached with regard to Germany. He, too, became a German at heart and changed his spiritual allegiance in a way that would be impossible, one would think, for more than two people out of a million. Ruth's devotion to Naomi was a half-hearted and qualified surrender to the allegiance that Chamberlain brought to Germany through his tutor. He continued to live abroad, chiefly in Germany, and his great ambition was that he might live long enough to write and speak the German language so that he might pass for a German; his chief regret was that he had no German blood in his veins. His only comfort was that Britain had sprung partly, at least, from Teutonic stock; and whatever drop of blood from this source might flow in his veins he valued more than all the rest. Chamberlain was an industrious student, and in time his ambition was gratified. He became not only a German, but a leading German.

Herr Chamberlain's first book was "Foundations of the Nineteenth Century," in which considerable scholarship and much enthusiasm were employed to spread the favored doctrine of Germany's high destiny. Incidentally it had a strong anti-Jewish slant throughout. Other works in similar vein followed.

If ever a man was loyal to an adopted country, Houston Stewart Chamberlain was loyal to Germany. He did not take the view that Russia or France was responsible for the war. The one arch-fiend was England, and once more this doctrine preached by a former Englishman had quite as much effect in Germany as had the book "J'Accuse" among the Allies. He testified that on the occasion of his last visits to the land of his birth he had been amazed at the hatred of Germany everywhere displayed. He had no doubt that England, even in 1908, was planning for the downfall of his adopted Fatherland. His war writings were passionate defences of Germany from every charge whatever, and bitter denunciations of England. His anti-Semitism also found a twig to perch on on the course of these outpourings. He explained that England had been poisoned against Germany by the Jews. He pointed triumphantly to the fact that the German Jews had as one man taken up arms to fight for Germany, that the war test found them Jews second and Germans first.

February Has Five Sundays.

For the first time in forty years there is five Sundays in February. Ordinarily the sequence of five Sundays in February recurs once in each twenty-eight years, but owing to the fact that 1900 was not a leap year the calendar "slipped a cog," and Sunday, being shunted out of place in numerical order, it did not get back into position to become the first and last day of the month from 1880 until this year.

FIX WAGES FOR WOMEN.

Regina, March 2.—Regulations have been issued by the Minimum Wage Board governing female employees in hotels, restaurants, and places of amusement in cities. The hours are set at 48 per week to be so arranged that no working period shall end between midnight and seven o'clock in the morning. The minimum wage for experienced help is ordered to be $14 a week with a period of three months apprenticeship, during which $12 a week must be paid.

Where board and lodging are furnished as part payment of wages, the sum to be deducted from the minimum weekly wage must not exceed $5.25 for a full week's board of 21 meals. Where lodgings are furnished not more than $2.50 a week may be deducted. Uniforms when required must be furnished, laundered, and kept repaired without cost to the employees.

PROPOSAL FOR LONDON TO RUN MOTOR BUSSES

London, Ont., March 2.—The City Council will be asked by Ald. F. H Harley, to issue debentures for the purchase of a number of motor busses to be operated in the interests of the people where the present street car service is inadequate and is declared to be a hardship on the working people It is hoped by means of the busses to compel the company to give a better service. In the meantime the street railway employees are said to be considering asking for more money in May and the company has repeatedly declared that it cannot even pay the present rate of wages and give the service to which the city is entitled under the charter.

DR. J. D. HEWITT PASSES

Ottawa, March 2.—Dr. Gordon Charles Hewitt, Dominion entomologist and consulting zoologist, died of pneumonia Sunday night after a brief illness.

Dr. Hewitt was 35 years of age. He received his education in England, and in September, 1909, he resigned from Manchester College staff on accepting the post of entomologist to the Dominion. A widow survives.

STRIKE OF WELSH STEEL WORKERS

Cardiff, Wales, March 2.—Nearly all the steel workers in South Wales joined in the general strike. The men are demanding a 40 per cent. increase in wages. Between 18,000 and 20,000 of the workers are idle. If the strike should continue the sixty-five tin plate works which employ fifty thousand hands, will be brought to a stand still within a week, as they are dependent on the steel works for materialr.

FLU HITS QUEBEC.

Quebec, March 2.—There has been a recurrence of the flu in Quebec. The Seminnary of Quebec, with sixty students in bed, closed its doors, sending the three hundred others home for two weeks.

Buffalo, March 2—The International Joint Commission after a round table conference between the commissioners and delegates adjourned this afternoon The next session will be held at Washington in April. In the meantime a list of various Canadian and United States points to be visited will be made out.

At to-day's meeting of the Commission, which met in the Mayor's office R. S. Gourlay and Major Alex. Lewis representing the Toronto Board of Trade and Canadian Power interests, spoke. "We have always anticipated the deepening of the St. Lawrenc, Mr. Gourlay said. "We have expected it confidently so that ocean tramp steamers can go from the head of the Great Lakes to Europe direct. In this expectation Toronto and the Dominion Government have spent over $30,000,000 since 1913 in harbor improvements, dredging to a depth of 30 feet."

Some Convincing Evidence

No more convincing evidence for the deepening of the river from the standpoint of power development has been given to the commission than that of John H. Finey, the Washington manager of the Aluminum Company of America and a well known American electrical engineer. The commission was visibly impressed. "The New England States are the workshops of the nation," he said, "and the time has come when a tremendous increase in power will be required not only for power for manufacturing and lighting, but for the electrification of the railroads themselves. The need at the present time may be estimated in millions of horse-power. That means, gentlemen, that every stream within a radius of four miles will have to be used. We can use the southern streams, the Potomac, Susquehanna, Delaware, and the St. Lawrence at Cedar Falls. Without the St. Lawrence there will not be enough. The plan is quite feasible. What Canada has done in its splendid Hydro-electric Commission of Ontario we propose to do here. It is just as important to Canada as to the United States that this should be done."

Willing to Build Canal

Perhaps the most authoritative statement from a Canadian today on the feasibility of the project and the present situation so far as other companies desiring private franchises are concerned, came from Major A. C. Lewis, Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Deep Waterways and Power Association, organized last November to crystalize Canadian public opinion in favor of the canal. He stated specifically that two companies were prepared to build the canal for navigation purposes, provided they should have the power privileges, as the companies were in 1909 when their attempt for a franchise was defeated chiefly by the newly-organized joint commission. He presented a report of Mr B. Acre, assistant engineer of the Hydro Commission, to prove that the whole project was not only feasible but economically cheap.

Ex-Senator Hill: "These companies would be willing to bear all the expense of building the canal—could you name the companies?"

Major Lewis: "Well one of them is the Great Lakes and Atlantic Power Company."

Sir William Hearst: "This offer is substantially the same as the one of 1909."

People Wouldn't Permit It

Major Lewis: "Yes, I mention it quite freely because I don't think that either Government would hand over such evident assets to private companies. I am certain the people of Canada would not stand for it and if I have my hand on the pulse of the United States they would not stand for it either. He quoted the example of Sir James Whitney, in answer to the question raised earlier in the morning that there would not be a market for the great horsepower developed. "Sir James predicted that the Hydro could never sell 10,000 horse power in ten years, but now Toronto alone could use 100,000. All the Ontario cities have to be put on an allowance because the Hydro has not the power necessary to supply them. If we started the new project tomorrow we should be three years too late to meet the maximum demand for all the 2,000,000 horse-power that will be developed."

He presented concrete evidence to show that the saving on per bushel of wheat by the new route would be at least five cents a bushel, and probably six or more.

Ontario would present its case later on when the commission sat in some of the Ontario cities, said W. D. Gregory, representing the Attorney-General's Department, who said, however, that he had no instructions from the Government.

In concluding the morning session the chairman of the commission, Obediah Gardiner, asked the reporters to correct the impression that seemed to be prevalent in Buffalo that the scheme had originated in Canada. "Let me again state the fact that the idea originated with some of the representatives in Congress."

Female Workers To Be Protected

Minimum Wage Bill Not to Cover Male Toilers at the Outset

TORONTO, March 3—Male workers are not to be covered by the minimum wage legislation to be brought down in the Legislature at the coming session, according to Hon. Walter Rollo. The measure, which is being whipped into shape under the direction of the Minister of Labor, is being designed primarily for the protection of female labor, though it probably will be made wide enough to cover boys under age. The Government, in dealing with the question of minimum wages this session, is tackling first the problem that most needs attention, and by making a start with female labor will lay the basis upon which the legislation may, at need, be extended to cover all classes of labor.

The plan to be followed is one of establishing minimum wages according to occupations, rather than any general minimum applicable to the whole province. This will involve an investigation of and judgment upon conditions in each industry employing female workers and minors, and the best means of effecting this, according to Hon. Mr. Rollo, is the creation of a provincial board with wide powers.

Commission of Five

"The point has not been settled," said the Minister, "but my thought is that there should be a commission of five, two of whom would be women, and that it should be representative of both employers and workers."

Such a commission would have authority, not only to establish minimum wages, but to enforce them, since the legislation would necessarily provide penalties for failure by an employer to pay the minimum wage established. A fine of not less than $50 and not more than $200 is suggested.

Just how the Provincial board would proceed is a matter for that body to determine when it is appointed, but Hon. Mr. Rollo points out that the department has already gathered a large amount of information upon wage conditions among female workers in various industries, and that this information would be available for the purposes of the board. Generally speaking, the board would deal first with industries or occupations in which there was the greatest need for the establishment of a minimum wage.

There will be no restriction upon the operation of the Act so far as female workers are concerned. Hon. Mr. Rollo declares that it is the intention to give the protection of the measure to every woman who works for a wage, whether she be a clerk, a domestic, or a factory worker.

Drury Likely To Survive Ordeal Of First Session

TORONTO, March 3.—How long will the Drury Government last? Will it manage to get safely through the session opening next month? These are queries resulting in much gossiping in political circles and also far afield.

Three months ago the concensus of opinion appeared to be that the Farmer-Labor Coalition would break up within six months. Why that period was agreed upon as the limit to the Government's existence is a mystery for should the ministry escape a defeat in the Legislature during March and April, there is no reason why it should not carry on until the next session, which will not be held until February or March of 1921. Even were trouble to arise within the Coalition between sessions and some of the Ministers to resign, or the Labor group withdraw from the Government, the Premier easily could choose new Ministers and continue at the head of affairs. When the House is not sitting it is not necessary that the Government should be able to command the votes of a majority of the members.

HAS GAINED STRENGTH

For the present, the Government appears to be more firmly established than at any time since its formation The Ministers have betrayed their inexperience by a number of faulty moves and indiscreet utterances, but they have made up for any loss of prestige on that account by the evident sincerity of their desire to govern for the benefit of all classes and by their readiness to face instead of dodge issues party administrations have been known to do. The attempts of the Liberty League and Mr. Dewart to embarass the Government created sympathy for the Ministers. The Government by overcoming the obstacles placed in its way, was made to appear stronger and probably did gain considerable strength.

Assuming that the members-elect are loyal to the parties on whose platform they were elected, the Coalition has a majority of only one over all possible opponents. The Government with 45 U.F.O. members and 11 Laborites, controls 56 votes. Should all others unite against it they would have 55 votes, made up of 28 Liberals, 25 Conservatives, 1 Independent Liberal (Asmussen of North Waterloo) and 1 Soldier (McNamara of Riverdale).

TO VOTE ON MERIT

Actually there is more likelihood of defections to than from the Government. One Liberal member, Parliament of Prince Edward, has consented to act as Speaker, which increases the Government's majority, on division, to 2. McNamara, although he opposed Drury in Halton, probably will be found voting usually on the Government side. This also may be true of Asmussen. Marceau, the French member for Nipissing, also has offered to vote with the Coalition. Men like J. W. Curry, K.C., of Southeast Toronto and R. L. Brackin, of West Kent and a number of farmers elected as Liberals are inclined to side with the Ministry rather than join in any factious attempt to cause its downfall. They will vote according to the merit of issues and not with any idea of outmanoeuvering political opponents.

For voting purposes in the House it is doubtful that the Conservatives, with 25 members are any weaker than the Liberals, with 28 members. With Parliament in the Speaker's chair, the Liberal vote is reduced to 27, and unless Marceau is growned upon by the Coalition, a further reduction to 26 is in sight. Other defections are possible. The Liberal group as a whole is not in sympathy with its leader's policy of badgering the Government.

POLICY OF CONSERVATIVES

As the Conservatives, they are less inclined to hamper the Government. Several of their number are anxious to support good legislation no matter from what source it is offered. But it is known that i caucus they decided that it would be bad party policy to join the Liberals in any strategy designed to break up the Government and force dissolution. The line of reasoning that appeals to the Conservatives is that they are the natural opposition to a radical party is out of favor ow, and a general election should be avoided the party orgaization throughout the country should be built up for possible evetualities next year. But the Conservatives are determined to dodge every attempt to use them to bring on an election at an early date.

There is no love lost between Howard Ferguson, the acting Conservative leader and Hartley Dewart, the Liberal leader. They are such keen politicians that if it suited the purposes of both to defeat the Government they would co-operate for that purpose. But the welfare of the parties they lead seuggests courses in opposite directions. They have tried to feel one another out on various matters and "emissaries" have passed between them, but with o appreciable result. Each is naturally suspicious of the other's ideas.

DRURY WILL GET THROUGH

On the whole, it would appear a foregone conclusion that the Government will survive the ordeal of the first session unless it disintegrates from friction on the inside, which is unlikely. The bolting of several Labor members would be disastrous under ordinary circumstances, but not when 25 Conservatives are determined to save the Government from defeat.

"TELL MOTHER I PUT UP A GOOD SCRAP."

A story from Creemore this week is pathetic. The editor and proprietor of the local paper there succumbed to an attack of grippe. His widow applied to Toronto for a man to carry on the business until permanent arrangements could be made. As the only one in the Soldiers' Re-establishment School for linotype operators experienced in all departments of the business, Mr. Cave, a returned soldier, volunteered to go. Soon he, too, was taken down, and died of pneumonia. The tragedy had an added interest for readers of The Packet from the fact that the young man was the eldest son of Mr. J. J. Cave, editor of The Beaverton Express. The soldier spirit burned brightly to the end, and shortly before his death he said to his father: "Tell mother I put up a good scrap."—Orillia Packet.

Unable To Get Supplies From Government Store

WITNESS AT ENQUIRY INTO CONDITIONS AT KAPUSKASING TELLS OF FOOD SCARCITY AND "GREEN" MEAT—CHARGE THAT ADMINISTRATION WAS BAD.

TORONTO, March 3—The commissioners appointed by the Drury Government to enquire into the conditions (administration, equipment, welfare and management) at the Soldiers Settlement, Kapuskasing, opened their enquiry at the Parliament Buildings. All the commissioners—W F. Nickle, Kingston; Col. John I. N. Sharptaot Kingston; Col. John I. McLaren, Hamilton, and Prof. J. N. Sharp, of New Liskeard—were present. After reading the commission the chairman announced that he had informed Hon. G. H. Ferguson, late Minister of Lands Forests and Mines, that he would be at liberty to make any statement before the commission regarding the colony should he desire to do so.

Mr. A. Grigg, Deputy Minister, presented a statement covering the history of the settlement and also laid on the table the rules and regulations of the colony.

"Why was the contract system found unsatisfactory?" asked Mr. Nickle, in reference to the changed scheme for land clearing.

"We found that after the two seasons of 1917 and 1918 that in that time not more than one or two had completed the clearing in their ten acres, and we thought that was too long," replied Mr. Grigg. "In addition to that the idea was that with the group system the men would get practical experience one with the other. It was felt that with twenty men working together more would undoubtedly be accomplished than by men working alone." Under the new scheme the Government paid settlers $50 an acre for clearing their first ten acres, whereas under the first arrangement the Government itself cleared the first ten acres.

"Was the new scheme brought about because under the old scheme it was costing you too much?" asked the chairman.

"On the whole the old scheme was too expensive," was the reply.

Prices High—Meat Bad

Mrs. David Precious, a Kittigan settler, told the commission that on several occasions she was unable to procure butter, cheese and potatoes at the Government store. She also found the store prices were one to five cents higher than Eaton's. She complained that the meat was "green" and that she sometimes received scant courtesy at the store. When a bag of flour and other goods were sometimes not delivered at her home with the weekly supply, she was told by the store manager, "The things are sent at your risk, and if anything is missing, it is up to you."

"What I could buy from Eaton's for $25 would have cost me $31 at the colony store and we would have to take the chance of stuff being bad at the colony store," said witness. Five or six trips had to be made to the latter for cheese, onions, cocoa and potatoes.

Witness declared that when Mr. Grigg was at the settlement and some of the settlers wanted to discuss the store with him, he said, "The store question is too rotten; we won't discuss it."

Not Taught How to Cut

David Precious, husband of the last witness went to the settlement in May 1918. He was a plumber by trade and had never previously done any bush work. He had done some farming. His principal complaint was that the Government had not taught the settlers how to cut pulpwood, according to promise. He only made $160 for his winter's woods' work he said. Witness said he had $1,500 when he went there and he had spent this, together with his gratuity of $500 and a small pension in order to maintain himself and family. "I am also largely in debt to the Ontario Government but I cannot state the amount as I have been trying to get a statement of account for twelve months and cannot."

Witness created some amusement by declaring that a French trapper had tried to put the "fear of God" into the hearts of a bunch of settlers who were sent to Kittigan to select their lots by endeavoring to scare them with stories of bears and other wild animals roaming through the district. On one day witness had taken eleven dissatisfied men to the railway station.

Deputy Minister Grigg produced official records showing that Precious had drawn $432 in wages and $732 on contract work, in addition to an allowance of $151 for railway fares, freight and medical attendance.

Feed Charges High?

Precious further complained of exorbitant charges for horse feed. No man can afford to pay $46 or $47 for feed which is listed in the papers at $18 to $22."

"What were your main difficulties?" "Lack of knowledge on my part and bad administration on the part of the authorities, together with some physical disability."

"Some succeeded, didn't they?"

"The ones who succeeded there were those who had a good, steady job under the Government all the time—they were favorites."

"Without exception?" "Yes."

"Are you going back?" "I don't think the doctor will allow me. In any case the climatic conditions are not right. The season is too short."

The commission at this point adjourned for lunch.

The belief is that a quantity of explosives either were placed in the turf that was being burned in the building or in the grate itself.

Make Bay Bridge Part Of Provincial Highway

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS MAKES TWO PROPOSITIONS IN REGARD TO PUBLICLY OWNED BAY BRIDGE—GOVERNMENT OFFER TO TAKE OVER BAY BRIDGE AND PAY SIXTY PER CENT. OF MAINTENANCE.

Representatives of Belleville City Council, the Chamber of Comber of Commerce, Ameliasburg Township, and Prince Edward County, who went to Toronto yesterday to interview the Hon. Mr. Biggs, Minister of Public Works, relative to the Bay Bridge matter, returned home last night. The deputation were met by Mr. N. Parliament, M.P.P., Speaker of the House, who introduced the members to the Minister. They were cordially received and the matter was thoroughly entered into. At the conclusion of the interview Hon. Mr. Biggs intimated that the Government was prepared to carry out the proposition that if the bridge was acquired by the municipality or muuicipalities, to pay 40 per cent. of the purchase cost, also pay 40 per cent. of the maintenance.

The Minister also made a counter-proposition, namely that the bridge be taken over as a County-Provincial Highway, the Government to contribute sixty per cent. and the County forty per cent. of maintenance.

While nothing definite has been agreed upon, it is the general opinion that an effort will be made to purchase the bridge.

THE ESKIMO HUTS.

They Prefer Snow to Civilized Concrete.

The movement to modernize the Eskimo by providing him with concrete huts in place of his picturesque snow "igloos" as suggested by an official of the United States Bureau of Fisheries, would be the death of the denizen of the icy north, in the opinion of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer. Not only is the Eskimo devoted to his age-long habitation as the South Sea Islanders are to their traditional garb of flower garlands and fresh smiles, but he is far healthier, warmer and more comfortable in his domed mansion of snow blocks than he could be in any modern house of concrete.

The statement that the natives of the Prybiloff Islands were about to discard their snow huts for modern concrete huts, finding the gales of the Bering Sea too strong for the former, upon which the story of the intended change of Eskimo habits was based, Mr. Stefansson characterized as too silly for discussion. The explorer said that the Prybiloff Islanders had never lived in snow but in wooden huts and that further north, where the natives do live in snow houses, it would be next to impossible to convert them to any other dwelling.

"Their igloo serves as a home for two or three weeks. Then they build a new one. Because it is new it is clean and sanitary. It is as warm and comfortable as your library. A candle gives as much illumination as three electric lights, because of the intense whiteness of the snow. The snow house will stand under any conditions. In all, the igloo is as comfortable a home as a man could wish.

"The concrete hut, like the wooden hut, must be uncomfortable and unsanitary. Wherever the natives have changed from the snow to the wooden home there has followed penumonia and typhoid and a tremendous increase in the death rate.

"The Eskimos are a migratory race. Contact with civilization has affected them and they are dying off. They must soon be extinct and the concrete hut hastens that extinction. The Eskimos are like the gypsies. Try to keep a gypsy in a house of concrete and see what happens.

"Still, the Eskimos might be converted to the concrete hut," went on Mr. Stefansson, smiling. "If it becomes the fashion. Should concrete homes become fashionable, all Eskimos would soon be living in them. Human nature is the same the world over. Let some one introduce the wearing of furs, as a fashion, in the Zulu Islands, and the natives there would wear furs. Women wear furs in California and Florida, where the chimate is just as hot as on the Zulu Islands. So you see, you never can tell."

Music And Drama

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"

The presentation of Charles Rann Kennedy's great morality play "The Servant in the House," with the eminent English actor Tyrone Power, in the role of The Drainman, his original part, which is announced by the Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, to appear at Griffin's Opera House for one night only next Tuesday, March 9th is a dramatic event of unusual significance The sensation created when this drama was first produced in 1909 and the controversy which then raged around it will be recalled by many theatre goers. The company which will be seen here includes several notable players of established reputation in addition to Mr. Power and the production, which has been specially built for the occasion, will be found in every way comparable to the original.

"The Servant in The House," may truthfully be described as a unique play. The entire action takes places in an English vicarage, the residence of a wealthy country clergyman. The plot concerns himself, his wife, his niece and his two brothers, one the Bishop of Benares, in India, and the other a ne'er-do-well, disgraced, following the lowly occupation of a Drainman.

— "Ben Hur" Screen Rights

Henry L. Wallace, son of Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur," places a value of $1,200,000 on the screen rights to his father's famous book and says that he will not take less than $400,000 for his share of the sum which must be divided among himself, Harper Brothers and Klaw & Erlanger, according to the Moving Picture World. Marc Klaw, it is said, suggested to Mr Wallace that the film rights be sold to the United Artists' Corporation with the idea that Douglas Fairbanks play the part of Ben Hur and Mary Pickford that of Esther, but Mr. Wallace said "Ben Hur" did not require the lustre of the names of Fairbanks, Pickford, et al.' nor was he willing to accept the offer of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit to produce the picture "on a fifty-fifty basis," with a guarantee of $250,000 to the present owners of the screen rights.

Charles Dickens' "Old Curiosity Shop" may be put on the screen this year, with Bessie Love in the role of Little Nell.

Rumor has it that Lord Northcliffe of England, who owns half a hundred daily, weekly and monthly periodicals including several movie magazines is to become a motion picture producer.

"The Dream,' which recently was presented by Vitagraph, was adapted from an unfinished manuscript found among O. Henry's paper shortly after his death. Although incomplete, it was so thoroughly outlined that it was a simple task to finish it in true O. Henry style. It shows that the famous author of short stories had made a careful study of the dream fabric.

Driving his car down the streets of Los Angeles recently, Bert Lytell, the Screen Classics, Inc., star, found himself in a traffic jam. The unfortunate part of the situation was that Mr. Lytell's roadster was forced to halt directly behind a garbage wagon, on the rear of which was painted the sign: "Keep off."

"That's all right," said Mr. Lytell, "but why the sign?"

Once David Belasco dramatized a brass bedstead, but the Universal industrial department has just gone a whole lot farther and announces a new five-reeler which is in effect the screening of a chocolate cream. The action revolves around a lovely lady—Helen Weer, a dauntless lover and a serio-comic messenger boy. But the thickening of the plot is all worked out through a confectionery medium. There is enough candy in the play to corrupt all the girls' schools from New York to Albany on both sides of the Hudson. The name of the film, subject to change, is "The Candy Courtship."

BARRYMORE REBUKES ONE OF HIS AUDIENCE

John Barrymore, star in "The Jest" at the Plymouth Theatre, New York, dealt out a rebuke to somebody in the audience who interrupted the big love scene in the second act with an ill-timed laugh.

The dramatic effect of the scene depends upon absolute quiet, especially at the climax when the slamming of a door off stage alarms the lovers. So, when a loud laugh broke the silence, Barrymore tore himself angrily from the embrace of the woman in the piece.

"Did you hear that noise?" asked the actress, repeating her lines as usual.

"Yes," replied the star, with deliberate slowness. "I heard that —— fool laugh, and I heard the door close."

The audience remained quiet and the actors proceeded with their lines. In a short time Mr. Barrymore will be playing "Richard III" at the Plymouth, and then, without stepping out of character, he can order any offender taken to the Tower and beheaded—New York World.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 3.—In an editorial The Journal says: "The Journal some weeks ago referred to the appearance in the New York dailies of advertisements announcing that the Lamson-Hubbard Company was prepared to take tourists through from Edmonton to the Arctic. This Edmonton dream of long standing is to be realized during the coming summer We are informed that the company has already received 200 enquiries from Americans who are anxious to make the trip. Only one Canadian has applied for information. It is proposed to leave Edmonton for Fort McPherson on June 20, the date for the return to this city being Aug. 1. The route via Peace River will be adopted."

FOR SETTLERS' WIVES

SASKATOON, Sask., March 3.—In order to provide for a little change for the wives of settlers in the Regina, Shaunavon, Woodrow, Ogema and portions of the Morse districts, the home branch of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, Regina, has arranged to hold a week's program at Moose Jaw from March 1 to March 6. In addition to making this week one of social enjoyment they have arranged through the extension department of the Saskatchewan University to put on a short course in home economics. This course will include lectures and demonstrations on poultry, butter-making, home nursing, cookery, dressmaking and sanitation.

PIONEER MISSIONARIES

VICTORIA, B.C., March 3.—Sixty-one years ago the pioneer band of Methodist missionaries arrived in Victoria. The only surviving members of the band now in British Columbia are Mrs. Thos. Cunningham of this city, Mrs. C. L. Street of Chilliwack and Rev. Dr. White, superintendent of Methodist missions in British Columbia. The leaders of the party were Rev. Ephraim Evans, D.D., Rev. Edward White, Rev. Ebenezer Robson and Rev. Arthur Browning. Travelling to British Columbia in those days was a much more difficult undertaking than it is today and the party leaving Toronto in November, 1858, did not arrive in Victoria until February 1859 They travelled via New York, Panama San Francisco and by boat to Victoria.

NEW CALGARY BRIDGE

CALGARY, Alta., March 3.—The Fegles Construction Company of Fort William will construct the Hillhurst Dominion Parliament for a charter to them at a special meeting of the council. The amount of the company's tender is $208,113.

H. C. L. CAUSED SUICIDE

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. March 3.—J. B. Burnett, of Vancouver, who committed suicide with poison in a local hotel, left the following note, "To those whom it may concern: Out of work for a long time on account of ill health. High cost of everything has taking my savings. My health and physical strength are gone. Old age nearly seventy. No relations or friends. A stranger." Signed, the Suicide—J. B. Burnett.

BANK OF ALBERTA

EDMONTON, Alta., March 3.—To put Alberta on the financial map of Canada, with a bank of its own that shall be a recognized provincial institution, is the object of a movement now afoot for the organization of the Bank of Alberta. Notice has been given that an application will be made at the approaching session of the Dominion Parlament for a charter to such a bank and it is expected that a favorable reception will be given it, that the charter will be granted, and that the bank will be ready to open business in probably six month's time.

BIRD SANCTUARIES OPEN

SASKATOON, Sask., March 3.—Many lands that were formerly reserved for bird sanctuaries, in the vicinity of lakes in the province of Saskatchewan, have now been thrown open for soldier settlement, states Major M. A. McInnes, of the Dominion Lands Office. In a large number of cases these lands, being in close proximity to bodies of water, are of the very best quality and they will be a considerable addition to the land already available for settlement. The tracts which were thus reserved usually comprise from two to three sections surrounding lakes this belt of protection sometimes reaching back half a mile from the water. It is now found that the protection area is too small to afford the birds protection, as settlement is steadily encroaching. Formerly no one was allowed to trespass on these reserves for shooting purposes and this applied to all families of birds, wild fowl included. The ban is now lifted in these cases.

MARKSMEN OBJECT

WINNIPEG, March 3.—In a resolution passed at the annual meeting of the Manitoba Rifle Association the National Rifle Association is severely criticized for its ruling providing that the annual rifle matches for 1920 be shot with the Lee Enfield rifle with open sights. The resolution reads that the association view the ruling as an absolutely retrograde movement which will put back rifle shooting where it was 15 years ago, at least and recommends immediate re-adoption of the adjustable peepsight in all matches which are prescribed as tests of skill and accuracy in rifle shooting.

INSURING LIQUOR SUPPLIES

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 3.—Burglary insurance agents in Vancouver are limiting their liability to $50 when they are approached for protection for liquor supplies in private houses. Scotch and rye are not considered good risks.

FUR ROYALTIES

WINNIPEG, Man., March 3.—Claiming that collection of royalties would "kill the fur trade" representatives of the Manitoba Fur Dealers' Association have protested to the legislature against the amendments to the Game Protection Act imposing a royalty on furs taken in Manitoba and to a provision requiring all imported skins to be accompanied by affidavits as to places of origin. The fur men maintain that as Saskatchewan and Alberta have no such laws, the fur trade will centre in future in Prince Albert or Edmonton if the legislation is enacted.

BOOZE FINES HEAVY

SASKATOON, Sask., March 3.—Saskatoon's revenue would suffer considerably were the liquor legislation to be suddenly withdrawn, according to figures being prepared now at the city hall for inclusion in the annual report. For the year 1919 total penalty and fee collections of the city's police court were $20,312 as compared with $14,184 for the year 1918.

WHITING FACTORY

WINNIPEG, Man., March 3.—Winnipeg is to have a new industry—one new to Canada in every sense of the word. The Manitoba Gypsum Company, Winnipeg, will in less than two months from now, begin turning out a high grade of whiting. This product used in many trades, including that of building, has hitherto been obtained almost entirely from Britain.

CALIFORNIA LURE

WINNIPEG, Man., March 3.—Figures gathered from various authoritative sources on the tourist traffic indicate that 12,000 persons from the prairie provinces spent the early part of the winter in California. At least approximately that number purchased tickets from the three middle west provinces for destinations located in the Southern area. A local business man who returned from a trip to the Canadian and American coast cities declared that many of the Canadians had found the drain on their purses from the rate on exchange and high prices more serious than they had anticipated and were returning to spend the remainder of their winter vacation in Vancouver and Victoria.

Collingwood wins round by 12 goals

GAMES TODAY

National Pro. League—St. Patricks at Ottawa; Canadiens at Quebec.

Pacific Coast League—Victoria at Seattle.

COLLINGWOOD WINS

Collingwood, Ont., March 3.—The local team placed themselves in the O. H.A. intermediate final last night, when they beat Seaforth 9 to 3, exactly the same score as in the game in Seaforth on Thursday night last. There was no question as to the outcome. Collingwood showed they were the better team, and the fans in this section of the country think there is no thing to stop them despite the glowing reports sent out from Kingston.

THE RING.

CARPENTIER TAKES 17-YEAR-OLD BRIDE

Paris, March 3.—Georges Carpentier, Europe's heavy-weight champion, will be married on March 13, it was announced. The prospective bride is a seventeen-year-old blonde beauty, whose identity, however, is kept a profound secret. It is said she is not a society girl, but hails from the country.

Immediately after the marriage the couple will sail for America on their honeymoon. There is an unconfirmed report that Carpentier has decided to give up the ring forever owing to the positive aversion of his bride-to-be to his taking part in professional bouts. He is said to intend going into the "movies" on a large scale.

WILL ARREST DEMPSEY

San Francisco, Cal., March 3—Jack Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, indicted on draft-evading charges, have not yet been arrested. The authorities announced that the mills of justice were grinding, however, and they soon will be taken in.

QUEEN'S GRADUATE COMES TO RESCUE

Kingston, March 3.—As a result of the magnificent gift of James Richardson, one of the graduates, a stadium is to be built this year on Queen's campus, on Union street, in memory of the donor's brother, Capt. George T. Richardson, who was killed in action. The stadium which is to be called the George Richardson Memorial Stadium will consist of the following: A new athletic field, with proper accommodation for spectators and players; a first-class playing field; a good cinder track and a concrete fence of good appearance surrounding the field The following additional athletic schemes are also proposed.

An additional field for football, in order to take care of the overflow from the first and second team practise, and to free the campus on Stuart street for soccer and other sports; the erection of a rink, with provision for four thousand spectators and with dressing rooms for skaters and hockey teams, not only for the college teams but for city teams, Royal Military College and others, including visiting teams. Further, that it is desirable to provide artificial ice in order to be certain of ice at all time and to enable Queen's to commence practise as early in the season as Toronto and McGill The erection of additional tennis courts suitable for inter-collegiate matches.

The additional football field will cost ten thousand dollars, including property. The new rink will cost sixty thousand dollars and these will have to be provided for at once. The canvass will commence immediately and will be prosecuted with the greatest vigor. It is the intention to complete plans and to call for tenders at once, so that the work may be let and the whole completed this summer. At a mass meeting of the students this after noon the entire policy was approved.

BLISS CARMAN ILL.

(Canadian Courier)

Bliss Carman, Canadian poet, is seriously ill of tuberculosis at Saranac Lake, N.Y. Some people argue that Carman is not a Canadian poet because he has lived most of his life in New York City. Do not suggest this to any Carman enthusiast or he will hit you. Ask Peter McArthur, or Arthur Stringer, both of whom were pals of his in New York. Read his poems—at least some of the most famous are Canadian in subject. Some years ago the Canadian Courier printed a poem and remarked that the authorship was unknown to the editor.

"Why that's one of the gems of my old friend Bliss Carman!" almost shouted Peter McArthur when he read it. "I'm amazed that every editor in Canada doesn't know:—

The Ships of Grey St. John.

Smile, you inland hills and rivers,
Flush, you mountains, in the dawn,
But my roving heart is seaward
With the ships of grey St. John.

Fair the land lies, full of August,
Meadow island, shingly bar,
Open barns and breezy twilight,
Peace and the mild evening star.

Gently now this gentlest country
The old habitude takes on
But my wintry heart is outbound
With the great ships of St. John.

Once in your wide arms you held me
Till the man-child was a man,
Canada, great nurse and mother,
Of the young sea-roving clan.

Always your bright face above me
Through the dreams of boyhood shone,
Now far alien countries call me
With the ships of grey St. John.

Swing, you tides, up out of Fundy,
Blow, you white fogs, in from sea,
I was born to be your fellow,
You were bred to pilot me.

At the touch of your strong fingers
Doubt, the derelict, has gone;
Sane and glad I clear the headland,
With the white ships of St. John.

Loyalists, my fathers, builded
This grey port of the grey sea,
When the duty to idea's
Could not let well being be.

When the breadth of scarlet bunting
Puts the wreath of maple on,
I must cheer too—slip my moorings
With the ships of grey St. John.

Peerless-hearted port of heroes,
Be a word to life the world.
Till the many see the signal
Of the few once more unfurled.

Past the lighthouse, past the nunbuoy,
Past the crimson rising sun,
There are dreams go down the harbor
With the tall ships of St. John.

In the morning I am with them
As they clear the island bar—
Fade till speck by speck the midday
Has forgotten where they are.

But I sight a vaster sea-line,
Wider leeway, longer run,
Whose discoverers return not
With the ships of grey St. John.

GET 40-MILL RATE.

Brantford, March 3.—By trimming down $20,000 on repairs for school buildings, also knocking off $4,000 for medical and dental inspection in the schools, it was announced here, after another conference on the tax rate problem, that Brantford's rate of taxation for 1920 would not exceed 40 mills on the dollar.

CANADIAN FARMERS CLAMOR FOR FREE BOOKS

Ottawa, Ont., March 3—A veritable flood of applications for farm literature is reported from the offices of the Commission of Conservation. Recently the department printed a third edition of 15,000 account books given free to farmers and before the issue was off the press every copy had been applied for. An issue published in French was similarly taken up. Department officials declare it to be a sudden waxe of recognition on the part of farmers that business on scientific principles is essential to the success of modern farm life.

LEAP YEAR AIDING CUPID

New York, March 3.—This Leap Year is starting out to set a record in marriages, according to statistics gathered from all parts of the country today. Increases in marriage licenses during January and February this year over the corresponding period of 1919, ranged from a comparatively few to nearly 100 per cent. Of the cities reporting, Dallas showed the greatest increase. Boston was the only city to report a decrease.

Cheese Factories May Amalgamate

Madoc District Dairymen Consider Amalgamation Proposal

The proposal to effect an amalgamation of the cheese factories in the Central Ontario District was considerably advanced at a meeting of dairymen representing some eight factories in the Madoc District, which was held at Madoc last Thursday afternoon. Those present at the meeting were largely presidents, salesmen, patrons, leading shareholders and directors of the local factories and a number of reeves and deputy reeves of the adjoining townships. The chairman of the meeting was Mr. J. A. Caskey of Madoc, the County Director for the U. F.O. in Hastings County. After a discussion lasting about three hours, during which all phases of the project were touched on, the meeting voted unanimously in favor of the amalgamation and also in favor of calling factory meetings as soon as possible to give the patrons an opportunity to become identified with the movement, should they so desire.

At a meeting held at Eldorado near Madoc the same evening at which three factories were represented a full discussion of the project took place and again the meeting voted unanimously in favor of it.

The principal speaker at both meetings was Mr. H. B. Cowan, Editor-in-Chief of Farm and Dairy, Peterboro, who has been acting as the chairman of the special committee of dairymen who have been looking into the matter So far some 10 or 12 factories have signified a willingness to become identified with the company. As soon as 25 or 30 do so it is proposed to take out the charter and commence business.

SPEAKER'S CHAIR FROM KING'S FOREST

Ottawa, Ont., March 2.—A magnificent new Speaker's chair and a table for the clerk and his assistants, made of oak from the King's Forest, wil. adorn the new House of Commons.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Speaker of the House told The Star Weekly today that he was approached some time ago by Percy Hurd, the well-known English journalist, and member of the British Parliamet, with a view to a presentation by the members of the Mother of Parliaments of a new Speaker's chair and table to the House of Commons in Ottawa.

"The money is being raised by private subscription," said Mr. Speaker, "and the oak will be taken from the King's Forest. The table of the house will arrive in a few months time. It will be a handsome piece of furniture in keeping with the dignity of the new Chamber. The Speaker's chair may not be completed for a year or more, as I have to decide whether a replica of the one at Westminster will be the right size for the Canadian Chamber. I intend to consult with John A. Pearson architect, as to the dimensions and design of the new chair. My idea is to place the chair on the throne and leave it there for all time, so that traditions may grow around it."

Trenton, N.J., March 2—Governor Edwards to-day signed a bill that permits the manufacture and sale, after peace with Germany is proclaimed of liquor containing 3.5 per cent of alcohol by volume.

Lonely Soldier Welcomed By S.A.

Came to Canada and was Given Glad Hand of Friendship and a Job

Sergeant Watson has been a British soldier for 12 years. In 1909 he was stationed in Egypt. Later, he was transferred to India. In 1914 he returned to England and went to France Here is a copy of his letter which reached Toronto, February 20th, at the offices of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment:

"Sir—By the time this letter reaches you I shall no doubt be on my way home to Canada. I am a regular soldier in the Imperial Army, just finishing my twelve years. Soon after I enlisted (in England) my mother and family came out to Canada while I was in Egypt. That was in 1909. I came home to England from India in 1914 to go to France. I was lucky enough to go out with the P.P.C.L.I. in December, 1914.

OFF TO MESOPOTAMIA

"I went from France to Mesopotamia and went from there through the Persian Hills (700 miles) to Baku in the Caucasus to fight with the Russians and Armenians against the Turco forces with the Colonials. We were driven back to Bagdad. They asked for volunteers to proceed to Siberia, just before the Armistice. I went with the British Military Mission. We, just recently, returned to England, having come through Canada.

"I am now being repatriated to Canada. I will be a stranger in a strange land as my mother died about a year ago. I should very much like somebody to meet me at Toronto. I am a single man and homeless......I am writing in advance so that you may be able to help me in regard to employment......I am one of the genuine lonely soldiers and will appreciate any help you can give me."

Briefly, this is the story of a British soldier to whom should be offered every opportunity to make a home. Realizing this, the letter was sent to the Citizen's Repatriation League. Dr. A. H. Abbott is its secretary. Other information in the letter told the name of the boat and its sailing date. The letter arrived just one day previous to the day Sergeant Watson was due in Toronto.

MET BY SALVATION ARMY

"We telephoned the Salvation Army," said Dr. Abbott, when asked what steps were taken. "The letter came to us in the morning and the man was due at 5.40 that night. A Salvation Army Officer met the train. He took Sergeant Watson to the Salvation Army Hostel at King and Church streets. He made him comfortable and at home. Now, a job is being secured that will pay him from $5 to $7 a day."

"Does the Salvation Army help you like that often?" was asked.

"Help—that isn't the word," Dr. Abbott replied. "In the first place the Salvation Army is absolutely reliable and has made the promptness of our relief work a possibility. In fact they figure so largely in our work that it is difficult to pick out special cases There is no service too big or none too little. They take hold of the job with a will and carry it through to a successful conclusion."

Note—Watson is not the man's right name.

TIME EXTENDED FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

The time has been extended in which eligible disabled ex-service men may apply for loans in order to purchase tools and equipment, or to resume interrupted training and educational courses.

Men not now on the strength of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment and who are eligible for such assistance, have until April 30 next in which to make application.

Men now on the strength of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment for training or treatment, and who may be eligible for loans, have a period of two months after completion of their courses or discharge from treatment in which to apply.

Loans up to $500, without interest, are available for those men who have satisfactorily completed a re-training course with the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment and who wish to start in business in line with the training they have received, and who are unable to do so without such assistance.

Loans of $500, free of interest, may also be granted to those with a war disability who are not eligible for, or who have not had, vocational re-training under the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, and whose pre war training or education has been substantially interrupted by war service, and who are in need of such assistance for the purpose of continuing in training or education.

WAR VETERANS OPPOSE MAYOR WAUGH

Ottawa, March 3—A warm protest against the appointment of Richard D. Waugh, ex-mayor of Winnipeg, to the position of Canada's representative on the Saar Valley Commission, is to be made to the Government by the Great War Veterans' Association.

For the Little Ones

To Keep Their Digestion Perfect Nothing is so Safe and Pleasant as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

An experienced observer in charge of a large office said it was a waste of words to tell most people to eat plain food. They prefer the food that delights the eye. Checking up on the after effects the usual distresses of gassiness, sour risings, water brash, loginess and so on may be avoided by following the meal with one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. These supply the stomach with an alkaline effect thus promoting normal conditions as in health. This puts the O.K. on so-called rich food. Men and women are but children of a larger growth when it comes to eating the foods that satisfy even though they may cause indigestion.

Indigestion is not necessarily confined to those who live high. It may follow so simple a process as the flavor of a bay leaf, thyme, garlic, sage or any of the other savory flavorings so universally used in soups, roasts, dressings, etc. As a rule if the stomach balks at such things, it will be disturbed by cheese, milk, coffee, pies and almost anything that most people like so well. Such conditions as these are met quite adequately by following the meal with one or two Stuarts Dyspepsia Tablets. They digest food and at the same time supply the stomach with an alkaline effect that prevents gassiness, heartburn, sour risings, drowsiness after eating and such distresses so familiar to those susceptible to indigestion or dyspepsia. Get a box of these tablets at any drug store in the United States or Canada, price 50 cents, and then note how comfortable the stomach feels. Your most excellent cook may use garlic without a protest

Death Dangled Long But Struck Quickly

The freezing of the water pipes of the Basilica on Sussex street, Ottawa, on March 14th, 1918, have meant nothing to Eugene Courgon, a lineman of the Bell Telephone Co. at the time.

Yet it started a train of events which moved irresistibly to his death five months later. During those weeks and months death hovered over the heads of the people who passed along Sussex street and who crowded into the great cathedral, waiting its opportunity to strike. Winter changed to spring, and spring to summer. And on August 22nd death struck in a flash, and in a moment Gourgon's wife became a widow and his five children fatherless.

Caused by Hurry

To arrange for thawing frozen pipes the city of Ottawa had arranged with the Ottawa Electric Co. to supply an electric apparatus with men to work it. The city supplied a sleigh and two men to take the apparatus where it was needed. On March 14th, 1918 the apparatus was taken to Sussex street, and was connected with the electrical company's wires by a temporary wire. The job was not finished till 11 p.m., and the workmen declared it was too dark to go up the pole to detach the temporary wire. They gave it a tug and down it came. In the darkness they did not see that it had broken and left a loose piece dangling from the power wires down beside the pole.

Employers Compensated

The Bell Telephone wires were strung lower down on the same pole. On August 22nd Gourgon was at work in a "saddle" stringing a cable. He put his arm round the pole to steady himself. His hand touched the dangling wire and he was dead. The Workmen's Compensation Board awarded his wife and children $4,427.

The Bell Telephone Co. sued the Ottawa Electric Co. and the city of Ottawa. Justice Lennox, who tried the case, has given judgment, finding the Ottawa Electric Co. liable for the amount of the award. The action against the city is dismissed.

DRURY'S RIDDLE PROVES STUMPER

Premier Drury is by way of being a maker of riddles on occasions. Here is one which he sprung at a farmhouse where he was staying during his electioneering in Halton County:

"What is worse than finding a worm in an apple?"

Even the clever newspapermen gave it up.

"Finding half a worm," was the Premier's answer to his own riddle. The newspaperman is still trying to figure it out. Have you got it?

MESSAGE FROM CHAMBER OF COMMERCE PRESIDENT.

Since our campaign commenced for a reorganized Board of Trade we have met with every encouragement from the citizens who have all felt that the need for a live and up to date Board of Trade was very great.

We have secured an active membership of over 380 and everyone an enthusiast for the future of Belleville and our beautiful, fertile surrounding country. We are now forming a rural section and are assured on all sides of the hearty co-operation of all our progressive farmers, and Hastings and Prince Edward Counties contain a great many progressive farmers, men of substance, who are also willing to pay an annual fee in exchange for the privilege of serving the community.

It is no trouble to have our Chamber of Commerce run like clockwork as we have the very best citizens willingly giving many hours every week of their valuable time for the advancement of the community. We have an excellent and highly trained secretary in the person of Mr. E. P. Fredericks and it is a pleasure for the Directors to work on the Board with him and where everything is carried out in a proper and systematic manner.

We expect to close definitely, and will probably have done so before this article appears in print, for convenient and up to date premises where all our members can meet and where the important business of this organization may be properly and conveniently transacted.

We very much regret that our first forum meeting has had to be cancelled owing to the prevailing epidemics. We had arranged for the Hon. Mr. Biggs, Mr. Nelson Parliament, Mr. E. Guss Porter and others to be present at this meeting and I am sure that our members and our numerous guests from the surrounding country would have been much pleased with this meeting and justly proud of the committee in charge of this work. We regret that on account of the necessity of engaging public speakers some time in advance, nothing can be done now until the epidemics are over and until the ban has been lifted on public meetings. We are anxious to have as large a representation from the surrounding districts as possible and feel that with their help and assistance much good can be accomplished for Hastings and Prince Edward counties.

We also feel that business can be stimulated materially by our endeavors, not only in manufacturing, but in developing the agricultural, minerals, and all other resources of these very rich counties. The future holds out every encouragement for a realization of our hopes and plans.

JAMIESON BONE, President.

RELIGION AND ROTARY.

Shure, a little bit of heaven fell from out the sky one day,
And souls were here to welcome it forever and a day,
And when good fellows found it, shure it looked so fair and square,
They said, suppose we keep it, for we need it everywhere.
So they sprinkled it with kindness just to make the good deeds grow—
'Tis the one place you will find them, no matter where you go—
Then they dotted it with service, from each unselfishly,
And when they had it finished, shure they called it Rotary.

Rotary at its best and religion at its best is pretty much the same thing," said Rotarian Rev. C. A. Williams at the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church. The service was attended by the Toronto Rotary Club, and was in celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of the Rotary Movement. Rev. Sextus Stiles, also a Rotarian, assisted in the service.

Mr. Williams spoke of the Rotary motto, "He profits most who serves best," as the very essence of religion, and that while Rotarians as a rule did not make a loud profession of religion, without faith in Christ no man could be a Rotarian.

"Fellow-Rotarians," continued Mr. Williams, "we live in an age of loud, elaborate and costly advertising and shrieking publicity. Modesty and silence has almost departed from the American continent. I think the church handles her publicity too modestly. She should be as active as the Sinn Feiners, the Manufacturers' Association and the U. F. O. I wish we were more friendly with the press, more in touch with humanity, more like the Christ, going about doing good, and not staying under a glass case. The church should mingle more in the rush and tumble of the world.

"The world today is rapidly drifting toward an abyss. Rebellion is rife in India, Ireland and Russia. We Canadians think we are all right, but are we? Canada and the United States should get together as quick as we can. We must see to it that the just demands of the workingman are given to him.

"I believe that Rotary Clubs, and there are now about 600 of them, have been raised up by God to be a helping hand to cope with these urgent problems of civilization."

MAPLE SUGAR TO THE RESCUE.

Sugar, 16 cents per pound. Neither United States nor Canadian refineries can control the situation.—Board of Commerce report.

The maple groves of Canada offer a potential crop of home-grown sugar, which may be made available to relieve the shortage of imported supplies. The days of warm sunshine and the cold nights will soon bring the sap up into the trees. It is well to be prepared for an early sugar season, by having all the equipment ready.

The high price of sugar will undoubtedly create a largely increased demand for maple products. Heretofore, the latter have been considered more of a luxury by the general public, but, in the portions of Canada where maple sugar is produced, it is generally found upon the table in grated form, taking the place of imported sugar. Maple products are being used more and more in the confectionery trade and a considerable export trade is developing.

Canada protects the manufacturer of maple products. Under the pure food law the name "maple" cannot be used for any substance unless it is the product of the maple tree. This is a protection to the producer as well as to the buyer of maple sugar and maple syrup.

The sugaring season comes at a time when very few other farm duties are pressing. This time should be employed, and with excellent advantage, in the maple grove, thus adding to the farm income.—Conservation.

OTHER VIEWS

Degrees of Cold.
Wiarton Echo.

Very many people find the churches cold on Sunday mornings, but no complaints are made about the temperature of the rink when a game of hockey is on. This is something like the cold in the West, "You don't feel it."

Despite constant public protests against the high cost of living, the result of the Forward Movement campaign would indicate that Canada is enjoying a fair measure of prosperity. The raising of over $12,000,000 for church purposes speaks volumes.

Lonely Maids and Men.
Toronto World.

There are hundreds of lonely men in this city and hundreds of lonely girls. Where are they to meet and how? They are answering the question everywhere—by mutual attraction on the street. Sometimes it ends well, and sometimes it doesn't, but if you doubt that it is going on, keep your eyes open on the next street car you ride in, and don't start out with a prejudice that everybody is bad!

HULLO!

When big vessels meet, they say,
They salute, an' sail away.
Jest the same as you an' me,
Lonesome ships upon a sea;
Each one sailin' his own log
For a port behind the fog.
Let your speaking-trumpet blow;
Lift your horn and cry "Hullo!"

Say "Hullo!" and "How d'ye do!"
Other folks are as good as you.
When you leave your house of clay,
Wanderin' in the far away;
When you travel through the strange
Country 'tother side of the range,
Then the souls you've cheered will know
Who you be, an' say "Hullo"

CATTLE MARKETS

UNION STOCK YARDS.

TORONTO, March 2. — With around 1000 cattle at the Union Yards yesterday, there was an active demand for all classes, with a corresponding jump in the prices, causing a sharp rally, which sent the price up anywhere from $1 to $1.25 per cwt., and cleaning out the entire receipts long before noon. These prices are, of course, quoted relatively by comparison last week.

There was a very light run of the small stuff, sheep, lambs and calves, 111 sheep and lambs and calves.

Prices held about steady all round, with the sheep, if anything, a trifle weaker. The calf market was steady.

With a run of 594 hogs, the packer buyers said that they were bidding 17c straight to the farmer, 17¼c f.o.b. and 18¼c fed and watered, up to next Friday's loading. On the exchange yesterday sales were made generally on a 25c higher basis than the quotations noted.

EAST BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

East Buffalo, N.Y., March 1.—Cattle receipts, 3,500; steady; shipping steers, $13.00 to $14.50; butchers, $9 to $12.75; yearlings, $12.50 to $13.50; heifers, $6 to $11; cows, $4 to $10; bulls, $6 to $10.50; stockers and feeders, $6 to $10; fresh cows and springers, 65c to $1.75.

Calves—Receipts, 2,400; slow; $1.75 lower; $6 to $23.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,000; steady; heavy, $15.50 to $15.75; mixed, $16 to $16.25; yorkers, light do., and pigs, $16.25 to $16.35; roughs, $12 to $13.25; stags, $8 to $10.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Chicago, March 1.—Hogs, 44,000; estimated tomorrow, 40,000; steady to 15c lower; bulk, $14.25 to $15.00; top, $15.25; heavy, $14.10 to $14.60; medium, $14.50 to $15; light, $14.85 to $15.25; light light, 14.50 to $15; heavy packing sows, smooth, $13 to $13.50; packing sows, rough, $12.25 to $12.75; pigs, $12.25 to $14.50.

Cattle—Receipts, 13,000; estimated tomorrow, 12,000; firm. Beef steers, medium and heavyweight: Choice and prime, $14.25 to $16; medium and good, $11.50 to $14.25; common, $9 to $11.50; light, good and choice, $12 to $15.25; common and medium, $8.50 to $12. Butcher cattle, heifers, $6.50 to $13; cows, $6.25 to $11.75. Canners and cutters, $4.50 to $6.25. Veal calves, $16.25 to $16.50; feeder steers, $7.50 to $11.50; stocker steers, $6.75 to $10.25.

Increase In Customs.

OTTAWA, March 2.—An increase of $19,962,896 in the customs receipts for the eleven months of the fiscal year ending Saturday is shown by the statement issued from the Customs Department. Customs receipts for the eleven months of the present fiscal year totalled $163,527,100, while last year they were $143,564,204. For the month of February alone the increase was $3,481,688.

Bermudans Are Angry.

NEW YORK, March 2. — Bermudans are hot under the collar over the proposal of Senator Kenyon to buy their islands from Great Britain, to a copyrighted cable to the New York Sun and Herald from Hamilton. The Colonist and Daily News editorially denounced it as grossly impertinent, and as proof of appalling ignorance of the British attitude regarding indivisibility of the Empire.

Native Strike Collapsing.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, March 2.—The strike among the natives, which has been in progress for some time, seemingly is collapsing. Thousands of the workmen are returning to their jobs. There has been no disorder.

Prize of £10,000 Is Paid.

MELBOURNE, March 2. — Capt. Ross Smith, winner of the Commonwealth prize of £10,000 for an airplane flight from England to Australia, has received a cheque for that sum at the Parliament House.

His Death Expected

New Brunswick Man Saved

Mr. Isidore Thomas, of Tilley's Road, Gloucester County, N.B., while expecting death, availed himself of help that was offered at random. Here is part of a letter he wrote to us:—

"I beg you to publish my letter, so that people may know what Gin Pills did for me. My case was very serious. I was so sick everybody expected my death any day. Finally, on advice from friends, I tried Gin Pills, and in a short time was well again, and soon had gained 20 pounds."

Kidney and bladder troubles, very often, work in secret ways. A bad condition may exist, with only a backache to indicate it. That is why the slightest pains in back or sides should be investigated. These pains, along with sciatic neuralgia, rheumatism, dizziness, constipation, lassitude, lumbago, highly-colored urine, headache, floating specks before the eyes, gravel, indicate kidney trouble. A course of Gin Pills, taken at once, will give relief, and prevent the progress of the disease, enabling the organs to right themselves and restore good health. Gin Pills are the sure, safe, quick remedy. Get a box from your druggist or dealer—50c. Money refunded if no relief found. Send for free sample.

ILL-FITTING COLLARS

The Cause of Sore Shoulders in Farm Horses.

The Skin Scalds and the Hair Falls Out — Abscesses or Tumors May Form — Treatment Suggested — Planting Field Beans.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

WHEN a horse has been properly fitted for hard work, the collar fits properly and the driver observes reasonable precautions to avoid trouble, it is seldom that shoulder trouble occurs, but where the horse has not been prepared for work, or the collar does not fit properly, or the driver is careless, trouble is very liable to occur. When the horse has a long coat of hair in the spring it is good practice to clip the parts with which the collar comes in contact, as a preventive measure. In fact, in many cases it is wise to clip the whole horse.

Shoulder troubles are usually caused by ill-fitting collars, but in horses not accustomed to work, may occur even when the collar fits properly.

The most common shoulder trouble is practically a form of scalding. The skin becomes inflamed and tender, the hair drops out, and if work be continued the parts become raw. This is often due to neglect in cleaning the face of the collar regularly, also thoroughly cleaning the shoulders regularly, and failure to remove the collar at meal times to allow the shoulders and collar face to become dry, and then clean them before putting the collar on again. For treatment, a lotion made of one ounce each of acetate of lead and sulphate of zinc in a pint of cold water, is probably the best application. This should be applied three or four times daily, and, if possible, the animal should be given rest or worked in a breast collar.

Abscesses or tumors may form on the shoulder as a result of pressure of the collar. One form of this trouble appears suddenly. A swelling of considerable size is noticed. It is not very tender or sore to pressure, and is found to be soft and fluctuating when handled. This is called a "serous" abscess. It contains a thin fluid, about the consistency of water called "serum" which is situated just beneath the skin.

Another form appears more slowly. The horse evinces pain when pressure is put upon the shoulder, and examination reveals a swelling. The animal can work and evinces little pain, except for a short time after he is put to work, until after he is allowed to stand for a few minutes. The soreness and enlargement gradually increase, and while the swelling may not appeal to the touch, as solid and hard as at first, it has not the fluctuating condition of the serous abscess. The walls are thicker. This contains pus or matter, and is called a purulent abscess. Treatment in either case consists in making a free incision through the walls of the abscess at the lowest part, to allow free escape of the contents, and then flushing out well three or four times daily until healed, with a five per cent. solution in water, of one of the coal tar antiseptics or carbolic acid. In this case the patient must have rest, or be worked in a breast collar.

Another condition from like causes is a fibrous tumor. This forms slowly, is more or less sore, in fact acts much the same as a purulent abscess. In some cases it is not possible to diagnose definitely between a tumor and a purulent abscess with very thick walls, without exploring. A small incision is made right into the centre of the enlargement. If even a very little pus be present it will yield to the treatment for an abscess, but if no pus be present the only treatment is dissection. The whole fibrous growth must be carefully dissected out, the wound stitched, except a portion at the bottom to allow escape of pus which forms during the healing process, and treated as an abscess. — Dr. J. H. Reed, O. A. College, Guelph.

Planting Field Beans.

Of the various kinds of field beans the greatest demand is for the Common White, of which there are several named varieties such as Early Wonder, Scholfield, Elliott, etc. It is important to secure an early strain, to test the germination, and to plant early in the month of June.

Field beans are grown successfully on a great variety of soils. They do particularly well on fertile land which may be classed as loam, sandy loam, gravelly loam, or gravelly clay. All soils for bean production should be well underdrained either naturally or artificially. With proper drainage even clay soils have produced beans satisfactorily in regard to both yield and quality. Beans do particularly well after clover or grass sod and are frequently followed by winter wheat in some localities and by spring grains in other sections. It is of great importance to have the land thoroughly cultivated and a seed bed which is both moist and mellow.

In those sections where field beans are grown extensively, bean planters are sometimes employed. On the majority of farms, however, the beans are planted with an ordinary grain drill by using every fourth tube. Three pecks per acre of the pea beans are usually planted on average soil. If the soil is particularly rich, however, the quantity might be reduced slightly. When the tops of the growing crop are dry the beans should be cultivated occasionally throughout the season to destroy the weeds and to form a fine surface mulch.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. College, Guelph.

Roots, cabbage, fine alfalfa hay, or even a little silage, will be relished very much by sows, and will keep them in good health.

Wives and Mothers of Canada

Stratford, Ont.:—"I am very enthusiastic in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic for expectant mothers. I have had experience both with the 'Prescription' and without it, and am in a position to know that there is a vast difference. I was never nauseated or sick at all with my 'Prescription' babies but I was extremely uncomfortable with the others and my suffering was greater when I had not taken the 'Favorite Prescription'. I shall always take pleasure in recommending it to expectant mothers."—MRS. LEOTA M. PEPPER, 114 Grange St.

COULD NOT SLEEP

Halifax, N. S.:—"I was in a run-down nervous condition for over two years, had been treated by several doctors and only found temporary relief. I could not sleep at night my heart palpitated so, and I was almost afraid to close my eyes. Being persuaded, I wrote and stated my symptoms to the Medical staff at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y. I was advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Pleasant Pellets'. I did so with the very best results. I could sleep and became my natural self again. I certainly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all sufferers, for they have done for me what doctors failed to do and they have saved me doctor bills, too."—MRS. JOHN HOMANS, Clam Harbor.

Toronto, Ont.:—"For over thirty years I have been a user of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I have taken them for liver trouble, biliousness, constipation and sick-headaches and they always gave me the relief wanted. I am sure the 'Pleasant Pellets' have saved me many a sick spell. I can highly recommend them."—MRS. HANNAH BOWNESS, 60 Strange St.

New Rails for Old.

One of the big tasks of reconstruction is that of furnishing our railways with new rails.

Relaying has had to be delayed, notwithstanding that the traffic has been immense and severe during the war. The wear of railtops varies according to locality and the straightness of the line, since on a curve there is more friction, due to the slip of the wheels is going round the curve.

Rails that are not worked very hard nevertheless suffer from rust, which cuts down their life. It takes about twenty-five million tons' weight of traffic to wear down a rail one-tenth of an inch.

The popular idea that rails are turned upside-down in their chairs, to use the bottom side for a fresh lease of life, is not correct. By the time the top is worn out, the hammering of the traffic has indented the bottom upon the chairs and injured its structure too much to allow it to be used for a running surface. The rail may, however, have further life in sidings, or put to some other use.

When laying rails the platelayers interpose a piece of metal of a certain thickness between the ends at the joint, before bolting up the fishplates, afterwards removing it and leaving a blank. This is done to allow for expansion and contraction in summer and winter, otherwise the rails would buckle so much that the trains would be derailed. — London Answers.

How Darkness Is Photographed.

Until quite recently cinema scenes that were supposed to happen in darkness were really taken in broad daylight, but before being thrown on to the screen the film was dipped into a large tank containing deep blue dye; that produced the required effect.

But the difficult problem of night cinematography has at last been solved. In a recent production there was presented a camp setting in which the fire cast an eerie glow over the darkness. There were also excellent silhouettes of the players. These were taken one moonless night, the middle of the camp being illuminated with a strong violet flame for just two minutes, which lighted up the surrounding country.

A second example was a battle subject taken at night-time. In this there appeared such details as bombs bursting over fields, with intervals of blinding flashes of light, while balls of flame were pouring forth from the discharging cannon.

The first problem was to determine the composition of ammunition which would not only be sufficiently explosive, but produce a powerful light as well. The director had to manufacture a special kind of flashlight powder, which he succeeded in doing after many experiments. On a wintry night, when it was pitch dark, the man at the switchboard had a busy time, for it was his duty to explode 3,000 bombs. These were manipulated separately in no less than 40,000 feet of electric wiring.

Toronto practically controls the world's market for alsike.

The claybelt of Ontario and Quebec will supply the world with clover seed.

A new variety of wheat known as O.A.C. No. 14 has been produced by Dr. C. A. Zavitz, of the Ontario Agricultural College, which may mean millions of dollars to the farmers of Ontario.

Grip, Influenza

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

The Trouble Listener

By R. RAY BAKER

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

He stood at the park entrance, a dark-haired, fashionably garbed man of slender build, and allowed his cane to swing repeatedly against the wall that embraced the terrace. Beneath a small, dignified mustache his lips twitched nervously, and his black eyes, set in a pale, almost emaciated face, roamed restlessly over the throng that was enjoying a late afternoon siesta.

From his position at the gate he could see two old men smoking corncob pipes contentedly, chatting aimlessly as they rested on a bench, against which a pair of crutches leaned. Nearby was a languid young woman with yellow hair shielded by a red parasol, gazing dreamily into space and now and then calling methodically: "Edward, come here," to a bare-legged youngster romping, heedless of her admonitions, on the lawn in the vicinity of "keep off" sign.

A grimy laborer, clamping his jaws placidly on plug and carrying a dented dinner pail, his shoulders hunched forward and his feet dragging after him, slouched into the park and paused near the entrance, where the wind had separated an abandoned newspaper into its several folios and scattered them over the grass.

The laborer glanced furtively about, stepped gingerly on the lawn, and a moment later moved out of sight along the walk, whistling listlessly no tune in particular, the newspaper folded compactly and protruding from a coat pocket.

Two girls passed near the observer with the cane. One was chewing viciously on gum, punctuating her remarks with frequent smacks of the lips. The other evidently had been weeping, for there were traces of tears in her eyes and she carried a wilted handkerchief.

"I'd tell 'im where tuh get off at," snapped the gum chewer. "Don't let 'im put anything like that over on yuh. The idear dockin' yuh a whole dollar jes 'cause yuh busted one measly li'l fift'-cent vase. Well, goo'by, I gotta hurry home 'n' get fed."

She hurried off through the park, while the other girl walked on down the street, soaking up more salt water with the tiny lace-fringed square of linen. All this ceased abruptly at the next corner, where she was joined by a young man and a ripple of laughter floated back.

The man with the cane smiled somewhat grimly and adjusted the stick on his arm.

"The inhabitants of this old world certainly do have their troubles," he sighed, and as he turned he collided with a tall, thin, blond young woman clad in pink.

"Pardon," he murmured, and then as he recognized her:

"Oh, hello, Evelyn. This is a surprise. What are you doing, that you can't see where you're going? Studying astronomy?"

Evelyn smiled sadly and took him by the arm.

"You're just the man I need," she asserted. "I'm in awful trouble—and it's all on account of my no-good husband. Joe, I wish I'd married you. Come in the park and I'll tell you all about it, and maybe you can advise me."

With an air of resignation he allowed himself to be piloted along the park walk. They were just in time to see and hear the amiable discussion of the two old men with corncob pipes break up in an angry, sputtering argument over the effect of the peace treaty on the map of Europe, or the high cost of living, or the batting percentage of the major league catchers.

As the man and the girl passed the young woman with the yellow hair, the youngster who had been romping on the lawn came running up to her, splitting the air with shrieks.

The young woman manifested great annoyance, stopped gazing at distant nothings, seized the bare-legged child by the arms and dumped him unceremoniously on the bench beside her.

"Now, what's the matter?" she demanded angrily. "Can't I have a minute's peace? What are you roaring about?"

"I bit my finder," he wailed, and let loose another torrent of tears.

"Shut up!" she commanded, and gave him a slap across the face. He became silent immediately, except for some half-suppressed sniffles, evidently through fear. She looked up as Evelyn and her escort were passing and nodded.

"Oh! How do you do, Mrs. Benjamin," she said. "Did you ever see such a kid? I don't have a second of comfort. I wish he'd never been born. He's driving me crazy."

"She thinks she's having troubles," said Evelyn to her companion, as they went down the walk. "But her troubles are nothing compared to mine. Wait till I tell you. Come over to this bench."

As they were being seated she remarked:

"Where have you been the last three years? I heard you went West. And you look so pale. You must have been sick."

He nodded but did not vouchsafe a reply, simply moistening his dry lips with his tongue.

"I heard you were engaged to marry out there," she rattled on. "Well, I got married soon after you left; and we lived so happily till—"

Tears came to her eyes and a choking sob, halted her conversation. She blew her nose and resumed.

"Ain't it queer, to see people like Mrs. Haines back there fretting and worrying about that little boy and thinking she's in misery; while here I am with something real to worry about. Oh, Joe, it's awful, that's what it is! Who would have thought two years ago—Oh, that husband of mine is a brute! Do you know what he's been doing? Well, he—he's been going out with another woman, that's what."

She broke down completely and the man placed a sympathetic hand on her shoulder.

"Don't feel so badly," he advised. "It can't be helped. Men sometimes do those things. Anyhow, it isn't as bad as it—"

She looked up and said almost savagely:

"Oh, it ain't? That's all right for you to say, Joe Carson—you who never had a care in your life, and loaded down with cash, too. I can't tell you how I'm suffering because of Walter's actions.

"You see, Walter never comes home to lunch; but I phoned his office at noon yesterday to see about some things for dinner, and the office girl told me he went out to eat with some woman. It made me furious, but I didn't say a word to Walter. I called again just a little while ago and the girl told me the same thing. So I came out to take a walk and decide whether to get a divorce or just leave him. That woman must be terrible—one of those vampires."

Another flood of tears broke forth and Carson looked about uneasily, hesitating to speak lest he say the wrong thing again.

The languid young woman and the bare-legged boy who was such a trial were passing. The youngster was laughing up at his mother as they tripped along, his hand in hers.

Evelyn looked after them and remarked sneeringly:

"Well, Mrs. Haines has got over her spell and the kid's finger ain't bothering him now. Ain't that the limit?"

She did not observe a middle-aged man and an elderly lady with gray hair who were sauntering through the park until they were close to the bench.

"Evelyn!" exclaimed the man in astonishment as he and his companion halted. "Why, how do you happen to be here?"

Evelyn leaped to her feet in surprise and confusion. However, in an instant she had regained her composure and was all smiles.

"Mrs. Wilcox," said the man, "allow me to introduce my wife. Evelyn, you remember me speaking about the buyer for the Clayborn milliners—our best customers. Well, this is she."

Evelyn beamed on Mrs. Wilcox.

"So pleased to meet you," she said warmly. "My husband has often spoken of you. Can't you come up to the house for dinner tonight? Oh, by the way—Mrs. Wilcox and Walter, dear—meet Mr. Carson, an old friend I happened to meet while getting some fresh air and sunshine."

Carson acknowledged the introduction and presently excused himself. Slowly he walked out of the park, swinging his cane, and entered the hotel across the street. He noticed in passing that the two old men again were smoking in peace.

"Troubles, troubles," he soliloquized. "Everybody has them, and yet eventually they seem to work out all right. But mine—there's no chance."

He nodded to the clerk, who handed him a telegram. With nervous fingers Carson tore open the envelope.

"Come home, Joe," it read. "Parks confessed to embezzlement. You are cleared. I'm ready for the wedding."

Carson looked out the window at the hurrying crowds, which he did not see.

"The world's just about all right," he murmured. "Dear girl, she stuck to me through it all."

LAND FOR NATIONAL FOREST

Presidential Proclamation Adds Many Acres in Wyoming to the Public Domain.

The president, on July 10, 1919, signed a proclamation adding 76,260 acres to the Wyoming national forest. This increase in area was authorized by the act of August 16, 1916, which provided for the addition of 5,760 acres, known as the Fontenelle addition, in the southeastern part of the Wyoming forest, and by the act of February 25, 1919, which provided for the extension of the western boundary of the forest to the Idaho-Wyoming state line by the inclusion of 70,500 acres.

The lands added are rolling, well watered and pretty well covered with a forest growth of aspen, Douglas fir and Engelmann spruce. The Wyoming national forest now has a total acreage of 975,988.94 acres.

Wild Animals That Are Passing.

In former days one of the most numerous of our American game animals was the "prong-horn" antelope. It has been well-nigh exterminated, and though there are some in the Wichita forests and other national game preserves, they are sadly few. It is feared that this beautiful species must inevitably pass away. Wherever there are mountain sheep, on federal reservations utmost efforts are made to protect them. Their shyness is proverbial, and and yet in the Uncompagre National forest (Colorado) they have acquired such confidence that actually they come into the town of Ouray in the winter time to be fed.

Result of Thought.

Simplicity of character is the natural result of profound thought.—Hazlitt.

Comestible Coal.

"What kind of coal do you wish, mum?"

"Dear me, I am so inexperienced in these things. Are there various kinds?"

"Oh, yes. We have egg coal, chestnut—"

"I think I'll take egg coal. We have eggs oftener than we have chestnuts."

TORN GOWN HALTS WHEELS OF JUSTICE

Winnipeg, March 2.—The wheels of justice had to cease grinding in the State trial of strike leaders for several minutes because in the middle of the session Mr. Justice Metcalfe had to return, the gown he had borrowed from a brother judge.

On Saturday Mr. Justice Metcalfe tore his gown accidentally and had to rush it to the tailors. It had not been returned so he borrowed one from another judge. About 11 o'clock that judge was called to sit on another case so he sent a S.O.S. call to Metcalfe to return the borrowed robe, Mr. Justice Metcalfe had to adjourn the trial while he retured the garment and borrowed another.

VIEWS OF ST. PAUL APPLY AS IN TIME OF CORINTHIANS

London, March 2.—"In view of the statements of St. Paul on the subject of the uniform practice of the Church in the past, it is not desirable to grant permission to women to speak and pray in consecrated buildings."

This is the reply of the Lower House of Convocation to a suggestion from Canon emple that women might be allowed to enter the ministry under regulations and conditions laid down by the Bishops.

FALLS 25 FEET TO DEATH.

Hamilton, March 2.—Falling 25 feet when the scaffold on which they were working collapsed, yesterday, Frank Lester was instantly killed and Walter Ricketts seriously injured. The men were employed as carpenters. An inquest has been ordered.

PAYS $300 FOR TICKLING A BOY

Montreal, March 2—Tickling a boy in the ribs cost the Montreal Tramways Company, whose conductor was responsible for the joke, the sum of $330 and costs to which Mr. Justice Tellier condemned it in Superior Court.

Joseph Parent, twelve years of age, was riding on a Papineau avenue car, when the conductor tickled him in the ribs.

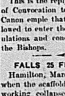
This caused him to lose his balance and he fell, sustaining injuries for which the plaintiff, the boy's mother sued the company for $1,500 damages, receiving $330 and costs of the action.

KITCHENER FIRE CHIEF SAVES WOMAN FROM DEATH

Kitchener, Ont., March 2.—Fire Chief Harry Guerin, at the risk of his life, dashed into the flaming residence of Victor Sloan, 7 Hohner ave., at midnight and rescued Mrs. Sloan, who was confined to her bed, from certain death. Thinking that Mrs. Sloan's three-day-old boy was still in the house, the chief went back into the house but was unable to find it. The child had been saved by the father and nurse while the chief was rescuing the mother.

BULGARS GET EVEN WITH PROFITEERS

Berne, March 2.—Usurers, blackmailers and profiteers are being placarded and marched in chains through the streets and market places of Bulgarian cities, according to advices received here. This is said to be producing good results.



You Need Not Tolerate

the inconvenience of a cough, when a few doses of

will give you almost instant relief. It heals the rawness of the bronchial tubes; stops the annoying tickling that leads to spasms of coughing; and soon restores the throat to its normal condition. On account of its pleasant taste, children take it readily. Keep a bottle always in the house.

BAN TO BE REMOVED

A meeting of the Board of Health of the city was held last evening when after consideration it was decided that the order closing churches, schools, theatres, pool rooms, etc., be removed at 12 o'clock Saturday night, thus enabling church services to be held on Sunday next. The reports received from the physicians of the city was of an encouraging nature indicating that the flu epidemic was on the wane and those at present affected were improving. There are at present only about 400 cases in the city and all of a mild type.

Calls Board's Action Childish

Senate Leaders Debate Trade Matters—Sir James Lougheed Lauds Government and Tariff.

OTTAWA, March 3.—Senator Bostock, leader of the Opposition, and Senator Lougheed, Government leader, were heard in the Senate in the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Senator Bostock urged trade with countries which accepted the Canadian dollar at its face value, and pointed out this would facilitate trade within the Empire. He characterized the action of the Board of Commerce in removing restrictions on sugar as childish.

Sir James Lougheed said the work of the Board of Commerce on the whole was good and resulted in benefits to the people of the country. The greatness of Canada in the future depended largely on the development of manufacturing. While Canada was an agricultural country, there were other natural resources to be developed.

Senator Chapais, in seconding the address, endorsed proportional representation.

Overcoat Patch Led To Arrest

..TORONTO, March 3—The patch darned in an overcoat to mend a hole caused by a cigarette burn, and a father's recognition of the coat as belonging to his son, led to the arrest of what is claimed to be one of the most dangerous gangs of hold-up men and budding criminals seen in Toronto for some years yesterday afternoon and last night. When Carl Minchinton was knocked down, bound and gagged, and the store at 110 Queen street, east, where he was a clerk, robbed by three men last Friday, one of the robbers appropriated Minchintons coat. Later on in the day Jas. White was arrested for the robbery but no trace could be found of the others.

He Recognized the Coat

Yesterday afternoon Minchington's father noticed a man walking down Yonge street near Carlton, and also noticed that the overcoat he wore was the one his son had lost. The darned tear in the front of the coat assured him that he was right and He notified P. C. Wormold, of No. 2 Division, who promptly gave chase. The man turned out to be Alfred Alphonse Laferriere when caught and he was quickly connected with the robbery.

BRILLIANT MINISTER VICTIM OF INFLUENZA

Rev. Dudley B. Ashford, Noted Preacher and Lecturer, Well Known on Three Continents, Was Ordered To Give Up Work.

Rev. Dudley B. Ashford, Noted Preacher, Lecturer and Missionary

Reverend Dudley B. Ashford, is an extraordinary man Although still on the sunny side of forty, he has crowded more service to humanity into a few years than most men accomplish in a life time

Soon after his graduation from Harley College, London, England, he was ordained minister at the famous New Court Congregational church, London. A short time thereafter he was selected to present the cause of Congo Reform and African Mission before the people of Norway, and toured that land with such success that he was greeted by enormous crowds at every meeting.

In 1903 under the auspices of the Colonial Missionary Society, he was sent to New Zealand and for three years labored as a missionary among the Maoris, where his experiences were novel and thrilling.

In 1916 he returned to England and served for three years at Wood Street Congregational church, Cardiff, South Wales, the biggest Congregational church in the British Empire. It was while here that he fell one of the early victims of the great 1918 flu epidemic, an attack from which he had not fully recovered when he accepted a call to the Queen's Road Congregational church, St. John's Newfoundland, where his forceful preaching soon attracted record congregations.

The strain of this work upon his undermined constitution proved too severe and he suffered a nervous breakdown, from which, now, however, he has completely recovered. Moved by a desire to serve his fellowmen he has recently written a letter that tells how he was restored to health and strength.

Moved by Gratitude

This letter, addressed to The Tanlac Co., Atlanta, Ga., is an eloquent expression of gratitude and is as follows:

"Gentlemen: Your medicine, known as 'Tanlac,' has been such an inestimable blessing to me, that I feel constrained to write and tell you so. In October, 1918, while a minister of the Wood Street Congregational church, Cardiff, South Wales, I had a severe attack of the Spanish Influenza, from the effects of which I never fully recovered I lost twenty-eight pounds in weight and was unable to recover my usual energy.

"Then, in February, 1919, I became the minister of the Queen's Road Congregational church at St. John's, Newfoundland. My ministry was attended with great success, but the strain proved too great for me and I had a serious breakdown. My nerves seemed to go all to pieces and my digestion became so deranged that I could eat scarcely anything. My heart gave me a lot of trouble; it was an effort to walk upstairs and at night I used to lie awake in continual dread lest my heart should stop beating altogether.

"Then, as a result of exposure one winter's night in a small boat while in the execution of my duties, I was seized with violent pains in the right shoulder and arm, which nearly drove me to distraction. I consulted doctors and specialists and underwent massage and electrical treatment, without getting much relief. I was ordered to give up all preaching and public work for at least three months and I began to fear that my health was permanently affected.

He Had Been Skeptical

"I had always been rather skeptical of the testimonials, concerning the merits of any medicine but one day I read the statement of a man whose symptoms seemed to be identical with my own, and his praise of Tanlac rang so true I decided to give it a trial myself. I bought a bottle and its effect was almost immediate. My nervous condition began to disappear and I began to get sleep at night. My appetite so increased that I could scarcely satisfy it, and I found myself putting on weight rapidly. By the time I had taken the fourth bottle, the pains in my arm and shoulder disappeared and I am feeling better today than for a long time past.

"I feel that I should be guilty of base ingratitude if I did not write and tell you what a boon Tanlac has been to me, and I give you this unsolicited testimonial to use as you may think best, in the hope that others may find in your wonderful medicine the means to restored health and strength."

"Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town."

Called By Death

MISS EMMA GLENN

Miss Emma Glenn, eldest daughter of the late David Glenn and Mary A. Clinton, passed away at the home of her brother-in-law, D. R. Davidson, Prince Edward County on Sunday evening, February 29th, after a long illness practically being an invalid all her life. She is a niece of Dr. George Clinton, Belleville; John Clinton, Bloomfield; and Mrs. Wiggins of Trenton. She had two sisters, Mrs. Sprung, Wellington; Mrs. D. R. Davidson, Ameliasburg, P.E., with whom she has made her home for a number of years. Miss Glenn lived at Brighton for about fifteen years, the rest of her life being spent in Prince Edward County. The funeral was held at the home of her brother-in-law, D. R. Davidson, on Tuesday, March 2nd at 2 p.m., services being conducted by Rev. Mr. McLeod of Brighton, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Gall. Interment at Albury cemetery. The bearers were Messrs. A. Broad, J. Broad, H. Jose, Harry Wallbridge, Howard Wallbridge and D. R. Davidson.

ALFRED W. ANDERSON

Alfred Way Anderson, a successful farmer, who passed away on February 21st last at the age of 64, was a gentleman of unusual executive ability, his father, the late Levi Anderson, died in 1878, leaving a family of thirteen children. Alfred then being twenty-two years of age, he assumed the management and brought up, educated and helped to place member of the family in a comfortable situation in life, not thinking of himself, but others. He was a prominent member of the Methodist Church of the Ameliasburg Circuit occupying the position of steward. He was also a director of the Quinte Cheese and Butter Company of Ameliasburg for fifteen years, the last two years he was President and Salesman, but owing to ill health was obliged to give it up. He was retiring and quiet in manner but resolute in purpose, he was a bachelor and had few, if any, enemies and hosts of friends. His death leaves a vacancy in home, church and community where he will be greatly missed.—Contributed.

MRS. ISABELL MURRAY

Mrs. Isabell Murray, relict of the late Mr. Wm. Murray, passed away on Monday at the family residence, West Huntingdon. Deceased was one of the oldest residents of that section of the country being 91 years of age. Mrs. Murray was an estimable lady highly esteemed by all who knew her. She was a member of the Presbyterian church. Her husband predeceased her a few years ago. One son, James on the homestead and one daughter, Mrs. S. B. Rollins, of Tweed, survives. Mrs. James Haggerty of Huntingdon is a sister of the deceased.

Obsequies

MRS. JOHN COLE

The funeral of the late Mrs. John Cole, of Shannonville, took place on Tuesday afternoon and many relatives and friends were in attendance. At the Methodist Church Rev. Mr. Jones conducted services, and the body was placed in the vault at Melrose cemetery. Upon the casket were placed a number of floral tributes, as tokens of esteem for the departed. The bearers were Messrs J. Kerr, J. McWilliams, S. Dies, T. Morden, J. Beatty and H. Liddle.

Social And Personal

Mr. C. S. Nicholson, who has been in charge of the Agricultural Dept. of the O.S.D., has left for Ottawa to take up Experimental Farm Work. Later he will take charge of the Experimental work at the Experimental Farm at Kapuskasing.

Sterling opened in New York at $3.45½, but in later trading receded to $3.43½.

NEW YORKER LOSES LIQUORS AND IS FINED

Brockville, March 3—John Inglis of New York city, against whom an action was brought by License Inspector Taber to determine the legality of a seizure made on February 9 last at Rockport of liquors shipped to that place by Inglis and to prosecute him for a breach of the O.T.A., loses the liquors and is also out of pocket to the extent of $211, as a result of the decision handed down in the Police Court by Magistrate Page.

The action has assumed more or less the prominence of a test case to determine whether or not American citizens possessing summer residences among the Thousand Islands or about to possess them, may legally ship liquor from the Province of Quebec into this Province.

The magistrate held that the Rockport house was not Inglis' residence under the provisions of the O.T.A. and convicted him for an offence of the act.

LARGE STILL SEIZED

Parry Sound, March 3—Preventive Officer Floody of the Inland Revenue Department, accompanied by Constables Griffiths and Haystead, seized a large copper still at the farm of Wm. Cascannette, near the Boyne River, about five miles from here. A large quantity of mash and molasses was found and a complete outfit for a capacity of 25 gallons per day. Cascannette was arrested and brought before Police Magistrate Moore when he was fined $100 and costs or seven months in jail.

VETERANS AND POLICE CLASH NOT SERIOUS

London, March 3.—Police and Government authorities today said they did not attach great importance to rioting which occurred yesterday near the House of Commons, in which fifty men, including police, were injured slightly.

Fighting occurred when police attempted to stop a procession of demobilized soldiers and workers who were parading toward Downing Street in a protest demonstration against being thrown out of their war jobs. The men dispersed when they were informed discharges would be suspended until March 13.—More than 5,000 men took part in the demonstration, it was estimated. Several were clubbed by police. Twenty were taken to hospitals.

ADOPT RESERVATION

Washington, March 3.—The Republican peace treaty reservation declaring the right of the United States to decide all domestic questions under the League of Nations was re-adopted by the Senate today by a vote of 56 to 25 after repeated efforts by the Democrats to amend it had failed.

Fourteen Democrats voted with the solid Republican membership for the reservation. On its original adoption last November the voted was 59 to 36 with eleven Democrats voting in the affirmative.

Must Maintain Roads Or Do Without Grant

HON. F. C. BIGGS TELLS CONVENTION OF COUNTY ROAD SUPERINTENDENTS AND ENGINEERS OF THE FUTURE POLICY OF HIS DEPARTMENT.

TORONTO, March 3—"When an inspector from the Highways Department hereafter goes out to look over the conditions of your roads in the county during the fall or any other time of the year and finds that you have neglected to keep up continuous maintenance, we are going to cut off your maintenance grant on any road found in such a condition." This was the warning given by Hon. F. C. Biggs Minister of Highways to the County Road Superintendents and Engineers at their sixth annual conference at the Parliament Buildings.

"I have made up my mind," declared the Minister, "that a system of maintenance must be carried out in all the counties which expect to receive a grant from the Government. From what I have seen of the roads in the States and from books and reports of the highways in England and France, the traffic cadam roads which carry the traffic are never forgotten for one minute. They keep right after them and as soon as a rut or depression is noticed it is immediately repaired. We are going to inaugurate that system in the Province of Ontario and with the assistance of the counties and you Road Superintendents we will await the results."

VILLAGES GET FREE ROAD

Another important announcement made by the Minister was in reference to the percentage of cost which was to be charged against villages through which the trans-Provincial highway passes through the smaller villages," said Mr. Biggs. "We propose to build the Provincial highway right through village of 1,500 population or less without asking that village to contribute one cent to the expense of building that portion of road. We won't ask them to go to any extra expense." (Applause).

He exhorted the counties to adopt the same rule in building their county and county Provincial roads through the smaller towns and villages and intimated if the municipalities and counties would co-operate in this regard the Government would be willing to pay a share of the cost of constructing the road through the villages.

Hon. Mr. Biggs further announced that it was the policy of his department to increase the maintenance grant on suburban area roads from 20 per cent. to 40 per cent. He stated that as maintenance was one of the big factors in road-building this new provision was necessary and justifiable

"The new Government wishes your co-operation," stated Mr. Biggs, "and we will give you a greater latitude in the amount of percentage and assistance than you have ever had from any other Government. We want the heads of the counties to understand that we are a unit for better roads in Ontario And to work out our road policy we are going to amend the existing legislation."

COAXING NOT NECESSARY

Hon. Mr. Biggs said that in order to keep the people on the farms, roads must be built. "If the farm were made a pleasant place to live," he continued "we wouldn't have to coax them to stay there and the day would arrive when there wouldn't be enough acreage to go all round."

At the morning session a paper on "Drainage," was read by G. R. Marston, County Engineer of Norfolk. He explained that the fundamental principle of road costruction was proper drainage which was so neglected by builders. Two other papers, "Quarrying and Crushing," by T. V. Anderson, County Road Superintendent of Lennox and Addington and "Mechanical Handling of Stone and Gravel," by A. M. Jackson, County Engineer of Brant, were also read.

During the morning and afternoon sessions open discussion was freely entered into by the majority of the road supervisors. Considerable interest was shown in the use of motor trucks for road building purposes. A number of the counties have adopted that means of handling their material and arguments pro and con were put forward.

USE OF MOTOR TRUCKS

Mr. D. W. McBurney of Hagersville was the principal speaker on this subject. More than ten motor trucks had been used in Haldimand county last year, he said, for road construction and strongly advocated their use on account of the quick action and dependability. Major Jackson of Brantford dissented somewhat from that view and said that the traction train would be used on road building for some time yet. He believed that the motor trucks with the wide flat wheels were the only satisfactory kind, as they had a tendency to roll down the newly-spread material, and did not cut up the road bed like the narrow tires.

Lack Of Interest At Kapukasing

Witness Said 95 Per Cent. of Men Were Satisfied.

TORONTO, March 3—Major Thomas L. Kennedy, who was in charge of the first batch of 20 men who went to Monteith in 1917 for six weeks' training and subsequently to Kapuskasing testified before the commission at the Parliament Buildings. He said that the instruction at Monteith consisted of harnessing horses, stable work, milking cows, work with cattle, plowing, stumping, burning, building bush fences and gardening. Witness thought this instruction could have been better given at Kapuskasing. When they arrived at the latter place conditions were very bad, flies were troublesome, and it was difficult to get carpenters to erect houses. When autumn came about seventeen houses had been built.

Witness acted as boss in the store, which commenced in primitive manner. Goods were sold at a very small profit." Later on the store was started and things did not go so well. I was told I must not interfere with the store, but was to look after the training of the men.

"What experience had you in training men for the north country?" asked Chairman Nickle. "None at all," was the reply.

Witness added he had an expert woodman under him. Major Kennedy said he left Kapuskasing in March, 1918, on account of ill-health. They started first by paying the men by the day, but soon found it necessary to change this to the group system. It was hard to get men to work for the government, he said. Each man should have been compelled to clear his own lot. Lack of personal interest was noticeable and when "news" arrived from Toronto men preferred to discuss it in preference to working. For that reason they changed to the contract system. When witness left the colony some men had slashed their ten acres, but had not stumped it. Some of the men were "worrying" when he left. On returning in the fall he found things not in such a good condition as he would have liked. Questioned by H. McLeod, G.A.C. treasurer, as to the relationship between himself and the men, he said no man ever answered him back. He got on well with them. "I saw some men honestly trying to make good and some who were not willing to work." Three men he had fired would no doubt complain strongly. On the average 95 per cent. of the men were well satisfied during his stay, said Major Kennedy. He thought the Government would get better value when they changed from the wage system to the contract system.

Kapukasing Settlers Expected A Pulp Mill

HON. G. HOWARD FERGUSON DECLARED PULP MILL NOT PROMISED—COLONY AN AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT—COMMISSION LEAVES FOR KAPUSKASING.

TORONTO, March 3—The Commission investigating the soldiers' settlement at Kapuskasing left last night for the camp. Evidence there will be taken direct from the settlers and the Commission members will personally investigate conditions. Many witnesses will be called, too, upon climatic conditions, the chances of assuring crops in that part, and the effect of clearing large tracts upon the frost attacks during the growing season.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, under whose regime as Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines, the colony was proposed and formed, volunteered evidence yesterday to the commission. The main point in question was a pulp mill which settlers alleged was promised to them. Mr. Ferguson declared that it was not promised, but that it had been hinted as a part of the scheme later. It was expected, he said, that a small industrial community would grow up beside the agricultural settlement. The scheme, however, he told the Commission, was purely agricultural as it was promised to the men.

Ordered Off Farm

P. W. Knight, formerly of the Assessment Department in Toronto, told a tragic story to the Commission, which will be investigated fully at the camp. He said that he was one of the first 26 settlers, and three months after he had selected his farm he was forced off it to make way for the town site. He said he had never complained, but had asked to be allowed Saturday afternoons off to look after his two children, his wife being ill in Toronto. He was told that this was impossible and replied hotly that he would take it off anyway. He got 24 hours' notice to get off his place, get the train and get back to Toronto. He showed the Commission the letter from A. L. St. John Jones, officer in charge of supplies, containing these orders. A bill for $60 was attached to the letter and the money was deduced from his earning. He said he had never complained before, but he thought this request reasonable when his wife was unable to be present to look after the children and the house. His wife later died in Toronto and he had to go into debt to pay for funeral expenses. The witness said that he knew something about bush life before going North.

One settler suggested that the land be sold as part of compensation for the settlers. Chairman Nickle asked if that would be right to sell as farming land when the settlers said they couldn't raise anything there. "Give a Frenchman a coil of wire for a trap a good constitution and a little good luck and he'll get along," responded one of the settlers significantly.

Good Soil and Climate

Mr. Ferguson said that he personally was largely responsible for the site. With the Deputy Minister of Lands and the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, he had chosen this site because of the excellent character of the soil; also it was the most beautiful spot in the north for scenery. The Dominion had an interment farm across the river and it was felt that it might help the men with demonstration work.

Mr. Ferguson spoke of some fine crops he had seen in the North, with wheat at 40 bushels an acre. A settler said that at Kapuskasing they hadn't got their seed back. It was also felt that the undeveloped power on the river would make possible later an industrial centre. The entire scheme, however, was agricultural. Regarding climate, it was true he said, that the season was shorter, but the days were longer. Crops in Northern Ontario would overtake those with a two weeks start in Old Ontario. He spoke of the fine crops of corn at Hearst and at the farm on the Ground Hog River.

He said that some men were taken to Monteith farm. Quarters were erected for 75 men. They were given soldiers' pay. Most of them because anxious to get on their own places. The quarters were destroyed by fire. Some, he thought, perhaps, had not anticipated pioneer difficulties. Others with trades thought they should work at their trades at the expense of their farming operations. The new scheme came into effect when instead of wages, the men were put on a contract system. This was done to put a limit on expenditure.

Many of the men, he said had no agricultural instinct. He said that one peculiar feature was that the complaints were from the same men all the time.

Religious Colony Near Starvation

Little Colony of 500 Persons Starving Near Lisbon Falls, Maine

DURHAM, Maine, March 4.—Deserted by their leaders, who have moved to a land of plenty, 500 members of the "Holy Ghost and Us" religious cult are now reported to be on the verge of starvation in their colony on the bleak, snowbound sand hill of Shiloh, just outside Lisbon Falls.

The "infidelity" of several emaciated children who stole out of the settlement and begged food from farmers and ate it ravenously like animals, led to the discovery of the starving conditions of the colony.

The Rev. Frank M. Sanford, "Elijah" of the "Holy Ghost and Us" and his family, except one married son, have moved to Boston for the remainder of the winter, while Moses Holland one of Sandford's disciples and his family, are reported to be living in something akin to luxury on a farm at Pleasant Point, Maine, overlooking Merry Meeting Bay, near Bath.

CAUSE OF FAMINE

Left in charge of the Holy Ghost and Us camp is John Sanford, son of "Elijah" Sanford, and the son's wife, the daughter of Holland. The young couple are both under 22, but rigidly enforcing one of the rules of the religion "Lay not up for yourselves the treasures of the earth."

This rule is said to have been responsible for the present famine in the camp, as its observance prevented the members from storing a winter's supply of food.

Elders Tupper and Gleason are said to be the only older members of the governing circle who remained in camp and they are subordinate to young Sanford and his wife.

Although the grown-up members of the cult seem to be staunch of their faith, the children have been weakening "infidel" and begged food at the kitchen door of Elisha Beal's farmhouse near the Sand Hill of Shiloh, other half-starved children have been going on daily foraging expeditions.

The other farmers of the neighborhood heard of the case and are doing all they can to lure the little ones out of the camp so that they may feed them.

Big Strike Threatens To Tie Up British Food

Still Hoped that Last-Minute Negotiations Will Be Successful

LONDON, March 4—Great Britain is threatened with a nation-wide strike of highway transport workers, involving from 150,000 to 170,000 men. The movement would seriously affect the distribution of food.

The headquarters of the National Federation of Transport Workers has authorized the local executives to hand in strike notices because of the employers' refusal of the men's demands for an increase in pay of 10 shillings per week.

A conference held at the Ministry of Labor in an effort to compose the difficulty proved abortive, but it is still hoped that at the last minute newly inaugurated negotiations will enable a settlement to be brought about. The railways, the tram car lines, and the bus services would not be affected.

TIPS ENABLE WAITER TO ACQUIRE $100,000 CO.

St. Louis, Mo., March 4—Tips received by Louis Bock, head waiter at Hotel Jefferson, in his service in the hotel's dining-room and in the twenty years spent by him as a waite rin hotels in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Boston have largely enabled him to acquire a $100,000 company of the Washington Hotel, King's Highway and Washington boulevard.

Believes Dealers Entitled to Highest Possible Price for Export

OTTAWA, March 4.—Correspondence with Judge Robson, covering the latter's resignation as chairman of the Board of Commerce was tabled in the House of Commons. Judge Robson states simply that he finds it impossible to remove his home to Ottawa and his presence is required in Winnipeg. The Acting Premier in his acknowledgment accepts Judge Robson's resignation with regret.

On the same day as he resigned, February 23, Judge Robson wrote a long letter to the Acting Premier giving his views on the operation of the Board of Commerce, suggesting that a Federal machine to enquire into costs and profits of commodities and to act in an advisory capacity to provincial boards would be without doubt more useful than the board as constituted at present, the matter of dealing with profiteers being better left the judge thinks to the provincial authorities.

Judge Robson says:

"The economic policy of the country should be towards high prices and against low prices. Numerous governmental agencies, at the expense of the people of Canada, are doing their best to get the highest world prices for Canadian produce. In view of this any machinery to reduce prices of this produce is simply abortive."

The Combines and Fair Prices Act adds Judge Robson, has been administered by the Board to deal only with the necessaries of life and profiteers in other commodities were left to do as they pleased. The effect appeared to be to deter business men from dealing in such necessaries of life, on which, the Judge points out, dealers had a right to get the highest possible price in the export market.

"My short experience," the letter begins "on the Board of Commerce in the administration of the Combines and Fair Prices Act, has led me to the views which make it improper for me to hold a position on that Board. The fact is that I am out of sympathy with the Act and it is my duty to inform you thereof."

Judge Robson continued: "It seems to me further that the act actually contains a provision which removes the last chance the consumer has to do anything for himself in reducing the cost of living. There never was before this act anything to prevent a group of consumers from co-operating in the purchase of necessaries. They took their chance of being able to buy. But a declaration of Parliamentary policy crept into the Act and the manufacturer or wholesaler is not bound to sell to classes who were not accustomed to purchase from such manufacturers and wholesalers. This was designed to head off co-operative movements which were likely to make progress for the benefit of the consumer-members and as I say, restricted a remedy which elsewhere had been of some effect in price control."

Brockville Men Strike It Rich

COBALT, March 4.—Cobalt mining men are evidently lucky in speculation in other lines than mining, according to reports received here.

C. L. Campbell, who is working a couple of properties here, and also one in Gowganda, and who was the former lessee of the old Foster, and who organized the Montreal Oil Company, is reported to have struck it rich. He organized a company in July last and they took over a lease in Eastland and Stephens County, North-West Texas. Recently they brought in a great big gusher on their No. 2 property in the Caddo field. The well had been in about a week, and had been flowing at the rate of about 6000 barrels a day. The company has one other producing well, and is drilling three others. There is room for several others. Most of the stock is held in Canada, and as the company has been carefully and conservatively run it promised to develop into an important producing one.

Mr. Campbell, who lives in Montreal, is the president, J. Gill Gardner, Brockville, vice-president, H. F. McLean, Montreal, treasurer, and the directors include the following Canadians: M. H. Wheelwright, Montreal; Carlos Warfield, Brockville, and J. P. Bickell, Toronto.

The other mining man to strike it rich is R. T. Shillington, former M. P. P. for this riding. He has been advised that a leading Texas company of which he is a director has just brought in a 4,000 barrel well.

Neutrals Plan Nations Court

Salient Points Governing the Composition and Conduct of Tribunal

THE HAGUE, March 4—As a result of conferences held at The Hague Peace Palace by representatives of Holland Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries, the Dutch Government is requested to present to the Secretary of the League of Nations the plan for a High Court of Nations agreed upon after long study by these neutrals.

The salient points of the plan are as follows:

Complete equality of States in the nomination of members of the court.

The court must be free of every political influence, the Judges being independent, in their action, of the influence even of the Governments which appointed them.

Consult Universities

The law faculties of universities to be consulted in the selections for membership.

The nomination of Judges to be for nine years or life; the Judges must live in the city selected as the permanent site of the court.

Salaries and costs to be shared equally by the members of the League.

States not members of the League to be permitted to participate in the courts benefits, appearing as plaintiffs or defendants.

The interests of private persons to be tried only in so far as their State takes over their claims.

The court only to decide cases of an international legal character.

The general procedure to follow the plan approved by the second Peace Conference of 1907.

Plans Co-ordinated

Each party in a suit to pay his own expenses.

It was explained to the correspondent that while the nations participating in this conference are not bound by the plan advanced, they are agreed in all its phases. Each of these nations had drafted an individual plan, and the conference coordained them at Holland's invitation.

Promises Broken Says Settler

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

KAPUSKASING, March 4—Grievances of settlers of Harty section of Kapuskasing district formed the basis of evidence given before the commission appointed by the Drury Government to investigate conditions in the northern colony here this morning. Norris Joyce, who is disabled in one arm, was the first witness. He is a married man with five children and he alleged that the promise made at the Parliament buildings to settlers before coming north had been broken. He alleged that the Government had erected at Harty only a stable and a small shack. Any other buildings had been built by the settlers although he had understood that a school and store were to be provided.

Ontario Provincial Roads Defined By Minister

1,824.7 MILES OF HIGHWAY TO BE TAKEN OVER FOR IMPROVEMENT — BROAD SCHEME OUTLINED — HON. MR. BIGGS HOPES ALL ONTARIO WILL BE PROUD OF HER ROADWAYS.

TORONTO, March 4.—In outlining the road-development policy of the Ontario Government yesterday before the convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association, the Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works, definitely named the 22 roads upon which the Government intends to commence improvement work as soon as conditions will permit in the Spring. He explained that these 22 roads taken in addition to the existing Provincial highway scheme of 422 miles, brings the grand total of mileage up to 1,8247 This huge system of roadway construction plans to touch every county in the Province and while the Hon. Mr. Biggs recognized that it would be impossible to bring the 1,824.7 miles of proposed roadway up to perfection within the five years allotted for their construction, he did hope that at the end of that time they would be so near a state of perfection that all Ontario would be proud of them. At the same time, Hon. Mr. Biggs pointed out that there had been great care exercised in the selection of the roads which are now being brought under the Provincial scheme. In making their selections, they had taken into consideration the amount of traffic now passing over the roads; they had considered the market possibilities of the population centres touched, the automobile and truck traffic which would be served, the agricultural needs of the districts tapped; but they had not considered whether or not the district to be served by an improved highway had sent a U.F.O. representative to Parliament. In other words, politics had been kept entirely out of the question. The Minister added that politics would be kept out as long as he had anything to do with roadway construction or maintenance, and he declared that if the time should ever come when he found he was unable to carry on his roadway policies without politics then he knew of a farm back in Dundas County which would be more attractive to him than his seat in the office of the Minister of Public Works. His attitude on this point appeared to win the decided approval of the delegates to the convention.

THE SELECTED ROADS

The roads named by the Minister which go to make up the 1,824.7 miles mentioned above with their approximate mileage are:

		Miles
1	Windsor to St. Thomas (Talbot Road)	126
2	St. Thomas to London	16
3	Maidstone to Lambeth (Longwoods Road)	105.5
4	St. Thomas to Niagara Falls	141
5	Jarvis to Hamilton	27
6	Hamilton to Chatsworth	103
7	Arthur to Kincardine	64.5
8	Sarnia to Road No. 11	62.7
9	Stratford to Brampton	77
10	Hamilton to Kitchener	32
11	Stratford to London	47.5
12	Stratford to Goderich	42.5
13	Toronto, Hamilton (Dundas St.)	37
14	Cooksville to Owen Sound	102.4
15	Toronto to Bradford	31
16	Bradford to Severn River	55
17	Toronto to Rouge River	11.8
18	Whitby to Lindsay	36.5
19	Port Hope to Peterboro	26.8
20	Kingston to Ottawa	102
21	Ottawa to Point Fortune	69.5
22	Ottawa to Pembroke	89
23	Existing Provincial system	422
	Total	1,824.7

In elaborating upon the method to be employed by the Government in pressing their roadway construction as rapidly as possible the Minister stated the work would start with the centres of population and would reach out into the rural districts, as he felt that by using this method the most people would be served in the quickest possible time. One of the first duties of the highway engineers would be to go over the existing roads and pick out the weak spots, the places which are in the greatest need of standardization, and these strips would be improved as rapidly as conditions would permit. This would tend to bring about uniformity of construction. Each road, he added, as soon as it was taken over by the Provincial Highway Department, would pass out of the control of the country system, and he stated that there are 100 miles upon which construction will commence early in the spring.

Gives Work to All

One problem which he recognized in connection with the highway construction was the shortage of labor. He did not want the farmers to get the impression that the Government were going to pay such a high rate of wage that all the surplus labor would be drawn away from the farms, and that production would accordingly suffer. On the contrary, the policy would be to use surplus labor from the farms, the cities, and all walks of life, and to pick the workers so that there would not be any detriment to increased farm production. All the above roads, he stated, would be taken off the hands of the counties interested in them and would become a part of the great Provincial highway scheme, and he felt that the Federal grant of 40 per cent. would be of great assistance to all concerned. It would apportion the cost in this manner: 40 per cent. to the Dominion, 40 per cent to the Porvince, and 20 per cent to the municipality and by the municipality he hoped the act would mean the County. By this arrangement, both the Province and the County would be relieved of a 20 per cent. on their cost, which, he believed, was putting things on a sound financial basis. At the same time, the Minister hoped the work which the Province will do in this respect will have a strong educational feature, in the way of encouraging the counties and townships to construct more roads under their own particular county and township schemes.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

On Saturday evening, Feb. 18th, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Langabeer of Carmel, gathered at their home to bid them farewell and express their regret at their departure from their neighborhood.

The following address was read and a beautiful upholstered rocker was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Langabeer and nice leather Testament to each of the children:

To Mr. and Mrs. Langabeer & children

We, your friends and neighbors have taken this liberty and privilege of meeting in your home tonight to express to you our feeling of respect and love. We very much regret that you are about to leave us, but it is something of a solace for us to know that you are removing but a little way so that we can retain the pleasing prospect of renewing that fellowship with you which we have all prized so much.

There are a great many things we might say of you but let this suffice that we have ever found you true friends and neighbors, always ready and willing to lend a helping hand in time of need. Your sympathy in the hour of sorrow as well as in times of joy has endeared you to us and the same qualities we feel will make friends for you in your new home or wherever you go. As members and helpers of our church and its work, although being at times, through house work and family cares which God hath given you, you have always made manifest a spirit of unselfishness and devotion in the cause of righteousness.

We extend our deepest sympathy in the loss of your loving father and also your niece, although these trials seem hard to bear we must say, "Not our will, Lord, but Thine."

It would be very ungrateful on our part to allow you to leave this neighborhood without showing our appreciation of all your kindness and goodness. We therefore present you with these gifts and hope that they will find a corner by your fireside and that when you look upon them they will remind you of the friends you are leaving and we assure you that you are carrying with you our best respects and wishes for health and prosperity in the home to which you are going.

Signed on behalf of your Carmel friends,

MR. FANK HOWES.
MR. BLAKE PITMAN.

In his reply to the address Mr. Langabeer thanked the people for their gift and their good wishes toward him and his family. He said he had always found it a pleasure to live among such friends and he gave all a hearty welcome to visit them in their new home. After this reply lunch was served and the people departed to their homes, happy to have spent such an evening together but very sorry to lose such able and willing workers from their community.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"ROMANCE OF TARZAN"

The many Belleville film enthusiasts who have been waiting for months to witness the concluding chapters of "Tarzan of the Apes" on the screen will have their wish gratified on next Monday and Wednesday night at Griffin's when "The Romance of Tarzan" will be the feature offering. This production dramatized from Edgar Rice Burroughe's unusual story, is far and away the most novel and exciting presentment of the adventures of the amazing ape-man that has yet been given to the screen. Beginning with the meeting of Tarzan and Jane Porter, his predestined mate, in the heart of the African jungles, whither the beautiful American girl has accompanied her father in pursuit of his scientfc studies, the drama takes its followers on the most romantic and thrilling journey through the land of make-believe that the heart could desire. The same magnificent jungle scenery that gave a background of unique splendor to "Tarzan of the Apes" when it was screened here is shown in many of the big scenes of 'The Romance of Tarzan' and hundreds of wild apes, leopards, lions and tigers add excitement and novelty to a number of incidents. In "The Romance of Tarzan" the strange adventures that befall Tarzan, primitive nobleman, who follows the beautiful white girl he has rescued from death in the African jungles to her home amid the regal magnificence of civilized society where love leads him into paths more dangerous than those he trod in his nativewilds. Five other comedy and varied plays will also be shown.

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"

Mr. Tyrone Power, who created the famous "Drainman" role in "The Servant in the House" was the first actor selected for this now famous characterization, he was the first and only name suggesting itself for the role upon which the fate of the play practically hinges, for the best comedy tenderest pathos and most impressica daclamation in "The Servant in the House" are to be found in the lines that falls to "The man who looks after the Drains."

Mr. Power has created some of the most impressive roles that have been seen on the American stage for the past twenty years. His terribly impressive Judas Escarlot in Mrs. Fiskes "Mary Magdala" was the sensation of recent years. His Ingomar in Julia Marlowe's revival of that famous classic, His Baron Styen in Mrs. Fiske's "Becky Sharp," and his famous Brutus in "Julius Caesar" are well remembered portraits. One of the first character interpretations that brought Mr. Power prominently before the public was Galiben in the famous Augustin Daly's revival of Shakespeare's "The Tempest."

Mr. Power who has made "The Servant in the House" has supported both Sir Henry Irwing and Sir Beerbohm Tree in London, and has starred in numerous productions in Australia and America, but no roles he has played in either Europe or America has brought him so much fame as his memory hunting portrayal of undouth bitter but lovable workingman, in Charles Rann Kennedy's now famous play, "The Servant in the House," which will be the attraction at Griffins Opera House next Tuesday, March 9th To support Mr. Tyrone Power, traus Canada Theatres Limited has selected a cast of artists of the highest merit and includes such well known names as Mr. Harvey Hay, Mr. Walter Edwin Mr. Irwing White, Mr. Harold De Becker, Miss Alma Chester, Miss Chela Knight and others.

HAPPINESS A LA MODE

Romance, romance-theme of the poet's song, dream of young lives, sweetest memory of old age-romance, that sings in the green wood and is wafted upon the airs of spring-romance, in short, that is one of the most delectable things in life, is the motive of Constance Talmadge's new Select picture, 'Happiness a La Mode' which is to be shown at the Palace, next Monday to Wednesday, matinee daily. Constance has been called the girl of a thousand expressions because she possesses the ability to alter her expression and manner with such remarkable ease and adeptness. She is probably the most vivacious actress of the screen, with that effervescent, bubbling youth that is irresistible and irrepressible. In her various pictures shown on Belleville silver sheets she has displayed an originality of style, a charm that is as indefinable as it is apparent. There is no doubt but that in 'Happiness a La Mode' she has achieved a masterpiece of characteristic and realistic acting. The picture is a comedy of the highest type and is perfectly suited to the beautiful young star. Harrison Ford is again Miss Talmadge's leading in this picture.

Stocks Up On Corby's Whiskey

LINDSAY, March 4.—On Monday License Inspector Thornbury "smelt a rat" and on visiting one of the local stations he discovered 50 cases of the real "stuff"—whiskey. The Inspector immediately concluded that it was not being brought in by one person for his own personal consumption and that it would take one man a long time to consume the liquid, so he confiscated the "wet goods."

Law proceedings followed, the Inspector coming out on top with a declaration from a young farmer, taken before Crown Attorney Stinson, which declaration will be found below.

When asked how long he thought the liquor would last him, the young fellow replied that it would "probably" last 25 years, but he wished to have some liquor on hand for himself and also in case some of his stock took sick.

THE DECLARATION

Inspector Thornbury had the young farmer take the following declaration:

"That I purchased 50 cases of liquor from the Corby Distillery and paid $19.00 per case for the same, amounting in all to $950.00.

"That the said liquor is to be used by me for my own private use and not to be shared up, or given, or sold, or kept for sale, or kept in contravention of the Ontario Temperance Act, but simply for my own use and benefit and in my own private dwelling house.

"I put up the money for the said liquor myself and no other person put up any portion of the purchase price, and no other person has agreed to put up any portion of the purchase price, or to purchase any of it from me, but the same was paid for by me, out of my own funds, and no other person, or persons put up any portion of the purchase price of the same, or shall herewith put up any portion of the purchase price of the same.

"I do solemnly declare that the said liquor is not intended for sale or to be kept otherwise in contravention of the Ontario Temperance Act, but is to be kept for lawful purposes by me as allowed under the said Act."

SIX PERSONS MET DEATH IN FIRE

Quebec, March 4.—The little village of St. Ferеol, in the County of Montmorency, fifteen miles below Quebec was the scene of a tragedy.

The house of Gaudios Dupont, a farmer, was destroyed by fire and four of his children were burned to death, together with Mrs. Dupont's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Tremblay.

Mr. Dupont was out in the woods with his two eldest sons when the fire broke out, Mrs. Dupont was in the house with her six children and Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay.

It was after twelve o'clock when the fire was discovered by Mrs. Dupont who ran to the bed of her youngest children, took them in her arms and escaped by a window.

The four others, Diana, 17 years; Lorenzo, 11 years, Rene, 9 years; Isidore, 8 years; and Mr. and Mrs. Tremblay were burnt to death.

The house was completely destroyed.

Another fire destroyed the house of Louis Caron in the same village during the afternoon.

WIDOW OF FORMER PREMIER DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Toronto, March 4.—The death is reported from Santa Barbara, California, of Lady Ross, widow of the late Sir George Ross, former Premier of Ontario. Her death is attributed to heart failure.

Lady Ross was a daughter of the late John R. Peel, of London, Ontario, whose family is related to Sir Robert Peel. She was married to Sir George Ross in 1907. Surviving her are two brothers and two sisters, Dr. Alfred Peel, St. Helen, Oregon; Mr. Fred Peel, Edmonton, Alberta; Mrs. R. B. Belden, 109 Collier Street, Toronto and Miss Daisy Peel, Santa Barbara, California. The late Paul Peel, R.C.A., was a brother.

WOMEN WHO NEED STRENGTH

Should Take Advantage of Their Druggist's Guarantee

That Vinol Will Enrich the Blood, Create Strength, Restore Vitality and the Bloom of Health, or Will Return Your Money

Why will women continue to drag around sickly, ailing, tired all the time, nervous, and no energy or ambition to do anything, when we guarantee our non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, VINOL, to make rich, red blood, quicken the circulation and restore strength, vitality and energy to every organ and muscle of the body and impart the bloom of health to the countenance.

If women would just stop and consider that their weakened, sickly, ailing condition is almost always caused by poor, thin, watery blood and sluggish circulation, and how quickly VINOL enriches the blood, increases red corpuscles and restores old time vim, energy and vitality, we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand.

Druggists know what VINOL contains, and that it is a combination of the most successful tonics known to medicine, Iron, Cod Liver and Beef Peptones and Glycerophosphates. That is why they are so willing to guarantee it to help you or return your money.

GOVERNMENT REPORT ON FARM CONDITIONS

The following is a summary of the reports made by Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture, issued March 2, 1920.

Wells have gone dry, or are very low in content, on many farms all over the Province, and owners of live stock have to draw water a considerable distance in some cases. The Victoria representative attributes the lack of water to the absence of the usual winter thaws.

Considering the wintry conditions which have been prevailing, stock has been about normal, although many of the cattle are going to the yards somewhat thin, as grain is being rather sparingly fed, owing to the shortness of the supply, and the usual number of cattle appear to be on hand.

Good dairy cows are reported to be selling in Welland from $125 to $175 while Peel places sales at "from $150 up." Prince Edward says "At a sale last week a herd of dairy cattle averaged $130. At another sale two days later, a herd of grade cows, somewhat undersized, sold at from $170 to $180 each. Two grade brood sows sold for $85 and $100.

Hogs are not so plentiful as formerly and only two representatives report prices, which ranged from $17 to $17.50 per cwt.

Regarding the sale of horses, Peel states that good chunks are going at from $125 to $150 and that there are slow sales of draught foals at about $50.

Corn is selling on the local market in Essex at $1.30 a bushel.

A $20 bushel lot of sweet clover seed sold last week in Peel at $22 a bushel.

Fall wheat and clover are still under cover, and have been practically so since the first big snow fall early in the season.

Hay is still sufficient for local needs in most cases, although a number of farmers will have to buy. It is reported as selling at from $22 to $32 a ton.

The Victoria representative says: "Ensilage is helping out the other fodders nicely, but will likely all be cleaned up by grass time."

Dufferin reports that recent contracts for farm labor have been closed at higher rates than formerly. The representative adds that a large number of farms in that county have changed hands recently. Essex also reports a number of rural real estate deals during the winter.

BUZZING GHOSTS LEFT BIG HONEY SUPPLY

Granville, Ills., March 4—Bees played spook to George F. Treudt here recently, but George didn't mind—when it was found that they had produced several hundred pounds of honey during their spooky evening siestas.

For more than a year Treudt and his family had been annoyed by a peculiar buzzing sound coming apparently from the roof of his house. For a time he blamed the noises on electric wires but neighbors held to the belief that the house was haunted.

Finally when Treudt made a search in the garret he found the house had many, many more inhabitants than he imagined.

HOCKEY.

A TIE GAME

Last night at the arena, a very fast and exciting game of hockey took place between teams representing the Red Wings and the Midgets. The game resulted in a tie, being 3-3. Both teams were fast, the men playing their positions well.

The Red Wings opened the scoring by tallying the first goal in the last of the first period. The Midgets not to be out-done scored two in succession in the opening of the second period. The Red Wings came back stronger than ever with the idea they just had to win. Wardraugh succeeded in tying the score. For the rest of the period the teams played fast hockey, each tallying a goal. This ended the scoring, both sides securing 3 goals.

The umpire was fair in his decisions but overlooked a lot of slashing.

The forwards of both teams played good hockey and the defence were like stone walls, especially the Red Wings.

The line up of the teams was as follows:

Red Wings—Goal, S. Carrie; l. defence, A. Wardraugh; r. defence, J. Hibbard; centre, R. Clarke: l. wing, G. Ashley; r. wing, W. Dennis; subs B. Jose and A. Weir.

Midgets—Goal, R. Arnott; l. defence P. Arnott; r. defence, R. Arnott; centre, J. Arnott; l. wing, A. Mullien r. wing, J. Scott, subs, B. Quin and B. Heffrenan.

SUDBURY SENIORS

Toronto, March 4—Sudbury, champions of the Northern Ontario League senior series will make their first appearance of the season here next Thursday when they meet the O.H.A. intermediate titleholders, either Kingston or Collingwood, in a sudden-death game to decide who will compete against the O.H.A. senior winners for the Allan Cup. The Northerners are reputed to be a high class team and have hopes and a splendid chance of winning the coveted trophy.

Until Kitchener and Granites decide the title in Group 2 it is impossible to arrange dates for the O.H.A. final games. In case Granites win, the fixture will be played on Tuesday and Friday of next week; but if Kitchener come home in front, the last game is not likely to be played until a week from Monday, that is, providing Kitchener play their home game in Toronto.

If the O.H.A. can arrange satisfactory terms with the rink management, Kitchener will play their home game on their own ice, and, in such case, it would be possible to decide the championship next week.

University of Toronto have designs on the Allan Cup and should they win the Allan Cup they will meet the Quebec champion—either Munitions of Ottawa) or Sons of Ireland, Quebec—here in a sudden-death elimination game next week.

THE RING.

WILDE WINS

Philadelphia, March 3 — Jimmy Wilde, British flyweight champion, out fought and outpointed Patsy Wallace of Philadelphia in a fast six-round bout here tonight. Wallace fought a hard battle against the champion and almost scored a knock-down in the last round.

The first and sixth rounds were even while the British boxer easily led in the intervening four rounds. Wilde felt out the Philadelphia boxer, who has aspirations on wearing the flyweight crown, but in the second session the British titleholder opened his attack with a mixture of snappy left hooks and jabs and straight lefts.

In the next three rounds Wilde demonstrated that he was the better boxer. Wallace appeared to have more strength in his punches but did not land as frequently as his opponent.

The sixth round found both boys eager to mix it up. The Philadelphia boy made a wonderful rally. In the middle of the round he crossed a right hook on Wilde's left cheek. Wilde fell forward and came down on his finger tips, but was up instantly. The big crowd cheered and frantically yelled for the Philadelphian to land a knockout but the British champion came back with a fusilade of rights and lefts and managed to win an even break on the round. Wallace weighed 111. Wilde's weight was not announced.

STARTING BEEKEEPING

Suggested Outfit for the Apiary Novice.

Start With the Right Hive — The 10-Frame Langstroth Is Regarded as the Best—How to Prevent Swarming — Care of Freshening Cow.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

EXTRACTED honey production is the most satisfactory for beginners. Start with three colonies and sufficient up-to-date equipment and then make the bees pay their way. One colony does not give the beginner an opportunity to right mistakes or accidents profitably. Three colonies can be managed by devoting one evening weekly to the apiary.

Avoid many troublesome pitfalls by starting with the right hive. The 10-frame Langstroth hive has given the best satisfaction in Ontario. All beekeepers' supply houses carry this hive and its parts in their regular stock. Buy your first hives from a good manufacturer. It is very necessary to have all hive parts interchangeable so that they may be used in any colony in the apiary. Uniformity and accurate workmanship alone can ensure this need.

One complete 10 fr. Langstroth hive consists of:

1. A bottomboard.
2. A hive-body with self spacing frames and wire.
3. A telescoping metal roof cover.

In addition the beginner should provide for each colony one queen excluder; two extra hive-bodies complete with frames; and 7 lbs. of Medium Brood Foundation which runs six sheets to the pound, to fill the frames with a guide and foundation for the future combs. All hive material should be nailed, wired and painted before the opening of the spring rush.

It is advisable to commence with a 2-lb. package of bees and queen; a swarm or a nucleus. Less danger from disease attends the buying of pound packages than the buying of swarms and nuclei. Pound packages may be secured for delivery from May 1st to June 30th. Early packages will yield a surplus if carefully handled. Enquire of the Provincial Apiarist re disease in your locality before buying swarms, nuclei or colonies. A small colony of bees is much less vindictive than a full colony and thus offers a better opportunity for the beginner to grow with his bees.

The accessory equipment for the beginner should consist of:

1. A veil of black cotton tulle.
2. A standard bee smoker.
3. A hive tool.
4. A spur wheel wire embedder.
5. An uncapping knife.
6. An uncapping box.
7. A complete set of Department literature, Bulletins 213, 233 and 256, and a good reference bee book.
8. A small honey extractor.

With the exception of Nos. 6 and 8 it is advisable to acquire the material needed from a supply firm at once. The uncapping box can be made at home, and the beginner could probably co-operate with another beekeeper in securing the use of an extractor. With the increase of colonies to ten, it would then be advisable to provide a storage can to assist in handling the crop.—W. A. Weir, O. A. College, Guelph.

To Prevent Swarming of Bees...

June is the swarming month and time of supering for the main honey flow which begins between the 10th and the 20th of the month, depending on the season and the latitude. Be sure to give supers enough to avoid any crowding which may cause the bees to become discouraged, quit work and swarm excessively. It should be the beekeeper's aim to prevent swarming as much as possible. This is done by keeping young queens, giving plenty of room and a systematic examination of brood-chambers to detect colonies which are preparing to swarm. When queen cells are found far advanced they should all be destroyed and the queen herself removed. After the colony has been queenless one week the combs should again be examined and all cells except one removed. This one will provide them with a queen and if only one is left they will not swarm again. Where an improvement of stock is desired the new queen may be given instead of leaving one queen cell.

Natural swarms should be hived on the old stand after removing the parent colony to one side. The swarms should be given the supers from the old colony. New swarms work with great vigor because they have no brood to care for during the first week. Colonies held together without swarming gather more honey than those which swarm. It is the beekeeper's patriotic duty to reduce the cost of honey production and thus increase the quantity he is called to produce as greatly as possible. They also cause the beekeeper less trouble at unexpected times. This may be done more by swarm prevention than in any other way. Bulletin 233 takes this matter up thoroughly and should be carefully studied by all beekeepers. By mastering the methods described it is quite possible to manage as many apiaries as there are days in the week, barring Sundays and rainy days.—W. A. Weir, O. A. College, Guelph.

Care of the Freshening Cow.

This is the month when a large number of cows freshen. Both fresh cows and newly-born calves should receive special attention. Cows expected to freshen should be placed in a box stall for a few days before and after freshening. Many valuable cows and calves are lost by neglecting to provide box stall accommodation. This should be found in every dairy stable; or else have a special barn for the purpose.

DR. DANIEL STRACHAN DEAD

Toronto, March 3—The death occurred quite suddenly early this morning of Dr. Daniel Strachan at his home, 18 Meredith crescent. Dr. Strachan had only returned from Atlantic City last Sunday, where he had gone for a rest. He was formerly pastor of the Rosedale Presbyterian Church, which appointment he held from 1909 until March 1917, when he resigned. In August 1918, he joined the Imperial Oil Co., where he was in charge of social work in connection with that organiaztion. He had a distinguished career. His territory embraced the whole of Canada wherever the Imperial Oil was located from Newfoundland to Prince Rupert.

Dr. Strachan was born in the manse at Glencoe ,Ont., the son of the first Presbyterian minister in that place. He married Miss Thompson, daughter of Rev. John Thompson, D.D. of St. Andrew's Church, Sarnia. She was a grand-daughter of the late Alex. Mackenzie. Dr. Strachan's first teacher was Alexander Hill, brother of Mr. J. J. Hill, the Western railroad man. After graduating from Queen's University he assisted Rev. Dr. Thompson at Sarnia for two years, after which he spent a year working among the cotton mill operatives in Augusta, Ga. Upon his return to Canada he settled in Hespler, where he remained for the next four years, and then accepted a call to St. John's Church, Brockville. He was there for 12 years when he came to Rosedale Church in Toronto.

He always retained active association with many societies and was prominent in educational circles. He was a member of the Rosedale Golf Club, the Granite Curling Club, chaplain of St. Andrew's Society, Toronto, chaplain of the Alexander Fraser Camp, Sons of Scotland. He was on the board of management of Knox College, trustee of Queen's Theological College board, a member of the council of Queen's University, and president of Queen's Alumni Association, Toronto.

Besides his wife a son, Ian, survives. He only recently returned from overseas and is now attending Toronto University. Dr. Strachan was 54 years of age.

NEW APPOINTMENTS OF G.T.R. OFFICIALS

Montreal, March 4.—Vice-President W. D. Robb announces the appointment of Mr. R. HH. Fish as General Superintendent Eastern Lines Grand Trunk Railway System vice Mr. W. R. Davidson transferred to Western Lines. Mr. Fish will have headquarters at Montreal.

The Eastern Lines of the Grand Trunk extend from Quebec and Portland, Me., to Toronto and include also the lines through Ottawa to the Georgian Bay.

Mr. Fish has been Superintendent of the Stratford Division on the Ontario Lines of the Grand Trunk since 1916. He received his early training in the Motive Power Department of the road and later joined the Transportation Department occupying position of trainmaster previous to his promotion to Superintendent.

Mr. Davidson, who is transferred to the Grand Trunk Lines West of the Detroit and St. Clare Rivers, just released from Federal control, has been General Superintendent of the Eastern Lines of the System since 1918. He was promoted from the position of Trainmaster in 1911 to that of Superintendent at London and was later Superintendent of the Detroit Division. From September 1917 to May 1918 Mr. Davidson was General Superintendent of Western lines to which position he now returns.

DEVELOP CANADA'S RESOURCES.

The Canadian dollar is worth 100 cents in Canada. It is worth only 84 cents in the United States. With Canadian money at a discount of from 10 to 15 per cent., exchange with the United States is costing Canadian consumers between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000 a year.

"We are buying $740,000,000 of goods a year from the United States," said Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior, addressing Winnipeg business men recently. "Of that $740,000,000, $71,000,000 is cotton, which we have to buy from there; $154,000,000 is iron and steel, and we surely have enough iron and steel in this country to supply all the needs of Canada; $46,000,000 is for wool, and I know of no reason why we cannot grow enough to supply our own demands; $51,000,000 is for coal, and we have as much coal as the heart of man can desire in this western country, and there should be some way found whereby the largest production of coal used in this country comes from the mines of our own country; $18,000,000 is for hides; $15,000,000 is for chemicals; and $19,000,000 for breadstuffs. There is not the slightest reason in the world why the chemicals we need should not be obtained in our country; this is the greatest country in the world for the production of chemicals.

"In all these lines, making up more than half of our imports from the United States, it only requires the essentials of a sound policy and courageous effort on the part of our country to reduce the purchases in the United States to only a percentage of what they are today, and to increase our sales."

BILIOUS YELLOW ASSAULTS ON BRITAIN.

In spite of the bilious yellow assaults on Great Britain of the Hearst newspapers and the equally bilious attacks on the United States of such men as Horatio Bottomley, who not long ago tried to spill his bile on Canada, the fact remains that relations between the British Empire and the United States have never been more cordial, except perhaps during the period of the war when British and American soldiers were fighting side by side in France, says the Nelson News. Responsible organs of public opinion on both sides of the Atlantic recognize this and are not misled by Hearst and his kind. The London Times, for example, thus expresses its views:

> The United States are on the edge of a most important presidential campaign. We sincerely believe that the best men on both sides are very anxious to keep these suspicions out of it as far as possible. But there are "hyphenated" Americans and others who will assuredly do their utmost to foster them. The temptation to the lower sort of professional politicians to use them as campaign ammunition with these classes will be strong. We have faith enough in the sense and coolness of the great mass of American citizens to feel confident that no efforts of the wirepullers will make lasting mischief between the two nations. But the certainty that our supposed iniquities will be exploited throughout the approaching electoral struggle, unless the Treaty and the League are first cleared out of the way, must deepen our desire to have this controversy settled upon any tolerable terms. We ourselves have more than once recorded our belief that Great Britain and the Empire could accept almost all the Senate reservations without much difficulty, and that the others could be adjusted by a conciliatory arrangement. In particular, we have suggested that while the Dominions and India cannot possibly be deprived of the votes in the League which they earned upon the battlefield, we see no sort of reason why the United States should not have six votes too, if she so desires. Levelling down is out of the question, but could not the same end be attained by levelling up?

An equally sane attitude is taken by the Kansas City Star, whose opinion, as expressed below, is typical of American newspapers generally:

> America and England are getting along about as well as two friendly competitive countries could be expected to. They are engaged in the same line, and each probably is looking out for its own interests, as is quite proper and necessary. But there is no real conflict of interests. As to what America did or omitted doing to help England and the allies in the war, we guess the record will speak for itself. We'll just let it stand. Mr. Bottomley probably won't be able to change it. As for these little breaks, they don't touch us. We forgive him and bless him. We have Congressmen, too, who lambast England and declare Ireland free and demand that four billion dollars England borrowed from us. They do it quite regularly, but we suppose the British Government gets the American Government's wink when it happens and winks back, just as they do when Bottomley writes an editorial for John Bull.

Hearst never yet dominated the United States or spoke for any but a small minority of Americans, and Bottomley and his John Bull are no more representative of British opinion.

Outside of Hartley Dewart, the Conservative and Liberal parties have refrained from any attempt to embarrass the Drury Government, which is being given every chance to make good. The Liberal party even turned Parliament over to the U. F. O.

W. J. Noble, president of the British chamber of shipping, declares that government control has been a huge failure—that it was paralyzing, extravagant and wasteful. Private enterprise, rather than public control, produces the best results in most cases.

Another slogan has been added to those of "Made in Canada" and "Buy-in-Canada," and it is "Holiday-in-Canada." The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is preparing to launch a Dominion-wide campaign to induce Canadians to spend their vacations and do their motoring tours within the Dominion this year.

By permission of the Board of Health we will be able to attend church again on Sunday. Strange that this announcement does not occasion nearly the enthusiasm that one to open the movies on Saturday night would. However the members of the Board of Health no doubt considered it wise to open the movies after church.

There is one generous impulse in the hearts of most husbands and fathers that impels them sometimes to strive and work night and day, and that is to make provision for their wives and families after their own death. The Ontario Government should not forget that when it cuts deeper into the succession duties.—Hamilton Times.

The new progressive spirit in Belleville is making even Kingston sit up and take notice. Says the Whig: "Belleville is preparing a bill to present to the legislature empowering the city to issue bonds for carrying out an extensive housing scheme. And we used to call Belleville slow!

A clergyman writes The Star to thank us for our editorial articles on the Board of Commerce. He writes as one of the "unorganized public," who finds himself being gradually crushed by the steadily increasing cost of living. "I have nearly always voted Conservative and Union and campaigned for the latter," he writes, "but if the Government does not heartily support the board I shall vote and use such influence as I possess against them, as for people like me things could hardly be much worse, and might be better.—Toronto Star.

While organized farmers in Canada are demanding free trade with Great Britain within five years and reciprocity with the United States, farmers of Australia, far from demanding radical tariff reductions, are pledged to "the full encouragement of all industries which the war has shown to be essential to national existence." On the tariff generally the policy of the Australian farmer is: "No increase in the tariff until each request is examined and reported on by the Inter-State Commission or some other duly constituted board or commission appointed by Parliament for that purpose, and especially taking into consideration the probable effect of increases in the tariff rates on primary production."

The father who lets business, politics or any other influence so absorb his time that he cannot be a chum to his own boy and enter into his boy's life and let the natural confidence and trust of the boy in his father serve to develop the son's character, is making the greatest mistake a parent can make. He has no right to leave such things to strangers, no matter how devoted they may be nor how splendid may be the organizations through which they work.

Imagination in Teaching.

Portland Oregonian.

By whatever method the imagination of the pupil is stimulated, desire for knowledge will be increased, and when this has been done the process of acquiring necessary information becomes secondary. The problem is a highly practical one, not to be solved by railing at teachers because they need to eat while they are teaching, but perhaps approachable through the indirect method of making the reward attractive enough so that they will be able to let their imaginations soar, unhampered by the bread and butter considerations that are so effective in keeping their feet constantly on the ground.

Viscount Haldane's Advice.

New Commonwealth, London.

Viscount Haldane's personal courage and political sagacity are strongly marked in a passage in which he says: "I have seen something of the Germans, and what I have learned of them and of their history has led me to the conclusion that, certain traditions of theirs notwithstanding, they resemble us more than they differ from us. If this be so, the sooner we take advantage of our present victory by seeking to turn our eyes from the past as far as can be, and to look steadily towards a future in which the misery and sin that past saw shall be dwelt upon to the least extent that is practicable, the better it will be for ourselves as well as for the rest of the world."

THE HUNTING.

When red sun fox steals down the sky,
And darkness dims the heavens high,
There leap again upon his tracks
The eager, starry, hunting packs.
They glitter, glitter, gold and green,
With sparks of frosty fire between,
And Dian bright as day;
While in the gloaming, far below,
Brown owl doth shout "Hi! Tally Ho!
Sun fox hath gone away!"

To music of the spheres they sweep
Over the western world asleep;
Then in the east, with sudden rush,
Sun fox shall whisk his white-tipped brush.
The field is fading, gold and green,
With sparks of frosty fire between,
And Dian growing grey;
While morning leaps the hither hill
And herald lark shouts with a will,
"Sun fox hath gone away!"

Oh, Huntress, fond and silly stars—
White Venus, fiery, futile Mars,
In vain your pack ye whirl and cast
Upon the marches of the vast;
In vain ye glitter, gold and green,
With sparks of frosty fire between,
And Dian's arrows fly
In flickering shafts of moony light;
For ne'er shall day be caught by night,
And sun fox cannot die.

Airman Got a "Sub."

One minute passed, two minutes, four minutes. We had roared over six miles of sea, and still I could see the little fountain ahead.

Then I saw the submarine. She was a mile away—a big grey Fritz of the U-class, long flush deck rising toward the bows, conning tower between bow and stern, two guns, one before and one aft of the conning-tower, and a straight stem. She was shoving through the water at top-speed, about thirteen knots, and above her bow was the little fountain.

It was caused by a thread of water running up her straight stem and leaping into the air about five feet. It glittered in the sun.

Two men were on the conning-tower, but they did not see or hear us coming. We were attacking up wind and down sun. We read part of her number, U4?, but the second numeral was blurred.

Forty seconds after seeing the U-boat Dickey pulled the release lever and dropped one bomb. He threw up his arm. I banked over and looked down. The bomb had detonated on the starboard side half way between the conning-tower and the stern.

The submarine heeled slowly over to port. She stopped in her own length and began to sink.

Cuckney close behind me passed over. I saw a bomb burst on the starboard side right in front of the conning-tower. Her decks were now awash. An explosion occurred in her bow and several smaller explosions between the stem and the conning-tower.

By this time I was again in position and Dickey dropped a second bomb. The bomb detonated about thirty feet away from her. Only the very top of her conning-tower was showing. And then she vanished.

The little fountain had been fatal. —From Squadron Commander T. D. Hallam's new book, "The Spider Web," an account of his own share in fighting submarines in the North Sea.

Fur Shortage Rumored.

Short catches are being reported this year throughout the fur country of Northern Canada. A. Bassett, chief inspector of the Hudson Bay Co. Fur Trade Dept., said the other day that the catches received so far are the advance guard, sent out from the interior by natives in need of an immediate "grub stake." So far as he could judge, there will not be the absolute shortage of muskrat, which had been rumored, but rat undoubtedly would be scarce, as it had been for three years. Lynx, while scarce, might be expected to show a slight improvement over 1918, when it reached the lowest ebb since 1910.

A National Highway.

The Rotary clubs of Northern Ontario have joined forces with the Canadian Automobile Association in urging the construction of the important link of the trans-Canada Victory Highway lying between the great lakes and Winnipeg.

Recently eighty delegates representing the district extending from Fort William to Winnipeg met in conference at Dryden and formed the Canada Colonization and Highway Association. It was pointed out that the only difficult new construction necessary to the completion of the Fort William-Winnipeg highway will be encountered in the rocky, broken country between Scovell and Vermilion. It is said that the proposed trunk road will open up some fifty thousand acres of rich arable country and induce settlement and development. Lateral roads would rapidly be constructed. While the trunk road, it is estimated, would cost approximately five million dollars, it would do for this great country what the Assouan dam has done for the Nile basin — make it not only habitable, but richly tributary to the nation. With the completion of this road, but one considerable gap will remain to be closed in the trans-Canada Victory Highway — that on the north shore of Lake Superior, Port Arthur and Fort William, and the "Soo," the western terminus of the Great Northern Highway.

Money for Imperials.

Some 50,000 residents of Canada who served in the Imperial forces during the war will be entitled to share in the appropriation voted by the Canadian Parliament to supplement the gratuities they receive from the British Government and bring them up to the Canadian scale. Some of the Imperial veterans are enquiring when they may expect a distribution of the fund. The Government is now engaged in the preparation of an order-in-Council setting forth the manner in which the gratuities will be distributed. Furthermore, the Government will need as a guide in the distribution of the money a concise record of each soldier's service. This, it is stated, is not available in Canada. An Imperial soldier with three years' service, it is understood, receives from the British Government about $160 as a gratuity. He would be entitled to about $400 additional from the sum appropriated by the Canadian Parliament at its last session.

Progress Along G.T.P. In The West

Remarkable Development in Territory Served by Railway's Lines—Rich Areas Tapped—Vice-President W. P. Hinton tells of New Districts Opened Up in British Columbia

Montreal, Mar 3—"The development that is taking place in the territory served by the Grand Trunk Pacific is most gratifying,'" said Mr W. P. Hinton, vice-president and general manager of that railway, when interviewed here.

"Perhaps the most notable progress," continued Mr. Hinton, "is being made in British Columbia. In agriculture, mining and lumbering the new territories opened up there by the line promise to make very striking records. The Government of that province is now about to throw open five new land settlement areas adjacent to the Grand Trunk Pacific. Each of these areas will be of approximately fifty thousand acres and they are situated in the Nechako and Bulkley Valleys. As soon as the settlers go in an active policy is carried out for the creation of school, roads, etc. It would be reasonable to estimate that these districts in Central British Columbia will receive twenty thousand new settlers durng the present year. The bulk of these settlers will come from the United States with a proportion from Southern Alberta. The farmers of the United States are appreciating more fully each year the exceptional opportunities offered in the opening up of these land settlement areas where land is available at a low valuation, and they are given twenty years to pay for their holdings. The British Columbia Government is also assisting the settlers by taking in stock. It sold on easy terms over thirty-eight hundred head of cattle to new settlers along the Grand Trunk Pacific last year.

Rich Mineral Resources

The mineral riches of British Columbia are attracting the attention of capitalists and engineers. Questioned regarding this development, Mr. Hinton said: "Those who are best fitted to judge believe that Canada will have in central and northern British Columbia the biggest mining field in the world in so far as certain minerals are concerned. This is certainly true of copper, and this ore has appreciable values in silver and gold. The field is only now being fully prospected as activities of this character were held up by the war which began immediately before the opening of the Grand Trunk Pacific line. The mining engineers' reports are invariably good. In addition to copper, great bituminous coal deposits have been found on the Telkwa, Bowron and Zymotez rivers and these will yield a fuel with excellent cooking properties."

With regard to lumbering Mr. Hinton stated that there are in operation along the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in British Columbia fifty-one sawmills, some of these mills having a capacity ranging up to 125,000 feet of finished lumber per day.

At Prince Rupert there is great activity, the housing accommodation being taxed to the limit. With two eight thousand ton steel steamships approaching completion and more orders pending, the ship-building and ship-repairing industry appears to have been firmly established on a permanent basis.

Greater Dock Facilities

The Grand Trunk Pacific is carrying out large improvements in its dockage facilities at Prince Rupert, building a new dock one thousand feet long with shed capacity of twelve thousand tons. Extensions have been made to the cold-storage plant for the handling of fish, and this plant, the largest of its kind in the world, now has a capacity of 14,000,000 pounds of fish. Apart from the wealth of sea fish handled at the port, Prince Rupert is taking an increasingly important place in the salmon canning industry. The salmon pack from the Skeena is now the largest from any Canadian river.

Along the north Pacific Coast, served by the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamships, traffic is developing in a most satisfactory way. A car ferry service has been initiated by the railway between Prince Rupert and Swanson Bay, where the Whalen pulp and paper enterprise is situated, the distance separating the two points being one hundred miles. This car ferry makes a round trip each day, carrying nine cars of newsprint, pulp, etc. The newsprint is carried over the Grand Trunk Pacific to eastern points, including New York and one of the New York daily papers has for some time been receiving its supply of paper from this source.

"General business conditions in western Canada are excellent, concluded Mr. Hinton. "There is every indication of a good crop in view of the heavy blanket of snow covering the land."

War Shipping Organization Demobilizes

One of the Transports used by the British Ministry of Shipping (Canada). Sir Arthur Harris, inset.

The British Ministry of Shipping (Canada) which during its five and one half years of existence practically controlled the export trade of Canada, inland and overseas, clearing over 3,000 transports and liners from Canadian Ports and Portland, will, according to an announcement by Sir Arthur Harris, its Director General, be demobilized on March 31st, next.

All correspondence relating to the affairs of the Ministry in Canada after that date is to be addressed to Mr. E. M. Raeburn, Director General, British Ministry of Shipping, No. 165 Broadway, New York.

The activities of the Ministry in Canada, including the Overseas Department which it succeeded, date from August 1914, at which time the Dominion Government, appreciating the importance of securing the service of an expert Overseas Officer, conferred with the heads of the large Canadian Transportation Companies with the result that the then President of the Canadian Pacific placed at the service of the Government Mr., now "Sir" Arthur Harris, who acted as Director Overseas Transport up to the 5th September 1918, at which date the Department was absorbed into the British Ministry of Shipping, Sir Arthur Harris continuing in charge as Director General in Canada.

During the period 1914-18 the Director General practically controlled the export trade of Canada, inland and overseas, and that the work was well and impartially performed was evidenced from the fact that the Railway and Steamship Interests were satisfied, and the general business of the Country continued with a minimum of disturbance.

The development of the Department may be realized by the number of vessels cleared from Canadian Ports and Portland between the 25th August 1914 and 31st December 1919, viz:—

1914	1915	1916	1917	1918	1919
Transports.	Transports.	Transports.	Transports. and Liners.	Transports. and Liners.	Transports. and Liners.
40.	132.	362.	737.	875.	975.

During the above mentioned period in excess of sixteen million gross tons of munitions, war material, and supplies, were moved inland and overseas.

The Director General was supported by an efficient staff drawn from the service of the Canadian Pacific. They did good work for Canada and the Empire, and the fact that it was done quietly, almost to the point of self-effacement, is recognized and appreciated.

The General Public little knew the onerous obligations devolving on the successful administration of an undertaking of such magnitude.

When the history of Canada's participation in the Great War is chronicled not the least of its achievements will have been the successful administration of its transport service.

The report of the Select Committee (Imperial Government) on national expenditure issued as a White Paper in London on the 5th January last pays a deserving tribute to the effective and economical administration of the affairs of the Ministry of Shipping not only in the United Kingdom but in various Outports of the World to which the operations of the Shipping Control was extended.

DON'T SPOIL YOUR HAIR BY WASHING IT.

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

IMPERATOR BREAKS WIRELESS RECORD

New York, March 4—The Cunard liner, Imperator, which arrived here from Liverpool, broke records for wireless communication by keeping in touch with a single land station during an entire trans-Atlantic voyage. The point was Aberdeen, Scotland.

SIMPLE HOME TREATMENT TO REMOVE HAIRY GROWTHS

(Beauty Culture)

Two or three minutes use of a delatone paste will banish every bit of hair from your face, neck or arms. This paste is made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. After the paste is removed, the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone and it will be clear and spotless. You will not be disappointed with this treatment if you are sure to obtain real delatone from your druggist.

Huns Under the Canadians

THE entry of the Canadian troops into Germany over a year ago was a new experience in Canadian warfare. Probably the troops had been so well trained to respect the Belgians and the French and their property, that they failed to give complete satisfaction as an army of occupation. It was told in "barrack-room gossip," just before the boys left the Rhine, that though their fighting abilities had been fully recognized they had failed somewhat to "put it over" as an "army of terror" on the Rhine. The Canadian soldier had never had much chance to develop the bullying characteristics. He would rather learn the language and make himself at home when he wasn't actually fighting. He lost no love for the German, or for Germany, but he did not have the nack of shoving the "iron heel stuff" down in the approved Prussian style.

The passage through the Ardennes and into the sloping ground to the Rhine was made with practically no opposition. In advance of the Canadian forces ran tales throughout the German households, which pictured the coming soldiers as the last word in savage ferocity. "They had always been put in the vanguard by the English because of their ignorance, and they were so ferocious that even the troops of the dear Fatherland could hardly ever stand up against them."

Many incidents happened along the route which proved a revelation to the quiet business-like army in khaki. German women not infrequently fainted dead away on hearing that the Canadian troops were a matter of a day's march down the road. Little family parties were often seen in an attitude of fearful prayer as the bands of the infantry approached. But the Germans everywhere proved remarkably well disciplined as regards public orders. All that seemed necessary was to post up a placard signed by a British officer.

It was needless to go further. The orders were invariably obeyed. A number of the rules which a few weeks before had been imposed on Belgian civilians by the Hun were now imposed on the peoples of the Rhine. They must remove their hats to all British officers. They must not collect in groups or meetings of any sort without permission from the military authorities. No dances, concerts or entertainments of any kind were allowed. Every civilian must be in his house before seven o'clock in the evening, unless in possession of a pass signed by the British military authorities. Some of the soldiers who got the temporary job of military police for a few days, found it practically impossible to collect any "graft." Every German was invariably in his home by seven o'clock.

The saluting order, however, met with some little difficulty. The Germans at first appeared to know nothing of such etiquette except as applied to their own German officers. They were not long left in ignorance. The language was too strange for an officer to instruct the straggling wayside Hun to any advantage. But jerking off his hat and dropping it on the ground at his feet usually conveyed the desired instruction. The Heinie would usually pick up his hat with sullen gesture, and a gleam of ill-concealed hatred in his eyes. Soon, however, they were so well trained that n.c.o.'s as well as officers were taking the German salute.

When the Canadian army passed through Belgium, after the armistice, the German mark was rated at a franc and a half, or about 30 cents. That was the value the Germans placed on it when they ruled Belgium. When Germany was entered the mark was ordered down to seven marks for five francs, or a little over 14 cents for a mark.

The Germans immediately put up the old-time bluff. "It was ridiculous," they cried. "It would ruin the country." In the beerhouses, which were frequently by the passing soldiers, they refused to give more than a mark for a franc. This was reported to the commanding officers in the district, who ordered the reduction as official. Back would go the soldiers to collect the proper change which a few threatening demonstrations usually produced.

The Germans have an exasperating manner, which it does not require a knowledge of English to convey, but which consists of a bull-headed conceit of their own opinions. If you tell a Frenchman he is wrong, he will listen to your side of the question, absorb your point of view, and either prove his opinion or be persuaded against it. A German cannot possibly be wrong. He cannot be persuaded by arguments, but he must see the argument in a public placard signed by some military authority. That is one way to convince him. There was another way which was used in moderation by the Canadian soldiers. It was little short of miraculous to witness the complete change of expression which would come over a German merchant when you held a loaded pistol at his nose and informed him that five francs were worth seven marks. His agreement would then prove most cordial. In fact one would almost be led to believe that the mark might have been made even lower in value as far as he was concerned.

Roads and Wheels of Paris.

Paris is feeling the effects of the immensely heavy motor lorries that, during hostilities, traversed her boulevards and streets. There was nothing to be said about it while the war lasted, and no one complained; but now the matter will have to be given quite serious consideration, if Parisians are not to have Paris tumbling about their ears. At present the roads are in ruts and holes, reduced to such condition not only by unavoidable neglect but by those heavy army lorries which go by at great speed at every hour of the day or night. Besides the roads the houses are affected. Paris was mostly built before motors were thought of, and there are very evident signs that Paris houses, as well as her palaces and monuments, cannot endure such strenuous conditions indefinitely. Already the statuary which ornaments the river facade of the Louvre has been shattered by the vibration of traffic on the quays.

During the War.

The bride and bridegroom had uttered their solemn vows, the celebrant had blessed the couple and the service was over, when the priest—probably from force of habit, as he had done the same every Sunday since the war had begun—solemnly announced, "Let us now pray for peace."

Party Line Consideration

A TWO-PARTY LINE IS A SINGLE CIRCUIT, SHARED IN COMMON by two subscribers. It is not reserved for a single user and should be used on the share-and-share-alike basis.

On a two-party line, it is possible for both users to try to talk out on the same circuit at the same time. There is also the liability of both being wanted at the same time to receive incoming calls.

Therefore, there are special considerations which we urge a party-line user to keep in mind:

1. Long conversations prevent the use of the line by the other subscriber; therefore party-line talks should be as brief as possible.
2. Whenever another party-line subscriber requests the use of the line for an emergency, courtesy should prompt the first user temporarily to give up the use of the line.
3. Whenever a party-line subscriber takes the receiver from the hook and finds the line in use, the receiver should be replaced at once in a careful manner.
4. At the end of a conversation the receiver should be replaced upon the hook immediately, otherwise the other subscriber cannot signal the central office.
5. Be sure always to give the operator the letters W or J in calling a party-line subscriber.

Co-operation is required to ensure good service of any kind.

To Limit Liquor For Manitoba

Fines Not Less Than $400 For the First Offence

WINNIPEG, March 3—By the bill amending the Manitoba Temperance Act, which was distributed in the House, Government vendors are authorized to purchase or sell liquor, and it is stipulated he must not sell more than five gallons a day to a license or retail druggist.

Medical men are limited to two quarts a day, dentists a pint, and a veterinary surgeon to a gallon. Incorporated hospitals are limited to five gallons, but neither in the case of hospitals nor other licenses does the act state that the amount specified is all that can be obtained or prescribed for in one day. The sale of liquor by wholesale druggists is abolished. The Government is empowered to fix the amount at which liquor will be sold. Accurate records of purchases must be kept, and returns made to the Chief Inspector. Sale of flavoring extracts, essences and toilet articles containing alcohol is restrcited to two half-ounce bottles.

Retail druggists must not sell more than twelve ounces of spirits or twenty-four ounces of wines or malt liquor to any one person in one day or on any one prescription. Physicians are limited to 100 prescriptions a month, and must not without special permission have more than 100 in their possession at any one time.

Infringements of the act are for the first offence punishable by a fine of not less than $400 and not more than $1,000. In defaut there is sixty days' imprisonment. For second offence the punishment is not less than three months and not more than six months imprisonment. If the offender is an incorporated company the fine shall be $1,000 for each offence.

TRAIN LEAVES TRACK NEAR BANK OF RIVER

Sudbury, March 2—Traffic on the maine line of the C.P.R. has been held up for 12 hours as a result of the wrecking of passenger train No. 3, Toronto to Winnipeg, Monday morning, when a broken rail caused the derailment of two first class coaches and the dining car. The accident happened on a curve where the track skirts a river. That more serious results did not happen is miraculous, the diner full of people eating their breakfast, turning over on its side and stopping at a hazardous position on the edge of the embankment overlooking the river. As it was, but five people suffered injuries requiring medical attention.

"Dogs" Says Judge Of Revenue Men

MONTREAL, March 3—"It is a scandal that such dogs should be let loose on society—surely the peaceful citizens of Montreal ought to be protected from men of this kind."

udge Lanctot, waxing enraged while deliberating a judgment which took 45 minutes to pronounce from the Bench, spoke in the above terms of two revenue inspectors who had entered the restaurant of J. Podis and T. Spartos, 11 Craig street, without warrants and searched their premises for liquor on Dec. 12 last.

The two inspectors Lazare Kolikoski and F. Galicien, were severely scored by the police magistrate, while the two restaurant keepers, who were charged with interfering with the police, were honorably acquitted and complimented by the judge for throwing the inspectors out of their establishment.

Kolikoski and Galicien, according to the evidence, entered the restaurant and were met with some resistance, but produced revolver and 'blackjack' while they ordered Podis and Spartos to "sit down on the floor." They then searched the restaurant without results.

Later on they swore out warrants for the restaurant keepers charging them with obstructing and intefering with officers carrying out their duties.

In passing judgment the judge pointed out that nowadays there were numerous complaints of persons posing as police officials in order to carry out robberies. He was not surprised that the restaurant keepers had shown resentment at being held up in that manner.

"Why, it looked like a regular holdup," exclaimed the judge. "But no matter how humble, a man's home is sacred and I want to put a stop to this indiscriminate raiding of people's homes in order to secure evidence—all without warrants."

"This man Kolikoski," went on the Judge, "is shown by the police records to be a man with a dark past. His photograph is in the rogues' gallery, his finger print in the investigation department. He has been convicted several times and still he is considered fit to act as revenue inspector. I think it is ludicrous that such conditions should be allowed to exist.

"Then when these men, presenting no warrants, no authorization, but blackjacks and revolver, enter public premises claiming they are officers of the law, can you blame the people for resisting?"

At this point Stuart McDougall, counsel for the revenue inspectors broke in, but the Judge cut him off saying:

"Very well, if you can reverse my judgment, you know what to do. I should feel extremely sorry for society if such conditions were allowed to exist."

He then quoted judgments from Brooklyn, N.Y., and from the Ontario courts showing similar instances.

The judgment is the longest and most forcible heard in the local police courts in several years.

INCOME TAXPAYERS AND AMOUNTS PUBLISHED

Lindsay, March 4—Railway men of Lindsay have for some time been interested in the matter of income tax. A statement of their income being demanded from head office at Montreal, Alderman Graham and Gassien, two railroaders in the council introduced a motion that the finance committee consider the question of publishing in the local papers the names of all paying income tax and the amounts, on the return of the assessor's roll for 1920.

Must Support Daughter-in-Law.

That a mother-in-law, under the law, is liable to help support her daughter-in-law, if the latter's needs demand it, and the former's means justify the claim, was the ruling contained in a judgment of the Superior Court rendered recently in Montreal.

Dame E. Seguin, wife of George Lauzon, sued her husband's mother for $60 a month alimentary allowance for plaintiff and her eighteen months' old infant.

A writ against her husband was returned "non est investus" (He cannot be found). Hence the claim against his mother, who was submitted to be a woman of means and capable of paying $60 a month toward the plaintiff, who was said to be too ill to work for herself and her baby.

PHONE ORDERS AFTER HOURS

EDMONTON, Alta., March 3.—Taking phone orders in stores which are closed according to city by-law will be illegal if a proposed charter amendment weathers the legislature. It is claimed that some stores have been doing business after closing hours by utilizing telephone service. This to some extent nullifys the aim of the early closing act, so a charter amendment is needed.

To Relieve Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

CHOKED TO DEATH BY HIGH COLLARS

London, March 4—A campaign against high collars is on here, resulting from several deaths due to suffocation by the pressure of stiff, high neck pieces. The latest death is that of William Howes, a farmer, whose collar choked him when he fell. The coroner said he had never seen such a stiff collar. "Death from Misadventure" was the verdict."

Herrington were in charge of all the programme for the evening and left no stone unturned to make it a great success. R. A. Williams is president; K. Hamm, secretary.

DR. LEACOCK FATALLY INJURED

News has reached Frankville that Dr. Fred Leacock, a Kitley boy, was fatally injured in a railroad wreck at Galveston, Texas. News came from his sister, Miss Lilly Leacock, a trained nurse of New York, who was first advised of his injuries and left at once. A later message from her holds out no hopes for his recovery. He is about forty years of age, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Leacock, now of Jasper. He formerly practised his profession at Merrickville, but during the war enlisted and was surgeon on a liner.

A NARROW ESCAPE

An apartment house in Peterboro occupied by three families was at an early hour on Wednesday morning destroyed by fire and Mr. and Mrs. J. Corbett had a narrow escape from death. When Constable Lawrence had reached the Corbett family their rooms were filled with smoke and they could only be rescued by throwing blankets over their faces and crawling along the floor and through the doorway. At this point it was a matter of mere seconds upon which the fate of Mr. and Mrs. Corbett hung. They had barely emerged from the building in the company of P. C. Lawrence than the roof fell in and their rooms became one seething mass of flames.

WRONG CHINAMAN

The conviction of Charlie Yep, of Kemptville, who was fined $200 and costs under the O.T.A., was quashed at Osgoode Hall by Mr. Justice Masten, who held that there was no evidence to convict him of participation in the sale of liquor. H. H. Cross, of Toronto was visiting Kemptville and said that he was approached by a man who told him that he knew where he could get a bottle. He followed the liquor index and saw him go into a Chinese laundry, whence he issued with two bottles. He had none when he went in; he had two when he came out. Not unnaturally the conclusion was jumped to that the Chinaman within was the source of supply. A charge was laid. But when Charlie Yep appeared to answer the charge the man who knew where a bottle was to be obtained denied under oath that this was the Chinaman with whom he had had dealings. It then developed that some time since there had been another Chinaman in the laundry, Yep Lee, and that of late he had not been seen. Conviction quashed.

MAN OF MYSTERY

The unknown stranger who sells stolen or illicit things to poor innocents has long rambled unseen through the annals of the Police Court. He made his appearance at Osgoode Hall and though he was still as much a stranger as ever, yet the accused had seen and spoken with him and knew that his name was Joseph Barnard and that he was reputed to be installing a repair depot on Wolfe Island. He was mentioned in connection with the conviction by Justice of the Peace at Kingston and Samuel Hogan, John Allison and Edward Kelly. The three "whisketeers" were together when the unknown approached him on the street They had never seen him before, but he brought them the glad news that there was liquor for them at the express office. They went, they saw, they claimed and took the liquor to their homes in Wolfe Island. It had been shipped from Montreal. Later Barnard appeared and demanded that the liquor be turned over to him on a two bottle per man basis for their trouble Each man with great unanimity responded "Nothing doing!" They preferred to keep the five cases with which they had been mysteriously blessed. Later charges of keeping liquor for sale were laid against the three recipients and they were each fined $200 and costs or three months. Mr. Justice Masten quashed the convictions in the case of Kelly and Allison, but reserved judgment in the case of Hogan. This latter had signed a fictitious name—"Samuel Holding"—when he got his liquor at the express office and that constitutes an offence under the O.T.A.—Toronto Telegram.

SHIPMENT OF HOGS

Live hogs this week brought $18 per hundredweight. At this price Mr. R. Empson and son today shipped from here a large number. The porkers were destined for Monteral.

CUTTING CHANNEL IN RIVER

Ald. Hanna, chairman of Public Works, this morning placed at work a number of men to make a channel in the river just below the railway bridge. It is the intention of continuing the channel up the river for a considerable distance. By this means it is hoped to prevent a flood when the ice in the river breaks up.

ABSENTEES DETAINED HERE

Two young soldiers of Montreal last evening walked into the police station here and gave themselves up. They are absentees without leave and ar desirous of returning to the metropolis. The proper military authorities have been notified of their detention here.

DOUBLES ALLOTMENT

The parish of St. George's at Trenton has subscribed the fine total of $5,601.75 to the Anglican Forward Movement, a considerable part of which has already been paid in cash. The allotment set for the parish was $2,500, which has been more than doubled. There are 238 subscribers to the fund.

DISPUTE OVER PAY

Last evening the police were called to a livery establishment in this city owing to dispute between proprietor and a man who had hired a horse. The latter engaged a horse for a certain time but kept the animal out for a longer period and refused to pay for the extra time. He settled when the officer arrived upon the scene.

CHOOSE TORONTO TEACHER

The new school at Peterboro to be built at a cost of nearly $200,000 will be called the Prince of Wales instead of Peace Memorial school, as was at first proposed. An effort will be made to have the Prince of Wales open the new school during his proposed trip to Canada in the fall. Miss Vera Poreous of Toronto was appointed assistant to the principal of the collegiate institute at a salary of $65 per month.

FOUR FAMILIES HOMELESS

Early yesterday fire gutted the combined business block and apartment house belonging to the J. R. Bell estate on Hunter street, Peterboro. Four families were driven into the street scantily attired. The fire which started in the roof of the building had been raging for some time before it was discovered by a passerby. The loss to the building and contents of the apartments and stores may be $20,000.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.

Before Police Magistrate Masson a case was investigated today. N. Fluke, who resides near Thomasburg, was charged with fraudulently converting to his own use $120, the property of Mrs. Dora Goodman, of this city. It appears that the accused entered into an arrangement to purchase furs for Mrs. Goodman, and it is alleged that she gave him a cheque for $300, of which only $180 had been accounted for. The result of the investigation was that Fluke was committed for trial at a higher court, and was subsequently admitted to bail. Mr. Carnew for Crown; Col. O'Flynn for private prosecutor, and Mr. C. A. Payne for the accused.

EMPLOYEES' PASSES

The granting of annual passes to employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway who have been in the service for a long period has been announced through the president, E. W. Beatty, K.C. Officers, employees and their wives will benefit under the new scheme. An employee who has served continuously for ten years or more in a general superintendent's district will be granted an annual pass over that district in which he is employed Such an employee who has served continuously for twenty years will be granted an annual pass good over either eastern or western lines according to the district in which he is employed. Arrangements are made for the granting of passes to employees of other departments. Head office employees, men or women, of fifteen year's service will receive annual passes over either eastern or western lines. The new scheme is part of the C.P.R.'s policy aiming at the contentment and loyalty of the employees. It is in line with Lord Shaughnessy's pension fund to which the employees contribute nothing, but which ensures them a protection in their declining years.

Called by Death

HOMER T. HOLMES

Mr. Homer T. Holmes, of Peterboro, a few days ago came to Belleville to visit his brother, Mr. Samuel Holmes while here he was stricken with a fatal illness. He passed away at an early hour this (Thursday) morning. Deceased was 72 years of age and was born here, being a son of the late Mr. James Holmes. For the past 45 years Mr. Holmes had resided in Peterboro where he was well and favorably known. He was by occupation a shoemaker. An invalid wife, one son, James of Windsor, and one daughter, Mrs. J. D. Rooney of Sask., survive.

HENRY S. LLOYD

Henry Sylvester Lloyd, aged 1 year and six months, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lloyd, 60 south George street, died this morning. The parents will receive the sympathy of many friends in this their hour of affliction.

DR. DANIEL W. FAULKNER.

In the passing of Dr. Daniel W. Faulkner, which occurred at an early hour this morning, at his late home, Foxboro, a well-known and popular physician has been called from the activities of this life. Deceased was ill but a few days, being at first afflicted with influenza, but heart trouble was eventually the cause of death. Dr. Faulkner was born in 1852, in the seventh concession of the Township of Sidney, being a son of the late Mr. Gilbert Faulkner. In early life he followed the profession of a school teacher and later attended McGill College, Montreal, where he graduated as a physician, and in this profession he was eminently successful. For the past forty three years he had been practising in the village of Foxboro and had an extensive practice. Deceased took an active interest in municipal matters and for a number of years was a member of Hastings County Council, being the Reeve and Deputy Reeve of Thurlow Township. In all matters appertaining to the county's welfare he officiated with marked ability. Dr. Faulkner was a member of several fraternal societies—The Belleville Lodge No. 123, A. F. & A. M., Independent Order of Foresters, and Chosen Friends. In religion he was a Baptist. Deceased was a bachelor. Four brothers survive, namely, Dr. George and W. H., of this city; Sylvester, of Toronto, and A. C., of Milden, Sask. The doctor's charming personality made him many friends wherever he went, and his demise will be sincerely regretted by a host of friends.

JOSEPH P. RYAN

Mr. Joseph P. Ryan, who resided near the village of Stirling, passed away a few days ago. Deceased was 28 years of age and unmarried. In addition to the parents three brothers survive. Mr. Ryan was a member of the Roman Catholic Church.

MOTHERS WATCH CHILDREN STARVE

The patient resignation with which a mother in Poland accepts what the fates have in store for her children who frequently die of starvation before her eyes, is one of the things that leaves a lasting impression on relief workers there.

Jacob Bashein, who has just returned from abroad, where he had charge of a relief unit for the Joint Distribution Committee, which disbursed funds raised by the American Jewish Relief Committee and other bodies, said that food is distributed to the children in Lodz on a ration basis, and that where the small folks were unable to appear in person because of lack of clothing or illness from the "starvation sickness," the allotment was given to the mother. On one occasion a little woman with great hunger-appealing eyes, asked for four rations. The following day she appeared again and asked for only two.

"Two?" repeated the distributing agent, "Why you received four yesterday."

"Yes, but today I need only two, because," and the worker may have only imagined that he caught a note of relief in the utter hopelessness of the curiously quiet answer, "two of my little ones died during the night."

Social And Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Campbell, of Calgary, have returned to Belleville after having spent a month in Bermuda. They will leave in a week's time for Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stirling, 252 Regent Ave., Montreal, announce the engagement of the younger daughter, Catherine Ritcliffe, to Mr. Nesbitt Rutledge, of Bancroft, Ont. The marriage to take place on March 24th.—Montreal Star.

SALISBURY—EGGLETON

A very quiet, but pretty wedding was solemnized at 11 Cedar Street on Wednesday, March 3rd, when Mrs. Grace Irene Eggleton became the bride of Mr. Henry Burton Salisbury. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Wallace of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties being present. The bride entered the drawing room to the strains of the Wedding March played by her cousin, Miss Keitha Vivian, of Shannonville, and was very charming in her dress of taupe duchess satin with lace and tassel trimming. She was attended by her sister, Miss Eva Bedell of Stirling, who was daintily dressed in plaid silk skirt with pink silk georgette blouse while Mr. Ray Buchanan of Bishop's Crossing, Quebec, did honors for the groom. After the ceremony was performed supper was served and the happy couple left on the evening train for Peterboro and Lindsay. The bride travelling in a suit of navy blue with taupe hat. After their return Mr. and Mrs. Salisbury will reside in this city, where they are well and favorably known. Their many friends join in wishing them a happy and prosperous wedded life.

DIED

LLOYD—Died in Belleville, March 4, 1920, Henry Sylvester Lloyd, aged 1 year and six months, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lloyd, South George Street.

The funeral will take place from the family residence at 2 o'clock on Friday, March 5th.

TO KEEP NATION READY FOR WAR

Washington, March 4—Retention of sufficient war time posts and war plants to permit rapid expansion of the army and resumption of production of war materials at full capacity will be recommended by Gen Pershing he indicated on his return to Washington after a three months' tour of inspection of camps, cantonments and supply depots over the country.

The General's full report to Secretary of War Baker probably will be made within ten days.

Gen. Pershing indicated that he would favor retention of most of the national army contonments and also of nitrate and other plants for the manufacture of materials needed by the army in times of war. He said, however, that these should be maintained on an economical basis.

There is strong sentiment throughout the United States in favor of universal service of some sort, the General said, based on recognition of the benefit to the men themselves and also on the fear that "we might not have allies to hold the line for us in the next war."

Much of the charity that begins abroad never reaches home.

Farmer Members Organize Party

Ottawa, March 4.—At a caucus of the Farmers' party, Mr. Levi Thomson, member for Qu-Appelle, was elected Whip, and he will be assisted by Messrs. Reid and Kennedy. The group is now, therefore, a fully functioning parliamentary party, with Hon. T. A. Crerar definitely installed as Leader, and chief lieutenants Dr. Michael Clark and Mr. J. A. Maharg.

Organization was completed, and arrangements made for taking an aggressive part in the proceedings of the session. Several members will speak on the debate on the Address.

There were about a score of members present, including T. A. Crerar, Marquette; Dr. Michael Clark, Red Deer; Levi Thompson, Qu'Appelle; T. MacNutt, Saltcoats; T. W. Caldwell, Carleton, N.B.; Wilfred Kennedy, Stormont-Glengarry.

ANTI-FLU SERUM IS NOW BEING USED

Montreal, March 4.—A new anti-influenza serum is now being used by Col. Bridges, A.D.M.S., and the medical officers of M.D. No. 4 as a preventive not only of the influenza itself, but chiefly of the pneumonic diseases and lung abscesses, which have proved more fatal than the influenza. This is a serum known as the polyvalent serum, and it is administered subcutaneously, just as was the anti-typhus serum with the overseas troops.

Col. Bridges stated yesterday that all the officers and men of the R. C. R. stationed at the Peel Street Barracks were inoculated with this serum last week, following a mild outbreak of the influenza at the barracks. Whether as a result of this treatment or not, it was stated that the outbreak had been of a very mild character, and there had been no case of serious after-complications.

Col. Bridges said that he had used this serum at the military camps in England last year, and had also been inoculated himself, and he felt confident that its use with the troops at the Peel Street Barracks resulted in stamping out what might have been an unpleasant outbreak of the flu.

FURS ARE TO GET NEW TRADE NAMES

Ottawa, March 4.—Because of the difficulty in the fur trade, owing to the multiplicity of names by which the skins of certain fur-bearing animals are known after the process of manufacture, a committee has been appointed to consider and suggest standard trade names for furs as a protection to the public.

This committee will consist of Messrs. Ascher Pierce, R. S. Coltart and F. T. Gnaedinger, Montreal; F. Burkholder, Ottawa; Jos. Laurin, Quebec; J. P. Tweddell and A. A. Allan, of Toronto, and a representative of the Commission of Conservation. It has also been suggested that an effort be made to have an Act passed, similar to the English law, which requires all furs to be sold under their real or officially recognized names.

BOHEMIAN'S PASSENGERS LEAVE FOR LIVERPOOL

Halifax, March 4—The passengers and most of the crew of the Leyland liner Bohemian, which stranded on the Sambo Ledges and was abandoned yesterday morning with the loss of seven lives, sailed yesterday afternoon by the steamer Canada for Liverpool. The officers of the Bohemian and some others of the crew are remaining here for the inquiry into the loss of the ship which is expected to open today. Three bodies have been recovered from the scene of the wreck.

NEW YORK STREET TRAFFIC STILL SUFFERS BY STORM

New York, March 4—Four weeks ago yesterday the big snow storm of 1920 began here. There are thirty street car lines still out of business. Six hundred miles of streets in the outlying sections of the city have not yet been cleared of snow, while 400 miles in the city proper have been only partially cleared. Fifty miles of streets in congested portions of the city have not been opened.

TO KEEP NATION READY FOR WAR

Washington, March 4—Retention of sufficient war time posts and war plants to permit rapid expansion of the army and resumption of production of war materials at full capacity will be recommended by Gen Pershing he indicated on his return to Washington after a three months' tour of inspection of camps, cantonments and supply depots over the country.

The General's full report to Secretary of War Baker probably will be made within ten days.

Gen. Pershing indicated that he would favor retention of most of the national army cantonments and also of nitrate and other plants for the manufacture of materials needed by the army in times of war. He said, however, that these should be maintained on an economical basis.

There is strong sentiment throughout the United States in favor of universal service of some sort, the General said, based on recognition of the benefit to the men themselves and also on the fear that "we might not have allies to hold the line for us in the next war."

Much of the charity that begins abroad never reaches home.

Farmer Members Organize Party

Ottawa, March 4.—At a caucus of the Farmers' party, Mr. Levi Thomson, member for Qu-Appelle, was elected Whip, and he will be assisted by Messrs. Reid and Kennedy. The group is now, therefore, a fully functioning parliamentary party, with Hon. T. A. Crerar definitely installed as Leader, and chief lieutenants Dr. Michael Clark and Mr. J. A. Maharg.

Organization was completed, and arrangements made for taking an aggressive part in the proceedings of the session. Several members will speak on the debate on the Address.

There were about a score of members present, including T. A. Crerar, Marquette; Dr. Michael Clark, Red Deer; Levi Thompson, Qu'Appelle; T. MacNutt, Saltcoats; T. W. Caldwell, Carleton, N.B.; Wilfred Kennedy, Stormont-Glengarry.

ANTI-FLU SERUM IS NOW BEING USED

Montreal, March 4.—A new anti-influenza serum is now being used by Col. Bridges, A.D.M.S., and the medical officers of M.D. No. 4 as a preventive not only of the influenza itself, but chiefly of the pneumonic diseases and lung abscesses, which have proved more fatal than the influenza. This is a serum known as the polyvalent serum, and it is administered subcutaneously, just as was the anti-typhus serum with the overseas troops.

Col. Bridges stated yesterday that all the officers and men of the R. C. R. stationed at the Peel Street Barracks were inoculated with this serum last week, following a mild outbreak of the influenza at the barracks. Whether as a result of this treatment or not, it was stated that the outbreak had been of a very mild character, and there had been no case of serious after-complications.

Col. Bridges said that he had used this serum at the military camps in England last year, and had also been inoculated himself, and he felt confident that its use with the troops at the Peel Street Barracks resulted in stamping out what might have been an unpleasant outbreak of the flu.

FURS ARE TO GET NEW TRADE NAMES

Ottawa, March 4.—Because of the difficulty in the fur trade, owing to the multiplicity of names by which the skins of certain fur-bearing animals are known after the process of manufacture, a committee has been appointed to consider and suggest standard trade names for furs as a protection to the public.

This committee will consist of Messrs. Ascher Pierce, R. S. Coltart and F. T. Gnaedinger, Montreal; F. Burkholder, Ottawa; Jos. Laurin, Quebec; J. P. Tweddell and A. A. Allan, of Toronto, and a representative of the Commission of Conservation. It has also been suggested that an effort be made to have an Act passed, similar to the English law, which requires all furs to be sold under their real or officially recognized names.

BOHEMIAN'S PASSENGERS LEAVE FOR LIVERPOOL

Halifax, March 4—The passengers and most of the crew of the Leyland liner Bohemian, which stranded on the Sambo Ledges and was abandoned yesterday morning with the loss of seven lives, sailed yesterday afternoon by the steamer Canada for Liverpool. The officers of the Bohemian and some others of the crew are remaining here for the inquiry into the loss of the ship which is expected to open today. Three bodies have been recovered from the scene of the wreck.

NEW YORK STREET TRAFFIC STILL SUFFERS BY STORM

New York, March 4—Four weeks ago yesterday the big snow storm of 1920 began here. There are thirty street car lines still out of business. Six hundred miles of streets in the outlying sections of the city have not yet been cleared of snow, while 400 miles in the city proper have been only partially cleared. Fifty miles of streets in congested portions of the city have not been opened.

TURKEY STRIPPED OF VIRTUALLY ALL HER TERRITORY IN EUROPE—GREECE WILL BE GIVEN CONTROL OF SMYRNA—COUNCIL TO WORK PLANS WHEREBY TURKS WILL KEEP CONTROL OF SACRED PLACES.

LONDON, March 5.—Turkey is stripped of virtually all her territory in Europe, but retains the sacred places, by the treaty now being completed by the conference of Foreign Ministers and Ambassadors, it became known today.

Thrace has been awarded to Greece by the Peace Conference, but the present conference is charged with the task of working out plans whereby the Turks will keep control of the sacred places and Adrianople.

140,000 Motor Cars In The Province

250,000 in Five Years Time Says Deputy Highways Minister

TORONTO, March 4—"There are 140,000 automobiles registered in Ontario to-day and I expect that there will be 250,000 registered within five years," state Mr. William A. McLean, Deputy Minister of Highways, yesterday afternoon in addressing the third annual convention of the Ontario Retail Automobile, Garage and Accessory Dealers' Section of the Retail Merchants Association of Canada.

Mr. McLean prophesied that when the possibilities of growth in the use of the automobile were taken into consideration it was not improbable that in this Province in the not very distant future there would be an average of one automobile to each family. He explained that by this statement he did not mean, of course, that each family would have a car.

The Deputy Minister stated that there were 42,000 miles of highway in use in Ontario, 10,000 miles of which were scheduled for early improvement. About 18,000 miles of the 10,000 miles would be incorporated into the Provincial highway system. He estimated that $12,000,000 a year would be expended on highways in the next five years, the funds for half of which would be raised by direct taxation, the remainder to be contributed by the Province and Dominion.

Family Dispute Ends In Murder

Victim Roused Younger Man's Anger By Slapping Him in Face

COOKSVILLE, March 3—Angered by having his face slapped following a family dispute, Frank Larson, a young market gardener, aged 24, shot and killed his brother-in-law, James Davidson, aged 34, a farmer of this locality. The shooting took place in the kitchen of the Larson house, about a quarter of a mile outside the village of Cooksville on Dundas street, at about one o'clock this afternoon. Following the murder Larson did not attempt to escape but about two hours later Dr. H. A. McFadden of Cooksville, was notified by Mrs. Larson, wife of another brother, of what had happened, and had the young man put under arrest. Subsequently the two brothers, with their father, were taken in custody to Brampton and placed in jail there.

Armed Men Raid Train In Ireland

Arrest Engineer and Fireman and Decamp With Cash Box

Belfast, March 5—A score of armed men entered the Kincaslough (County Donegal) railway station on Tuesday night shortly before the arrival of the Londonderry train, seized the stationmaster and porter, and bound them with ropes placing them in the waiting room.

When the train arrived the raiders pulled their revolvers and boarded the engine and placed the engineer and fireman under arrest, then ransacked the train. The passengers were not molested. The cash box on board the train was the only booty secured.

Combines Boost Gasoline Prices

LONDON, March 5.—Existing prices of gasoline are condemned as "grossly excessive" in a report submitted by a committee appointed under the profiteering act to investigate prices. It says the concentration of control of the supply in hands of enormously powerful combines constitutes such a dangerous power, if improperly used, that it is imperative that Governments should give attention to it. Recommendation is made that oil prices be regulated by the League of Nations under international agreements.

The Standard Oil Co., and Shell Corporation are named in the report as the combines mainly concerned, and it is declared the existing price of £23 f.o.b. New York is much too high. It is said that the committee had been informed that the average price ought not to exceed £7 10s, per ton. High prices are attributed to powerful financial interests taking advantage of a tendency of demand to outstrip supply and grave danger of a permanent world famine of motor spirit is foreseen. The report for this reason urges the British Government to fester the production of British motor fuel.

57,702 Immigrants During Last Year

Shipping Congestion—Closer Attention to be Paid to Selection in the Future

OTTAWA, March 5—A total of 57,702 immigrants to Canada during the last fiscal year is reported in the annual report of the Department of Immigration and Colonization tabled in the House of Commons. Of these 40,715 came from the United States, 9,914 from the United Kingdom and 7,073 from other European countries. The decrease in the immigration from the United States is therefore 43 per cent. over that of the preceding year.

The closing of a number of immigration halls and the retirement of 100 employees whose usefulness was past is reported.

The immigration of unaccompanied British children is expected to be resumed this year, after being suspended since 1916. Since then 29,634 applications have been received chiefly through children's homes for permission to enter Canada.

Return of Dependents

The congestion of shipping consequent on the return of dependents of Canadian soldiers from Europe is expected to obtain for another year; 26,466 dependents have been returned since July, 1917, and it is estimated that between 30,000 and 35,000 remain to be repatriated.

The report states that there has been no relaxation in regulations governing the admission and rejection of passengers into Canada along the international boundary, and closer attention will be paid in the future to the selection of intending settlers in

UNION GOVT. SEEMS UNITED

Ottawa, March 5—The first few days of the session have gone to show that the Government has nothing to fear from internal combustion. The cross benches are poorly tenanted and to the greater part the various elements of the Government following appear to have flocked back together under the Cabinet wing just as chickens do at the approach of a hawk. Associations together in the Chamber, the caucus room and the reading and lounging rooms during these past sessions, has gone far to dissipate differences of opinion.

At the present time the attitude of Hon. T. A. Crerar appears to be "wait and see."

"Nickey" Arnstein Of Security Theft Fame, Surrenders

BOSTON, Mass., March 5—His wife, Fannie Brice, "Queen of the New York Midnight Frolic Company," having given a clue as to where her fugitive husband could be found, that gentleman, whose present name is Jules W. Arnstein has been surrendered before Judge Malone and held in $100,000 bail.

He is accused of being the "hidden man" in the robberies amounting to $5,000,000 which have taken place in Wall Street brokers' offices in New York city and numerous Boston banks, as well as the Liberty Bond robbery at South Station in this city last fall.

Arnstein who has many aliases is believed to have cleaned up $2,000,000 for himself. His alleged plan was to plant messenger boys in the brokers' offices and have them placed in positions of trust so that they could deliver securities and cash to banks.

At first some of the well-trained boys told stories of having been held up. Liberty bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 in a single week, and cash or securities in equal amounts came to be common losses until detectives ran down the plot and got confessions from the boys who told about "the master mind," and of their redezvous in Montreal.

From the very first the detectives of the New York and Boston departments worked steadily on the Montreal ends, quietly and without success.

Arnstein's wife, Fannie Brice, came under the scrutiny of the police ten days ago, but she denied that she knew anything of her husband and insisted that she had not received a dollar from him of late.

A blanket injunction issued against 500 banks in New York and Boston, uncovered several accounts in the name of Fannie Brice, and at attempt was made last week to draw $13,000 from a Boston bank. She then testified she had not heard from her husband and that the money enjoined was part of her own savinks as well as money won in the stock market.

Finally, she hired a New York lawyer who agreed to disclose the hiding place of Arnstein. Detectives went for him last Saturday. They found him near Montreal. They already had wired London, Paris, Havana and Madrid on false clues.

Many boys are in custody who will tell all about the operation of the young woman, who is an art student Montreal meetings and course of instruction in that city.

Some of these boys, it is claimed, under direction of Arnstein took trains to Montreal, where they divided the swag and had instructions not to return. Most of the brokers are not losers as indemnity companies had to stand many of the losses.

Mrs. Arnstein is said to be stunned by the news that her husband when he left the city was accompanied by a young woman, who is an art student at Montreal. Her parents reside just outside of New York. Up to a short time ago the girl's mother thought she had eloped with a rich man who had lavished expensive gifts on her daughter.

Feud Results In Shooting Scrape

PARRY SOUND, March 5—Provincial Constable Charles W. Knight of this place, arrived here yesterday having in custody Irwin McArthur, the owner of a summer resort at South Magnetawan, on the Canadian National Dailway, and well known in Toronto, charged with shooting with intent Edward Gollinger, a section foreman on the railway.

The shooting, it is alleged, was the outcome of a feud between the parties over a postmastership which had been held by McArthur in the summer at his hotel, but had been transferred to the Gollinger family, who have charge of a section of the Canadian National Railways, and, of course, are residents during the whole year. The postoffice has been changed from a summer service to an all-year office.

In a dispute between the parties, McArthur reached to his hip pocket for his gun, and one of the Gollinger brothers sprang at him and endeavored to prevent his using the revolver. In the scramble the gun was discharged and as a result Edward Gollinger was shot in the left thigh.

The bullet has been extracted and Gollinger is resting easy, and unless complications set in, will recover.

Europe Will Buy Canadian Produce

Dr. W. J. Robertson Says Dominion Goods Stand Ace High Across Ocean

TRURO, N. S., March 5—Dr. W. J. Robertson, of Ottawa, who was with the Canadian representatives at the Peace Conference in Paris delivered an address here under the auspices of the Canadian Club, the meeting was the first of a series to be held in farming centres of the Province, the itinerary having been arranged by Dr. Melville Cumming, of Turo, secretary for Agriculture, Prof. J. M. Trueman, President of the Canadian Club, presided. Dr. Robertson's advice to the farmers was to produce all they possibly could during the next two years, and he assured them that Canadian produce was so well thought of in Europe it would bring top prices. He urged all possible production because of personal profit to the producer and to serve starving humanity. "Let us all go to it" he said, "Europe's production has been reduced 25 per cent. and millions are starving. Between now and the next harvest from three to seven millions of people in Central Europe will die from lack of food unless help is sent. The number of farm animals in Europe, especially cows, have been greatly reduced and it will be ten years before there will be enough milk and dairy products produced by Europe for her own consumption. Twenty years hence millions of those who are now children will be weak in body because of lack of milk in babyhood. He uttered a strong protest against the waste and extravagance which is apparent over the Dominion, saying it did not become us when the price of war has not been paid by the blood of those who die. Dr. Robertson talked interestingly of his visits to Europe during the war and since the signing of the armistice. He spoke of disposing of the surplus stocks of Canadian bacon, wheat, etc., and in this connection paid high tribute to Herbert Hoover's fairness and friendlineas to Canada.

Trapper Slain For His Money

SUDBURY, March 5—While one arrest has been made and a second arrest impending, the mystery surrounding the murder of Michael Donahue, a trapper and prospector, in his lonely shack at Crerar, on the C.N.R. north of Sudbury, will probably be cleared up. Provincial Inspector of Police A. E. Storie, of Sudbury is back from a fourday trip in which he located his man.

Donahue was foully done to death on January 1 9last after he had returned to his shack from Sudbury with a sum of $300 from the sale of furs. Robbery was the motive. The forest fastnesses of the north offered no refuge for the criminal, friends of the deceased, railwaymen and lumbermen taking up the trail with the Provincial Police in order that the perpetrators of a dastardly crime should be brought to justice.

5,000 Armenians Were Massacred

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

PARIS, March 5—The total number of Armenians who were victims in the massacre in the Marash region of Asiatic Turkey last month does not exceed five thousand, according to information received by French official reports from London yesterday. It was stated the number would be between fifteen and twenty thousand. French officials say that it was impossible to foresee and prevent massacres as the army of occupation is not large enough to furnish strong guards at every point where the Turks are likely to revolt.

Huge Gold Movement To Restore Credit

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

NEW YORK, March 5—According to a story printed in the Sun and Herald this morning the official announcement of the inauguration of an almost unprecedented gold movement may be expected within forty-eight hours. The paper declares that is learned from authoritative sources. The present plans contemplate shipment from Europe, principally from England and France, of no less than two hundred and fifty millions, spread over a number of months, says the Sun. Current shipments of gold to Argentina dwindle into insignificance in comparison with determination of England and France to ship enough gold here to restore credit of British and French securities outstanding in the United States.

Canadian Gold To Steady Exchange

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gold coin, valued at approximately three million dollars has been shipped here from Canada, it was announced today. This metal is sent for account of the Canadian Government and is understood to be the forerunner of further shipments. It is believed that the shipment was made for the purpose of stabilizing Canadian exchange.

It is understood that Canadian interests and not the British Government are responsible for the movement Later reports stated that the total amount of gold shipped from Canada would likely reach six million. The Canadian dollar opened at 88 cents yesterday close and advanced to 89 early this afternoon. The pound sterling advanced this morning to $3.63.

Will Not Deliver Kaiser To Allies

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

THE HAGUE, March 5—The Dutch Government today for the second time refused to deliver the former German Emperor to the Allies for trial. In a note addressed to Lloyd George, however, the Government promises to take all necessary measures to minimize the liberty of Wilhelm and preventing him from endangering the world's peace.

LAST MONTH COLDER THAN A YEAR AGO

During the month of February a total snowfall of 22 inches was recorded, according to the abstract of meteorological observations taken at the Dominion Experimental Farm by Mr. William T. Ellis, official observer. The heaviest snowfall was on February 15 when a total fall of eight inches was recorded. This fall was much heavier than on any day during the corresponding month of 1919. The heaviest fall during that month was 6.5 inches on February 14. The mean temperature for February was 12.60 degrees, while in the corresponding month last year it was 17.60 degrees.

On February 7 the highest temperature of the month was registered, 38 degrees. The highest temperature in February, 1919, was 36 degrees which was recorded on February 23. The lowest temperature last month was 25 degrees below zero on February 1 while in February, 1919, the lowest temperature was 8.8 below zero on February 11.

There was no rain during last month but in February of last year there was a rainfall of .04 inches. The total rain during that month fell on February 23.

The sun shone 131.3 hours during February which is slightly less than in February, 1919, when the sun shone for a total of 138.4 hours. The average sunshine during that month was 4.94 hours, while last month the average totalled 4.52 hours.

BIG STEEL MERGER REPORT IS REVIVED

Ottawa, March 5.—The Ottawa Journal states that a merger is planned of existing Canadian Steel companies and the development of the steel industry in Canada on a scale larger than ever, changes in the control and management of Dominion Steel and a merger between that company and Scotia, the expenditure at Sydney of $25,000,000 to bring that plant up to the standard of British steel mills and the complete investigation of Canadian steel possibilities by British experts. These things are likely to result from negotiations which are now on and in which Col. Grant Morden, British M.P. Sir Newton Moore and Messrs. Workman, J. W. Norcross and Roy Wolvin are concerned.

Colonel Grant Morden and Sir Newton Moore are now at the Chateau, and will be here for several days in consultation with persons interested in the Phoels for the development of the steel industry in Canada.

TYPHUS RAGES AMONG SURVIVORS OF RUSSIAN VOLUNTEER ARMY, WHICH HAS REACHED POLISH LINES —REMAINS OF GEN. DENIKINE'S CORPS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, March 5.—A large detachment of the Russian volunteer army under General Bredow has reached the Polish lines near Kamenetz, Podolsk, says a London Times despatch from Warsaw. These forces are the remains of General Denikine's corps from west of the Dnieper River, which have been without a base since the Bolshevik occupied Odessa. The detachment numbers 6,000 men, most of it cavalry, and is accompanied by as many women and children. Almost three-quarters of the company are suffering from typhus.

"Haunted" Slippers Harrowing Dreams

LONDON, March 5—A pair of 'haunted' slippers, which give the wearer harrowing dreams will be investigated by the British Psychist Research Society at an early date.

Mrs. Clara Swinton, a London woman, bought the slippers, which are crimson and have curled-up toes, at a Caledonia market. They are obviously very old.

"The first night I wore them,' she says, "I had a horrible dream. I imagined I had committed murder at a bazaar in some Eastern city. I fled in wild panic and the terror finally awakened me.

"On the second occasion the scene was set in England. It appeared that my father had warned me I would be slain. Overpowered by dread fear, I awoke.

"I have visited the East, but I did not recognize the setting in my first dream."

Investigators, who are not usually subject to dreams, experienced similar results upon wearing the slippers. Leading pychics here are convinced they are confronted with an unprecedented case of Eastern mysticism. Some suggest that the original owner may have committed a crime which is still haunting the slippers.

DOMINION CANNERS INCREASED PROFITS

Hamilton, March 5—The tenth annual statement of the Dominion Canners Ltd., shows an increase in profits amounting to $75,0[illegible], as presented at the annual meeting of directors. The report states that owing to favorable weather conditions the company was able to put up a large pack of canned goods and sales were approximately $2,000,000 greater than in 1918 Notwithstanding the increased cost of productions the profits were $75,000 greater than those of 1918. This was due ,it was stated, to the larger volume of sales and to the close watching of expenses.

New Franchise Act Generously Wide, Is Forcast

OTTAWA, March 5.—When the debate on the address is dispesed of—and the Whips don't know just when that will be—the Government's legislative program will be sufficiently advanced to be brought down expeditiously.

Some midnight oil is being burned over the Franchise Act. This was one of the matters which were considered at the New York conference with Sir Robert Borden and in the light of it, the finishing touches are now being put to the draft.

It is understood that the measure will be fairly wide open and that the restriction and limitations which characterized the War Time Election Act will, very largely, be eliminated.

While provincial lists will be used in part there will at least be a supplementary Federal list. Many of the disqualifications in the former measure will disappear.

In cities provision will likely be made for registration, while in the rural parts there will be an enumeration.

The Government wishes to bring in a measure which will be as little controversial as possible and some of its western followers insist on the ban being pretty well removed, but such a thing as a non-contentious franchise bill has never yet seen the light of day and probably never will.

The Opposition will demand that provincial lists be used and that no one who is of age and who is a British subject be disqualifed save those who under o[illegible]ary conditions would be.

PREPARE NAVAL BILL

The Speech from the Throne forecasts no naval bill, but one is in preparation. The expectation is that it will be submitted to caucus and action upon it determined by the collective counsel of that body. There is a Department of Naval Service and a staff of considerable size which is annually provided for but since the war, its operations so far as it relates to naval matters have not been extensive.

The proposed act, however, is not being evolved with the idea of giving work or status to the organization, but rather because of the obligation considered to rest upon the country of contributing to the naval defence of the Empire.

Lord Jellicoe has given expert advice as to the best course to pursue and it is understood taht this has been concurred in by the Cabinet. The fact that, on modest lines, a Canadian navy is propsed would seem to go a considerable distance in eliminating the past division on the subject, but other considerations also operate. The members are just a bit curious as to the degree of public opinion in support of a navy in the light of the war having destroyed the enemy's naval power and also because of the prevailing financial conditions. On the other hand the maintenance of British naval supremacy is conceded to be paramount and Canada's obligation to assume her contributory share is not ignored.

The question will be threshed out from every angle in caucus but it is rather unusual for a government measure to be stifled there.

ESTIMATES WELL ADVANCED

The estimates won't be down for a while yet, but they are well advanced. Though endeavors are made to reduce the outlays as much as possible the demands have accumulated considerably since Parliament arrived on the scene One Eastern supporter of the Government threatens to resign unless provision is made for harbor works which are claimed to be vitally necessary to the port.

Today's debate may very probably bring into play some of the cross-bench farmer members who, so far have maintained a sepulchral silence. They have been conferring and there are expectations of a pronouncement by Mr. Crear or Dr. Clark or both. Considerable baiting has been indulged in so a rejoinder is in order.

LIVELY CLASH IN SIGHT

If a question which is to be asked about it in the House results in the production of further correspondence, a hornets' nest may be poked up in connection with the retirement of Judge Robson, chairman of the Board of Commerce. His reasons were cited in a letter produced in the House the day before yesterday.

It is understood that the other commissioners are at variance with the Judge's interpretation of the operative effect of the Fair Prices Act and further that they question the reasons which may refer to internal conditions in the board.

This is the communication that some of the members are curious about and want to see.

The cross bench party had a brief caucus this morning to consider what attitude it will take on the King amendment.

Levi Thomson, the chairman said afterwards that it had been agreed not to make any statement just now. While there are divided opinions the probabilities are that the majority will support the proposal for an election.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

TARZAN BY REQUEST

When "The Romance of Tarzan" is featured at Griffin's next Monday and Wednesday night the large number of Belleville film enthusiasts who have been sending in requests to Manager Forhan for weeks past regarding the dates upon which the concluding chapters of "Tarzan of the Apes" would be shown will have their wish gratified. According to records on file in Griffin's Opera House "Tarzan of the Apes" played to more spectators than any other work of fiction that has been shown on the screen of Griffin's in one year "The Romance of Tarzan" presents an even more gripping story, carrying the leading personalities in this epic of primitive life and the higher walks of civilization along to a denouement that is both surprising and highly satisfactory. Scenery of the most striking beauty provides a background for much of the thrilling action, while savage cannibals, apes, tigers, lions, leopards, and an almost human elephant gives unforgetable novelty to the story at various stages of its development. Five other comedy and varied plays are also announced for presentation on the same program.

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE'

When Charles Kennedy's symbolic drama, "The Servant in the House" is presented in Belleville at Griffin's Opera House next Tuesday night, Mar. 9th theatre goers will see one of the few outstanding figures in the world of drama to-day, Tyrone Power, whose present pro-eminent position has been attained after thirty-two years of unremitting labor and courage fight for the high ideals he has ever associated with the stage, is today a man in the prime of life, at the height of his powers, and possessed of an experience no living actor can match. He has played well-nigh a hundred widely different parts, and he has gone from success to success, but has never played a role he deemed unworthy or taken part in a performance which he believed to be unfit for the theatre going public to see.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE

Anyone who delights in comedy that is full of vivacity, life, love and spirit will be entertained to his hearts content by her new Select picture which presents vivacious Constance Talmadge as the star and a cast that is far above the ordinary. The picture is "Happiness A La Mode." It was a stage comedy by Edwina Levin, but if it was any better in that form than as a screen play, it must have been a world-beater. It possesses every element of charm that a photoplay may posses—plot, characters, situations and humor. Miss Talmadge has a most delightful part as Barbara Townsend. She throws herself with abandon into the role, which is one of many moods to each of which the star lends herself with startling versatility A program of comedy and topicals will also be exhibited in addition to the above feature offering

MARY WEEPS WHEN SHE GETS DIVORCE

Reno, Nev., March 4.—Mary Pickford, motion picture star, was granted a divorce from Owen Moore at Minden, a small town near Carson City, on grounds of desertion. She has been at the Campbell ranch at Genoa nearby, since February 15. She was accompanied to the courtroom by her mother, Mrs. Smith, and she wept freely while testifying.

Moore was not in court, though he was at Minden at lunch on Monday.

He was represented by an attorney i the proceedigs. Miss Pickford is still at Genoa.

ON TRAIL OF ONTARIO OIL

New Liskeard, March 5.—As soon as the rivers are open the first step towards drilling for oil between Cochrane and James Bay will be taken according to C. M. McCarthy, who has staked seven thousand acres of what is believed to be oil lands and which is located 95 miles due north of Cochrane.

The property has been staked on the strength of a report made to the Dominion Government by Dr. Williams, gologist. Mr. McCarthy acted for a group of Toronto financiers and when the drilling rig is sent in three test holes will be put down, each one mile apart. These holes will be nine hundred feet deep.

Pimples, Blackheads, Blotches And Such Local Skin Troubles Made to Disappear by the Wonderful Influence of Stuart's Calcium Wafers

Many foremost writers have said that to have skin health your blood must have sufficient calcium. And you can get this influence in Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

Many a girl, deprived of beauty by pimples, blackheads and a muddy, blotchy complexion, has been astonished to notice how quickly these blemishes disappear and what a wonderful improvement takes place in just a few days after using Stuart's Calcium Wafers. These wafers have a remarkable action in the bowels to sweep out certain substances that otherwise return to the blood and seek an outlet through the skin. Get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Calcium Wafers of any druggist and you will then be using the right method to obtain a lovely complexion.

OPEN QUEBEC PULP AREAS

North Bay, March 5.—Some time next week a definite announcement may be expected from the C.P.R, in conection with its proposed extension of the Kipawa Branch north along the eastern side of Lake Temiskaming. The proposed extension calls for the laying of seventy-six miles of railway and it will open up a valuable agricultural area of the Western part of Quebec as well as excellent pulp and mineral areas.

The Quebec Legislature is subsidizing the extension. It is understood that the C.P.R. ultimately plans to extend the branch to Iroquois Falls so as to share with the T. & N. O. the million odd dollars which the Ontario railway derives from the Abitibi Power and Paper business.

Three Eggs For A Nickel In China

Coal 50 Cents a Ton and Wheat 30 Cents a Bushel—Rebuilding Shanghai

NEW YORK, March 5—About 300 members of the American Manufacturers' Export Association got a thrill when Julian Arnold, commercial attache at Peking, told them about China, especially west China. For, said Mr. Arnold, anthracite coal sells there for fifty cents a ton, wheat brings 30 cents a bushel, and eggs are practically given free at three for a nickel. But as the attache pointed out, that's no Chinese panacea for the H. C. of L. West China, lacking transportation, can't get the stuff out into the world.

The Chinese, he said, are rapidly injecting the Occidental idea into their business and they are particularly keen for building materials and methods from the breezy western nations. Shanghai, which is the New York and Chicago combined of China, is being virtually rebuilt under the direction of American architects. Mr. Arnold advocated the introduction of young Chinese into American business houses as likely to stimulate Chinese-American trade and national good feeling.

Selling abroad under the present adverse exchange conditions was discussed by Joseph McElroy, an exporter. He said business men should make an effort to halt the proposed scheme to shelve the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Mr. McElroy disclosed that certain English firms were counting on English exchange getting around normal at the end of six months, but said he was not so optimistic himself.

Quebec's Hour Still To Strike

OTTAWA, March 5.—Discussion in the Commons brought forth views respecting the future of the Unionist party, the possibility of an approachment between Ontario and Quebec and the organization of the agricultural class as a political force. H. M. Mowat, K.C., of Parkdale, raised the first question. He first expressed the opinion that Mr. King's amendment was a "safety first" motion, inasmuch as neither the leader of the Opposition nor the Liberal party was prepared for a general election. "If my honorable friend thinks he is prepared for an election in North York, instead of in his temporary asylum in Prince Edward Island," remarked Mr. Mowat, "he is very much mistaken." The member for Parkdale asserted that very happy relations had existed between the Liberals in the Unionist ranks and their Conservative confreres and he added: "Thank you, I am content." He was unable to see any reason why the Unionist party should not be perpetuated, whether or not the present union of parties can be made permanent.

QUITE A SCENE

"The hour of Quebec"—the words rang through the House, precipitating a clash which enlivened the debate. It was J. L. Gauthier, of St. Hyacinthe, who used the words and previously there had been reference to the need for better relations between Quebec and the rest of the Dominion.

"Speaking in my own name and in that of the Province of Quebec," Mr. Gauthier declared, "I will quote the words of one of our public men who says that the Province of Quebec is not in a state of mind to enter any conference."

Mr. Gauthier continued: "The Province of Quebec has been badly shaken. It has been slandered. It is waiting for its hour. After that it will confer and not before."

The words brought Mr. Burnham to his feet. He demanded to know if they were intended as a threat.

"It is not a threat. It is a declaration," Mr. Gauthier called back.

Mr. Burnham again protested. "The difference between a threat and a declaration of any kind," he retorted "is that the man who makes it is afraid to back it up."

"You have no right to insinuate that I am a coward," sharply replied Mr. Gauthier.

The Speaker intervened. Mr. Burnham remarked that he was not attributing physical cowardice to Mr. Gauthier. "I am attributing to him moral cowardice———" So Mr. Burnham was proceeding when again the Speaker intervened. He asked Mr. Burnham to withdraw. Mr. Burnham complied, further remarking that he did not care a brass farthing "whether they threaten or whether they don't."

CUPID PREVAILS, AND CASE IS WITHDRAWN

Sudbury, March 5.—Cupid prevailed and finally won, to the discomfiture of a crowded court room at the Spring Assizes here this week, who expected to hear something of the love affairs of a former nurse of the district and a mining engineer, principals in a breach of promise case. Nothwithstanding the estrangement, which has lasted a considerable period (maybe it was only a misunderstanding), counsel for the plaintiff announced to the court that the case had been withdrawn. This followed a long consultation between the principals in the barristers' room. A few hours afterwards a Sudbury clergyman united the couple in matrimonial bonds and they are now on their honeymoon.

Sterling exchange closed at $3.55½ in New York.

At a conservative estimate, more than fifteen million Gillette Safety Razors are in use throughout the world. It is stupendous—hard to realize! Such things, however, do not happen by chance. Unquestionable superiority must be behind this mass of opinion in favor of the Gillette Safety Razor.

First, naturally, there comes the continued facial satisfaction assured by Gillette shaving. That is taken for granted—no need to argue the point.

Next, comes the intrinsic value and merit of the Gillette sets, the carefully made cases, the mechanically perfect razors, the gleaming blades, 12 to a set, double-edged, super-keen.

Then, it is a mark of distinction to own a Gillette. It has a rightful place in the equipment of every man who prides himself on his appearance, whether the man be an artisan or artist, clerk or clubman, employee or employer.

Again, when the talk among men turns to razors, there is undoubted advantage in claiming ownership of a Gillette.

The final dictum in razor keenness is NO STROPPING—NO HONING and all devices calculated to bring other razor edges up to Gillette keenness only serve to compliment the razor that is Known the World Over.

The price is $5.00

DR. EDWARDS WANTS HEARST PAPERS BANNED

Ottawa, March 5.—Dr. J. W. Edwards, Unionist, Frontenac, speaking in the Commons, had some criticism for the Government. He declared:

"Action should be taken at once to stop the Hearst papers circulating throughout the Dominion of Canada. There are perhaps in this country some people who don't object to the lies and dirt being circulated in the Dominion of Canada by this man Hearst. In my judgment it is a shame and a disgrace to the Dominion of Canada that these papers should be allowed to circulate through this country. (Applause.)

"I have no sympathy for Ivens and men of that kind in Winnipeg, but what in heaven's name is the good of putting Ivens behind the bars for seditious utterances and permitting the Hearst papers to come into this country and sow seeds of discontent? I want to condemn just as strongly as I can the action of the Government in not putting an end to that sort of thing."

STALLION SELLS AT $11,200.

Brandon, Man., March 5.—Paramount Wolver, a Belgian stallion, was sold by George Rupp, Lampman, Sask., to Kuhill & McKechnie, of Dougherty, Iowa, for $11,200. This animal is being shown at the Fair here. He won second in the aged stallion class at the International Show in Chicago and second in the Belgian Show at Waterloo, Iowa.

ONE MILLION THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS, PROPOSED CIVIC EXPENDITURE.

Preliminary estimates brought down in the Belleville City Council total the staggering sum of one million three hundred thousand dollars as civic expenditure this year at present under consideration. Ratepayers may well view the preliminary estimates with uneasiness, for there is a limit to which even progressiveness can safely go.

Already taxes are high and burdensome, and the prospect of increased taxation is not pleasant to contemplate. The first three items in the estimates as presented call for a total of nine hundred thousand dollars.

$500,000 For Housing.

It is proposed to raise $500,000 for the housing proposition, and Belleville certainly needs more houses of the right kind, but this question should be thoroughly investigated before any large expenditure is authorized. It is advisable to ascertain just how many citizens are willing to purchase houses under a civic housing plan, and the whole project worked out in detail. A sane civic housing scheme should be a profitable investment, but mismanaged it could very easily become a serious liability.

Free Bay Bridge.

Fifty thousand dollars is mentioned as estimated expenditure for a free bay bridge, but this seems a high figure under all the circumstances, unless Belleville proposes to shoulder the entire cost of the undertaking apart from the Government grant.

$350,000 For Schools.

Possible school expenditure is estimated at $350,000, and as the Board of Education possesses almost unlimited powers, and the Council has little or no control over school expenditure it is up to the Board of Education to consider carefully the state of civic finances generally and the ability of the ratepayers to pay in these days, when the value of the old-fashioned dollar is only about fifty cents or less in goods.

Patriotic Fund.

There is also an item of fifty thousand dollars which is still due to the Patriotic Fund—a rather unpleasant holdover, and not as easy to pay now as in war-time. However, it has to be paid, and may be considered a fixed expenditure not subject to any reduction.

New Fire Hall.

A new fire department building to cost twenty-five thousand dollars would be a nice thing to have, but is not an absolute necessity this year.

Gas Plant Expenditure.

In this class also is a proposition to spend fifty thousand dollars upon the gas plant. In fact, there is a grave doubt in the minds of many taxpayers as to the advisability of continuing the gas plant at all in view of the high and growing cost of making gas. However, this is a matter for the closest investigation by the City Council and a decision upon business lines. In any event an expenditure of fifty thousand dollars upon the gas plant this year would not be very popular without good and sufficient reasons being produced to give warrant to such an expenditure.

"Other Expenditure."

Sixty-five thousand dollars is listed as "Other Expenditure," which in the absence of details can only be regarded as uncontrollable expenditure.

Public Works.

Pavements and sewers call for the sum of $145,000 and while probably necessary, every effort should be made to curtail public works for this year to the lowest possible plane of expenditure consistent with good business sense.

Demands upon the public purse have reached an alarming figure and rigid economy is the only safe compass to weather the storm with, in the hope that calmer waters of lower prices will be reached by and by. In the meantime we have to "carry on", but it is the part of wisdom to walk carefully in this trying time and not voluntarily assume financial burdens which are not absolutely necessary.

The Lesson of Brantford.

Brantford has been held up to glorified gaze as the most progressive city of Ontario with an amazing growth in population and wealth of new industries. Latest advices from Brantford show that Brantford is apparently paying for too rapid civic progress, the City Council being faced with the task of providing for an immense expenditure and a greater tax rate than has been. Estimates are being cut and slashed in Brantford this year in an effort to bring the tax rate below forty mills, and public works will, it is said, be practically abandoned.

Brantford's plight should be Belleville's lesson. Progressiveness is right, but there is a time when it is good business sense to make haste slowly—and this is the time.

By increasing its price to three cents per copy and five dollars a year by mail, the Toronto Globe has adopted a course that every daily newspaper will probably have to take before long. Costs have so enormously increased during the past few years that many newspaper publishers are almost at their wits' end to keep the bailiff away. And it is well to remember that even at five dollars a year, or even ten dollars a year, a newspaper is the cheapest thing the public buys, considering the service rendered, the information imparted and the education afforded. The difficulty is that newspapers on this continent have always been too cheap. A contemporary points out that the New York Times' mail rate is nine dollars per year and the Globe gives the service in this country comparable to that performed by the Times across the border. The Toronto paper is worth more than the price it asks, and so are all the newspapers that have survived the ordeal so far, and they will doubtless have little trouble in getting the increased price necessary to continue good service, for the public is not unreasonable when it appreciates the facts.—Guelph Herald.

Anticipating a dry summer a New York man cached a few thousand dollars' worth of liquor in his summer cottage at Rockport, on the St. Lawrence. Canadian law, being interpreted, said that not being a resident, the New Yorker's summer residence was not a residence in the meaning of the O. T. A., and confiscation and fine followed. Probabilities are for continuous dry weather around Rockport this summer.

Hindenburg as President of Germany.

New York Tribune.

Popular legends die hard. Field Marshal Hindenburg made a colossal reputation in August, 1914, through the great victory over the Russians at Tannenberg. That battle was planned and fought by Ludendorff. That latter has shown in his book that he, not Hindenburg, directed all the operations for which the field marshal received credit. Yet Hindenburg remained throughout the war the one overshadowing military hero of Germany—a figure out of Valhalla. Under the republic his repute is still unchallenged. He and Lettow-Vorbeck were the only two German generals who retained favor after the surrender. Now Karl Kautsky, the Independent Socialist, who searched the archives of the foreign office and exposed the German-Austrian conspiracy to start the war, says that Hindenburg is likely to be elected president of the German republic. "His popularity," says Kautsky, "is increasing immensely." Here is something of a mystery. Hindenburg ingratiated himself with the people when he resolved to stick with the army after the armistice. He acquiesced in the revolution. Of a passive and patient temperament, he phlegmatically accepted defeat and its consequences. He criticised nobody. He never manifested any desire to write a book. Ludendorff became the scapegoat for all the mistake made at the grand headquarters. The field marshal has always shown equanimity. Perhaps the people have come to regard him as a human being rather than as a military autocrat. After 1870 the present French Republic elected Marshal MacMahon president, although his republicanism was hardly skin deep. The German Republic may follow that example by electing Hindenburg president. It would be a queer climax to the Max of Baden-Scheidmann revolution. But Hindenburg would come much nearer German ideals than Ebert does. He would never, for instance, allow himself to be photographed in a bathing suit.

Adoption of electric traction has enabled Italian railroads in mountainous regions to triple their former traffic.

Help Grandfather.

The other evening five-year-old John was over at his grandfather's house for supper. While they were eating grandfather sneezed. It stopped his conversation a minute, and then just as he started to resume it John spoke up: "What do you say, grandpa?"

Grandfather looked mystified a minute; then again began to talk. Again John persisted, "What do you say, grandpa?"

More mystified looks. Then John informed him. "Grandpa," he said sweetly, "isn't this a 'scuse me table like ours?"

The Poet's Corner

THE SQUIRREL'S PHILOSOPHY

Yes, I'm a queer fellow—a curious chap—
I chatter and frisk over every mishap;
When things seem forbidding, horizons loom grey,
I still find the sunshine just over the way—
Here's a nut ready cracked, you may pass it around,
You never will yet, keep a squirrel on the ground!
It is not my nature to grovel, you see,
I'm off with a bound to the top of the tree!
While seemingly dancing and laughing in play,
I gather my hoard for the cold winter day.

Remember, my friend, for the lesson is clear,
Don't yield to the blues, and look solemn and queer,
But up with the dawn and the squirrel; never stop,
And choice nuts of wisdom we'll gather and drop;
For the gloomy old world we can brighten with song,
Just carol a bit, as you journey along,
Keep working and saving to add to your store,
But if you should lose it, why, start in for more!
One kernel of truth you can treasure from me;
The finest nuts grow in the to pof the tree.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

NO PROFITEERING WITH ZAM-BUK

Before the war, Zam-Buk was 50c. a box. All during the war, when the cost of production was rapidly advancing, the price of Zam-Buk to the consumer remained the same. Now, with the war over, while some prices continue to soar, Zam-Buk is still 50c. a box! Not only so, but the same high standard of quality has been maintained throughout.

There has been no profiteering in regard to Zam-Buk. For every box you have bought, you have been asked to pay fair value only.

Is this method of doing business not worthy of recognition? Answer this question by continuing to recommend, to appreciate, and to use Zam-Buk—the greatest household healer of modern times.

Use it for all skin troubles, eczema, ringworm, abscesses, ulcers, boils, pimples, piles, blood-poisoning, chapped hands, cold sores, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, etc.

All Dealers, 50c. Box.

Letters To The Editor

MR. FLINT OBJECTS

To The Editor of The Intelligencer:—

Dear Sir,—The citizens of Belleville understand that project of the Technical College and the $100,000 Coleman Ward school emanated from Professor MacLaurin, who is by profession an educationalist. I do not attaca blame to this gentleman, because these two projects are in line with his profession. But I am deeply sorry that he has acquired such a control of the school board that they have accepted his views. The professor has no financial interest (I understand) in any properties in the city, nor am I aware that he pays taxes. The financial position in which the city will be placed if his views are carried out does not effect his mind at all. He has simply a "hobby" and is bound to carry out his views.

Now if you will look at the tax collector's published notice you will get some idea of the difficulties people find in paying the present taxes. Every short time something is springing upon this little city which makes the tax rate higher. It is abnormally high now.

Double City Debt

Double your present heavy mortgage debt to carry out the views of Mr. MacLaurin and the Council and you are going to place some thousands of poor people in the horrible position that they cannot pay these increased taxes. How will it affect the owners of property? It will reduce the value of every property holder about one half. In order to be able to pay taxes the owner of rentable property will have to put up the rents to such a figure that the laboring men and the poorer classes cannot pay them. The landlords cannot help putting up rents because the greatly increased taxes will cut off all the revenue from the properties upon which they live. The people must then go out and leave the city, there is no other alternative. Then the landlord's houses will be vacant ,his revenues gone, and the city ,to collect taxes, must sell their goods and in default of goods sell the lands. All this must assuredly happen if the schemes are carried out.

Suspend City Charter

Now as regards the million for building. I suggested a list should be made and build according to that list. Does the Council wish to destroy the men and women who have put their earnings into real estate here? We could have invested in Toronto, Montreal, even in Peterboro and made fortunes for so doing, but we stuck to the old city and the various schemes seem bound to wreck Belleville. The council must know if you take our tenant away that our property will become useless and the city must acquire it. There is only one resource open if public opinion does not drive the school board and council into reasonable measures. The remedy is this: Circulate in the wards petitions against these expenditures. Show the debts of the city, the rate of taxation. Insert the lists of demands of school board and council as prepared by Ald. Bone, showing that our mortgage debt will be doubled. Show the assessed value of the city. Show that a technical college is not required as Albert College will have a fully equipped institution. Show what the new taxation will be and the result to the rate payers. Add any other pertinent facts. This taxation or these petitions should be directed to the Lieutenant Governor of Ontario and the Prime Minister of Ontario. Ask that a committee of, say three, experts, should be struck with the object of examining the financial position of the city and its position and indebtedness. Also add that there are to be thirty professors in thirty rooms engaged at large salaries, as they have to be lecturers, and pray that the city be notified if the persons appointed by the authorities should decree that these disbursements would be unwise and improper. Then that the authorities in Belleville would be informed that unless the board and the city council promised to withhold their hands that the charter of the city would be suspended. If ordered the city and board would have to obey. Get a lawyer to draw up a petition, circulate it and get all the signatures.

The expense of drawing the petition I would pay. Send copies to the Governor and the Ontario Premier.

I have but one more observation to make; which is that in your own interests you will circulate the petition, you will (I am persuaded) get the government to interfere. If it fails, something else must be tried. To sit still and be ruined is unthinkable.

Yours truly,
J. J. B. FLINT.

ADMIT STEALING TWO BARRELS OF ALCOHOL

Windsor, March 4—Earl Beeman and Charles Maisonville, arrested in connection with the theft of two barrels of alcohol from the plant of the Tanlac Company in Walkerville recently, pleaded guilty in the Police Court at the same time making an offer of restitution. They had sold the spirits for $2,000 they said. They were remanded for a week for sentence.

Geo. Barran, aged seventeen, and M. D. Smith, who broke the truck which carried the alcohol away were also sent back to jail for a week until their characters can be investigated.

THE EWE AT LAMBING

Hints on Care of Both Mother and Lamb.

Care Before Lambing Important—How to Help In Cases of Poor Delivery — A Good Ration for Ewes When Raising Lambs.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE two main factors contributing to a satisfactory lamb crop are the proper feeding and care of the sheep during the six months previous to lambing time together with care and detailed attention given to the flock during the lambing period. Plenty of exercise coupled with sufficient amount of the right kind of feed to maintain the ewes in good thriving condition will usually result in the birth of active rugged lambs, for which the mother will have a sufficient supply of milk. In practically every flock, no matter how well cared for, the attendant must be on hand frequently, day and night, during the period the lambs are arriving. A little attention at the proper time often results in the saving of not a few lambs.

Absolute dryness and freedom from draught are very essential for the flock at lambing time, and when the lambs are expected in March or even early April provision should be made for reasonable protection from the cold.

Wool balls in the stomach is often the cause of much loss in young lambs. This trouble as well as difficulty in getting the lambs to nurse may be avoided by clipping away all loose and dirty wool from around the udder and quarters of the ewes. It must be borne in mind that at this time the ewes, heavy in lamb, should be handled gently, otherwise serious loss may occur from ewes slipping their lambs.

Provision should be made for a few small pens located along the warmest side of the building. The ewe about to lamb is much safer separated from the main flock and in cases of difficult parturition, weak lambs, ewes disowning their lambs, and numerous other difficulties that may arise they can be looked after a great deal more satisfactorily when confined in small enclosures. It not infrequently happens that a ewe has difficulty in delivering her lamb; this is more common in the case of young ewes with their first lamb. When the lamb has come forward far enough so that the nose and front feet are in sight and the head is unable to pass through the ewe should be assisted by gentle pulling on the forefeet. If this fails smear the inside of the vagina well with linseed oil; this has the effect of softening and allowing the opening to stretch, and will, unless the case is a very severe one, give relief. No action should be taken until it is reasonably certain some assistance is needed, and before investigating the hands should be perfectly clean and disinfected.

Lambs may be born weak and apparently lifeless, more particularly in case of difficult delivery. These may be revived by quick action on the part of the attendant. First remove the phlegm from the mouth, then hold the mouth open and blow gently a few times to start lung action. Next lay the lamb on its belly and gently beat it on the sides next to the heart just back of the shoulder.

A ewe may lose her lamb and still have a supply of milk. She may be given a lamb say one of twins or an orphan lamb belonging to another ewe to raise. This may be accomplish by skinning the dead lamb and throwing the skin over the one to be adopted. A ewe may take to another lamb when held and the lamb allowed to suck. Especially is this true where a ewe has a full flow of milk.

When a lamb is born during a cold spell it may become so thoroughly chilled as to require attention. Place the lamb in hot water until well warmed, rub dry, then wrap in a cloth and place beside a fire until restored. A little warm milk taken from the mother should be given as soon as the lamb will take it. A few drops of whiskey in a little warm water may often prove beneficial.

Ewes, like dairy cattle, vary a great deal in the amount of milk given. In case of single lambs the mother may have more milk than the lamb will take for a week or more, the lambs may be nursing on one side only and the other side will become inflamed and caked. Either hold the ewe and allow another lamb to nurse or milk out. In case the udder has become hard bathe with hot water for five minutes with a woollen cloth, dry thoroughly and apply (warm) pure melted hogs' lard.

Ewes should be fed sparingly, especially of grain, for a few days after lambing, as soon as they are safely over the effects of lambing they should be gradually brought up to full feed. Clover or alfalfa hay, together with a grain ration of oats and bran should give results. If roots or good quality silage is available they will supply succucency and add variety to the ration.

All lambs should be docked and the male lambs, other than those intended for breeding purposes, castrated at from ten days to two weeks' old.

Following is a good ration for ewes when raising lambs:—

Oats, eight parts.
Bran, four parts.
Oil cake, one part.
Roots, four to six pounds per day.
Good hay.

Lambs started on ¼ pound per day will give a good account of the feed consumed.—Percy Sackville, O. A. College, Guelph.

A laying hen requires grain, meat or milk as well as green food during the winter months.

PITCHED BATTLE WAGED IN DARK OVER LIQUOR

New York, March 5.—After a pitched battle in the darkened bunk-room of the steamship President Wilson in which members of the crew tried to defend their supplies of contraband liquor, Government agents seized 537 bottles of cognac which had been hidden on the ship.

The President Wilson arrived from Brest Thursday and Government agents conducted searches at various times. It was revealed today that liquor was found in the fire room, the cook's quarters, the bakery, the quartermaster's room and in the bilge.

When the three inspectors entered the firemen's quarters about eighty men were in their bunks. The crew regarded them indifferently and were aroused only when the searchers came upon suspicious lumps in the bunk mattresses.

Suddenly the lights were switched off and the framework of an iron bunk was hurled upon the table. The crew shouted and fought but the inspectors taking advantage of the gloom edged their way through the door where the light switch was finally located.

One of the agents hereupon sent for assistance and when three more inspectors arrived the crew was driven aside and the liquor seized.

Officers today also seized 550 bottles of cognac aboard the steamships Morro Castle and Monterey, from Havana and 150 bottles of bacardi rum on the steamship Munamar from Antilla, Cuba. The rum was found beneath 150 fathoms of anchor chain, so heavy that it could be moved only by a steam winch.

Wonderful Patriotic Service Of Belleville Women

WOMEN'S RED CROSS AND PATRIOTIC ASSOCIATION DISBURSED OVER TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN CASH, BESIDES SENDING A WEALTH OF COMFORTS TO SOLDIERS OVERSEAS, INCLUDING 26,379 PAIRS OF SOCKS.

The Women's Red Cross and Patriotic Association at a meeting held a short time ago practically wound up the active work of the Society, although the organization is retained until it is known what the Provincial Red Cross Association decides to do, if anything, in connection with the work of reconstruction.

A statement of the proceedings during the five years of its existence, a summary of which will be found below.

The statement shows the great work done by the Society in providing comforts for the men both in and out of hospital and in hospital supplies as well.

The members of the Association are to be congratulated on the success of this organization which, from the very commencement of the war until the present time, has done so much for the comfort of the soldier boys.

READY FOR THE "FLU" GERM?

You need not fear him if you keep the blood clean and the bodily functions active and efficient by eating a food that gives "high resistance." Shredded Wheat Biscuit gives high resistance against disease-germs because it is so rich in blood-making, tissue-building material and is so easily digested. The most real food for the least money. Two Biscuits with hot milk (or hot water) make a nourishing meal for a few cents.

FLAMES SWEEP NEW YORK CHINATOWN

New York, March 5—Chinatown lost its Oriental political character when flames swept the apartment house in which Tom Lee, late "Mayor" had his headquarters and threatened to raze the Joss House on Mott street in which thousands of Chinamen have bowed their heads in worship. Scores of Chinamen refused to leave their personal effects and had to be carried down extension ladders to safety. A dozen were overcome by smoke. Mrs. Lee, widow of the late "Mayor" was one of these rescued.

Oriental and "Slummers," smoked out, ran into the street, while in a lot of Chinese dwellings appeared hundreds of frightened Chinamen and women crying for help in a language that not a fireman or policeman could understand. Members of both departments were handicapped in the work of rescue by the inability of the Oriental to comprehend commands.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is al you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

GERMAN DIAMOND FIELDS ABSORBED

London, March 5—The terms under which the huge diamond mining concerns in what was formerly German southwest Africa have passed into the control of Englo-American interests was announced recently. The Anglo-American Corporation has caused to be formed the Consolidated Diamond Fields of Southwest Africa, with a capital stock of $22,500,000, to purchase the German interests. A majority of the directors will be Britons, but four Germans will be on the board.

The output of the fields will be controlled by the diamond selling syndicate which now regulates the price of the entire output of the South African fields to prevent over-production and wide variations of the market price of diamonds.

A New "O Canada."

I have heard the song "O Canada" criticized on the ground that for a national song it was too distinctly Canadian, that it lacked an Imperial note, and this point was deemed of some importance at a time when the whole Empire was straining every nerve in the war against a barbarous enemy, writes Hon. W. S. Fielding. I am far from agreeing that the criticism was just. The Englishman, the Scot, the Welshman, or the Irishman is not deemed less loyal to the Empire when he sings of the beauty or the glory of his particular portion of the kingdom; nor should anybody lack appreciation of the singing by Canadians of "O Canada!" either in the original French form of Hon. Mr. Justice Routhier, or in the form of one of the several English translation that have been made. Out of the criticism, however, this thought came to me: Why should not the stately music of Mr. Lavalee, with which all Canadians are now familiar, be the vehicle of a song at once Canadian and Imperial—a song of Canada, telling of the beauty of its scenery, the richness of its resources, the charm of its history, and withal, the pride which Canadians feel in their citizenship in the British Empire? The accompanying song is presented as an endeavor to respond to the question.

O Canada! 'neath Northland's brightest skies,
From loving hearts our songs of praise arise.
What grandeur in thy rugged heights,
What charm in wood and stream,
What beauty in the myriad lights
That in thy heavens gleam!

Refrain:

O Canada! let heart and hand
Yield loyal service in this freeman's land!
For freemen's rights and freemen's duties stand!

O Canada! where health and wealth intwine,
Where Northern blasts bear fragrance of the pine!
From soil and mine and lake and sea
Come riches for thy dower,
Cascade and river joyously
Bring wondrous gift of power

O Canada! thy page in story glows
With chivalry of fleur de lis and rose,
Adown the vista of the years
Heroic forms advance,
In light and shadow, smiles and tears,
The flower of Albion-France.

O Canada! thy sons will proudly share
Service that links with Empire's world-wide care.
Britannia's far flung lands are bound
With slender silken cord,
Yet strong as steel the tie is found
When foes take up the sword.

O Canada! for thee the day-star beams,
Youth visions see and elders dream their dreams.
An Empire's splendor thou canst share,
Thy wealth is labor's crown,
Shall not a land so rich and fair
Win honor and renown?

O Canada! may we our trust uphold!
Life's minor things must not our hearts enfold.
Not all the weath of earth and sea
Can win thee worthy fame,
If service of our God and thee
Be not our highest aim.

FINED FOR INTOXICATION

Mr. Greffen, a stranger in the city was this morning by Magistrate Masson fined $10 and costs for intoxication.

CAMPBELLFORD CHIEF RESIGNS

Chief of Police W. J. Connor of Campbellford has resigned from office The reason for the Chief's resignation is that he has secured a Government position.

RECEIVED THE MEDAL

Mrs. E. Reynolds of Campbellford received the Military Medal that was to be awarded to her late husband James Reynolds of Campbellford for bravery on the field in September, 1918, who gave his young life for the cause of his country on October 28, 1918.

THEFT OF COAL

Edward Morrison this morning before Police Magistrate Masson pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing coal from the pump house of the G.T.R. The quantity taken was not large. Morrison paid all costs and was allowed to go on a suspended sentence and giving of a bond for his good behaviour in the future.

SURPRISE PARTY

A surprise party was given last evening at the residence of Mr. H. Mason, Pinnacle street, which was attended by a number of friends of Miss Ferol Mason. After an enjoyable evening in games etc., refreshments provided by those attending, were served. The members of the household were voted ideal entertainers.

HARD ON PEDESTRIANS.

Pedestrians this morning experienced considerable trouble in walking owing to the slippery condition of some portions of the walks. This state of affairs could easily have been avoided if the occupants had taken the trouble to remove the snow from the walk in front of their premises when it fell.

DIED IN HONOLULU.

News of the death of Major J. Fitz Horrigan at Honolulu, came as a shock to that gallant gentleman's many friends in Belleville and vicinity. Major Fitz Horrigan visited Belleville last summer and was given a hearty welcome by his friends. He served many years in the Northwest Mounted Police with credit and distinction.

BELLEVILLE'S NEW RESIDENTS

At a meeting of the Montreal South Shore Board of Trade on February 24th, Mr. G. B. Jones of Belleville, as President for the year 1919 and Mr. J. B. Findlay as member of the Council were accorded the thanks of the Board for their work during the past year on the said Board of Trade. A similar resolution was also passed by the School Board.

GOING UP!

Still higher prices are predicted for groceries, according to W. P. Eby, president of the Ontario Wholesale Grocers' Association which is in session at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto. In his second annual address he also stated that there was little chance of the prices being checked. Referring to the investigation by the attorney-general he expressed the opinion that the rights of the association would be upheld and "our existence justified."

APPOINTED YARDMASTER

Effective at once, S. Huzard, of Toronto, will assume the duties of general yardmaster of the Grand Trunk Railway at Brockville; George Cooper, trainmaster of the Fifth district announced. Mr. Huzzard has already entered upon his duties and will have charge of both the Brockville and Manitoba yards. He succeeds C. F. McEwan, who has been assigned to other duties in the yard. The new general yardmaster has seen general service on the Ontario lines of the Grand Trunk Railway system and for many years was a freight conductor.

CHEESE OUTLOOK BRIGHT

The outlook for cheese during the coming season is reported to be good. The British commission is buying again, and there is every likelihood that Canada's surplus for export will find the European market. The last figure quoted by the commission was twenty-six cents. Most dairymen are reported to be in good shape for the production of cheese this year, and while some have predicted a heavy falling off in demand and a sharp decline in prices, there does not appear at present to be any marked indication of this. G. G. Publow, chief dairy inspector for Eastern Ontario, states that the propects are bright, and that the cheese makers could count on all of their produce this year being taken.

A KIND THOUGHT

Have you thought what a kind thought could accomplish when expressed? Brings joy, happiness, pleasure, satisfaction, harmony, good will, raise a despondent from his despondency, the miserable one to untold joy, failure to success. Well some good-hearted Belleville curler had a kind thought toward the little ones in the Children's Shelter and through that kind thought thirty-five children now in the Children's Shelter had a fine sleigh ride last night after which they had ice-cream, and quite a glorious time generally. They were sorry for the losers of the game (perhaps) but really you know the kiddies could not cry about it for it was the losers who paid the shot in a good royal curler's spirit and the members of the management board are very grateful to the Belleville Curling Club for the good time they gave the little ones.

Major Fitz Horrigan Dead At Honolulu

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 5.—Major J. Fitz Horrigan, Superintendent of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Vancouver and Commissioner for the British Columbia district, died Wednesday in Honolulu, according to a cablegram received at police headquarters last night. Suffering from a nervous breakdown, he went to Honolulu last October in the hope that the change would do him good. He was born in Picton, Ont., 60 years ago, and joined the Royal North-West Mounted Police in 1899. He spent thirteen years in the Yukon. From the Yukon he was transferred to Regina and afterwards to Maple Creek, Sask., and Calgary.

Prosperous Year And Good Prospects

Springer Lock Mfg. Co. Hold Annual Meeting—Dividends Declared—Large Orders on Hand.

The annual shareholders' meeting of the Springer Lock Manufacturing Company, Limited, was held at their office, 180 Coleman street, on Wednesday evening last. The statement of last year's business and the result of the year's operations was very satisfactory. A 7 per cent. dividend on the first preference stock, also a dividend on the second preference stock for 1919 was declared and paid.

The year 1920 is starting off very satisfactorily with large orders for Canada and export on the books, and with good prospects for the whole year. The main handicap will be securing plenty of experienced help and material. The principal shortage will be in steel, which is caused by the coal and steel strikes in the United States.

The officers and directors for the year 1920 are as follows:

President and Managing Director—W. C. Springer.

Vice-President—C. I. White.

Secretary-Treasurer—H. M. Jones.

Directors—R. J. Graham, Dr. O. A. Marshall, Col. A. E. Bywater, Major J. H. Sills, D.S.O., Mr. A. I. Bird.

Two Engineers Killed In Railway Wreck

ELIZABETH, N.J., March 5—Two engineers and a fireman were killed and a dozen persons were injured when the Hampton Express of the Central Railroad of New Jersey crashed into a work train at Elizabethport and the engines blew up.

Debris was hurled high into the air as the trains came together, and many of the injured were struck by wreckage as they stood on the station platform. Then great clouds of steam shot up as the boilers burst. One car of the worktrain was overturned, an express coach was badly crushed, and tracks were torn up for many yards. Panic ensued. Reports of a dozen killed and scores injured travelled far and wide, and call for ambulances was telephoned to neighboring cities. Then railroad employees plunged into the work of examining the wreckage and compiling an accurate casualty list.

The dead are:

Herman Hand of Dunellen, N. J., engineer of the work train.

J. J. Bargley, Dunellen, N.J., fireman of the work train.

W. H. Fells, engineer of the express.

Russell W. Schwartz, of Allentown, Pa., fireman on the express, received a broken leg. The condition of several of the injured is serious.

From Cherry-Blossom Land

The Japanese Give Good Example

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom Land that beauty of face and figure depend on womanly health.

What is it that makes our Canadian women often pale, sallow-faced, with dark circles under the eyes, and very often old at forty-five when they should be in their prime?

Women suffer in girlhood from backache, spine-ache and headaches, followed by irregularities and as a result diseases of the womanly organs are more common than any one but a physician in active practice could suppose.

ONTARIO WOMEN TESTIFY

Chatham, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's medicines have been used in my family at home (especially by my father and mother) ever since I can remember. They always proved very satisfactory. Through overwork I at one time became all run-down in health. was on the verge of a complete nervous break-down. I went on ailing for about two years, during which time I suffered terribly. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it soon built me up in good health and cured me of the nervous condition. I consider it an excellent medicine for the ailments of women."—MRS. CHAS. SAYS DRY LAW IS UNREST MENACE

New Orleans, La., March 5.—Cardinal Gibbon urged a liberal interpretation of the question of what constitutes an intoxicating beverage and steps to legalize the sale of beer and light wines in the first public statement he has made since his arrival here to visit his brother. The cardinal declared that he dry law carries a menace of unrest to the country.

"There must be liberty for all," said the cardinal, "but the license system must be destroyed in handling the saloons."

10 Years of Eczema—A Sample Cured Her

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters, telling stories of suffering from skin diseases and how cure was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. Henry Harvey, Black Lake, Que. Write her if you desire.

"Ten years of eczema on the face. Treated unavailingly by doctors. A sample alone of D. D. D. cured me, etc."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of cure and endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Just try one bottle of D. D. D. today on our positive guarantee. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

Woes of Settlers At Kapuskasing Told To Commission

KAPUSKASING, March 5—"We have come here determined to get at the bottom of the problem. We are determined to find out what conditions are, and anxious to hear any suggestions which you may have to offer. None of us is prejudiced. On the contrary, our strongest sympathies are with you. Only your heartiest co-operation can make this inquiry a success.

With this very brief announcement from Mr. W. F. Nickle, M. P. Chairman of the Commission appointed by the Provincial Government to investigate the complaints and charges made by soldier settlers at the Kapuskasing colony, Mr. Nickle and his colleagues, Lieut.-Col. John I. MacLaren and Prof. Sharp, opened their inquiry in the Oronage Hall of the colony. The hall is a one-room frame structure, and was crowded with settlers, many of whom had come some distance to give their evidence. Taking advantage of the offer to make the inquiry as wide as possible, the settlers told in detail the story of their experiences. During the day of six hours the Commission was able to hear only ten of them, who came from Harty and Kitigan settlements on the outskirts of the colony.

All Wish to Leave

In answer to the question which Chairman Nickle put to each witness, these settlers replied that as soon as the opportunity was given them they wished to leave the camp. They claimed that their experience had been that the colony was absolutely unfit, that the possibilities of success were not what officials had represented them to be, and, further, that "it had been a case of broken promises."

The case of each settler who testified is now one of almost utter destitution. Their stories were pathetic. With one exception these settlers came to the camp with sums of money exceeding $500 which did not include Government assistance. They have been here for moer than a year. They find they cannot obtain enough from ten acres, if it happens to be cleared, to support themselves and families, and it is impossible to find work. If they cannot sell the land all admitted that they were deeply in debt to the Government store and that they knew of no way in which the debt could be paid.

Doesn't Like the Seasons

William Hearst, Kitigan, married, with six children, four of whom were dependent upon him, startled the Commission with his story of his experiences since his arrival in April, 1918. He has a house, 20 feet by 34 feet, a stable, four cows and two horses, one of which is owned by the Government.

"We have seven months winter, three months black flies, and three months rain," said Hearst. "Snow fell last year on September 22nd. I have been drawing logs this winter and have earned $4 a day, out of which I had to pay $3.15 for my meals and for horse feed. It's an awful condition. I can't even buy a pair of mitts. I have four cows but can't afford to feed them, and as a result all we get is a pint of milk a day. I can't sell them because no one wants to buy them."

FACTORY MANAGERS MUCH IN NEED OF HELP

Toronto, March 6.—"The factory situation is the worst," said Rev. J. A. Miller, head of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau, when speaking of the women's employment end of the work. "The factory managers are desperate for want of help, but none seems forthcoming. Of course the epidemic has something to do with the scarcity of help in all lines."

Mr. Miller stated that the domestic situation was about as usual. He attributed the great dearth of house workers to the fact that there was no influx of English girls. The year preceding the war there were 3,000 English girls came to Ontario and entered domestic service, according to Mr. Miller. He said that next month there would be two or three ship loads of girls from England to help relieve the situation.

Regarding clerical help, while there was never a lack of positions, he said that the bureau had been able to fill the most pressing calls. Many of them had been emergency calls. "There are lots of good calls still open though," he added. "Both for expert help and beginners we have several calls yet unfilled."

APPALLED AT NUMBER OF PEOPLE KILLED BY AUTOS

Sudbury, March 6.—A sentence of eighteen months' imprisonment was imposed by Mr. Justice Latchford on Emil Peruu, a local jitney driver, for wanton and reckless driving of his automobile on Nov. 15 last, thereby causing the death of Peter Leblanc. The jury in the Spring Assize Court found the accused guilty on this count, but returned a verdict of not guilty on another count, that he did kill and slay the victim of the collision. The jury added to their verdict a strong recommendation for mercy for the accused. Mr. Justice Latchford in passing sentence, said he was appalled with the increasing number of pedestrians killed by automobiles and hoped the sentence would be a deterrent on reckless driving.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in March or Face May Stay Covered

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish to look well the rest of the year. The March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all Summer unless removed. Now is the time to use Othine—double strength.

This preparation for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of Othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

MAJOR PULLEN IS TORIES' NOMINEE

Englehart, March 5—Major Pullen, of Kelso, was nominated unanimously at a convention of the Conservative Association, and will contest the district of Timiskaming as a straight Conservative in the coming by-election. Among those nominated, but who withdrew in favor of Major Pullen, were W. A. Gordon, of Halleybury, and J. Clarke of Englehart.

In spite of the fact that the man to be elected in the coming by-election for the district of Timiskaming may not have more than a year to sit in Parliament before being called upon to go to the electors in a general election, there are alreay four men in the field, the list now including the following: Arthur G. Slaght, of Toronto, Liberal; Major Pullen of Kelso, Conservative; Angus McDonald, of Cobalt, I.L.P., U. F. O. and David Bertrand, South Porcupine, Liberal Independent Farmer.

WHEN BABY BUMPS

Her Head, Take Away the Pain with "ABSORBINE JR."

When any of the children cut a finger, or bruise a knee, or burn a hand, or sprain a shoulder, soothe the pain—ease the soreness—reduce the swelling—by applying "ABSORBINE JR."

Every home which is blessed with happy, active kiddies should have "ABSORBINE JR." always handy. When an accident happens, you need help quickly. "ABSORBINE JR." completely stops the pain, heals the injury—prevents cuts and sores from becoming infected.

"ABSORBINE JR." is a vegetable germicide that is absolutely safe and pleasant to use. In fact, it is often used as a mouth wash and gargle for sore throat, when properly diluted.

France Objects to Modification of The Treaty of Versailles

NOT IN POSITION TO MAKE CONCESSIONS THAT WOULD AFFECT HER OWN ECONOMIC INTERESTS TO ANYONE, LEAST OF ALL TO GERMANY.

PARIS, March 6—The French Government will make determined opposition to any revision of the treaty of Versailles, that would modify her claims on Germany, it was learned.

The attitude of the French Government, according to the official point of view, is in perfect accord with the sentiments of the new Chamber of Deputies. It is held that any further concessions by the French Government to Germany would not be tolerated by Parliament, and, if made, the Government would be overthrown.

The French official view of the economic situation, it was stated in authoritative circles, is quite the same as that set forth in London, that is, that all Europe must be put on a prosperous basis. The French, however, it was pointed out, are beginning to think their Allies have forgotten that France herself is not on a prosperous basis, and not in a position to make concessions that would affect her own economic interests to anyone, least of all to Germany.

Food Drafts For Starving Children

Administered by and for the Profit of the European Children's Fund

The American Relief Administration have arranged that orders on their Central European warehouses for food can be sent by residents of Canada to relatives in those countries. These orders can be obtained through the offices of the Bank of Montreal who have agreed to co-operate in this benevolent object without any profit—deliveries beyond the warehouses are made by the governments of the countries concerned but this extra distribution would need to be arranged for and paid for by the beneficiaries of the Food Drafts. In some cases the $10 parcel (24½ pounds flour, 8 lbs. beans and 8 cans milk) or an equivalent food value, can be forwarded by mail at small cost. There are four different parcels, two costing $10, each in New York and two costing $50, each in New York. Food Drafts may be drawn for several packages if desired. When an order is filled an advice will be sent to purchaser of food draft. Food Drafts must be presented within ninety days from issue, at expiry of which they may be cancelled and refunded to purchasers. This plan for relief is endorsed by the Governments of Poland, Austria, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia and Germany, and the officials of the new Governments are endeavouring to impress on residents on this side of the Atlantic that it is useless to remit money with the hope of improving the food situation of families in Central and Eastern Europe.

Fatally Shot In Power Plant

ORILLIA, March 6.—Robert Ironsides, operator at the Orillia Power plant at Swift Rapids, Severn River, twenty miles from here, was found dangerously wounded at the plant early today by Superintendent George Page, with bullet wounds in face, shoulder and stomach. Because of the difficulty in securing medical aid little hope is held out for his recovery.

Ironsides, who lives in Orillia, is a returned soldier having served with the 58th Battalion. No motive for the shooting can be ascertained the police say, who are searching for the assailant.

TURKS TRIED TO HOLD UP BRITISH FORCE

London, March 5—Turkish forces in Asia Minor threatened on February 19 to precent the movement of a detachment of British troops from the port of Ismid, southwest of Constantinople, according to advices received at the War Office here. Several British cruisers and infantry reinforcements were rushed to the scene and the War Minister at Constantinople was notified that force would be employed if the British were prevented from occupying territory placed under their control by the Peace Conference. After a brief delay the Turks yielded, it is reported.

When Ice Melts Many Freight Cars Back To Canada

WASHINGTON March 6—Canada is renewing insistently her demands that 10,000 freight cars, owned by her railways and now in the United States, be returned, and bringing pressure to bear on the car service division of the American Railway Association. It has even been said here that Canada will not permit more cars to cross the border until those in this country are sent back, although no such ultimatum has been received by the car service division.

"The greatest relief we could have from the situation would be ten days of good weather in the New England States, so we could get the car into that territory and through to Canada," said an official today. He said the car movement to eastern Canada was chiefly through Maine and New Hampshire, which were now ice-locked and snowbound.

Canadian Cars Since 1918-19

"Canadian cars have been crowding into this country since the winter of 1918-19," he continued "The weather, however, last winter, as everyone knows, was mild, and the car movement was not hampered by weather conditions.

"The largest number of Canadian freight cars in this country during 1919 was 45,070 on May 1 This number steadily decreased until on November 15, there were 17,533. The cars were being returned right along and the number lessening until the last heavy storms. Since that time there has been a slight increase.

This increase has been due to complete or part paralysis of railroad operation.

"I do not consider 17,000 excess Canadian cars in this country a large number, or anything unusual. Canada is a producing country, and it is well known that a railroad which originates traffic can never expect to keep all of its car on its own rails. We try to return cars to Canada right along but I do not believe that she will ever get back all of her cars."

Return the Empties

According to this official, instructions have been given to all railroads to return cars to Canada as soon as unloaded, and not to use them in the meantime for other routings. Requests from freight congested territory for Canadian cars for a few weeks have been refused.

"We want to get the cars back to Canada," added the railway man.

"You know there is a demurrage charge of 90 cents per day on each car kept in this country, so you can see there is no reason not to return them as soon as possible. They cannot be used there to make up for shortage of cars belonging to American systems, so there is no reason in retaining them beyond the necessary time."

Hollinger's Net Profit $2,321,290

Ore Reserves Total 4,178,580 Tons, Having Value of $37,816,990

The Hollinger Consolidated Gold Mines Limited during the year ending December 31st, 1919, shipped all its gold bullion, except part of December to the mint at Ottawa, the company receiving payment in New York funds from the sale of which it derived considerable profit.

"The demand for gold to provide an adequate backing for the highly inflated issue of paper money now outstanding, already great, becomes daily more insistent," says Mr. N. A. Timmins, the president, in the annual report which was mailed to shareholders. "We are ready to supply this demand and to add to the gold reserves of Canada to the fullest extent of our ability and the capacity of the mine, but, before we can do so, the disadvantages from which the gold mining industry has suffered since the commencement of the war must be improved or entirely removed. There must also be a more abundant supply of efficient labor and an appreciable reduction in the cost of all materials and supplies used by us, otherwise it will not be possible to greatly increase our output along sound economic lines, which is the only policy we would feel justified in attempting to carry out."

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES

The balance carried forward is $2,670,577.08. The tonnage milled yielded $6,722,266.81. Other income makes a total of $7,063,099.21. Working expenses absorbed $3,222,617.11. Municipal, Provincial and Dominion of Canada taxes for 1918 and reserve for Dominion of Canada 1919 taxes $286,372.65, and depreciation and donations $1,232,819.40 in all $4,741,809.11 which leaves a net profit of $2,321,290.07, out of which we paid $1,722,000,000 in dividends and added $599,290.07 to surplus account.

A year ago the net profit was $2,599,299.07 to surplus account.

A year ago the net profit was $2,588,863.01.

Mr. Timmins points out that the labor situation has not improved to the extent anticipated at the beginning of the year. Pre-war efficiency has by no means been attained and there is still a serious shortage of both skilled and unskilled labor. The average number of men employed was 1,207, a gain of 146.

200,000 Sinn Feiners in Ireland More Malignant Than Ever

LONDON, March 6—"More than 200,000 Sinn Feiners are all ready to murder the loyal subjects in Ireland," declared Ian MacPherson, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in the House of Commons in the course of an impassioned denouncement of Irish Republican activities.

"I would not be surprised if, after publication of this debate many loyal and efficient officials were endangered. We are up against a tremendous situation in Ireland. The 1916 rebellion has not been stamped out yet. The Sinn Fein spirit is more malignant than it has ever been. I intend to do my utmost to maintain law and order.

"The Government has no intention of bringing Lord Mayor Kelly (Dublin))and other deported prisoners to trial," he added.

MacPherson's statement was elicited by the charge of Capt. Wedgewood-Benn that the Chief Secretary was inspiring outrages in Ireland.

Have Less "Pep" Than Our Fathers

Present Generation is Overeating Without Increase in Energy

Paris, March 6—The present generation is overeating, without, however, recording an increase in energy and activity. In fact, we have considerably less "pep" than our mothers and fathers had at our age.

Such is the conclusion of the Academy of Medicine, following a detailed study of the subject by Prof. Charles F. Rechet. Since 1832, he shows the individual consumption of potatoes has been tripled that of meat doubled, and people drink six times as much coffee as they did 88 years ago. Statistics of the Biological Society show that an increase in food consumption is never accompanied by an increase in production.

CONDITIONS IN CANADA AS BAD AS IN IRELAND?

London, March 6—The third reading of the War Emergency Laws continuance bill gave an opportunity for a strong attack on the Irish administration in the House yesterday. Replying to a question, the Irish Secretary said that it seemed to be thought that Ireland alone had to endure these regulations. Canada has issued regulations more stringent than any in the United Kingdom, making guilty of an offence any person or association having the purpose of bringing about Governmental, industrial, or economic changes by force or violence. J. H. Thomas asked about the Winnipeg strike and the Irish Secretary replied that "That was settled by means of this regulation." He added that it showed there might be conditions prevailing in Canada as bad as in Ireland, but Canada had the courage to get Parliament to pass severe regulations to cope with them. The third reading was carried by 291 to 52.

Cilician Massacre Will Be Expensive For Turkey

ALLIES FRAMING TURKISH PEACE SETTLEMENT INFLUENCED BY BRUTAL MASS MURDER OF ARMENIANS —NARROWER LIMITS FOR TURKEY AND NO ARMY PERMITTED.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

LONDON, March 6.—There is a likelihood that the Cilician massacre may cost Turkey much of what the Treaty of Peace would otherwise have left out, according to expressions heard in inner circles at Whitehall, where Allied Foreign Ministers continue framing the Turkish settlement. It is believed that among other things proposed the boundary from Enos, on the Aegean Sea, to Nidia, on the Black Sea, may be abandoned, and the line may be drawn much further east. This would limit Turkey's possessions in Europe to a narrow peninsula north of the Sea of Marmora. France and Great Britain are credited with being in agreement in this respect, but there is less certainty expressed with regard to Italy's attitude., and the matter is yet to be settled definitely. Another effect of the Cilician outrage is said to be a unanimous sentiment among the members of the Foreign Ministers' Council towards totally Depriving Turkey of an army and permitting her to maintain only a force of gendarmes. This scheme seemed recently to be doomed to abandonment, but it is now said to be probably the solution of the question.

Seventeen Million Dollars For Hydro Power Scheme

RATEPAYERS WANT TO KNOW

In Friday's issue of The Intelligencer attention was called editorially to the "Greater Budget Than Has Been," as tabled in the Belleville City Council, representing estimates of proposed expenditure this year totalling one million three hundred thousand dollars. We pointed out the necessity of the City Council attacking this huge aggregate of probable expenditure with a large and sharp axe. That this suggestion accurately reflects the opinion of many thinking ratepayers is evidenced by direct approval manifested over the telephone and personally by prominent ratepayers, and the general trend of conversation on the street and in stores and offices today. The estimates were brought down at the last meeting of the City Council and duly published and featured in The Intelligencer, and while the ratepayers no doubt have been thinking seriously of the possible tax rate ever since, they have more or less generally suffered in comparative silence. The Intelligencer in bringing the matter up prominently does so with the purpose of having the question of civic expenditures this year thoroughly discussed, to the end that the members of the City Council will be able to properly gauge public opinion and avoid possible mistakes.

Every ratepayer of Belleville is loaded to capacity with a personal expense sheet, controllable and uncontrollable, which is topheavy now and can not take in higher taxes without overbalancing in many instances.

The duty of the City Council of Belleville this year is to see how low they can keep the tax rate, consistent with good business principles, and how few new expenditures can be incurred.

One of the worst business features of civic government by council is the fact that every councillor champions some particular public work and has plans which he wishes to work out for the good of a few or for the general good, calling for expenditure of the ratepayers' money. Every councillor thinks that his ideas are the most progressive and the most necessary and well worth the money of the ratepayers involved. Perhaps he views the individual spending programs of the other councillors as hardly worth considering and rather a waste of good money, but he is very apt to pat them on the back and vote for their resolutions so that they will vote for his. The result often is that there is a large expenditure, large taxes and very little that will live to show for it.

Financial Statement Wanted.

The ratepayers are more or less in the dark as to the financial condition of the city, as the auditors' report for 1919 has not been published yet. The councillors for 1920 would make a good start by taking the ratepayers entirely into their confidence with the publication of a comprehensive financial statement of the city's condition January 1, 1920, and then ascertain public opinion and get a mandate as to the policy of expenditure this year.

Another proposition before the City Council mentioned in The Intelligencer's previous article is the purchase or erection of a new Home for the Friendless. This involves a large sum of money and is at present in the hands of a committee of the Council for report, and can be discussed in these columns later.

No Axe to Grind.

The Intelligencer has no axe to grind, other than the general interest of its readers and the paying of a considerable sum in taxes each year for the privilege of living and doing business in

France Objects to Modification of The Treaty of Versailles

NOT IN POSITION TO MAKE CONCESSIONS THAT WOULD AFFECT HER OWN ECONOMIC INTERESTS TO ANYONE, LEAST OF ALL TO GERMANY.

PARIS, March 6—The French Government will make determined opposition to any revision of the treaty of Versailles, that would modify her claims on Germany, it was learned.

The attitude of the French Government, according to the official point of view, is in perfect accord with the sentiments of the new Chamber of Deputies. It is held that any further concessions by the French Government to Germany would not be tolerated by Parliament, and, if made, the Government would be overthrown.

The French official view of the economic situation, it was stated in authoritative circles, is quite the same as that set forth in London, that is, that all Europe must be put on a prosperous basis. The French, however, it was pointed out, are beginning to think their Allies have forgotten that France herself is not on a prosperous basis, and not in a position to make concessions that would affect her own economic interests to anyone, least of all to Germany.

Food Drafts For Starving Children

Administered by and for the Profit of the European Children's Fund

The American Relief Administration have arranged that orders on their Central European warehouses for food can be sent by residents of Canada to relatives in those countries. These orders can be obtained through the offices of the Bank of Montreal who have agreed to co-operate in this benevolent object without any profit—deliveries beyond the warehouses are made by the governments of the countries concerned but this extra distribution would need to be arranged for and paid for by the beneficiaries of the Food Drafts. In some cases the $10 parcel (24½ pounds flour, 8 lbs. beans and 8 cans milk) or an equivalent food value, can be forwarded by mail at small cost. There are four different parcels, two costing $10, each in New York and two costing $50, each in New York. Food Drafts may be drawn for several packages if desired. When an order is filled an advice will be sent to purchaser of food draft. Food Drafts must be presented within ninety days from issue, at expiry of which they may be cancelled and refunded to purchasers. Hon. Arthur Meighen Declares Dominion Census Must Be Taken First

OTTAWA, March 6—No election until 1921 is the present decision of the Government. That decision is expressed in the declaration of Hon. Arthur Meighen, which appears in Hansard as follows:

"I appeal to honorable gentlemen everywhere to allow Western Canada to get its representation, which it assuredly will, because there is no intention to have an election until an opportunity is provided to give Western Canada its full share of representation after the census is taken. I appeal to all to repudiate the resolution and to stand by stable, firm and honest government."

In this contention Mr. Meighen and the Government will be supported by all but the Opposition and the new Farmer's party of twelve.

Rev. Dr. Cody Will Tender Resignation

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, March 6—Dr. Cody, Minister of Education in the late Hearst Government is giving up his seat in the Legislature. The resignation of the member for northwest Toronto has not been handed in as yet but it is stated positively that he has made up his mind to retire from politics and that his formal resignation will be in the hands of Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Liberal-Conservative leader, probably on Monday or Tuesday. Dr. Cody has already been in touch with Mr. Ferguson and has furnished him with his reason for dropping out.

Cilician Massacre Will Be Expensive For Turkey

ALLIES FRAMING TURKISH PEACE SETTLEMENT INFLUENCED BY BRUTAL MASS MURDER OF ARMENIANS —NARROWER LIMITS FOR TURKEY AND NO ARMY PERMITTED.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited

LONDON, March 6.—There is a likelihood that the Cilician massacre may cost Turkey much of what the Treaty of Peace would otherwise have left out, according to expressions heard in inner circles at Whitehall, where Allied Foreign Ministers continue framing the Turkish settlement. It is believed that among other things proposed the boundary from Enos, on the Aegean Sea, to Nidia, on the Black Sea, may be abandoned, and the line may be drawn much further east. This would limit Turkey's possessions in Europe to a narrow peninsula north of the Sea of Marmora. France and Great Britain are credited with being in agreement in this respect, but there is less certainty expressed with regard to Italy's attitude., and the matter is yet to be settled definitely. Another effect of the Cilician outrage is said to be a unanimous sentiment among the members of the Foreign Ministers' Council towards totally Depriving Turkey of an army and permitting her to maintain only a force of gendarmes. This scheme seemed recently to be doomed to abandonment, but it is now said to be probably the solution of the question.

Seventeen Million Dollars For Hydro Power Scheme

RETURN OF SIR ADAM BECK FROM ENGLAND FOCUSES ATTENTION UPON HUGE HYDRO POWER AND RADIAL PROGRAM.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, March 6.—Seventeen million dollars will be required from the province and various municipalities of Ontario to carry out the series of Hydro power schemes which are expected to go ahead now that Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro Commission, has returned fro mthe Old Country. Much of this money will be needed for the proposed Hydro radial railroad in western Ontario, and the development of new water powers in eastern and northern Ontario.

RATEPAYERS WANT TO KNOW

In Friday's issue of The Intelligencer attention was called editorially to the "Greater Budget Than Has Been," as tabled in the Belleville City Council, representing estimates of proposed expenditure this year totalling one million three hundred thousand dollars. We pointed out the necessity of the City Council attacking this huge aggregate of probable expenditure with a large and sharp axe. That this suggestion accurately reflects the opinion of many thinking ratepayers is evidenced by direct approval manifested over the telephone and personally by prominent ratepayers, and the general trend of conversation on the street and in stores and offices today. The estimates were brought down at the last meeting of the City Council and duly published and featured in The Intelligencer, and while the ratepayers no doubt have been thinking seriously of the possible tax rate ever since, they have more or less generally suffered in comparative silence. The Intelligencer in bringing the matter up prominently does so with the purpose of having the question of civic expenditures this year thoroughly discussed, to the end that the members of the City Council will be able to properly gauge public opinion and avoid possible mistakes.

Every ratepayer of Belleville is loaded to capacity with a personal expense sheet, controllable and uncontrollable, which is top-heavy now and can not take in higher taxes without overbalancing in many instances.

The duty of the City Council of Belleville this year is to see how low they can keep the tax rate, consistent with good business principles, and how few new expenditures can be incurred.

One of the worst business features of civic government by council is the fact that every councillor champions some particular public work and has plans which he wishes to work out for the good of a few or for the general good, calling for expenditure of the ratepayers' money. Every councillor thinks that his ideas are the most progressive and the most necessary and well worth the money of the ratepayers involved. Perhaps he views the individual spending programs of the other councillors as hardly worth considering and rather a waste of good money, but he is very apt to pat them on the back and vote for their resolutions so that they will vote for his. The result often is that there is a large expenditure, large taxes and very little that will live to show for it.

Financial Statement Wanted.

The ratepayers are more or less in the dark as to the financial condition of the city, as the auditors' report for 1919 has not been published yet. The councillors for 1920 would make a good start by taking the ratepayers entirely into their confidence with the publication of a comprehensive financial statement of the city's condition January 1, 1920, and then ascertain public opinion and get a mandate as to the policy of expenditure this year.

Another proposition before the City Council mentioned in The Intelligencer's previous article is the purchase or erection of a new Home for the Friendless. This involves a large sum of money and is at present in the hands of a committee of the Council for report, and can be discussed in these columns later.

No Axe to Grind.

The Intelligencer has no axe to grind, other than the general interest of its readers and the paying of a considerable sum in taxes each year for the privilege of living and doing business in

RATEPAYERS WANT TO KNOW.

Belleville; but we believe that there should be no large program of expenditure undertaken this year without ascertaining if public opinion will back up such a program. Councillors who are taxpayers to any extent will appreciate this, and we believe that even those councillors whose tax bills are small will be only too glad to start off this year with a clear knowledge of the wishes of the ratepayers. No one wishes to make mistakes, particularly young men who are beginning what may be important public careers. Youthful enthusiasm sometimes bubbles over and causes expensive mopping up, but this is a time when the old heads should have their say and be carefully listened to and their opinions respected.

Ascertain Public Opinion.

The Open Forum of the new Chamber of Commerce could very well occupy itself with the question of civic expenditure this year, and the Forum should be open enough to bring out the views of the citizens of all classes, from Front street to the suburbs.

Public opinion is needed more now than ever before to guide those entrusted with the spending of the money of the ratepayers of Belleville. The Executive Committee, which includes every member of the City Council, met Thursday night and passed upon a number of requests for cash grants. Every request was treated favorably and passed on to the Council meeting Monday night when the same committee as councillors will pass their own recommendations, unless in the meantime they should ascertain that public opinion was unfavorable to any of the recommendations. Then they might sidetrack or kill that particular recommendation.

Lady Social Worker.

There is need of rigid economy and a sharp watch of every dollar of expenditure, the many small amounts constituting leaks which seriously drain the city treasury. As an instance, the Executive Committee recommended that a woman Social Worker, with police status, be employed at a salary of $1200 per annum. This scheme includes, although not mentioned in the report, a Front street office, entailing office expenses. There are no slum districts in Belleville, thanks be, and in the opinion of The Intelligencer the duties of a Social Worker are being well looked after by the Salvation Army, which makes a specialty of going out into the highways and byways and compelling them to come in, besides going into all the nooks and corners of the city, often with a scrub brush, teaching a clean and healthful Christianity in a Social Service way. Until there is more evidence of urgent need of a Social Worker we must remain believers that this work is being well cared for by local organizations. Upon the face of it the expense of a Social Worker seems a small thing, but it is the many small things which make up the great things and help to build a mountain of expenditure which even faith cannot move.

Under the Microscope.

Every item of proposed civic expenditure this year should be carefully scrutinized and not approved unless absolutely necessary. From every indication the civic tax rate this year will be plenty large enough to provide for expenditures absolutely necessary, and a civic administration pledged to economy will receive the approval of the taxpayers.

Sport

HOCKEY.

Kingston is hockey crazy over the final with Collingwood in the intermediate O.H.A. series, the first game of which was played Friday night. A crowd of over five hundred fans and fanettes lined up for tickets at a downtown cigar store. Many seeking tickets brought chairs and also their lunch, determined to take things as easily as possible.

STANLEY CUP GAMES

Montreal, Que., March 6.—The world's series for the Stanley Cup between the champions of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association and the National Hockey Association is now assured, according to an announcement by President Frank Calder of the N.H.L.

President Frank Patrick of the P.C.H.A. wires that his champions will be in Ottawa ready to meet the Senators in the first game on Monday, March 22. This date is rather late, but it is hoped that the weather will hold up and permit of good ice until the end of the month. If the weather man should not prove kind to the Ottawa fans, the games left unplayed will probably be transferred to Toronto, where artificial ice is available.

BEST THREE OUT OF FIVE

The series is the best three games out of five, and alternate rules will be used, the N.H.L. code ruling in the first game and the Pacific Coast ones in the second. There is very little difference now in the rules, since the N.H.L. adopted the centre non-offside space, except that the Pacific Coast League calls for 40 feet either side of centre for this space and seven man hockey as against 20 feet space in the N.H.L. rinks and six men.

The question of officials will be arranged between the two presidents, and, as was in vogue last year at the coast, one official will probably act, being selected for the whole series.

W. E. Northey, Allan Cup trustee, having secured a statement from Secretary Bettschen of the C.A.H.A. to the effect that the consitution of their association would not permit of the Montreal Bankers League competing in the elimination series, has wired him that he did not expect him to deviate from the rules. This means that the action of the officials of the Province of Quebec section in putting the Bank of Montreal team in the draw is overruled.

COLLINGWOOD GETS LEAD IN KINGSTON

Kingston March 5—Kingston received a "hefty" bump tonight when Collingwood took the first of the O.H.A. intermediate final games by 2 to 1. The play was pretty close all the way but the team work won for the visitors. Kingston failed to make its usual third period rally.

After eighteen minutes play in the first period Walton of Collingwood slipped one past Tobin. That was the only goal scored until the third period when Foulis scored Collingwood's second goal. Just before the finish Smith scored Kingston's only goal. The visitors are a heavier team than the locals, and on tonight's performance are a better team. Cook of Kingston, was twice knocked out, and the last time had to be carried off. There were few penalties. The return game is to be played in Collingwood on Monday night. The teams:

Kingston—Goal, Tobin; defence Elmer and Brown; centre, Stewart; wings, Cook and Smith. Spares—Stanton and Derry.

Collingwood—Goal, Cooke; defence, McLeod and Noble; centre, Hughes, wings, Fryer and Walton. Spares—Perns and Foulis.

Referee—Lawson Whitehead; judge of play—Willard Box.

Yankee Jewellers Neatly Swindled

MONTREAL, March 6.—Through an article which appeared in a jewellers' trade journal two weeks ago, which is reproduced below, H. H. Muggley was arrested in the Windsor Hotel today on a charge of securing money under false pretences.

Mr. Peyton, secretary treasurer of Mappin and Webb noticed the article. A few days later the accused came into the store of Mappin and Webb in Montreal. Peyton remembering the article became suspicious and notified the Burns Detective Agency resulting in the arrest of Muggley this morning.

The article referred to follows:

"A swindle resulting in the loss of $5,100 was perpetrated early this week at the store of J. B. Hudson & Co., the largest jewelry dealers of the twin cities. The police of two states are seeking a man who obtained diamonds and other articles of valuable jewelry. The man, who gave the name of H. R. Muggley, of Milwaukee, Wis., represented himself to be an inventer and stock salesman, according to officials of the Hudson concern. The police say that Muggley came to Minneapolis in January as a stock salesman. Business was not successful, so he visited several jewelry firms introducing himself as an inventor.

Several days ago he called at the Hudson store and after making a few small purchases for cash, ordered diamonds and other jewelery to the value of $5,100, for which he tendered a cheque on the Milwaukee Bank. His credentials appeared satisfactory and complete, the cheque was accepted and the goods handed over to him. Yesterday the cheque was returned "No Funds." Description of Muggley was also received from the Wisconsin authorities asking that the Minneapolis police arrest him on other charges. Elmer Dutton of Wadena, Wis., arrived in the city yesterday to assist in the search for Muggley. Dutton stated that he recently purchased $300 of stock from this man and would be able to identify him."

PARTING OF THE WAYS.

Increased cost of paper, labor and everything included in the making of a daily paper has brought the publishers to a point where rates must be raised or business discontinued. As the people need the newspapers and recognize that need, the publishers desire to "carry on," believing that the advertisers and subscribers recognize that only business necessity dictates increase in rates. Newspapers all over Canada have been revising their rates upward to meet increased expense of publication and the public, recognizing the necessity, have more or less cheerfully accepted the situation. Among the larger newspapers to announce advanced rates is the Toronto Globe, which on March 1 increased its subscription rate to five dollars per year. Other papers are following the same course, believing that patrons will support a vigorous Canadian press rather than a press weakened by insufficient revenue.

The smaller city dailies have an even harder row to hoe than those of the larger centres. Their field is smaller and both advertising and subscription rates have always been too low. They are just as necessary, as the metropolitan papers, and have a field apart, the faithful chronicling of home news and the incentive behind the maintaining and building up of local institutions.

FARMER NO LONGER ISOLATED.

Automobiles, rural mail delivery, telephone service, organization, co-operation, and other advantages of the modern farmer no doubt have had a strong influence upon the growing ambition of agriculturists to take an active part in political affairs. Added to the creature comforts and conveniences which are available on the modern farm, the improvement in his financial affairs no doubt has inspired the farmer to seek a wider outlook upon public affairs than the township and county councils afford. Formerly the farmer was more or less isolated and confined within rather narrow limits, coming in contact with but few of his fellowmen. The automobile connected him up with the village and town, the telephone brought him in constant touch with his neighbors, while the rural mail service made possible a daily paper service instead of the weekly newspaper with its news several days old at least. Farmers' organizations and co-operation widened out his business horizon and the farmer looked abroad and found that the outlook was full of interest. More active interest in the public life of Canada will be welcomed by all classes if the farmer's outlook is broadened sufficiently to submerge the spirit of class. All Canadians must work together for the good of all Canada.

NOT A MYSTERY BUT A FACT.

Advertising is not a mystery any more than salesmanship, merchandising, law, government, blacksmithing and farming are mysteries, writes a business man who has grown wealthy through newspaper advertising. It is the close application of common sense; it is built and based upon confidence. So is every business transaction—every social relation, civilization, life itself. Keep that thought in mind.

The greatest successes we know are advertising successes. More money is made through this medium than any other. The business man who fails to see and appreciate this truth, is, to say the least, unfortunate. He is wilfully throwing away money. Any business minus a reasonable amount of attractive newspaper advertising is unstable. If there were any surer method to business success than through the medium of newspaper advertising, someone would have discovered it long ago. Be assured of that.

We believe—we have always believed—that if the business organizations of our town and community would use more discretion in their advertising, and use more advertising space in the newspapers, this would, more than anything else, discourage the mail-order business. The mail order houses appreciate good advertising. Why? Because it gets the business.

Today no business concern can survive without judicious advertising, and the success of any institution is just as great as its advertising makes it. A river cannot rise above its head. A business cannot rise above its advertising. Advertising is to business what gasoline is to an automobile. No matter how good may be your automobile, it will not go without gasoline. Think about this.

CRISP COMMENT

Advertising is today the great builder of every successful business. According to Bradstreet, eighty-four per cent. of all firms that fail are non-advertisers.

Many of the Ontario cities want the limit of a 25-mill general tax rate made higher, on the ground that they cannot raise enough revenue. That limitation is one of the sound things about the Municipal Act, says the Mail and Empire, which advises the cities and towns to abandon their wastefulness in civic expenditures and set matters right by economizing.

OTHER VIEWS

London Evening News.

So far as lower-grade clerks and similar workers are concerned, we can well understand the temptation which haunts them today to join the Labor ranks, though we cannot commend their powers of discernment in doing so. The middle classes generally have been shamefully neglected for a generation. Taxation falls more heavily upon them than upon millionaire or miner. Their remuneration has increased nothing like in proportion to the rise in the cost of living. Little wonder that men and women who earn round £3 and £5 per week in "black-coated" occupations listen to the frenzied appeals of the Labor spider and find momentary consolation in its parlor.

We Talk Too Much.

Kansas City Star.

If all the capitalists broke out into extemporaneous speech, instead of allowing their attorneys to say the few well chosen words necessary on the proper occasion, or if the unionists ever sassed back when their leaders and delegates spoke, we can see what would happen to their organizations. But they don't do it. They enjoy themselves in silence. It's the rest of us who do the talking, thereby showing our intelligence. The middle class—if we're it—is stricken by a fatal eloquence. Look at Congress, and then look at one of those directors' meetings where they decide how much to pay in dividends and how much to set aside as surplus. There's your silence, if it's silence you're looking for. The middle class union of New York will have to revise its specifications if it wants to get a quorum. It will have to take in some unintelligent people who know how to let by contract what they want said. But then, we suppose, that would be invading the other classes, which probably wouldn't do—they'd take charge of the meeting.

To Keep the Nation Whole.

What do we need to keep the nation whole,
To guard the pillars of the State? We need
The fine audacities of honest deed;
The homely old integrities of soul;
The swift temerities that take the part
Of outcast right—the wisdom of the heart;
Brave hopes that Mammon never can detain,
Nor sully with his gainless clutch for gain.
We need the Cromwell fire to make us feel
The common burden and the public trust
To be a thing as sacred and august
As the white vigil where the angels kneel;
We need the faith to go a path untrod,
The power to be alone and vote with God.

—Edward Markham.

Order, said the law court,
Knowledge, said the school,
Truth, said the wise man,
Pleasure, said the fool.

Love, said the maiden,
Beauty, said the page,
Freedom, said the dreamer,
Home, said the sage,
Fame, said the soldier,
Equity, the seer.

Then within my bosom,
Softly this I heard,

Where owners of stock reside in countries other than Canada, dividends will be paid at par of exchange in such countries, provided the premium involved does not exceed 5%. Where the premium exceeds 5% the holder will be given the benefit of 5% premium.

Or over $130 for each preferred share issued.

EARNINGS

A careful and conservative estimate of earnings made by Messrs. Jule and J. J. Allen, and based on actual results obtained by Allen Theatres under similar conditions, is as follows:

Gross revenue from operation	$468,000
Cost of operation, depreciation, etc	253,000
Surplus available for dividends	$215,000

Representing 60% earned on preferred stock or 7½ times dividend requirements.

The Allen chain of theatres in Canada now seat 48,932 people, will have about 13,900 more seats in 1920, and a grand total of 100,000 in 1921, if present plans are carried out.

Probably the best assurance as to the proper and efficient management of this theatre is the remarkable success which has attended the Allen Theatre enterprises throughout Canada. Close affiliation with both British and American Film Corporations assure their obtaining the best and newest productions at all times.

The Allen Theatre Co. operating theatres in Calgary and Moose Jaw paid 12% in 1918, 15½% in 1919, and total dividends to end of 1919 of 67½%.

Allens down-town theatre in Toronto inaugurated dividends on the Common Stock six months after starting in operation, paid 10% during the following year on these shares, and is now earning 1% monthly. Allens Danforth Theatre Limited, Toronto, opened on August 19th, 1919, and in addition to paying the dividends on the Preferred Stock to date, started on November 1st to pay dividends on the Common. A similar stock record has been made by Allen Theatres in other parts of Canada, and we believe that the Common Shares now being given as a bonus with the Preferred Stock should be a big earner in the future.

No Director's fee or remuneration will be paid to the Directors or Officials of this Theatre, their entire interest being in the common stock of the Company and their ability to earn dividends.

PRICE: Par, with 25% Bonus of Common Stock

Fractional Shares of the Common Stock will be adjusted on the basis of $50.00 per share, at the option of the purchaser.

WILL COST DAILIES OF CANADA FIVE MILLION DOLLARS MORE THIS YEAR.

According to a well informed authority who has made a study of the subject, Canadian daily newspapers this year will have to gather up an increased revenue of not less than five million dollars to take care of increased production costs.

Few industries have been hit to the same extent by abnormal increases in the cost of raw material and labor, and none have been more slow in raising the price of their manufactured product.

Newspaper readers have become so accustomed to the normal price of newspapers that they do not think of the fight the publishers have had to put up against mounting costs.

It is true that advertising charges have been increased somewhat, but the limit that Canadian publishers have been able to go in this direction will not furnish this year the money necessary to carry on.

It may be that some publishers will conclude that the best policy is to restrict their news services and the volume of their news contents. Indeed, many have done this already.

Others will conclude that the interest of the reader is paramount, and will continue their news services unabated, keeping up the size of their papers accordingly.

It all depends upon the appetite for news which the readers have developed. Where a daily is looked to for the complete news of the day it cannot afford to sacrifice the interests of its readers. Even if compelled to pay more for their daily paper, they will still demand a complete newspaper.

It will be interesting to observe the trend of newspaper publishers during the next few months. Only three courses are open to them. Either they must curtail the news of the day, and thus fail to satisfy those who demand a complete newspaper, or they must raise their subscription rates, or their publishers must be content not only to see living profits vanish, but to make good actual deficits.

Few Canadian newspapers are in a financial position to follow the course last suggested, owing to present low subscription prices and advertising rates.

CALGARY BREWERS HAVE NOVEL SCHEME

Calgary, Alta., March 6.—Liquor dealers in Calgary will be required to pay a civic license of $400. The fee has been $100. They, of course, cannot sell liquor in Alberta, but must ship out of the Province. The two local breweries for example, have to send their product to Saskatchewan or British Columbia and at the first station the other side of the border the car is attached to a train bound for Alberta and the beer comes back to this Province having been sold here from a point outside the Province.

Affection.

"Bliggins loves his work."

"Yes," replied Mr. Groucher, "but chiefly as a topic of conversation."

Tactless.

"So Miss Higginton is angry with her doctor. Why is that?"

"He tactlessly remarked that he would have her looking her old self again."

WILD GEESE MADE MISTAKE IN FORECASTING WEATHER

New York, March 6.—Thousands of half-famished wild geese cover the ice in Great South Bay, along Long Island, seeking food at water holes, according to reports today from the game wardens. The bay, a favorite spot for wild fowl, is covered with ice three feet thick, an almost unprecedented condition for March. Residents along the bay shore and others are feeding many of the fowl.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT

After six years as superintendent of the Brockville General Hospital, Miss Beatrice Pollard has tendered her resignation and will, for the time being, return to her home in Oshawa. In succession to Miss Pollard as superintendent, the Board of Governors of the General Hospital have appointed Miss Priscilla Campbell of Barrie who will assume her new duties in the course of a few days.

THE MARKET

Today's market was not largely attended owing to some of the country roads being in a bad condition for travelling. Good prices were realized for all products offered for sale and especially for dressed chickens. Fresh dairy butter was rather scarce and sold readily at 65c per pound and in a few cases 67c was obtained. The ruling price for eggs was 70c per dozen. Dressed chickens may be considered a luxury judging from the price obtained. Some were sold at $4.00 a pair and as high as $5.00 per pair was obtained. Potatoes sold at $4.50 per bag.

MOVING PICTURE FEES

Under a Brockville by-law, the fee for moving picture or vaudeville licenses or both combined was set at $200 per annum. The fee for each billiard or pool table was raised from $30 to $35, for each additional table $12.50 instead of $10 and for each bagatelle table $10. The by-law also provided for the appointment of George K. Dewey as town engineer pro tem. Another fixed the salaries of civic officials as follows: clerk $1,900; treasurer, $1,200; assessor and collector, $1,200; stenographer, $600.

WON MILITARY MEDAL

The following article from the Whitby Gazette and Chronicle tells of war honors awarded to Mr. Alex. Lawrie who was for some time on the staff of The Picton Gazette: "R. A. Lawrie of the Gazette and Chronicle staff received advice this week that he had been awarded the Military Medal for service during the war. This is the first official announcement he has received on the subject, and the information was something of a surprise to him. His name had appeared in the London papers some time ago, but not having had any further word, he had concluded that it referred to some other man with the same name. The medal, is only now being forwarded to him."

FISHERMEN'S UNION

Union fishermen must now be reckoned with as the Bay of Quinte and Eastern Lake Ontario Fishermen's Union, No. 27, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, was born in the office of E. The first meeting of the new lodge was held there and then in his office and thirty-two candidates for membership initiated. The President is William Larue, of Belleville, with Secretary Irvine of Deseronto and Treasurer R. MacDonald of Point Anne.

INDUSTRIAL PROSPECTS

Major R. D. Ponton has returned from Toronto, where he had very satisfactory interviews with representatives of American Companies who contemplate establishing factories in Canada. Three of the Companies have promised to send representatives and engineers to Belleville immediately. While in Toronto, Major Ponton attended the Annual Banquet of the Ontario Bar Association and had the privilege of hearing addresses from Sir Robert Falconer, Sir James Aikens, Chief Justice Olson of Chicago, N. W. Rowell, K.C., Mr. Justice Riddell, G. A. Gagne, K.C. of the Quebec Bar, Hon. W. E. Raney, the Hon. Canon Cody and others.

DAMAGE ACTIONS

Many of the County officials at the Good Roads Convention appeared to be much worried over the large number of claims which have been received in their centres of late for damages due to automobile accidents. Lennox & Additington for example, reported 80 claims last year, many of them trivial, but at the same time annoying. It was felt that the Municipal Act should be amended to limit civil liability in such cases. The present situation, it was claimed, is dampening public enthusiasm for good roads in some localities. Hon. W. E. Raney, Attorney-General, who attended the convention by request, heard the suggestions of the delegates and promised to give the matter his attention.

Gold Headed Cane For Warden Sills

Hastings County Warden Honored by His Colleagues

Another happy event to be recorded in the History of Hastings County Council was held on the Evening of March 4th in the upper grill room of the Merchants Hotel, Toronto, when His Honor, the Warden, Mr. J. G. Sills, was presented with a beautiful gold headed can, suitably engraved. The meeting was called to order by Mr. W. H. Kells, Reeve of Madoc Township who filled the position of chairman with credit to himself and the satisfaction of everyone. Mr. Thomas Naylor, Reeve of Deseronto, made the presentation with brief, but well chosen remarks which conveyed the good will of the donors.

In accepting the gift, His Honor thanked his fellow members, the officials of the County and friends, for the remembrance and expressed his appreciation of the kindly impulse which actuated the gift.

He reminded those present of the County's great resources, but these incurred commensurate responsibilities.

While all rejoiced the war was ended and so many of our boys had been permitted to return, still we must not forget that the very flower of the country slept in France, which necessitated the greater care and endeavor of those whose duty it was to direct the affairs of the County so that the administration and development of Hastings should be worthy of the sacrifice. It was always difficult to finance successfully corporations situated as Hastings county but every effort ~~would~~ be ~~made to~~ do this as economically as conditions and requirements ~~would permit; having~~ ever in mind one ambition for "A Bigger" and Better Hastings."

All present expressed their appreciation of His Honor's ability and sterling qualities Among the speakers were Mr. H. K. Denyes, M.P.P., East Hastings; Charles S. Rollins, Chairman of Roads & Bridges; Wm. H. Nugent, County Clerk.; H. G. Bleecker County Road Superintendent; Fraser Aylesworth, County Engineer; Reeves J. V. Walsh, J. L. Newton, John H Richardson, W. A. Reid, Robert Wood, Charles E. Ballard, Messrs Price, of Toronto, Clem Ketcheson and Hawley Wright of Sidney Township.

Following the singing of the National Anthem the happy gathering was brought to a close to live in memory as an event associated with good fellowship and genial comradeship.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of Influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic such as caused the suffering and sorrow during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disguising the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of Influenza and 139 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain under foot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of coughs and colds, pleurisy and pneumonia.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is, GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are "run-down" through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. What they need is a Blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like "Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful fruit medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. "Fruit-a-tives" contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of Influenza, but also to protect you against "spring fever" and the inevitable reaction which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of "Fruit-a-tives" today and let this fruit medicine keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Turn back the years with Bifocal Glasses

These modern, two-range lenses restore youth to the eyes. Good, clear vision of things both near and at a distance from the eyes is secured without changing glasses.

Why advertise the fact that you are growing old by wearing two pairs, or by looking over or under your glasses to get the right range for sight?

Let T. Blackburn, optometrist, equip you with modern bifocals. We make a specialty of fitting them.

Live Stock Brings Good Prices

Sixteenth Annual Auction Sale at Guelph Bring $15.540

GUELPH, March 6.—One of the most successful auction sales of registered stock ever held by the Guelph Fat Stock Club took place in the Arena at the Winter Fair Buildings. It was the sixteenth annual sale under the auspices of the Department of Agriculture and the Fat Stock Club and was attended by prominent farmers and stock breeders from all over the Province, while some men also were here from the United States.

There was a good demand for first-class animals, and as a result the bidding was fairly keen, good prices being obtained for the majority of them. There were 42 bulls offered and they brought an average of $207 each while the average for the 19 cows was $331. The total amount of the sale was $15,450, the largest of any similar sale held here in many years.

The top price paid at the sale was $785, this sum being paid by Col. R. T. Pritchard, Fergus, for "Rosebud Thalia," a four-year-old cow, bred and contributed by W. P. Fraser, Meadowvale. Gordon Auld of Guelph paid $750 for the eight-year-old cow "Nonpareil of Hillside 26th," bred by Alex. Lee of Uxbridge and contributed by A. F. Auld, Guelph. Dr. Wright of Arris paid $555 for a two-year-old cow from the Fraser herd. The highest price paid for a bull was $405, for "Crimson Supreme," a two-year-old, bred by Alex. Lee, Uxbridge, and contributed by W. A. Lashy & Son, Rockwood. Several others brought $400 each.

C. L. Nelles, the President of the Fat Stock Club, and J. M. Jeff, the Secretary, were well pleased with the result of the sale. James McDonald of Guelph, and Thomas Robertson of London were the auctioneers.

OVER $6,500 AT LINDSAY SALE

Lindsay, March 6.—More than $6,500 was realized at the annual sale of purebred stock held in the Butler House yard, under the auspices of the Victoria Pure-bred Stock Association.

About fifty animals were sold, the top price being paid for "Butterfly Prince," bred by James Casey, Valentia; "Roan Prince," bred by Thos. H. Wilson, brought $215. Three other animals were sold at $200 each. W. M. Graham acted as clerk and Geo. Jackson & Son wielded the auctioneer's hammer. The attendance was good, many coming from a distance.

HOUSE SURGEON'S STRIKE CLAIM FOOD BAD

London, Ont., March 6—London developed the real thing in original strikes when the house surgeons of the Victoria Hospital walked out. They declared the food served them was poor, and they demanded a better table in future.

Superintendent H. T. Herd states that one of the men has gained five pounds in weight since he has been in the institution, and he thinks this is an answer to the charge that the food was of low standard. He lives on the same bill of fare himself and has no complaints.

All the doctors on strike are undergraduates and Mr. Herd thinks that they were not overparticular in regard to their jobs, as they have to continue their studies before they can practice.

Previous to the war the internes at Victoria Hospital were graduate physicians, but for the last few years only undergraduates could be secured. Two full-fledged doctors who are on the staff did not take part in the strike.

10 Years of Eczema—A Sample Cured Her

Are you reading the weekly Canadian letters, telling stories of suffering from skin disease and how cure was effected?

Here is part of a letter from Mrs. Henry Harvey, Black Lake, Que. Write her if you desire.

"Ten years of eczema on the face. Treated unavailingly by doctors. A sample alone of D. D. D. cured me, etc."

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. When a prescription for skin disease has letters of cure and endorsement from nearly every city and town in the Dominion, surely it is enough to convince the most skeptical.

Relief from itching torment is immediate. Just try one bottle of D. D. D. today on our positive guarantee. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D D. Soap, too.

Woes of Settlers At Kapuskasing Told To Commission

KAPUSKASING, March 5—"We have come here determined to get at the bottom of the problem. We are determined to find out what conditions are, and anxious to hear any suggestions which you may have to offer. None of us is prejudiced. On the contrary, our strongest sympathies are with you. Only wour heartiest co-operation can make this inquiry a success.

With this very brief announcement from Mr. W. F. Nickle, M. P. Chairman of the Commission appointed by the Provincial Government to investigate the complaints and charges made by soldier settlers at the Kapuskasing colony, Mr. Nickle and his colleagues, Lieut.-Col. John I. MacLaren and Prof. Sharp, opened their inquiry in the Oronage Hall of the colony. The hall is a one-room frame structure, and was crowded with settlers, many of whom had come some distance to give their evidence. Taking advantage of the offer to make the inquiry as wide as possible, the settlers told in detail the story of their experiences. During the day of six hours the Commission was able to hear only ten of them, who came from Harty and Kitigan settlements on the outskirts of the colony.

All Wish to Leave

In answer to the question which Chairman Nickle put to each witness, these settlers replied that as soon as the opportunity was given them they wished to leave the camp. They claimed that their experience had been that the colony was absolutely unfit, that the possibilities of success were not what officials had represented them to be, and, further, that "it had been a case of broken promises."

The case of each settler who testified is now one of almost utter destitution. Their stories were pathetic. With one exception these settlers came to the camp with sums of money exceeding $500 which did not include Government assistance. They have been here for moer than a year. They find they cannot obtain enough from ten acres, if it happens to be cleared, to support themselves and families, and it is impossible to find work. If they cannot sell the land all admitted that they were deeply in debt to the Government store and that they knew of no way in which the debt could be paid.

Doesn't Like the Seasons

William Hearst, Kitigan, married, with six children, four of whom were dependent upon him, startled the Commission with his story of his experiences since his arrival in April, 1918. He has a house, 20 feet by 34 feet, a stable, four cows and two horses, one of which is owned by the Government.

"We have seven months winter, three months black flies, and three months rain," said Hearst. "Snow fell last year on September 22nd. I have been drawing logs this winter and have earned $4 a day, out of which I had to pay $3.15 for my meals and for horse feed. It's an awful condition. I can't even buy a pair of mitts. I have four cows but can't afford to feed them, and as a result all we get is a pint of milk a day. I can't sell them because no one wants to buy them."

FACTORY MANAGERS MUCH IN NEED OF HELP

Toronto, March 6.—"The factory situation is the worst," said Rev. J. A. Miller, head of the Ontario Government Employment Bureau, when speaking of the women's employment end of the work. "The factory managers are desperate for want of help, but none seems forthcoming. Of course the epidemic has something to do with the scarcity of help in all lines."

Mr. Miller stated that the domestic situation was about as usual. He attributed the great dearth of house workers to the fact that there was no influx of English girls. The year preceding the war there were 3,000 English girls came to Ontario and entered domestic service, according to Mr. Miller. He said that next month there would be two or three ship loads of girls from England to help relieve the situation.

Regarding clerical help, while there was never a lack of positions, he said that the bureau had been able to fill the most pressing calls. Many of them had been emergency calls. "There are lots of good calls still open though," he added, "Both for expert help and beginners we have several calls yet unfilled."

APPALLED AT NUMBER OF PEOPLE KILLED BY AUTOS

Sudbury, March 6.—A sentence of eighteen months' imprisonment was imposed by Mr. Justice Latchford on Emil Pernu, a local jitney driver, for wanton and reckless driving of his automobile on Nov. 15 last, thereby causing the death of Peter Leblanc The jury in the Spring Assize Court found the accused guilty on this count, but returned a verdict of not guilty on another count, that he did kill and slay the victim of the collision. The jury added to their verdict a strong recommendation for mercy for the accused. Mr. Justice Latchford in passing sentence, said he was appalled with the increasing number of pedestrians killed by automobiles ad hoped the sentence would be a deterrent on reckless driving.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in March or Face May Stay Covered

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish to look well the rest of the year. The March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all Summer unless removed. Now is the time to use Othine—double strength.

This preparation for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of Othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

MAJOR PULLEN IS TORIES' NOMINEE

Englehart, March 5—Major Pullen, of Kelso, was nominated unanimously at a convention of the Conservative Association, and will contest the district of Timiskaming as a straight Conservative in the coming by-election. Among those nominated, but who withdrew in favor of Major Pullen, were W. A. Gordon, of Halleybury, and J. Clarke of Englehart.

In spite of the fact that the man to be elected in the coming by-election for the district of Timiskaming may not have more than a year to sit in Parliament before being called upon to go to the electors in a general election, there are alreay four men in the field, the list now including the following: Arthur G .Slaght, of Toronto, Liberal; Major Pullen of Kelso, Conservative; Angus McDonald, of Cobalt, I.L.P., U. F. O. and David Bertrand, South Porcupine, Liberal Independent Farmer.

Saves Fuel and Food

The continued high cost of foodstuffs and household supplies require the strictest economy.

The most expensive foodstuffs are used in baking, so always be careful to use the right kind of Baking Powder, otherwise great waste may result.

Many thousands of people recommend

EGG-O
Baking Powder

because it effects the greatest economy.

Its double action absolutely assures perfect baking at all times.

Egg-O also helps save fuel because it does not require so hot an oven as is required by other powders.

Always follow the directions—one level teaspoonful to one level cup of well sifted flour. You use from a quarter to a half less powder when you use Egg-O.

When buying Egg-O the larger tins are the most economical size for family use.

WOMEN CURED AT HOME

Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild but effective action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing its use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. Orange Lily is an applied or local treatment, and acts directly on the womanly organs, removing the congestion, toning and strengthening the nerves, and restoring perfect circulation in the diseased parts. In order to convince all suffering women of the value of this remedy, I will send a 40 cent box, enough for 10 days treatment, absolutely free to each lady who will send me her address. Enclose 3 stamps and address Mrs. Lydia W. Ladd, Windsor, Ont.

NEW YORK POLICE IN VULTURE CLASS?

New York, March 5—Assistant District Attorney Smith, who presented the evidence on which the regular grand jury indicted Detective John J. Gunson, of Inspector Henry's staff on charges of bribery and extortion, says he has under investigation ten other "plain-clothesmen," two bondsmen, who make a speciality of women's cases, and a lawyer to whem women say they were forced to pay fees of $300 to $500.

Mr Smith said his investigation was in its infancy, but that already he has information that will result in one worst scandals that has involved members of the police department in years. Other indictments, he predicted, will be returned in a short time.

A Fearful Charge

One thing, disclosed, according to Mr. Smith, is that women seeking to return to blameless lives have been hounded from their positions and driven back; to the streets by detectives so the latter could get a part of their earnings.

Two women, picked up in the theatre district, were held in the West Forty-Seventh street station for appearance before the grand jury to tell what they are supposed to know about charges that the police hound women into immoral lives for the purpose of porfit.

Mr. Smith and a squad of detectives from the district Attorney's office got these women himself after a tour of the Broadway restaurants after midnight. He took them to the police station, asked that they be held as material witnesses, insisted that bail for them should be fixed at $5,600 and that their release should be permitted only through an order of a judge of the court of General Session should anyone offer to be responsible for their appearance.

RED CROSS TO BE READY FOR TROUBLE

Geneva, March 5.—The Congress of Red Cross Societies in session here today authorized the Administration Department of the International Red Cross League to proceed at once with a world-wide scheme of preparedness for disasters.

The plan contemplates a Red Cross disaster organization in every community composed of a group of representatixe men and women. The resources at the disposal of the various communities would be tabulated and everything placed in readiness for instant use in the event of trouble.

Each organization under the plan suggested would include physicians, nurses, social workers, canteen workers, motor corps, a number of business men and supplies of cots, blankets, cooking utensils, hospital facilities and food.

Fredericton, N.B., March 5—George Bidlake of this city, formerly acting clerk of the Legislature of New Brunswick has been appointed editor of the St. John Standard and has already gone to St. John to take up his duties there. Before coming to Canada some years ago, Mr. Bidlake was a London barrister.

GREY COUNTY'S CENTENARIAN.

She Saw the Coronation of Queen Victoria 82 Years Ago.

To celebrate one's hundredth birthday is not the good frtune of many people and to come to the hundred and fourth mile-stone still able to enjoy life and to be interested in the every-day affairs of the community is decidedly unique. Yet up in Grey county, near the town of Owen Sound, lives a little old lady who, on January 10, was 104 years of age. Her name? Why anyone from that district will tell you of Mrs. Ann Brown, of The Glen, Sydenham, Grey county's only centenarian, and who is said to be the only surviving witness of the coronation of Queen Victoria.

Born in the quaint old village of Topcliffe, in Yorkshire, England, her early days were spent in the quietness and seclusion of the little country town. Her earliest recollection is of her grandfather preparing a feast on the village green for the men of the Topcliffe Company of Regulars, just returned from campaigning against Napoleon Bonaparte in Belgium and France. The first venture from the protecting shelter of her grandfather's cottage was to the great city of London. When a dark-eyed young maid of twenty summers she went to visit her mother in the great city, traveling from Hull in one of the first steamboats. On arriving in London she found that everything was in a state of bustle and excitement in preparation for the coronation of the young Queen. Her step-father was an upholsterer in the employ of the royal family and, to please his shy young visitor from Yorkshire, secured a pass for her into Westminster Abbey to witness the ceremony of the coronation. On the great day, June 28, 1838, she took her place with hundreds of others inside the Abbey and waited breathlessly for the great event. According to Mrs. Brown the appearance of the Queen was rather disappointing. She had been picturing to herself a tall beautiful woman, and instead she saw a girl, two years younger than herself, rather short, and quite ordinary-looking.

In 1862 Mrs. Brown made another journey from her home in Yorkshire to visit the First World's Fair, promoted by PrinceAlbert, Queen Victoria's Consort, and held in the Crystal Palace, London. On the death of her husband in 1863, Mrs. Brown decided that she could better her fortunes in a new land. With indomitable spirit she set out with her five small children for Canada. For three years she resided in Owen Sound. In 1866 she took up 120 acres of land in the township of Sydenham, four miles from Owen Sound. Here she has lived ever since, often under disheartening and difficult circumstances. In spite of the primitive condition of the country she wrested a living from the soil and raised and educated her little family.

During the visit of the Duke of Devonshire to Owen Sound in June, 1918, His Excellency visited Mrs. Brown and chatted with her for some time. She is still quite active, goes about the farm, reads a little, and writes in a clear steady hand. During the war she knitted nearly a dozen pairs of socks for the local branch of the Women's Patriotic League. Her vitality is wonderful, and she has many friends in Grey County who hope that they may be able to congratulate her upon her 105th birthday.

A Fair-minded American.

A powerful association of Canadian wholesale grocers has unanimously resolved to buy no more goods in the United States unless Dominion money at par is accepted therefor. This is a wise and proper course. A Canadian dollar which buys 100 cents' worth of Dominion products should buy 100 cents' worth of American goods. It is robbery of our neighbor to steal 10 cents from every dollar of hers that comes across the line, to fatten money changers at the expense of those who toil. Several American manufacturers have agreed to take Dominion money at its face; and doubtless this will be done by most concerns which market their goods across the border.

Apropos of this, it is of interest to note that the emigration of Americans to Canada is gaining steadily in volume. In 1919 more than 52,000 of our citizens left the country to make their homes in the Dominion. Of these 25,000 were farmers who sought the agricultural sections of the Northwest Territories and took with them over 18 millions in money and effects. We can ill afford to lose these farmers. In fact we have reached a point where we have no industrious workers to spare. Yet the 1920 hegira to Canada will pass all records. The sentiment of nationalism will no longer keep citizens under the Stars and Stripes who can enjoy more liberty a few miles away under the flag of a country which offers all the advantages and opportunities of ours.—Post Express, Rochester.

Geography Not Necessary.

This school story concerns a little girl who could not grasp her lessons in geography. The teacher had tried various means to impart knowledge—all in vain, however, and as a last resource she one forenoon punished the girl. Perhaps the punishment "fitted the crime," but the girl's mother thought otherwise, and in the afternoon she bounced into the school room, in quest of an explanation. "She could not say her geography," was the teacher's bland answer to her inquiry. "Geography! I dinna ken geography, and I got a man! Oor Jean disna ken geography, and she got a man! And there's you, who kens a'boot geography—and you canno get ane at a'."

A Sinister Threat.

"I can't imagine why you suggested coming here, George," exclaimed the bride. "Nothing will ever tempt me to spend another honeymoon in this place."

SAYS BONUS TO SOLDIERS WOULD BE "THROWN AWAY"

Washington, March 5—That a money handout to ex-service men would be "simply thrown away" was the statement made before the House Ways and Means Committee by Walter W. Burns, a former artillery captain.

Burns said all demobilized men were employed, and some of them had no idea of the effect of a bonus on the countrys outstanding bond obligations. He contended that the satisfaction of having fought to defend the country was sufficient reward.

He declared that if the war had lasted two weeks more every American soldier would have been so tickled that he would want no bonus.

Pale Wan Cheek
A Sign Of Anemia

To Have Good Color and Health the Blood Must be Kept Red and Pure

Many women who had good color and bright eyes in their girlhood grow pale and colorless and lose much of their charm when they becomes wives and mothers. Why is it? When the fading color in the cheeks and lips is accompanied by a loss of brightness in the eyes and an increasing heaviness in the step and a tendency to tire easily, the cause is to be sought in the state of the blood.

Many causes may contribute to the condition of the blood known as anaemia. Care of the home, overwork, lack of outdoor exercise, insufficient rest and sleep, improper diet, are a few of them. The important thing is to restore the blood, to build it up so that the color will return to the cheeks and lips, brightness to the eyes and lightness to the step. To do this, nothing can equal Dr. Williams Pink Pills. They begin at once to increase the red corpusles in the blood and this new blood carries strength and health to every part of the body. The appetite improves, digestion becomes perfect, and energy and ambition return. Proof is given in the statement of Mrs. Alex. Archambo, Cornwall, Ont., who says:—"Two years ago my health began to fail. I was suffering from headaches, pains in the back and sides, and a constant tired out feeling. I had used a lot of medicine, but instead of it helping me I seemed to be growing weaker. My friends urged me to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and while I felt disheartened at my experience with other medicines, I decided to do so. To my great joy I soon found the pills were helping me, and their continued use for a time fully restored my health. I feel that I would be ungrateful if I did not give my experience with Dr. Williams Pink Pills in the hope that it may point the way to health to some other poor sufferer."

Dr. Williams Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or may be had by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Eddy's Milk Pail
On the farm, Eddy's pails are a great convenience. Easy to clean because there are no seams or crevices. They will not dent or fall apart, and will stand a lot of hard usage.

Eddy's Butter Tub
The storekeeper knows that this is the most sanitary way to pack butter. Much superior to wood, which often imparts odors. Owing to their toughness and durability, they can be used many times over. They are light for shipping, too.

Eddy's Household Pail
Housewives without number will testify to the superiority of Eddy's pails, etc. They are light and easy to handle and they never leak or come apart. Moderate in price and most satisfactory in every way.

Popular with Everybody

Eddy's Twin Beaver Washboard is also made of Indurated Fibreware. It is double-sided with natural crimp on each side. Very convenient. No metal to tear clothes and hands.

EDDY'S one piece tubs, pails, etc., meet with favor everywhere, because they lighten labor and last practically for ever.

They are made of wood pulp—moulded into shape—pressed by machinery, dipped in solution, and baked for days, till they emerge from the ovens hard as flint, and with a glazed surface that is impervious to all liquids, taints and odors.

They cannot leak—splinter—or fall apart. Hard and durable as steel. Lighter than wood. Once you try one, you'll never go back to the old style.

GAVE $7,500 NECKLACE TO HIS BABY TO PLAY WITH

New York, March 5—John C. Carson, a letter carrier, while going over his route saw a bright metal chain lying on the sidewalk in front of the Hotel Majestic. "Gee! That ought to be nice for the baby to play with," he said to himself, as he picked up the trinket and went on his way. Shortly afterward Mrs. L. T. Lazard, a guest in the hotel, who had gone out after accepting a package left for her at the desk, hurried in greatly excited, saying a $7,500 necklace was missing from the package. Enquiry by detectives developed that a postman had been seen to pick up something from the sidewalk, so the detectives followed the trail to Carson's home.

"Sure, I picked up a little chain. I didn't think it was valuable. The baby has it in the kitchen." And, sure enough, the detectives found the little one playing with the lost necklace. Mrs. Lazard on recovering her property promptly sent Carson a check for $100.

The Standard of Motor Car Value

Everywhere, now, you find cars compared with the Gray-Dort for value.

Because the Gray-Dort has become the standard—a new and higher standard—giving more for the money than ever was given before—and setting new standards of strength and quality for light cars.

Here's What You Get in the Gray-Dort at $1365 (plus war tax) Compare it with Other Cars.

The Gray-Dort Motor is big, and finely built, like a watch. 40 pound crankshaft; non-warping, quiet valves; light, three-ringed pistons; Carter carburetor, Connecticut ignition, Westinghouse starting and lighting; cellular radiator and big water jackets.

The leadership of the Gray-Dort motor is paralleled by the leadership of the Gray-Dort chassis. Here is a strong, solid frame of heavy channel steel; a big, husky rear axle, designed and built exclusively for us here in Chatham; Chatham-built springs, full cantilever in the rear; big brakes, with Thermoid lining; a new steering gear, 50% bigger and stronger than has been used for light cars; a big gas-tank in the rear, with vacuum feed system.

Nothing can take away your pride in the smooth, flowing lines of your Gray-Dort. No other car can equal the wonderful Gray-Dort finish, which we have spent 60 years in developing.

And there is the smart, new top, hand-tailored in our own shops; French-pleated upholstery; a new hood, with many long, narrow louvres; snug side-curtains, which open with the doors; a shorter, smarter cowl which gives more room in the driving compartment; seats tilted at the most comfortable angle; increased leg-room in the tonneau; lamps raised to give size to the front of the car.

Once you know the Gray-Dort, you will be too critical to accept any other light car. There will be thousands who will agree with you—probably several thousand more purchasers than there will be Gray-Dorts. We urge you to see the Gray-Dort dealer now.

Prices

The Gray-Dort 5-passenger car, finished in Gray-Dort green and black and with standard equipment is $1365 f.o.b. Chatham. War tax extra.

The roomy 2-passenger roadster is the same price.

The Gray-Dort Special

For the man who wishes something a little extra in his car, we have built the Gray-Dort Special. Maroon body, with brown rayntite top. Plate glass rear window. Gipsy curtains. Rookie tan wheels. Motometer. Tilting steering wheel. Real leather upholstery. Mahogany instrument board. Just the touches which lift this car above the ordinary. $150 extra on the standard.

And the Ace!

The Gray-Dort Ace—the most beautiful light car of to-day. Sapper green body with handsome California top to match.

Trouble lamp and bulls-eye flashlight. Electric cigar lighter. Rear-vision mirror. Plate glass windows. Oversize grooved-tread tires. This is the de luxe car for the man who does not wish to pile up a tremendous operating cost. $255 extra on the standard.

FIGHT SMUT AND SCAB

Treat Wheat, Oat and Potato Seed Before Planting.

A Dilution of Formalin or Formaldehyde Recommended, by Immersion or Sprinkling — Corrosive Sublimate Also Used for Potato Scab.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

GREAT losses frequently occur through the prevalence of smuts in the grain crops. Numerous experiments have been conducted in the Field Husbandry Department at the College in years past in making a practical application of the treatments recommended for killing the smut in grain. As the result of five years' experiments with five treatments with wheat and seven treatments with oats it was found that very complete work was obtained by immersing the grain for twenty minutes in a solution made by mixing one pint of formalin or forty per cent. formaldehyde in forty-two gallons of water.

In preparing wheat for treatment care should be taken to separate the broken smut balls from the wheat, either by cleaning the grain or by placing the seed in water and removing the smut balls as they float on the surface. Not only is it necessary to treat the grain but the formalin solution should be used to kill the smut spores which are lodged in the bins, on the barn floors, on the bags, in the grain drills or wherever the living spores have an opportunity of again coming in contact with the grain.

The immersion process is so complete in its results that it does not need to be repeated every year, providing care is exercised to prevent a further introduction of the smut spores.

The sprinkling process was also used in the test, and this method is followed by some farmers. It needs to be conducted with great care, however, or the smut will not all be destroyed, and as a result it is frequently necessary to treat the grain every year. One of the best sprinkling methods is to carefully moisten twenty-five bushels of wheat or of oats and by shovelling the grain over on a barn floor when it is being sprinkled with a mixture of one pint of formalin and from fifteen to twenty-one gallons of water. When the grain is uniformly moistened it should be covered with bags or blankets for three or four hours and then spread out to dry. Varying quantities should be treated proportionately.—Dr. C. A. Zavitz, O. A. College, Guelph.

Control the Potato Scab.

For seed select smooth, sound potatoes, as free as possible from scab, and disinfect by soaking them before they are cut for two hours in a solution made by adding half a pint of commercial formalin to 15 gallons of water. A couple of barrels with plugs in the sides near the bottom can be used to advantage in treating the seed. The potatoes can be placed directly in the solution or first put in crates or coarse sacks and then immersed.

After treatment spread the potatoes out on a clean floor or on the grass to dry. Wash all crates, bags, etc., which are used in handling the potatoes with the formalin solution. The same formalin solution can be used to treat successive lots of potatoes. Fifteen gallons is sufficient to treat from 20 to 25 bushels if ordinary precautions are taken not to waste too much of the fluid as each lot of tubers is dipped. If the potatoes are not all treated the same day it is advisable to make up fresh formalin for each day's work.

Corrosive sublimate (mercuric chloride) can be used also to treat potatoes to prevent scab. Soak the uncut tubers for three hours in a solution of two ounces of corrosive sublimate to 25 gallons of water. Corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison, and potatoes treated with it are rendered unfit for food for man or beast.

Formalin is a clear liquid disinfectant. It is a 40% solution of formaldehyde gas and water. It can be purchased from almost any druggist. It is sold under the names of formalin and formaldehyde. It is important that the purchaser, whatever name he buys it under, secures a guaranteed solution of 40% formaldehyde. The stock solution should always be kept in a well-corked bottle, and should not be allowed to freeze.

If possible plant the treated seed potatoes on clean soil, that is soil that has not produced a crop of scabby potatoes. Practice a rotation of crops. If scab is very bad it is not advisable to plant potatoes on the same land oftener than once in five years. Heavy applications of barnyard manure should not be made to the potato crop, but if necessary given at some other point in the rotation. Plant potatoes after clover sod if possible. Avoid alkali fertilizers such as lime and wood ashes.—Prof. J. E. Howitt, O. A. College, Guelph.

Planting the Cultivated Crops.

To ensure good crops of carrots, mangles, sugar beets, potatoes and corn, the land should be well prepared and seed should be secured of the highest quality. Under average conditions the Irish Cobbler variety (early potatoes) and the Green Mountain (late potatoes) are recommended for Ontario. To secure best results with the potato crop, it is always better to plant them not later then the 15th of May. This year plant half your seed ten days earlier than you have been accustomed to doing, and plant the other half at the usual time. The experiment will prove to your satisfaction the value of early planting. If the potato planter and sprayer has not already been overhauled, a rainy day may be very profitably employed in this work.

GRIFFITH [illegible] IRISH LEADER.

He Was Originator of the Sinn Fein Idea.

Very little is known of Mr. Arthur Griffith, who is acting for Mr. de Valera while the "President of the Irish Republic" is in America. But to those conversant with Irish affairs he is the brains of the movement. He is the originator of the Sinn Fein movement. Most Irish people laughed at his policy when he first propounded it. The old parliamentarians treated his proposals with contempt. Yet to-day the men who laughed to scorn his proposals are his staunchest followers.

The son of a compositor, young Griffith became a member of the same trade. When I first met him, about 23 years ago, he was a proofreader on a Dublin morning newspaper. He was then about 25 years of age. A quiet, reserved man, he seldom spoke and never of himself. I worked with him for some considerable time before I discovered that this short-sighted, student-like young man of medium stature, but of strong build, held quite a reputation in the Dublin gymnasium as a weight-lifter. Then for a time he disappeared from Dublin. Between his departure and his return some years later little was heard of him. The clue to his whereabouts was received in a long letter from South Africa, and its publication was probably the first time that anything from his pen appeared in a Dublin paper.

Not long after his return to Dublin, he founded a paper called the United Irishman, which he edited. It was afterwards suppressed by the authorities. Later he published Sinn Fein, followed by Nationality. His writings attracted attention at once.

He also published a book outlining what has since become known as Sinn Fein, and he urged the adoption of the methods employed by the Hungarians against Austria. Abstention is one of his cardinal points.

The policy at once claimed some adherents. Its literary side attracted ardent dreams, and quite a number of young intellectuals became associated with the movement. But the mass of the people laughed at his ideas. From the outset he attacked the parliamentarians. He wrote the majority of the articles in his paper, and James Stephens, the litterateur, then a solicitor's clerk, was a constant contributor to its columns.

Griffith's power lies in the pen. He fails with the spoken word. That is why de Valera supplanted him in the leadership. Florid oratory appeals to the Irish crowd. But his mild voice and lack of passion do not impress. He speaks slowly and softly and generally from notes. Nevertheless he is the power behind the throne.

But he has never been really a "blood" revolutionary. His weapon is the boycott. He would burn everything from England except her coals. He will never trust that country, and sees a snare in every conciliatory suggestion.

Griffith has been charged with not "being out" in the 1916 Easter Week outburst. But he has never claimed that his program can be carried out by force of arms. He is far too clever to do so.

Watts' Garrett.

The problem of how to remove and preserve intact the garret in which James Watt, the engineering genius who made the steam engine a practical proposition, pursued his mechanical studies, is now, says the Glasgow Herald, puzzling the James Watt Centenary Committee, which arranged elaborate centenary celebrations at Birmingham recently.

It is proposed, if possible, to take this garret from its position at the top of Heathfield Hall, the old manor house at Handsworth, where Watt spent his last years, and to re-erect it intact in the central memorial buildings to be provided in the heart of Birmingham.

The difficulties of removal, however, are very great, and the house of which it is a part is at present in occupation. The garret is still in exactly the same condition as when Watt worked in it.

The piece of iron Watt was last engaged in turning lies on the lathe. The ashes of his last fire, where Watt used to do his own cooking because of his wife's objection to seeing her husband looking like a blacksmith, are in the grate; the last lump of coal is in the scuttle, the Dutch oven is in its place over the stove and the frying pan in which he cooked his meals is hanging on its accustomed nail.

A dish on a shelf contains a withered bunch of grapes. On the floor in a corner is a trunk containing Gregory's school books. Gregory was the youngest son of James Watt, who, to his father's infinite grief, died young and at the commencement of a most promising career.

Overproduction.

March Weather Dangerous To Baby

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but sloppy, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mothers to keep the little ones indoors. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against these colds and to keep the baby well till the better, brighter days come along, a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels and thus they relieve colds and simple fevers and keep the baby fit. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

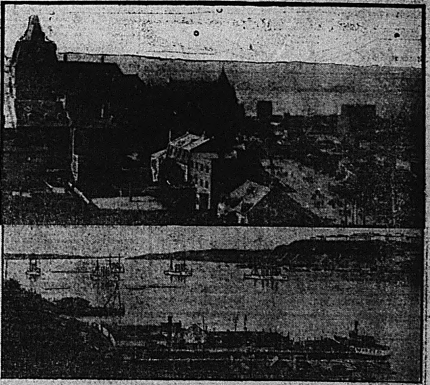
A MINIATURE PARIS



Upper Picture is Lower Quebec, the Chateau Frontenac, and Dufferin Terrace.
Lower Picture is River St. Lawrence and Levis Heights, from Quebec.

Quebec, the largest of the eastern provinces, is an all-year playground.

The English traveler, catching sight of the low-lying shores which bare their sides to the splash of the St. Lawrence, exclaims with unusual enthusiasm. "But this is not a new world, with the crudeness of a new. It is an old!"

It is the whitewashed cottages with their yellow roofs glinting in the sun, amidst the greenery of meadows and the gentle slope of hills, which causes the exclamation. From the decks of the steamers which ply up and down the river, one can hear the song of the habitant fishermen who live in the whitewashed cottages. Here, is one of their choruses:

"Derriere chez mon pere,
Derriere chez mon pere,
Derriere chez mon pere,
Il y a un pommier doux."

Rising here and there in stately eminence above the cottages, are the homes of the more prosperous, old manor houses which date from the time when the Governors from the homeland ruled the new colony. There are hotels for the visitors and clusters of cottages forming themselves into camps for all who prefer this kind of life to the conventional up-to-date-hostelry.

Quebec City is a miniature Paris set on a mountain made memorable by the last battle fought by Wolfe and Montcalm. The policemen are French gendarmes, the cabbies address their prospective fares with "Voiture, monsieur? Caleche, monsieur?"

In the summer, the population parade up and down Dufferin Terrace to the strains of a military band. Or they visit the sacred shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre, where the maimed and the halt and the blind have been healed of their afflictions. Or they make excursions to Montmorency Falls or to Lorette, a habitant village at the foot of the mountain. They drive through the queer, twisted little streets of the city, past high stone walls that shelter a large building from whose turret the bells pour their silver treasure into the lap of glowing day. An Archeveque in a broad-brimmed hat and a long purple robe stands before the tall iron gates. Groups of children, newly released from school, bare their heads and bow before him.

One of the "show places" is Montcalm's house, a modest frame cottage which stands modestly between great grey stone buildings. Another is the convent of the Franciscan nuns, before whose altar two figures in white are always kneeling. Then there is Sous le Cap, the narrowest street in Canada. It is just wide enough to receive the motors of sightseers. It has funny bridges reaching from one upstairs window to the opposite one.

The Chateau Frontenac is a reproduction of an old French chateau. It looks out on a big stone-paved court, where one may expect to see cavaliers riding, with clanking spurs and seventeenth century uniforms.

This is Quebec in summer. Quebec in winter is just as gay, just as irresponsible, just as fascinating—if it is not more so. The sleighs are crimson and are piled with warm rugs. The bells jingle and chime and every one is merry. There is skating and skiing and tobogganing. No one minds the tweaks that Jack Frost gives at human noses, for every one is joyous with the brilliant sunshine turning the snow-garbed world into a diamond-studded Paradise.

THE WEATHER

Fresh southwest to west winds, light snow flurries, but mostly fair to-day and on Tuesday and becoming somewhat milder.

Need Eight Millions More To Solve Housing Problem

J. A. ELLIS, DIRECTOR OF THE BUREAU OF MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS, MAKES REPORT TO ONTARIO GOVERNMENT ON HOUSING WORK DURING LAST YEAR.

Eight millions more will be needed if the requirements of Ontario municipalities are to be met in the matter of housing, says J. A. Ellis, Director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs in his report to the Government on housing for last year. The Government has not yet announced its policy on the housing question. All the money from the Dominion plus what the Province provided has been appropriated to Ontario municipalities. No money is being promised just now to others as has been pointed out before.

Mr. Ellis' report gives in detail the work accomplished and shows that 99 municipalities during the year passed by-laws and proceeded with housing under the act. James Govan, the chief architect, in his report speaks of the improved planning of the houses and makes several suggestions. He advocates letting men build their own homes as far as possible, stating that it increases their interest in the house and in the scheme.

HIGH COST OF PRODUCTION

Mr. Ellis points out that since the act was passed the cost of construction has greatly increased and, taking an average for the Province, is at least 25 per cent. greater than it was in March, 1919. This, he states, has added difficulty to obtaining the most desirable results.

"The cost of constructing houses is now, taking an average all over the Province, about 125 per cent. greater than it was before the war," continued Mr. Ellis in his report. "In Great Britain the increase is nearly 300 per cent. Lumber has so greatly increased here that we have arrived at the stage where the cost of erection of a house of solid brick is not a great deal in excess of one of frame construction." In view of the fact that there is no doubt which house is the better Mr. Ellis recommends the erection of houses of solid construction, especially where the comparatively small increase in monthly payments can be readily met.

BIG SHORTAGE OF HOUSES

He points out that during the war few small houses were built, with the result that here is a great shortage in the urban centres. "My estimate of the shortage is at least 20,000," he says.

"There are now 99 municipalities which have passed by-laws under the provisions of the act, and appointed Housing Commissions. Of these 19 are cities, 49 towns, 17 villages and 14 townships. Sixty-eight municipalities have constructed houses. All contemplate construction on a larger scale in 1920." Mr. Ellis notes that Toronto did not adopt the provisions of the Ontario Housing Act, but carried on with a scheme financed by the city itself.

The report says that Ontario's share of the Dominion appropriation was $8,753,291.93, to which the Province informally agreed to add $2,000,000. The total amount appropriated to municipalities by the Province during 1919 was $10,629,000. Of this $5,125,000 was appropriated to 17 cities; $3,649,000 to 39 towns; $735,000 to 16 villages and $1,120,000 to 11 townships.

"If all the requirements of the various municipalites for 1920 are met, about $8,000,000 more will have to be appropriated in addition to the $10,629,000 already appropriated," says the report.

LOANS TOTAL $3,677,947

"The total amount actually paid by erected in 1919 is $3,677,947. Of this $1,771,747 was to be loaned to 17 cities; $1,311,897 to 31 towns; $286,905 to 13 villages and $307,426 to seven townships. Loans amounting to $941,640 have been approved for houses which are not yet erected.

"The toal amount actually paid by the Province on account of such loans and the purchase of land for housing purposes in 1919 is $2,807,721.87. Of this amount $1,426,568.60 was paid to 16 cities; $1,007,826.17 to 30 towns; $208,929.80 to 13 villages and $161,397.30 to seven townships.

SUMMARY OF HOUSES BUILT

A summary of houses erected in 1919 follows:

No. of Houses.		Average Loan per House
14	4-room, frame, clapboard finish	$1,978.57
3	4-room, solid brick, tile or concrete	2,525.00
43	5-room, clapboard	2,685.79
26	5-room, stucco	2,963.46
23	5-room, brick veneer	2,924.78
44	5-room solid brick tile	2,832.50
237	6-room, clapboard	2,794.09
88	6-room, stucco	2,923.57
230	6-room, brick veneer	2,948.82
332	6-room, solid brick, etc.	3,569.28
13	over six, clapboard	2,854.61
27	over six, stucco	3,000.00
23	brick veneer	2,464.13
81	solid brick	3,712.16

Of these 1,060 are detached and 121 are semi-detached.

In addition there are 269 applications for loans aggregating $941,640 approved for houses not yet built. Sixty-two per cent. of the houses are of solid construction.

The cost of administration to the Province was $20,536.49.

Enormous Stores Of Food Stalled On British Docks

LONDON, March 6.—An appalling congestion of foodstuffs on British docks at a time when the food ministry is predicting a serious shortage of necessities was received by the testimony of Lord Davenport, former Food Controller at the official inquiry into conditions.

Lord Davenport charged that Government bungling had resulted in overwhelming the docks with tea, meat and other foodstuffs to such an extent that it will be difficult to remove them with rapidity and safety.

It was shown that 70,000 tons of meat for cold storage are piled up and that it has been found impossible to unload 100,000 tons more which have been waiting for days aboard ships. Two million tons of woollens and many thousand tons of sugar are also piled high on the British docks. The sugar is sorely needed but no steps have yet been taken to remove it for distribution. At the same time it was announced that 50,000 tons more of sugar will reach England in April and must be unloaded speedily to meet conditions which are rapidly becoming serious.

SERIOUS SITUATION

Simultaneously a serious situation developed in another quarter. Under-Secretary McCurdy of the Food Ministry, announced that unless drastic measures are taken at once, it will be necessary to re-establish Government control of the distribution of potatoes. The potato crop in Great Britain last year, he announced, was only a little more than half of that of 1918. The figures showed that the 1919 yield was only 2,900,000 tons against 5,340,000 during the previous year.

The maximum price allowed for potatoes will be 12 pounds sterling a ton with a gradual increase every two weeks until the end of June, when the minimum will be 11 pounds sterling.

Drury Sniping Other Parties Avers Dewart

OTTAWA, March 5—That the U. F. O. Government in Ontario had adopted a policy of sniping in order to strengthen its ranks by drawing away supporters of other political parties, was the statement made by Mr. H. Hartley Dewart, K.C., Provincial Liberal Leader, in addressing a meeting in St. Patrick's hall, held by the Eastern Ontario Liberal Association. Further he asserted, that so far as the Liberal party in Ontario was concerned, it was not entitled to the opposition of the Farmers.

Mr. Dewart's reference to the sniping tactics of the Drury Government was made in passing and he said he would refer to it later in his speech. This, however, he did not do. It is surmised that his reference was prompted by the recent appointment by the Drury Government of J. C. Elliott of London, formerly a Liberal member of the Legislature, as Legislative Counsel.

"We have a government in power in Ontario today that had 45 members elected and that had to go outside of its ranks to find a contractor fit to sit as Minister of Agriculture, and to secure a lawyer as Attorney-General, when during the campaign it would not allow a lawyer to sit upon its platform; and today it has adopted a policy of sniping so as to bring others within its ranks," said the Ontario Liberal Leader

Trace Strike To Socialist Propaganda

Winnipeg Riots Attempt to Overthrow Constituted Authority

WINNIPEG, March 8—Contending that the Winnipeg general strike of 1919 was an attempt to overthrow constituted authority, directly traceable to the Dominion-wide propaganda campaign in which the accused were active, A. J. Andrews, K.C., senior counsel for the crown, continued his address to the jury today at the trial of the seven strike leaders.

Mr. Andrews outlined evidence which, he stated, showed that beginning with the summer of 1918, accused had attempted to arouse in Canada a class spirit, with the object of establishing a soviet form of government.

MEETING WAS "A PEACH"

He begun by reading letters between R. B. Russell, Winnipeg, and Joe Knight, Edmonton, immediately following the meeting in the Walker Theatre John Queen, who attended this meeting, Mr. Andrews declared, was a strong advocate at that time of socialism. The speakers were R. B. Russell, George Armstrong and Sam Blumenberg all members of the Socialist party of Canada. Russell, referring to the meeting states in his letter "we held a peach."

Mr. Andrews, commenting on the correspondence, stated that at this time the partnership between the trades and labor council and the Socialist party was complete. Reading from another letter from Russell to Joe Knight, counsel read:

"We will now be confronted with the horrors of peace, I hope the Reds will now wake up and get busy with propaganda."

Mr. Andrews told the jury that at this time the Radicals seemed seized with the idea that their mission was to spread propaganda.

REPORTS IN LABOR NEWS

Mr. Andrews read excerpts from The Western Labor News of January 24, reporting the meeting held in the Majestic Theatre at which George Armstrong, he said, called on the workers to support only measures which would do away with all property rights In the same issue R. J. Johns, one of the accused was reported as advocating the spread of literature. Russell was reported as calling on the working class to unite and gain control. Sam Blumenberg, at the same meeting asked the farmers, soldiers, and workers to unite and overthrow the capitalistic system.

SOON FIGHTING WITH RIFLES

Referring to a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council, reported in the same issue Mr. Andrews showed that the accused, Johns, stated that the Trades and Labor Council had decided to co-operate with the Socialist party and gain control. A quotation from John's speech read: "We are now fighting with ideas, we shall soon be fighting with rifles."

WINTER STILL GOING STRONG.

Up to today fourteen weeks of winter, and still going strong. Millions of tons of snow have melted, but the ground is still white. Only hillsides to the sun and plowed fields in these parts are bare. But the melted water has not got to the creeks much; some of it is again imprisoned by ice.

Two days of hot mid-day sun will take most of it away; but only count them when they have arrived; they have yet to come.

The epidemics are still with us, but at a milder death rate.

The farmer who is waiting to get on the land is really devoting his time to sizing up the long winter. His turn will, nevertheless, come.

Found Husband's Body In Seat Of His Car

Ruthless Sinn Feiners Send Weeping Woman on a Ghastly Errand

BELFAST, March 6—Irish crime is increasing in volume and audacity and will till the Government recognizes that Ireland is in a state of rebellion and takes measures to combat it.

The Sinn Fein's latest victim is Frank Shawe Taylor. He was shot dead while motoring to Galway Fair. He was a brother of the late Capt. Shawe Taylor, so prominently identified with the revolution scheme some years ago.

Shawe Taylor was ambushed by at least nine men, who at six-thirty had a barricade across the road. When the motor pulled up they poured volley of shots into Shawe Taylor from behind, killing him instantly and wounding his chauffeur, John Barrett.

The murder took place at Coshla a mile from Moorfield, Athenny, the residence of the victim. Barrett staggered to the house of a herd, whose daughter conveyed the news to Mrs. Shawe-Taylor. The distracted wife asked some men to bring the body to the house. They refused, saying, "What's the use when he is dead now?"

Mrs. Shawe-Taylor walked to Coshla and found her husband's corpse still sitting in the seat of the motor. With the assistance of the wounded chauffeur she brought back the car and its grim burden to the house from where an hour previously her husband had set out on his business.

Masked Bandit Robs Hamilton Grocer

HAMILTON, March 7—A daring robbery took place on Saturday night shortly after 11 o'clock when a masked man carrying a revolver entered the grocery store belonging to John Lambert at 546 Concession street, on the Mountain top, and having held up the proprietor and his son-in-law escaped with $411.22, which he took from the cash register. After securing the money, which included checks for $27.60 and $25, the bandit left the store, firing a shot from the revolver when he reached the street. Although followed by Mr. Lambert's assistant he made off across the fields, and was lost sight of nearing the ridge of the mountain. Chief Constable Clark was communicated with, and has taken charge of the case.

Toronto Family Wiped Out By Explosion Of Benzine

FATHER FIXING CAN OF BENZINE WHEN EXPLOSION OCCURRED AND HOME WAS DESTROYED — FATHER, MOTHER AND TWO CHILDREN LOST LIVES.

TORONTO, March 8.—The explosion of a can of benzine, followed by a fire, caused the death of four persons at Nos. 8 and 10 Moscow Avenue yesterday afternoon at 12.50. The dead are:

HERBERT FOSTER, aged 36. ALICE FOSTER, aged 30.

Their two children, Aileen, aged 7, and Olive, aged 5.

The entire family was wiped out by the explosion and fire and the whole progress of the tragedy occupied the space of only half an hour. Herbert Foster survived until 7 o'clock, dying in the General Hospital from his injuries.

Yesterday afternoon the charred kitchen and badly damaged lower floor of the brick veneer and roughcast building were the only evidences of the grim occurrence of an hour or so before. A doll's baby carriage, belonging to one of the children burned to death, the gutted interior of the kitchen, an overturned and burned table lying in the centre of the kitchen, were the mute witnesses of the disaster which overtook the Foster family as they were preparing to eat the midday meal. Lying in the kitchen, where death had held sway, was the scorched and blackened roast of beef upon which the family were preparing to dine.

EXPLODED CAN FOUND.

So far as can be learned, Foster, who ran a little tailoring and repair shop at No. 10 Moscow avenue, was trying to fit a spout in a can of benzine. The spout had evidently become loose, and had fallen out. When the room was investigated after the fire, the spout, held in a pair of pliers, was still resting in the cook stove, evidently heating so that solder could be applied. The exploded five-gallon can was also found, bent and twisted with the force of the explosion.

The French losses on February 15 including the period during which the disorders occurred at Marash were 158 killed and nearly two hundred missing according to the Temps. Losses of French regulars and native troops are included.

Worst Snowstorm Of The Winter

All Over Quebec Province Trains Delayed or Cancelled

MONTREAL, March 7—The effect of Friday and Saturday's snowstorm was felt throughout the Province today and over Saturday night. Trains from the Maritime Provinces and Burlington, Boston and New York were many hours late and in some certain cases were cancelled. The Chicago train due at 5.45 a.m. did not arrive at 9 a.m. Others were marked "indefinitely late."

At the Canadian Pacific Railway depot there was the same story. The Boston train service was cancelled, and the Halifax train, due at 12.30 p.m. came in late at night. Only two out of a long list of trains were reported on time.

Both the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Pacific Railway reports the storm as one of the worst this winter. It is stated that it will cost both railways hundreds of thousands of dollars with all possible equipment out to fight the snow.

Quebec, March 7—The worst snowstorm of the present winter swept over Quebec district this weekend, seriously delaying the traffic on railways and causing material damage in some places.

At different place sin the vicinity of Quebec, the drifts on the railway tracks were six feet deep and the Canadian Pacific Railway train which left Montreal Saturday night was snowbound at 9 o'clock this morning at St. Malo, a suburb of this city, when the locomotive ploughed into a deep drift and left the rails.

A huge volume of snow rolling down from the top of Cape Diamond st., almost buried five houses on Chamberlain street. The great weight of the snow and the force with which it struck the rear of the houses tore off the galleries and broke in the doors and windows, piling up in the rooms.

Eleven and a half inches of snow fell, and on Saturday night the temperature dropped to 6 degrees below zero.

The railroads report that their roads have all been cleared and are open for traffic.

THE MAGIC WAND.

We are on the eve of a new advertising era. It will be just as big as we care to make it, or as small. Advertising is one of the greatest forces in the world. It has accomplished purposes which no other agency has ever been capable of doing. The printed word reaches further, is more effective, and brings things to pass more quickly and satisfactorily in almost every instance than the spoken message. You will agree that the great Victory Loans and other financial drives were brought to a magnificent conclusion through the aid of the printed message in the newspapers of this country. You will also agree that advertising is the only agency that could have accomplished so great a task in so short a time. Think of the many millions of dollars that have been passed along to the aid of the great cause in behalf of humanity. Newspaper advertising played an important part in every drive; in fact, it is safe to say that the newspapers were potent factors in every undertaking looking toward the maintenance and comfort of our troops abroad as well as those of our camps in this country.

Professor H. Strauss, M. D., of the Royal Charity Hospital, says, "The cause for an attack of gout, rheumatism, lumbago, is supplied by the increase of uric acid in the blood serum, the result of various causes, the most frequent of which is renal. Before an attack, one suffers sometimes from headache, neuralgia, twinges of pain here and there."

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, when the back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you have rheumatic pains or lumbago, gout, sciatica, obtain at your nearest drug store "Anuric" (anti-uric-acid).

This is the discovery of Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. "Anuric" is an antidote for this uric acid poisoning and dissolves uric acid in the body much as hot coffee dissolves sugar.

"Anuric" will penetrate into the joints and muscles, and dissolve the poisonous accumulations. It will stamp out toxins.

Montreal, Que.:—"I cannot praise Dr. Pierce's Anuric (anti-uric-acid) enough for what it has done for me. For three months I was under the doctor's care and got no better. I was always complaining of my kidneys. I did not know what to do. I read about Anuric and made up my mind to try it. I have taken two boxes and don't complain any more. I have gained in weight and am still gaining. My appetite is great and sleep has come to me. That is what the Anuric Tablets have done for me. I do truly recommend them to those who are suffering the way I did. The tablets are mighty good, though not expensive. Easy to buy, but hard to beat."—T. A. BROWN, 388 Dorchester St. W.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"

Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, the new All-Canadian organization controlling a chain of theatres across the continent from the Atlantic to the Pacific announce their first production—a revival of "The Servant in the House," with the famous English actor, Mr. Tyrone Power, in the great role of the Drainman, first made notable by him in 1909, at Griffin's Opera House Tuesday night.

Chas. Rann Kennedy's significant morality play, when first performed ten years ago, created a veritable sensation, and Mr. Power's remarkable portrayal of the central character, the Drainman, was heralded by both metropolitan and other dramatic critics as one of the most impressive in a decade.

To support Mr. Power a selected company of distinguished artists has been chosen and will include Mr. Harvey Hays, Mr. Walter Edwin, Mr. Edward Foster, Mr. Harold DeBecker, Miss Alma Chester, Miss Chela Knight and others.

"ROMANCE OF TARZAN"

Imagine a story of breathless movement set amid the contrasting scenes of the jungles on unexplored Africa and the luxurious atmosphere of American society, with Tarzan, the son of noble English parents, who has been raised in the hearts of the wilds by an ape Foster-Mother, as the central figure, and one can obtain some idea of the treat in store for Belleville film enthusiasts when "The Romance of Tarzan" is shown at Griffin's tonight and Wednesday night. This massive seven-part production is a visualization of the concluding chapter of Edgar Rice Burroughes' great story "Tarzan of the Apes," which was presented in Belleville some time ago and which has been one of the outstanding sensations of the current season. Elmo Lincoln and Enid Markey repeat their previous triumphs in the leading roles of Tarzan and Jane Porter, the beautiful daughter of the American scientist, and are capably supported by such favorites of the silent drama as Thos. Jefferson, Cleo Madison, Monte Blue, George French and Colin Kenny. A selected program of comedies and varied plays will also be presented on the same programe.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE BUYS A NEW CAR

One of the sad parts of being a successful moving picture actress is that life loses all its thrills. The only thrill a successful moving picture actor or actress can get is when he or she learns he or she is no longer successful. Then he or she gets the thrill of his or her lifetime.

Constance Talmadge, always a bit different than the ordinary person, still manages to get some thrills out of her life. Her latest sensation consisted of the purchase of an automobile all by herself and paying for it out of her film earnings. It is a beautiful big car, and no sooner did she acquire it than her director, Walter Edwards, received her consent of allowing the car to be used in her first picture requiring the use of an automobile. Miss Talmadge and Harrison Ford are appearing at the Palace tonight to Wednesday, matinee daily in a new five-reel comedy "Happiness A La Mode.' A program of comedy and topicals will also be shown.

Two-Year Term For Racing Man

Grant Hugh Browne Sentenced for Defrauding U. S. Govt.

DETROIT, March 8.—Grant Hugh Browne, wealthy New York sportsman and race track owner, convicted of conspiracy to defraud the United States Government of $325,000 in connection with fraudulent bidding on army salvage material, was sentenced by Judge Tuttle to two years on each of two indictments, the sentences to run concurrently.

Major Lester J. Waterbury, former head of the Ordnance Finance Department at Rochester, N.Y., brought to trial on the same charge as Browne was given 18 months on each of the two indictments, to run concurrently. Sentence on Captain Soterius Nicholson, wartime head of the Detroit office of the Ordnance Finance Department will be reserved until March 22.

Frederic C. Collin, a Detroit real estate man; Monroe L. Bardach, assistant to the Manager of the American Iron & Steel Company of Albany N.Y., and Burt Harris, a New York metal dealer, were declared innocent.

Capt. Nicholson, during the last few days of the trial seemed confident of his acquittal, and when the foreman announced conviction, pressed his handkerchief to his face and bowed his head over the clerk's table in front of Judge Tuttle, sobbing convulsively.

Grant Hugh Browne promoted jockey clubs in the United States and Canada, but his activities were based largely on speculation rather than with a view to permanency. He has been associated with various racing ventures on both sides of the international boundary, but these in Canada, at least, did not earn the approval of either the race-going public or the recognized racing authorities, whose aim it is to conduct the sport on a desirable basis.

Letters To The Editor

CITY FINANCES

Belleville, March 8, 1920

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—I noticed in the Saturday issue of your paper an article prominently displayed re city finance, headed "Rate Payers Want to Know."

This article is, in my opinion, entirely misleading as was also the report of Council proceedings in your issue of February 10th. The Daily Ontario, on that date correctly reported the Council Meeting of February 9th, and you will notice their report differs very materially from yours. On that occassion I quoted figures—not official estimates by any means—but only rough pencilled jottings which I had made to show the approximate costs of various civic improvements which were then in the mind of the public, such as acquiring the Bay Bridge, Paving and Sewers, New Fire Hall, repairs to Gas Works, acquiring sites for Industries, etc., and now comes the part of the proceedings omitted in your report.

I then proceeded to explain that these items totalled the enormous sum of $1,300,000 and were, therefore, quite impossible of being carried out. I further gave my ideas as to cost of labor and materials and my opinion that materials would be cheaper, another year. If you will refer to The Daily Ontario of February 10th, you will notice that I asked that the Aldermen and Citizens should "think over these matters deeply.".

Of course you omitted all this in your report and it is rather surprising that you should bring all this up again, a full month later in your article, "Rate Payers Want to Know."

How can the rate payers know when your reports of these meetings are not correct?

The Council quite understands the situation and some time ago decided that only urgent repairs and improvements can be proceeded with this year. One of these urgent matters is, the purchase of the Bay Bridge. I am only giving my own opinion, in this matter but I would suggest that if the Bridge Company hopes to do business with us this year they will require to sharpen their pencil and get away from war prices. In this connection we are somewhat handicapped by reason that our representative at Ottawa is also the representative of the "Bridge Company."

Regarding the financial statement for 1919, our Treasurer has been off duty for some time but the balance sheet is being rushed along and will be made public very shortly.

In the matter of the tax rate, we of course are burdened with several large items handed down from previous Councils which have still to be provided for. For instance, the Rolling Mills Bonds amounting to $50,000, guaranteed by the city about 20 years ago were only paid off last May, and of course were paid by the citizens through the tax rate.

The 1918 Council granted $50,000 to the Patriotic Fund which has not been paid and I am not at this time offering any suggestion as to what should be done about this. Other grants such as Albert College Site $28,000, G.W.V.A. $10,000 and some others all require to be provided for out of the general tax rate and I am led to believe that up until the year 1900 little, if any, provision had been made for sinking fund.

As regard school expenditures, we have no control over this, but must grant what the School Board asks. I understand the School Board are calling a meeting of the citizens in order to explain the necessity for their proposed expenditures.

For general purposes, the Government limits municipalities to a rate of 25 mills, and some cities, St. Catherines, for instance, are applying for power to increase this. While we have no intention of applying for any such power, we should remember that if 25 mills was necessary when labor was $1.25 per day it must be inadequate in these times when labor is $3 to $3.50 per day and when cost of building materials is doubled and trebled.

The time is not far distant when the Government will compel us to instal a filtration plant and a sewerage disposal plant. When you realize that our general rate last year was 23 9-10 mills, you can easily see that the balance left, viz 1 1-10 mills, will not be adequate to provide very much in the way of improvements. So whether the Council wishes to or not it can't be done.

In view of these facts which could have been ascertained for the asking, your article cannot have much effect except to give the city undesirable publicity and Mr. Flint's letter suggesting that the rate payers should petition Ottawa is perfect nonsense.

The population of the city has been kept at about the same figure as a year ago with practically no expense, although several hundred hands, who were engaged in war work in the city factories a year ago have since been discharged. These men have been largely absorbed by new industries and several more industries will be in the labor market early next month. In this connection it is interesting to note that more property has changed hands during the last eight months than has been traded in several years before. Property values have also appreciated considerably.

Regarding the W.C.A. grants, I do not know whether you consulted those estimable ladies or not, but apparently not or you would have found out that while we have no slums, such as are found in the larger cities, still we have a few cases that require attention as was explained to the Council a short time ago by Mr. Arthur McGie.

It is too large a subject to discuss here, but if these ladies secure a social worker, capable of properly organizing the various charitable institutions in the city, to see that charity is properly handled and not bungled she will save the citizens her salary twice over in this matter alone.

As regards the other work so well and economically carried on by these ladies, surely the citizens are willing and able to provide out of the tax rate for the up-keep of our indigent citizens, our splendid City Hospital and also our 'Hencoop for the Friendless,' for it cannot be called by any other name.

Yours truly,
JAMIESON BONE

Editor's Note—We were not aware that the article in question intimated that the figures given by Ald. Bone at the Council meeting were anything more than an "outline of contemplated expenditure this year" as stated in The Intelligencer's report of the Council meeting, as having been presented by Ald. Bone to the Council for consideration. The figures were expressive enough even if Ald. Bone's remarks in connection therewith were not fully reported, which was not a matter of design but subject entirely to the discretion of the reporter in attendance. The Intelligencer has not criticized the requests of the W.C.A. in regard to the Hospital and Indigent Committee with the exception of the appointment of a Social Worker which we believe should be more fully considered, and if it is found that such an official is absolutely necessary, an effort made to ascertain if a suitable selection cannot be made of a resident of Belleville, rather than an importation which we are informed is contemplated. In the best interests of the ratepayers of Belleville and the Aldermen themselves, The Intelligencer believes it a duty to draw attention to all questions of contemplated expenditure which may be included in the tax bill which the ratepayers may be called upon to pay, to the end that the contemplation may be benefitted by the force of public opinion. By the tone of Ald. Bone's letter, he appears to resent the references of The Intelligencer to the figures presented by him to the City Council. Why he should adopt this attitude is incomprehensible to us.

There's a home for little children

NOT an orphanage, or an institution—a home.

THE children there are not all total orphans. Some have fathers; some have mothers.

IT'S a heart-warming sight to see fathers come there on Saturdays and Sundays to spend happy hours with their motherless bairns.

EQUALLY comforting is the appreciation of widows whose little ones are well taken care of while they are at work.

MANY totally orphaned little ones are very early placed in good homes where they may renew the love of father and mother.

TO preserve the atmosphere of home; that's the guiding spirit of the Orphan Children's work of the Salvation Army.

A Quarter Century of Store Service

On Thursday, March 7th, 1895, there was added to the long list of Business Places in Belleville the name "Sinclair's, and from that date to the present Sinclair's Dry Goods Store has been more or less of a factor in the business life of the community of which Belleville is the great shopping centre.

Ever inspired by the high ideal of Real Service, we have been rewarded by seeing our business develop from one of very small beginning into one of the largest of its kind in Eastern Ontario, and now looking backward into the past twenty-five years and forward into the future of the much talked of Bigger and Better Belleville, we hope we are justified in our feeling that our long service of the past may have fitted us for a fuller and better service for the future.

Now, before this paper reaches its many readers, we will have entered upon our Twenty-sixth Year of Business, and we wish here and now to express as earnestly as mere words will permit us so to do, our appreciation of the patronage and confidence of an ever-increasing nature that have been ours to enjoy during all these past years; and for this new business year upon which we now enter, we trust that we may not only receive but also merit a continuation of the confidence and support that have been ours during all our past business experience.

With our Staff we remain, as ever,
At your service,

DAYLIGHT SAVING AGAIN IN KINGSTON

Kingston, March 8.—Kingston is going to observe daylight saving again this year. The members of the city council passed a bylaw which will put daylight saving into effect from May 1 until Labor Day, and citizens generally are well pleased over the action of the council.

It took the city councillors seconds to grant the sum of $150,000 for the erection of an infectious building at the Kingston General Hospital, in connecton with the extension scheme at the hospital.

Kingston is the only city in Canada without a free library but if the bylaw that is to be placed before the rate payers on March 24 is passed, provision will be made for the establishment of a free library.

There will be no motorization of the fire department this year. The city council decided not to submit a bylaw to the people for the expenditure of $30,000 to motorize the department. It was felt that owing to many heavy expenditures this year, the fire department could wait.

The remarks of two school trustees, J. R. Henderson and F. R. Anglin, have aroused the ire of the members of the Trades and Labor Council. Trustee Anglin severely criticized the action of the school teachers, who threatened to resign if they were not given a flat increase of $300 per year, and the Trades Council state that "he cast slars upon the trades unions." Trustee Anglin claimed that the teachers were under the power of an organization similar to trades unions and that he regretted very much that the teachers should be led by such an organization.

Trustee Henderson said that the teachers were under contract and violated their contracts as "a scrap of paper," just like the kaiser. The Trades Council has asked Trustees Anglin and Henderson to hand in their resignations.

Twenty-Five Years Of Success Crowns House Of Sinclair

CELEBRATION OF TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF ENTRY INTO BUSINESS OF MR. D. V. SINCLAIR, A NOTABLE EVENT—MARKED BY DISTRIBUTION OF VICTORY BONDS TO EMPLOYEES AS MEMENTOES OF OCCASION AND TRIBUTES OF APPRECIATION FOR FAITHFUL SERVICE.

A quarter of a century business career, crowned with outstanding success, is a record to be proud of, and if the customary geniality radiated by Mr. D. V. Sinclair, one of the most prominent of Belleville's leading business men, is a little more pronounced these days the reason lies in the fact that he has passed the twenty-fifth milestone in the business which he has built up from modest beginnings twenty-five years ago to its present large and important status as one of the most extensive and important in its line between Toronto and Montreal, known far and wide for the quality of goods handled and the wide range of choice afforded.

The House of Sinclair is noted for specializing in high-grade dry goods and ladies' wear, and quality has been the keystone of its outstanding success, backed up by unfailing courtesy and the principle of the best service possible to the customer.

Mr. D. V. Sinclair, who on Saturday celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his entry into business life as the proprietor of his own store, was born in June, 1864, at Madoc, where his aged parents still reside. He came to Belleville thirty-seven years ago and after a course at the Ontario Business College entered the Ritchie store as a clerk, and remained there twelve years, receiving a business training which proved a valuable asset later when in business for himself; indeed, Mr. Sinclair is proud to admit that if he has attained any measure of success in business life he attributes it to the excellent training he received in the Ritchie store and the benefit of close association with the keen business men who have piloted that business so successfully.

Saturday was a day long to be remembered in the House of Sinclair, Front Street, Belleville, for every member of the staff took pleasure in the fact that the business was twenty-five years old and, with a record of success and progress behind, faced the future strong and reliant with a policy of enterprise and expansion promising even greater success.

Mr. Sinclair was the recipient of warm congratulations from the members of the staff upon the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his entry into business life for himself, and to mark the occasion in a worthy manner and show his deep appreciation of the loyalty and faithful service of the staff, Mr. Sinclair distributed Victory Bonds to the value of $2,500 among the eighteen employees in proportion to years of service. It need hardly be said that Mr. Sinclair's liberality was deeply appreciated by the members of the staff and the ocsion made even more memorable by his kind thoughtfulness.

It is worthy of note that there are members of the staff who have been with Mr. Sinclair since the doors were opened to the public for the first time twenty-five years ago and there are six employees who have an aggregate of one hundred and ten years as factors in the fortunes of the House of Sinclair.

One of Mr. Sinclair's rules of business conduct has been to personally open the store every morning, and this he has done for the past twenty-five years, being always first down in the morning.

Mr. D. V. Sinclair has made an outstanding success of business life by close attention to business and careful study of the needs of the public, coupled with a determination to make the business name of Sinclair synonymous with quality and fair dealing. That he has accomplished all that he planned, and more, is a fact too apparent to need further comment.

Another pleasant feature of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the business of Mr. D. V. Sinclair is the fact that the anniversary was marked by the association as a business partner with his father of Grenville R. Sinclair, who, having served his apprenticeship at the business, is now fully equipped and capable of assuming a share in the management, thus relieving his father of part of the burden of conducting this ever-growing business upon ever-progressive lines. The son's entry into the management was delayed by the war, as he answered the call of King and Country and served with credit and distinction as Lieutenant in the Sixth Canadian Siege Battery, being wounded in the battle of Cambrai. Fortunately Lieut. Sinclair recovered from his wounds and was able at the close of the war to again resume his duties in the store of his father and eventually realize his ambition of proving worthy to become a member of the firm.

As a successful business man and a worthy citizen, Mr. D. V. Sinclair enjoys the respect and esteem of all the citizens of Belleville and surrounding country, and all will wish him continued success and prosperity in the business in the direction of which he will now have associated with him his son, Grenville R. Sinclair.

RANDALL MACDONALD DIES

Guelph, March 6—The death occurred here of Randal Macdonald, a well known newspaper man of this city, following an illness of about three weeks. He came to Guelph from Scotland a few years ago and was a student at the O.A.C. later going into newspaper work. He enlisted in 1914 and served all through the war with the 18th Battalion, being once wounded. He returned about a year ago and conducted a news bureau until he was taken ill. He was a son of Angus Macdonald of Edinburgh, Scotland, and was born in that city nearly thirty-nine years ago. His brother, George A. Macdonald, resides in Peterboro, and was here when he died.

New York Police Face Serious Charge

NEW YORK, March 8—Indictments against policemen at least one lawyer and several citizens as yet unnamed will be sought next Monday, as a reslut of the investigation of vice conditions carried on secretly by the District Attorney's office for more than five months.

Assistant Districtt-Attorney James E. Smith said yesterday that he was ready to go before the grand jury with the evidence now in hand. He said he had facts to prove conclusively that a connecting link between the police of the West Side inspection district and the underworld had permitted wholesale trafficking in women.

Testimony already heard by the inquisitorial body, or to be heard on Monday, is declared to point to these facts:

That no fewer than 500 apartments around Riverside Drive and Upper Broadway are being maintained for immoral purposes in one inspection district alone.

That not one of these resorts exists without actual protection, or the connivance of "plain clothes" men operating in this district.

That a well defined arrangement exists under which a lawyer acts for the police to collect cash from women of the streets, thus making it possible for police to make fake arrests, but color their testimony, after the lawyer has "fixed" the case, in such a manner as to permit the prisoner to escape.

That an emissary of the underworld was hurried to Great Meadow penitentiary at Comstock on Tuesday immediately after it has been learned that vice was under grand jury investigation and that Nathan Seiler, a prison John J. Gunson, indicated on a charge was called upon to send word back to his former associates that those who testify against the policemen are harshly dealt with.

Although the assistant district attorney was convicted that indictments will be returned not later than Tuesday and that the conditions thus far indicated a general conspiracy on the part of the police, his opinion was not accepted without reservations in the office of his chief. While Mr. Smith was discussing the certainty of further exposures today and tomorrow, District Attorney Swann declared that he was certain the vice conditions indicated by testimony against Detective John J. Gunson, indicated on a charge of grafting, represented only an isolated case.

Mr. Swann insisted that the majority of the police were not guilty of such wrong-doing and that no evidence had been found as yet to prove that there was a conspiracy between men higher up to protect members of the underworld. Mr. Smith made no comment upon these cases.

HYLAN TAKES ACTION

Mayor Hylan today asked District Attorney Swann to produce the names of occupants and addresses of the 500 alleged disorderly houses which are said to exist in fashionable residence sections here under police protection.

Swann, upon receipt of the Mayor's communication, asked his assistant, James E. Smith, who is conducting the investigation, immediately to prepare an answer.

"I am not interested in keeping a list of flats," Smith said. "I am interested in the Gunson case. Let the Mayor go to Police Inspector Dominick Henry for information."

The action of Mayor Hylan was expected to bring about an investigation of the entire police department it was said.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION ELECTS OFFICERS

Toronto, March 6—With the election of officers, the Ontario Good Roads Association concluded their eighteenth annual convention. Two addresses were given, one by W. A. McLean, C. E., Deputy Minister of Highways, and another by Lieut.-Col W. H. McKendrick.

A resolution favoring increasing motor license fees as a method of raising money for highway improvement purposes was passed. The convention recommended that the Highway Act be amended to permit Road Commissions to spend road money for tree planting along the highways.

L. E. Allen, of Belleville, succeeds K. W. McKay, of St. Thomas as President. Mr. McKay and C. R. Wheelcock of Orangeville, another past President, were made Honorary Presidents of the association. Other officers elected were: Vice-Presidents, T. P. Mahoney, Hamilton, and W. H. Brown, Chesley; Secretary-Treasurer, Hon. George S. Henry, Todmorden; Directors, F. A. Senecal, Plantagenet; J. A. Sanderson, Oxford Station, Wm. Nugent, Belleville; W. H. Pugsley, Richmond Hill; Major T. L. Kennedy, M. P. P., Dixie; J. E. Jamieson, Singhampton; John Currie, Strathroy; J. E. 24-HOUR SEANCE ENDS IN ASYLUM

Martinez, Calif., March 6—After their arrest as insane suspects as the result of a 24-hour seance with ouija boards, Adeline Bettini, her mother, Mrs. S. Bettini, Mrs. Joseph Haoldavini and Mrs. Edward Morro, were committed to State hospitals for the insane by the Superior Court here.

The three men of the party testified at the hearing that they had tried to induce the women the cease ouija seances but without effect. The men admitted that the last seance in which they participated had lasted for twenty-four hours and they were so devoted to the boards that they did not take time off to eat or sleep.

Insanity charges were placed against all seven.

REDS AND REVOLUTION.

Emerson Hough declares the newspapers have not been printing the real facts of the "Red" menace. He declares "That the authorities at Washington have postponed from year to year this very action—that's the news! That political fear all over this country has allowed the labor union idea to grow into this revolutionary idea—that's the news! That but for the grace of God we should this winter have had a four-fold strike, tying up the steel industry, all the railroads, all the coal mining industries, all the packing and food industries—that's the news! That the One Big Union idea has been abroad all over the country, and is by no means stopped—that's the news! That no matter what self-satisfied officials may say, the backbone of this movement is by no means broken, that the work has but begun—that's the news!

"That this country will not be safe until thousands and thousands of these people have been deported forever and the gates set up against the incoming of their like at any time in the future—that's the real news of it all; and it should be remembered after the tumult and the shouting of all the advertising has died away.

"That this state of affairs actually exists, that we have opened our gates to the masses of these people, that we have allowed their machinations to go on so far, that there are editors and writers and business politicians by the thousand in America who lack courage to go straight to this foreign element—that's the news!"

A PREHISTORIC NIAGARA.

What engineers believe is an ancient Niagara Falls, buried for thousands of years, has been uncovered during the course of excavations for the new Welland Ship Canal, reports The Universal Engineer (New York) for January. It says:

The "skeleton" of this great prehistoric cataract, according to engineers had a greater fall than the present Niagara Falls. The first indications of the former cataract came to light when workmen uncovered a series of ledges in the form of steps with a total drop of twenty-five feet and a width of four hundred feet. The rock from this point sloped sharply and at a distance of about one hundred feet from the end of the ledges showed a depth of seventy-five feet.

Here was discovered what is believed to have been the main precipice over which the rushing water plunged hundreds of feet to its bed below. The surface of the rock showed unmistakable signs of having been worn smooth by the action of water rushing over it for countless years. There is nothing in history that mentions this former cataract, but experts believe it once formed the chief link between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario. Eight-Mile Creek, a small stream, now flows over part of the course of the prehistoric waterway, and this in turn will soon become the new ship canal."

Fifty cents a ton for anthracite coal, thirty cents a bushel for wheat, and three eggs for a nickel, are the latest market quotations from West China, according to a traveller who has just returned from that country. Only trouble is that there is no transportation facilities and no way of getting the stuff out. Better start an air line from West Belleville to West China before the time comes when three nickels will buy only one small egg.

It is to be hoped that the withdrawal of Judge Robson does not presage the abolition of the Board of Commerce. That it has earned the antagonism of many interests is no better reason why it should be abolished than is the fact that the criminal courts are distasteful to criminals a good reason why the criminal courts should be abolished. It is because the board has done its duty fearlessly and faithfully that it has got itself so thoroughly disliked. But that is the best possible reason why the general public should have confidence in it.—Hamilton Herald.

Referring to the agitation in some parts of the Dominion for a tariff reduction, "so that American goods may come in more freely," Mr. T. B. Macaulay, President of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, in a recent speech before the members of the Financial Club of Montreal, said: "Let us drop all protectionist and free trade ideas and consider how this would work. Any marked increase in our imports from the United States would so increase our adverse balance of trade with that country that the premiums on American exchange would almost certainly rise considerably. A reduction in the tariff would certainly mean an increase in the cost of New York funds, and it is possible that such increase might even offset entirely the reduction in the customs charges. The effect of that would merely be to transfer some of our customs revenue from our own Government to American brokers and investors as inducements for them to buy Canadian securities, and thus increase our indebtedness to that country."

New Zealand's New Departure

(Auckland News)

The appointment of the first Minister for External Affairs who has ever exercised jurisdiction in New Zealand is another reminder of the responsibility the Dominion has undertaken for the protection of native peoples in the Pacific. But a few years ago we had no "external affairs" worth the consideration of a separate Department. The Government of the Cook Islands was assumed in 1901, but it was not until 1915 that it was deemed necessary to establish a Ministry for the Islands. With the taking over of the administration of Samoa it is obviously advantageous to have one Minister in charge of all New Zealand's overseas dependencies.

The Birth Rate in France

(Kansas City Star)

Will a period of great prosperity in France exert an economic influence to increase the birth rate by removing the calculation and fears that now retard it? That may be, or it may require a stimulus going to fundamental changes in the French laws of property and inheritance. These are deeply rooted in the French character and customs and may not easily respond to innovation. Bounty systems have proved successful applied to some industries, like the production of beet sugar, but how they would work to produce larger families never has been demonstrated. However, these are new times fruitful of many marvels, and nothing need surprise us. What legislation can do we may now have a chance to see.

A Slow Process

(The Villager)

The restlessness in our body politics is due tothe failure of the Government to arrive speedily at a just peace; it is due to profiteering; it is due to the increased cost of living; it is due to the machinations of passionate and malevolent agitators. These are the things our common sense has made us stop believing, though some of our leaders keep on saying them. John Selden wrote during England's civil wars, "Though we had peace, yet 'twill be a great while ere things are settled; though the wind lie, yet after the storm the sea will work a great while.". The restlessness which is at present troubling us will not be stopped, it will subside, it is the effect of a large cause, and nothing so small as man or a measure can control it.

The' Poet's Corner

THE CENOTAPH LISTENING-POST

P. A. Barnett, in London Spectator.

Up! foolish hearts of men! Take thought of us here! Be proud!
This is no empty tomb set up for a
heedless crowd,
We are here, we wait for you, watch
you passing us to and fro.
We came from you, come to you, here,
where living rivers flow.
You bare your heads to us, you; and we—our hearts are bare;
O read them, read! Do you love us as we loved you?
Do you care?
We lived for you, died for you,
let us live in you.
Lift our load.
Bravely we bore it for your sakes;
spurn it not from your road.
Take it up, you, and pay us our wages.
We are not dead.
Our life is in you; not spent where the soil is tumbled and red.
We gave with both hands—all we had;
we took no count of our store—
All we had, all we were, all we hoped, not asking for more and more.
Will you haggle and grovel and grumble, and grab and snatch and fight?
Will you hide your eyes from the day spring and love the dark and the night?
Will you sell the pass we guarded, the land we loved and freed,
To sloth, unbrotherly hatred, to luxury, theft and greed?
We are here. We hold watch and ward. O beware of the enemy host!
On both sides, too, of the barrier, both sides of the listening post.

A Laugh or Two

His Quietus

Mrs. Knoff—Didn't your husband rave when you showed him the dressmaker's bill?

Mrs. Spott—Rather.

Mrs. Knoff—And how did you quiet him?

Mrs. Spott—I showed him the milliner's and then he became simply speechless.—Tit-Bits.

Enough to Make One Sick

"What's the matter, old top? You look sick."

"I've just undergone a serious operation."

"Appendicitis?"

"Worse than that. I had my allowance cut off."

A Modern Miracle

Behold the pretty cotton plant
With blossom white and full;
They pick the downy stuff and lo!
They make us suits of wool!

Common Stock - - - - - - - - - $1,000,000.00
(No Bonds)

The following information is summarized from a letter from Mr. S. Messer, President of the Company:—

1. The Continental Oil Company, Limited, of Canada, the business and assets of which have been acquired by the North Star Oil & Refining Company, Limited, a Canadian corporation, has been in successful operation in the Prairie Provinces for the past eleven years.

2. The Company has no bond issue or other funded indebtedness outstanding nor any floating debt other than current accounts payable.

3. Earnings after the completion of a refinery for the production of refined oil, gasoline and lubricating oil, at Winnipeg, which refinery is expected to begin operations about the middle of the year, are estimated to be initially at the rate of $150,000 to $160,000 annually, or equal to over twice the dividend upon the Preferred Stock. With the completion of other refineries, earnings are expected to materially increase.

4. The Company has affiliations with large and responsible producers in the United States which should ensure a continuous and constant supply of crude oil. In the event of the development of crude oil in commercial quantities in the Canadian West, the Company, with refineries at Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Calgary, will be in an advantageous position to manufacture from this crude, refined oil, gasoline and other petroleum products for the Western trade.

Applications, which should be accompanied with cheque for full payment, will be received only on the understanding that the right is reserved by us to allot all, a portion only, or none of the amount applied for. In the event of a partial allotment the balance, and if none be allotted the full amount forwarded, will be returned to the applicant.

Interim Certificates will be issued pending engraving of definitive certificates.

It is intended that application be made to list these issues on the Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg Stock Exchanges.

Price: Par ($5.00 per share), carrying a Bonus of 40% in Common Stock.

City AND Country

CITY COUNCIL

A regular meeting of the City Council will be held this evening, when matters appertaining to the city's welfare will be considered.

ARCHBISHOP SPRATT ILL

Archbishop Ganthier, of Ottawa, was called to Kingston to see Archbishop Spratt, who is ill. Archbishop Spratt had planned to leave for Rome on Wednesday next.

COLONEL HILL APPOINTED

Colonel F. W. Hill, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., has been appointed assistant adjutant and quartermaster-general of Military District. No. 3. Col. Hill served overseas and originally came from Niagara Falls.

FIRST AID CLASS

The Canadian Pacific Railway is conducting classes in first aid for the benefit of employees and the public, and to promote efficiency in the service. A class was opened by D. G. Noble, of the vice-president's office, Montreal, 50 employees being present. Similar classes are being held at all terminal points.

DIED ON CAUSEWAY

Mrs. Mary Bulger, widow of Thomas Christian, was found dead on the Lasalle causeway at Kingston. Death was due to heart failure. Deceased left her home in Barriefield to go to the opera house. She was born in Kingston 55 years ago and for many years lived in Montreal, but on her husband's death moved here. She is survived by one son who lived with her.

TWEED EDITOR DIES

Zed. LaFounatin, editor of the Tweed Advocate, died at his home on Sunday morning. The deceased who was 49 years of age, was stricken with pneumonia and never rallied. He leaves a wife and seven children. Deceased had lived in Tweed all his life. Some years ago he established the Advocate and due to his hard work he has brought that paper up to its high standing in the community.

HOUSE SCARCITY

Peterboro has an unusual number of realty transactions during the past two months. There is a scarcity of horses, with the result that more people are buying rather than facing increased rentals and frequent moves from one house to another. The city council is contemplating the erection of a number of houses and King Edward Park, which is little used for Park purposes has been suggested as a site for a number of houses to be erected under the supervision of the civic housing scheme.

ACTRESS ILL IN HOSPITAL

Miss Carpentier, leading lady in "A Night in Honlulu" company, which played here recently, is confined to the Kingston hospital with throat trouble. Miss Carpenter was taken ill when the company reached Kingston and has since been under the doctor's care. Her condition is not serious, however and she will be able to leave the hospital in a few days. An operation on Miss Carpenter's throat was not necessary as the trouble is not as serious as was at first anticipated.

DIED IN CALIFORNIA

The death has taken place in California where he has resided for the past few years, of John P. Clarke, eldest brother of Mr. Sam Clarke, M.P.P., for West Northumberland. The cause was pneumonia. He was in the dry goods business at Exeter, Ont., and also at Winnipeg, before going to California. His wife, before her marriage was Mary Thomas of Cobourg; a son, Dr. Will Clarke, practising medicine in California and two married daughters survive. Mr. Clarke was a son of the late Thos. Clarke of Cobourg and of his brothers and sisters there survive: W. J. Clarke, Winnipeg; Thomas Clarke, Hamilton; Sam Clarke, M.P.P., Cobourg; Mrs. John Trull, Hampton and Mrs. George Archer, Kingston.

PRINCE EDWARD OBJECTS

There appeared to be a feeling at the convention of the Ontario Good Roads Association at Toronto last week among Eastern delegates that the highway scheme, as announced by Hon. Mr. Biggs, had paid too much attention to the western part of Old Ontario, and too little attention to the East. Prince Edward County had a particular kick to put in, as it seems to be the only county not included in the Minister's general scheme. Prince Edward, it was pointed out, has been planning improved highways for some time and is just now ready to go ahead with the work. But the Minister did not include their roads in the list, and accordingly, it was felt that they were being neglected. A delegate wanted to know if they would get federal aid even though their roads are not included in the Provincial scheme suggested to the Dominion. Mr. Campbell replied that help will be extended only to roads approved by the Provincial authorities.

BISCUITS LOST AND FOUND

A box of biscuits was on Saturday picked up upon the street and was later claimed. The package fell off a delivery vehicle.

TRAMPS PROTECTED

Joseph Martin, aged 39 years and Wm. Murphy, aged 27, two weary willies on Saturday night sought protection at the police station.

BURGLARS AT BROCKVILLE

Four stores at Brockville were entenered by burglars, evidently amateurs on Thursday night, and considerable sums of cash stolen as well as goods. The stores entered were those of the William Davies Co., Ltd., the H. T. Murray Co., F. A. Stagg and Ryan and Kehoe, all on King street, west.

ACCIDENTS AT TWEED

On Saturday evening a little son of Mr. W. Pipe aged about eight years, was cutting some slab wood in his father's mill yard when his left hand came in contact with a circular saw. The index finger was almost severed and Dr. Kindred found it necessary to amputate it. The middle and third fingers were also badly lacerated. While helping Jerry Delore to operate a wood sawing outfit, Joseph Hughes lost the third finger of the elft hand and the others were badly gashed

PICTON BOY'S SUCCESS

A Picton boy who has made a marked success in the newspaper world is H. M. VanDusen, son of Capt. T. L. and Msr. VanDusen. He began his newspaper career with the Post Standard of Syracuse some 12 years ago. He holds the position of agency manager of the Capper publications, which include the Topeka Daily Capital, and some six or seven farm journals circulating in the western states.

Wedding Bells

OLIVER—YULE

At Pleasant Valley Farm near Campbellford, on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 25, the marriage was quietly solemnized of Lily Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Yule, and Mr. Percival Roy Oliver of Godolphin. Rev. D. A. Thompson, of Hastings, performed the ceremony. The happy couple left later for a honeymoon trip, visiting Toronto, Peterboro and other points.

Called by Death

SARAH M. MAYS

At an early hour this Monday morning, Mrs. Mary Melinda Mays passed away at the residence of her daughter Mrs. George Easton, 69 St. Charles street, city, after being in declining health for a considerable period. Deceased was born in 1841 in the township of Thurlow, being a daughter of the late Mr. Jacob Badgley. Her husband, Mr. Samuel Mays, preceded her to the tomb some years ago. Mrs. Mays was a lady who was much respected by all who knew her. For many years she had been a member of the Methodist church. A family of three sons and four daughters survive. The sons are Isaac and Frank of Thurlow and Daniel of Waterville, Wash. The daughters are Mrs. Geo. Easton, Mrs. Arthur Kemp, Mrs. F. G. Mills and Mrs. Harrison Brown, all of Belleville.

MISS ANN GAVIN

At an early hour this morning the death occurred of Miss Ann Gavin, an aged lady who has been a resident of Belleville for many years. She was a member of St. Michael's Church. The funeral will take place from Tickell's undertaking rooms tomorrow to St. Michael's Church.

Social And Personal

Miss E. M. B. Warren, who addresses the Women's Canadian Club this evening, will be the guest of Mrs. Baker, Albert College, while in the city.

Rev. C. G. Smith, of Montreal, formerly of the Baptist Church, Belleville, is the guest of Mayor Riggs and family for the next few days. His call to Belleville was occasioned by the death o fthe late Dr. Dan Faulkner of Foxboro.

DEATH NOTICE

MAYS—Died in Belleville March 8, 1920, at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. G. A. Easton, 69 St. Charles St., Mrs. Samuel C. Mays. Funeral will take place at 69 St. Charles Street, Wednesday, March 10 at 1.30 o'clock. Interment Victoria Cemetery.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS AT SYDNEY

Sydney, N. S., March 8—Loss estimated at $100,000 was sustained by the Dominion Steel Corporation, when their electrical warehouse was completely destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. The fire is supposed to have originated from crossed electric wires.

Mrs. Wilson Has Gained 20 Pounds

Friends Are Amazed at Her Recovery—Feels Like New Since Taking Tanlac

"Since taking Tanlac I have gained twenty pounds in weight and all the neighbors are talking about my wonderful improvement," was the statement made recently by Mrs. Clare Wilson, of 40 McSweeney Ave., Moncton, New Brunswick.

"It was about five years ago that my health failed," she continued, "and in spite of all I could do I grew worse and worse. Then in October, 1918, I had a bad case of the 'Flu' which left me in a most miserable and weekened condition. I had almost no appetite at all and whenever I managed to eat a little something it seemed to do me more harm than good. I had a heavy, distressing feeling all the time and I could hardly retain a thing on my stomach. My sleep was restless and often it was disturbed by horrible dreams and nightmares, and I was so nervous that even the children playing around the house upset me. I lost weight until I was scarcely more than a frame and I became so weak and run down that I was almost a wreck.

"One day my husband brought me a bottle of Tanlac, but I had taken so many medicines without getting relief that I had become discouraged and he had to insist for some time before I consented to take it. And now I am certainly glad to have tried it, for I began to improve right away. After taking five bottles I am in perfect health today and my friends are simply amazed at my recovery. I can eat anything I please and digest it without the least trouble and I don't have that distressing feeling after eating like I used to. My nerves are steady and I sleep sound every night; I have gained so much in weight and strength that I am really feeling like a different woman. Tanlac was certainly a blessing to me and I am pleased to tell others about it."

"Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town."

Obsequies

WILBER M. SHOREY

On Sunday afternoon at the family residence, 4th Concession of Sidney Township, services were held over the body of the late Mr. Wilber M. Shorey and were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Wallace, of the Methodist Church, who referred in eulogistic terms to the departed. Many relatives and friends were in attendance to pay the last tribute of respect. Upon the casket were placed a number of floral tributes. The bearers were immediate friends of the family. The body was placed in the vault at Belleville cemetery.

MRS. W. S. MINNS

At Trenton on Saturday afternoon the funeral of the late Mrs. W. S. Minns, a former well known Belleville resident took place and was attended by many relatives and friends. At the residence of Mr. Fred Berry, Henry street, son-in-law of deceased, an impressive service was conducted by Rev. W. G. Clarke, formerly of the Tabernacle church here. Many beautiful floral designs were mute testimony of the esteem in which deceased was held. Interment took place at Evergreen Cemetery. The bearers were friends of the family.

HOMER T. HOLMES

From the residence of Mr. Samuel Holmes, 250 George street, Saturday morning the funeral took place of his brother, Mr. Homer T. Holmes, of Peterboro, who came here recently on a visit and died Thursday morning. Owing to the absence of Rev. Mr. Kerr Pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Wallace of the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church. The late Mr. Holmes was a veteran of '66 and among those who attended the funeral were two veterans of '66 The bearers were his son, James, brother, Samuel, two nephews, Will Pepper and James MacIntyre, Mr. Ranson and Mr. Hugh Galloway. Many beautiful flowers testified to the esteem in which deceased was held. He is survived by his wife, one son, one daughter, and a sister, Mrs. Pepper, of this city, also a sister residing in St. Thomas.

EX-KAISER FIGURES IN HOTEL FIGHT

Berlin, March 8.—The fashionable Adlon Hotel dining-room was the scene of a rough-and-tumble fight Saturday night between ex-Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia, a cousin of the former German Emperor and his guests and Captains Klein and Roughevin and Madam Klein, members of the French Mission.

The trouble is said to have started when the French guests refused to stand while the orchestra played the German national anthem, "Deutchland Uber Alles."

Joachim and his friends hurled candles, crockery and other things at the French party, and Captain Roughevin was beaten and had his clothes torn. Captain Klein was escorted from the dining-room by waiters who defended him.

Disabled Vessel Escapes Rocks

HALIFAX, March 7—The naval staff here believes that the disabled United States Shipping Board steamer Ellithrop, which has been drifting toward destruction on the rocks at the western bar of Sable Island, has weathered the reef and is now out of danger.

A wireless message timed at 5.45 o'clock this afternoon stated that she would pile upon Sable Island before 7.30 o'clock tonight unless assistance arrived in the meantime. A later message from the Marine and Fisheries Department Superintendent at Sable Island stated that the ship would in all probablity strike at or about 7 o'clock. He said that the wind was then blowing at the rate of between sixty and seventy miles per hour, but added that every possible effort would be made to save the lives of the crew. However, radiograms received here at 7.30 o'clock tonight from the distressed steamer gave her position as eighteen miles due southwest (true) of Sable Island, and reported twenty six fathoms. She had previously reported twenty-two fathoms, and late this afternoon twenty fathoms. She is now believed to be out of danger.

The Lake Ellithrop is a steamer of 4,000 tons dead weight, and is bound from Cornwall to a United States port. Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning she sent out an S.O.S. call for assistance, stating that her wheel had gone and that there was a possibility of her drifting on Sable Island. The steamer Maplemore answered her call and at 1 o'clock this afternoon advised that she was 120 miles away, making a good ten knots. The Ellithrop asked in reply if the Maplemore could pick her up after nightfall, and to this message the Maplemore replied "yes." Later the Ellithrop advised that she had lost her propeller.

U.S. May Withdraw If Sultan Is Left

WASHINGTON, March 6—President Wilson may warn the Allies that it will be necessary to withdraw the Treaty of Versailles from the Senate if the Turks are allowed to remain in Constantinople, it was learned.

The President is understood to have such a step under advisement.

It was pointed out on high authority that should the United States join the League of Nations, and the Turks be permitted to remain in Constantinople this country would be in a position of being obligated to protect a settlement to which it is opposed.

The issue of whether the Sultan shall be allowed to stay in Constantinople bids fair to overshadow in international importance the Adriatic disputes, according to developments today.

Says U. S. Responsible

New York, March 6—Henry Morgenthau, former American Ambassador to Turkey, declared last night that America is responsible for "the crime against Occidental civilization by the return of Constantinople to the Turks." The responsibility lies in the refusal of the United States to accept a mandate over Constantinople, he said.

Morgenthau was the principal speaker at the dinner which opened the ten day campaign of the Near East Relief Commission $30,000,000 to help Armenia.

Windsor Butcher Shot To Death

WINDSOR, March 7—Morris Rappaport, 31 years old, proprietor of a butcher and grocery shop at 152 Marion avenue, was shot to death by an unknown man at 10.30 o'clock last night, the murderer escaping immediately afterwards, without leaving the slightest clue to his identity. The tragedy occurred in Rappaport's shop, and the police theory is that robbery was the motive, although some $300 in the cash register was not touched, the slayer running from the place after Rappaport fell mortally wounded.

NO DAYLIGHT SAVING

Ottawa, March 8.—Canadian railways are not expected to adopt daylight saving this year. International operation of the roads has always been the governing factor. When the United States adopted the system, Canada followed suit, but even when the Canadian Act ran out and the Commons refused its re-enactment the railways last year, sustained by the Railway Commission, adhered to the system on the ground that safety as well as convenience required the railways of the two countries to be operated on the same time schedule.

Now the United States Act has expired, and it is presumed that the roads over there will run on standard time. The same reasons for similarity on the Canadian system will operate. There is no Federal or Provincial daylight saving law, but any municipality is free to enact a local by-law.

Council Assumes Liability For Lady Social Worker

GRANT OF TWELVE HUNDRED DOLLARS PASSED BY CITY COUNCIL TO PAY SALARY OF SOCIAL WORKER— LARGE DELEGATION OF LADIES PRESENT IN INTERESTS OF GRANT—ALD. PONTON FAVORS ECONOMY POLICY THIS YEAR.

At the Council meeting last evening the audience present consisted chiefly of ladies who are connected with the Women's Christian Association. Their presence was to see what the Council would do in reference to additional grants to the Association especially the proposed annual grant of $1,200 for a social worker. After considerable discussion the Council unanimously decided to make the grant. The recommendation to increase the yearly grant to the Hospital Board of the W.C.A. prevailed, also to increase the grant to the Indigent Committee of the W.C.A. Two petitions were presented against the Provincial Highway going up Bridge Street east rather than by way of Dundas street. These were referred to Committee as the Government has not yet intimated what way the highway will proceed through the city. The Bay Bridge matter was referred to the committee of the whole of the Council for further consideration and to report upon. Ald. Ponton referred to Ald. Bone's financial statement made at a recent Council meeting and took issue in regard to some of the items. Other business of a general nature was transacted at a busy session.

The members present were Mayor Riggs Aldermen Woodley Ostrom, Hanna, Bone, Ponton, Adams, Wensley, Doyle and Demarsh.

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Reports of Committees, communications, petitions, etc., were on motion laid upon the table and on motion the Council went into Committee of the Whole on reports, etc., Ald. Ponton in the chair.

The accounts recommended to be paid by the various committees were passed and the following recommendations were disposed of:

Grant For Social Worker

That a grant be given to the Indigent Committee of the W.C.A. of $1,200 per year to provide for the services of a social worker.

Ald. Hanna moved that this recommendation be referred back to Committee for further consideration.

Ald. Bone suggested that the ladies present might give some information in reference to this matter. He asked Mrs. Mikel if the W.C.A. would give to the city an acre of land near the Hospital to be used for industrial purposes.

Mrs. Mikel said that she could not say definitely what the Association would do in the matter. If this was done McDonald street might be opened up again near the hospital followed by the ringing of bells and blowing of whistles at the railway crossing which would be a detriment to the patients.

Miss Yeomans addressed the Council relative to the necessity of a social worker being appointed. A trained lady was necessary for this work so as to do it in a systemized manner. The social worker would not handle funds, as the W.C.A. would do this. The worker would, no doubt, do much good in the city. The records show that the W.C.A. has saved the city much money every year since it handled the Indigent Fund. A lady who has been strongly recommended would come here for less than she can procure elsewhere. A local person would not have the influence an outsider would have.

Ald. Ponton asked if a returned nurse could not do the work.

Miss Yeomans—Let us try our plan for one year.

Ald. Ponton said he was not present at the Committee meeting but he was in favor of the grants proposed by the W.C.A. It was a disgrace that our hospital was in debt. We have a number of churches in the city who are doing work among the poor, the W.C.A. is also doing this work. The ladies in Belleville have done wonderful work in this city and now they desire to co-ordinate their efforts in the work for the poor of the city. It was worth trying for a year. The G.W.V.A. of this city had also done good work for some of the needy of the city.

Miss Yeomans—A lady going about the city in the manner proposed by the social worker would do much good.

Ald Bone desired to have the matter settled at once. The ladies of the W.C.A. are doing grand work and he was in favor of the recommendation.

Ald. Demarsh spoke in favor of the recommendation.

Ald. Adams stated that he was opposed to the proposition of procuring an outsider to do the work of a social worker when it can be done within the city. He would not object to the spending of $1,200 if it was expended within the city and not go to an outsider.

Ald. Ostrom personally was not opposed to the recommendation, but some citizens were opposed to it.

Ald. Wensley said he had heard considerable criticism in reference to this matter, but there appeared to be a wrong impression in reference to it. The ladies of W.C.A. had done good work. He was at first opposed to an outsider but after hearing the explanation he was in accord with the proposition.

Ald. Adams said he had no objection to the matter.

The recommendation was unanimously adopted.

Home for Friendless

Aldrmen Demarsh, Doyle, Adams Wensley, Woodley are a committee to look into the matter of the Home of the Friendless and advise regarding the present quarters and advisability of procuring new premises.

Ald. Woodley said that only a portion of the Committee had visited the present premises and a report would not be presented until all the committee had inspected the present premises.

Ald. Doyle thought the Old Children's Shelter building would be suitable.

The matter was left over for further consideration.

Recommended that the contract with Heaton's Agency for advertising an Industrial Campaign at $250 per annum be renewed for another year to April 11th, 1921—Adopted.

That in the event of the Natural Tread Shoe Company outgrowing their present premises their assessment be continued for a period of ten years commencing 1920, based on the same ratio to the actual value of the premises as at present in force.—Adopted.

That the grant to the Belleville Hospital Board of the W.C.A. be increased to $2,500 per annum.—Adopted.

That the grant to the indigent committee of the W.C.A. be increased to $1,500 per year.—Adopted.

Old Age Pension

A communication was read from Mr. Thomas Sullivan relative to the Government granting an old age pension.

Ald. Hanna moved that this Council request the Dominion Government through our representative, Mr. E. G. Porter, to establish an old age pension.—Carried.

A Grate Wanted

Mr. Ed. Kellaway wrote the Council relative to a grate being placed at the side of the road at the junction of West Bridge and Everett streets. —Referred to Public Works Committee.

The Provincial Highway

Two petitions were presented relative to the proposed Provincial Highway going through the city and objecting to it going by way of Bridge Street rather than by Dundas street and the Kingston road.

Referred to Committee.

Bay Bridge

A report signed by Mayor Riggs and Ald. Hanna was read relative to their interview with the Hon. Mr. Biggs, Provincial Minister of Public Works. It was that the Government was prepared to pay 40 per cent. of the purchase cost and 40 per cent. of the cost of maintenance, also the counter proposition that the bridge be taken over as a County-Provincial Highway, the Government to contribute sixty per cent. and the county forty per cent. of maintenance.

Ald. Ostrom was of the opinion that the citizens should get together in this matter and decide what was to be done.

Ald. Bone—The committee will stay on the job until something is done.

The matter was left over for further consideration.

The Committee rose and reported. Reports received and adopted.

Enquiries

Ald. Bone asked if the committee that went to Toronto made any en-

Price Of Paper Will Soar $100 A Ton Or More By July

REMOVAL OF GOVERNMENT RESTRICTIONS ON JUNE 30 ON THE PRICE OF NEWSPRINT WILL PAVE WAY FOR INCREASED PRICES—SWEDISH PAPER NOT A FACTOR.

Reports from the United States that the International Paper Company is increasing the charges for newsprint from the first of April, from $90 a ton to $100 a ton, will not apply to the Canadian mills, at least for three months says The Financial Post which is informed that the contracts that have been made by such mills as Laurentide, Abitibi, Spanish River, Price Bros., Brompton, Belgo-Canadian, etc. all cover the first six months of 1920 so that no change can be made in the portion of output necessary to fill these contracts, until July 1, and the surplus available for transient sales is almost negligible this year.

But, come the first of July, prices are certain to shoot up, unless some entirely unexpected conditions should make an advance inadvisable. That the new price will be at least $100 a ton is taken for granted in mill circles That it will be somewhat higher is considered likely. The International Paper Company, the largest in the United States, or for that matter in the world, in increasing the rate by $10 a ton in three months, implies, it is thought that a further increase will go into effect in another three months when the Canadian contracts expire. This was an output for export of considerably over 600,000 tons a year, would mean at least $3,000,000 more for the newsprint mills for the last half without taking exchange into consideration.

CANADIAN PAPERS OVER 100

This certainly, if normal conditions continue, of an advance in the price on July 1, brings up an interesting point as to the price that will be charged Canadian newspapers. The price control, according to the present arrangement, ends on June 30, and with it the price of $80 a ton for Canadian publishers. It has been taken for granted that the price for domestic business would then be raised to the export price, which was believed likely to hold at $90. But with this at $100 the Canadian publishers are likely to pay at least $100 a ton. The expression "at least" is advised: an exporter of newsprint states that the Canadian papers may be called on to pay the actual amount the mills receive for paper shipped to the States, namely the $100 plus exchange. If the present rate continues, this would mean about $115 a ton, or an increase of a straight $25 a ton over present prices, or $40 a ton over those fixed prior to the last change, that is for 1919. This price would apply to about 14 or 15 per cent. of the Canadian output and in itself would mean something like $3,650,000 more for the publishers to pay and the mills receive, on a year's basis, or half that for the six months. The total gain of the mills for the six months thus would be in the neighborhood of $4,500,000 to $5,000,000.

An important point has been raised among investors in regard to the possibility of Swedish newsprint becoming an important competition in the United States market with Canadian paper. This quesion was placed before George F. Steele, general manager of the Canadian Export Paper Company, who was positive in a denial of any possibility of Swedish paper getting any hold over the border.

"It is true," he said, "that there is some paper from Sweden being sold in the States today, but it is not at the regular contract prices; it is being sold at about 9 cents a lb., or $180 a ton, or just double the prices under contract prices and when the abnormal prices that can be secured on surplus stocks disappear, no more Swedish paper will meet us in the States.

"There was more came over before the war, only pulp, and I do not look for much of this even in the future, with the cost of production so greatly increased in Europe. So far from Sweden being a competitor with us on this continent, we actually had to turn down an order for 2,000 tons of Canadian newsprint for Sweden.

Urges Ulster To Accept Home Rule

LONDON, March 8—In addressing the Ulster Unionist Council last Friday, Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, recommended that Ulster abandon its opposition to the Irish Home Rule bill and accept the bill now before Parliament, says The Daily Mail.

The newspaper describes this as the most important development in the Irish situation in many years and says it is bound to have a profound and far-reaching effect.

Goes Before Council

After the meeting Sir Edward and the other delegates returned to their respective districts to consult the local associations on the decision which is to be taken at another meeting of the Council to be held in Belfast next Wednesday.

"In view of the leader's advice," The Daily Mail continues, "it is hoped the new bill will be accepted substantially by Ulster, but it is possible the Council will recommend the inclusion of the whole of the province in the area of the Northern Parliament instead of six counties.

"Sir Edward Carson further said he believed that any form of Home Rule was bad for the country, but it must be remembered that the Home Rule Act of 1914 was on the statute books and that unless an amending measure was passed it would automatically came into force the day peace was officially declared and then Ulster would be placed under the control of the Dublin Parliament.

Able to Defeat It

"He said he did not wish to force their opinion, and if they decided to reject the new bill he would oppose it, and he believed it could be defeated. They could reorganize their forces and call up volunteers again, but the new bill offered to secure them from being forced under the domination of Dublin, and thus the main aim of their covenant had been achieved. He said he believed nothing was to be gained by an irreconcilable attitude."

Gov't Railways In A Few Years On Paying Basis

Ottawa, March 9.—Mr. D. B. Hanna, President of the Canadian Club yesterday, predicted that before long all Government Railways in Canada would be on a paying basis and the strong probabilities were the returns would in a few years in a great measure help to pay Canada's war debt. He stated there could be no comparison between the earning capacity of the Canadian National Railways and the Government monopoly of railways that existed during the past two years. The great thing Canada had to guard against was political interference of which up to the present, there had been no sign.

He referred to the cheap freight rates existent in Canada, which were about 8.10 cents per ton per mile and added that if the Canadian Railways were given the same rate that existed in South Australia 2.64 cents on the investment of one and a half billion dollars, they would pay not only 5 1-2 on the whole national debt of Canada and on top of that they would have left $100,000.00 to buy new equipment.

35,000 Armenian Refugees at Adana Being Aided by Relief Fund

LONDON, March 9—Dr. Kennedy in charge of the Lord Mayor's relief fund at Adana, where there are about 35,000 Armenian refugees has sent a message to Aneurin Williams, member of the House of Commons, confirming the fact that 10,000 Armenians were massacred in the Marash district.

The city was burned, and thirteen hundred women and children perished in a snowstorm on the flight to Adana.

Eight thousand Armenians are still at Marash, and many of them are wounded.

Adana, adds the message, is not immediately threatened but there is anxiety, and no confidence in the security of the district.

Major Mills Slain By Russian Reds

One of Four British Officers Victims of Red Murderers

WINNIPEG, March 9—News of the murder of Major Edgar Ronald Mills of Winnipeg by Bolsheviki in Siberia was received in the city today by his family.

Major Mills and three other British officers were shot by the Bolsheviki near Taiga, Siberia, about December 22, 1919, according to a message from the War Office.

Major Mills left Winnipeg in 1917 receiving a commission in the Royal Engineers. After service in France until the armistice he volunteered for service in Russia. The last letter received by his family from him was mailed from Ishim last October. Mrs. Ada Mills, his wife and a son and daughter survive.

Two Arrests In Murder Case

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., March 9.—"Coming down to-night with two prisoners and six witnesses in murder case," was the message received by Magistrate J. T. Mackay this morning from Provincial Constable C. Jordan, who has been up the line of the Algoma Central Railway since Saturday morning investigating the death of a Finlander at Gaudette's camp at Mile 154.

According to reports that have come it occurred through a drunken brawl that took place there on Friday night when a quantity of moonshine whiskey was consumed, with the result that one man was found the next morning to be badly chopped up with an axe.

As the camp is some distance from the railway, communication with that point is very difficult at present.

Man in Detroit Jumps Eleven Stories From Hotel Window—All Bones Broken

DETROIT, March 9.—Leaving an open Bible on his dresser, with the 23rd chapter of Genesis marked, Charles J. Rogers, 33, a resident of St. Louis was instantly killed when he leaped from the eleventh story window of Hotel Tuller to the pavement.

The body was found by a patrolman on the sidewalk on the Adams avenue side of the hotel. Rogers had landed with such terrific force that both legs and most of the bones in the lower part of his body had been shattered.

The chapter marked in Rogers' Bible and reading, "I am a stranger and a sojourner with you; give me possession of a burying place with you, that I may bury my dead out of my sight," gives only a dim light on the tragic death. The entire chapter deals with the death and burial of Sarah, wife of Abraham.

The dead man had been a claim adjuster for the Federal Casualty Company of St. Louis. His visit to Detroit was supposed to have been in connection with some personal litigation.

CANADIAN GOLD SHIPPED TO N. Y.

New York, March 9.—There was received yesterday $3,000,000 in gold from Canada. This shipment completed the remittance of $6,000,000 made by the Canadian Government, $3,000,000 having been received last week. It was announced that $1,250,000 South African gold has been shipped from London to a firm in New York.

Opening Of Legislature With Frills Omitted

PRINCESS PATS FURNISH GUARD OF HONOR — NO ARTILLERY SALUTE—SOCIAL FUNCTIONS WILL BE ON MODEST SCALE BEFITTING FARMER GOVERNMENT.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

TORONTO, March 9.—Under circumstances of exceptional interest and considerable speculation the first session of the fifteenth Legislature of Ontario was opened here today. This is the first Farmer-Labor Legislature in the history of Canada, and the Farmer Government of Hon. E. C. Drury holds power by the narrow majority of two members in the Legislature of one hundred and eleven seats.

There was no salute of artillery as the session was formally opened by Lieut.-Governor Lionel Clarke this afternoon, though there was a military guard of honor supplied by the famous Princess Patricia's Regiment. The social side of the opening ceremony was not so prominently emphasized as in other days, but the wives of the Cabinet Ministers and many of the members were present for the function.

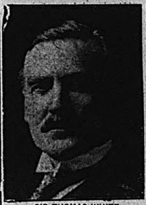
After references to the visit of the Prince of Wales, ratification of the Peace Treaty, and opening of the Federal Parliament in the new building, the Lieut.-Governor in the Speech from the Throne, called attention to the problem which has arisen by the revocation of the Dominion order-in-council prohibiting the importation of liquor during the war, subsequent to the vote in Ontario against the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act.

In connection with educational needs the Legislature would be asked, he said, to provide for an increase in rural school grants, pending a thorough inquest into the whole subject. The Department of Agriculture was maturing plans to stimulate agricultural production, especially in regard to live stock, while the Government believed that the application of a progressive and well-balanced road policy will facilitate the marketing of crops and improve rural conditions generally.

His Honor then forecasted better provision for reforestation in view of the destruction of our forests, while the importance of the mining industry would be recognized by the creation of a Department of Mines, thus separating the work from that of Lands and Forests. Consideration of the advance in Labor legislation was then made by the Lieutenant-Governor, who referred to the project calling for the unification of labor laws. "Various measures affecting labor and improving existing laws will be submitted to you, and also a bill providing for the payment of an allowance in certain cases to mothers of dependent children," he said.

Borden Can Sweep Country Says Sir Thomas White

NATIONAL LIBERAL-CONSERVATIVE PARTY CONSISTING OF OLD CONSERVATIVE PARTY AND MEMBERS OF LIBERAL PARTY, LED BY SIR ROBERT BORDEN, WOULD WIN GENERAL ELECTION, DECLARES FORMER FINANCE MINISTER.



SIR THOMAS WHITE

OTTAWA, March 8—With the assertion that the present Dominion Government should "carry on" and face the problems of the post-war period, Sir Thomas White, ex-Minister of Finance, coupled in his speech on the address in the Commons today, an expression of views as to the future of the Unionist party, a declaration of faith in the National Policy, a statement of objections to the inauguration of a group system of government in Canada, and a reply to criticism of some features of his administration of the country's finances, which have been voiced during the debate now in progress. The ex-minister of Finance spoke with his customary fluency and evoked frequent outbursts of applause on the Government side of the House. He declared that history would show that no statesman had performed greater services for Canada than Sir Robert Borden, and that no Government had been more efficient than his Government. The Government, Sir Thomas argued, had been returned slightly more than two years ago by the most decisive majority ever recorded in Canada. It had been elected to deal, not with war problems alone, but also with problems arising out of the war. It was carrying on its work most capably, and, added Sir Thomas: "No Government has a better record from the armistice to the present day." The Government, proceeded the ex-Minister of Finance, had not fulfilled its mandate nor completed its term of office. Moreover, in his opinion, the people did not want an election with the attendant turmoil and disturbance of business at the present time. Therefore, Sir Thomas concluded that it was the bounden duty of the Government to carry on while it had the confidence of the majority of Parliament or until such tim as Sir Robert Borden, in his dicretion, thought proper to advise the Governor-General to dissolve Parliament.

Sir Robert Borden, he asserted, should be given an opportunity to recuperate, and the Government should continue to transact the business of the country under the acting leadership of Sir George Foster.

No Chance for Leader King

Touching the political outlook, Sir Thomas White expressed the opinion that the leader of the Opposition could not succeed at a general election if his amendment to the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne were adopted. The Opposition leader could be looking forward therefore, only to a group system of Government to which there were important national objections. Third parties, moreover, had not been long-lived in Canada. Sir Thomas pointed out that there were in both the old political parties many persons who thought alike on the fiscal question. He put forward the view that the Union Government in course since December, 1917, had laid down glorious traditions upon which might be founded a party which would be an enduring edifice.

Would Sweep Country.

"If Sir Robert Borden will form a National-Liberal-Conservative party, consisting of the old Conservative party, and of the members of the Liberal party who joined him in the great issue before us in 1917, and who think with him on other public questions, including the fiscal question, he will sweep the country," predicted Sir Thomas White. He objected strongly to charges that both the old political parties had betrayed the farmers. On the contrary, the old political parties had vied with one another in their efforts to encourage agriculture. The present Government, moreover, had made more extensive reductions in the tariff for the benefit of the farmers than any of its predecessors and had raised money to provide

First Nights At "The Movies"

"Romance of Tarzan" A Thriller—"Happiness A La Mode" Amusing Comedy

Those students of modern screencraft who delight in dissecting successful cinema productions to discover the various elements that have been combined to produce entertainment value should find a subject worthy of their keenest attention in "The Romance of Tarzan" which was screened as the feature offering at Griffin's last night. This spectacular seven-part film drama presents the concluding chapters of Edgar Rice Burroughes, "Tarzan of the Apes." While retaining all the picturesque and refreshing novelty of theme that set that production apart from other screen features, "The Romance of Tarzan" offers, in additiotn, a swift moving plot in which excitement and suspense are deftly woven into natural sequence. Much is also made of the dramatic contrast between Tarzan's life as the white king of the jungle empire and his later adventures when plunged into the complex world of high society. Here the various threads of the narrative are deftly joined to produce an effect that cannot fail to hold the attention of everyone who loves a good story well told. Wildred Lucas, the director of "The Romance of Tarzan," and Bess Meredyth, who prepared the scenario have made the most of the novel material provided them by Edgar Rice Burroughes. A remarkably effective illusion of reality has been created in the atmospheric handling, while emotional acting of a high order is provided by Cleo Madison, in the role of the siren who sets out to entrap Tarzan in her toils only to find she loves him too well to carry out her unscrupulous plans. Gaumont World Wide News, a funny 2-reel Centure comedy, "Lonesome Lovers and Wild Lions" and a beautiful Bruce travelogue are also being presented on the same program and proved most entertaining. The entire program is being repeated again to-morrow night for the last time a road attraction, Tyrone Power in "The Servant in the House," holding the boards to-night.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

CONSTANCE TALMADGE AT PALACE THEATRE

In "Happiness a La Mode" a clever comedy writen in a satiric vein of the divorce evil, now so prevalent in the United States, Constance Talmadge and Harrison Ford have been provided with a vehicle worthy of their talents. The picture is a high-powered comedy with the most delightful and delicate situations, yet in no sense is there the slghtest taint of suggesiveness. It is simply a clever and original picture directed with consummate skill. Harold Lloyd is also appearing on the same program in a new comedy "At the Back Stage Door," Ditmar's Book of Nature is also being presented on the same program. A two reel Iko comedy "Rough House Cabaret," which arrived too late for the performance last night is also being shown tonight and Wednesday matinee and night.

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"

What promises to be the greatest theatrical event of the season, will be the appearance of the Distinguished English actor, Mr. Tyrone Power, in his original character part of the Drainman in Chas. Rann Kennedy's greatest play of the generation, "The Servant in the House," which will be the attraction at the Griffin's Opera House, to-night for one night only.

For years and even centuries, the church has attacked the stage and its people, these attacks have been answered from time to time with more or less success by defenders of the serious drama. It is a novel experience however to find the stage turning critic and mercilessly lashing abuses on the church. That is what is done by Charles Rann Kennedy in his famous play. "The Servant in the House," which is a seathing satire on the hypocrisies of conventional religion. "The Servant in the House," is a mysterious Hindoo, whom New York critics called a re-incarnation of the Christ. "This servant" exposes the "graft" of a fashionable but wealthy Bishop and drives him from his brother's house, when the enraged Lord of the church says, "If I could have my way with you sir; I would have you publicly whipped. I would visit you with the utmost vigor of the Law, I would nail you up sir, for an example. The servant replies, "I have encountered similar hostility before my Lord from gentlemen very like your Lordship."

Mr. Tyrone Power will be supported by a specially selected company, including Mr. Harvey Hays, Mr. Walter Edwin, Mr. Edward Foster, Mr. Harold DeBecker, Miss Alma Chester, Miss Chela Knight and others.

Mr. Tyrone Power and his company will be the first production under the banner of trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, the new all-Canadian Theatrical enterprise, now controling and operating a chain of theatres from the Atlantic to the Pacific throughout the Dominion.

Storm King Holds Sway On East Coast

New York, March 6—The storm king paid another visit to New York today. As the temperature dropped steadily during the night, the wind increased in velocity, until, during the early morning hours, it had reached an unofficial velocity of 60 miles an hour, which boded ill for shipping off the coast.

The gutters soon were turned into miniature millraces, sewers were clogged, cellars were flooded, small streams in the outlying sections overflowed their banks, roads were washed out, and high tides contributed to damage along the waterfront. Thousands of emergency calls were received by the water department.

Service on nearly all the trolley lines in Manhattan and on some of the elevated lines were cripples. The drifting snow later added to the difficulty and even with motor plows it was difficult to keep traffic moving.

It unloosened signs, toppled over chimneys here and there and smashed great plate glass windows in the fashionable shops along Fifth avenue, causing thousands of dollars damage.

The telephone and telegraph companies reported that wire communication out of the city was badly crippled.

New York Central trains from upstate were three to four hours late in reaching the Grand Central Station. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported that its service was almost completely tied up by the storm. At 9 o'clock this morning the Pennsylvania Railroad reported that no train had arrived here from its southern division since 10 o'clock last night because of a wreck, the exact location of which is not known here.

Philadelphia, March 6—The storm raged from 8 o'clock last night until shortly before daylight. Driven by a strong northwest gale, the snow piled up in big drifts and brought the trolley service in this city to a standstill.

Virtually every stream in this section of the state overflowed its banks yesterday, and ice gorges broken by the high water swept away bridges and railroad tracks. In many places a number of towns and cities were in darkness last night by the flooding of power plants. Scores of houses along the banks of the swollen streams were washed away and many mills and factories had to shut down because of flooded boiler rooms. Men, women, and children marooned in their homes, were rescued in boats, some of them being taken from second storey windows.

BARON VON ALVENSLEBEN RELEASED ON PATROL

Salt Lake City., Utah, March 9—Alvo von Alvensleben, German financial baron of the Pacific northwest before the war and interned at Fort Douglas here since May 1917, was granted a conditional parole and it is expected he will leave for Seattle and Vancouver soon to gather together what may remain of the fortune he had invested in mines and timber lands in that region.

During the war Von Alvensleben is declared to have been an active agent against Canada. He was a former lieutenant in the German army, but was expelled from that country because of a dispute with a superior officer. Claims that he is a cousin of the former Kaiser have never been proved, but it is beleived much of the money he invested in the Northwest was furnished by William of Hohenzollern.

Parole conditions did not stipulate that Von Avensleben return to Germany.

GREAT POWER PLANTS

STRIKING FEATURES OF WORK BY ENGINEERS.

Queenston-Chippewa Power Development Is Well Under Way and One Interesting Detail Is the Reversal of the Flow of the Welland River—Power Will Be Available Next Year.

SOME novel features mark the new Queenston-Chippewa power development on the Canadian side of the Niagara river, now well under way. One detail is the reversal of the flow of the Welland river, whose present mouth, where it runs into the Niagara, will become an intake. Niagara water will flow up the Welland for four miles and a half, and then through a nine-mile canal to Queenston at the edge of the cliff that marks the limit of the present Niagara gorge and the site of the falls in a former geologic age. Here will be the power plant, utilizing a fall of over three hundred feet to the level of Lake Ontario. The horse-power developed will be 300,000, but not all of it can be used without shutting down some of the power in the older Canadian plants. Otherwise, the limit of flow assigned to Canada by international agreement would be exceeded. Our quotations are from an article in the Engineering News-Record (New York), which we quote and condense:

"Work on the new hydro-electric development at Niagara Falls, which the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario started in 1918, is progressing at an expected rate of speed. Some little difficulty has been met in holding the slope in the deep cuts in the earth overburden, but this has not caused serious retardation, and the prospect now is that power will be available in 1921.

"As at present designed, the plant will develop 300,000 horse-power with a flow of 10,000 cubic feet per second or a development of 30 horsepower for each cubic foot per second. The old Niagara river power plants developed from 12 to 15 horsepower per second-foot, the new Ontario Power Company's development on the Canadian side about 17, and the new Hydraulic Power Company's development on the American side about 20.

"The project comprises four and one-half miles of river canalization and nine miles of power-canal dug in the dry. The river canalization is in the Welland river, whose direction will be reversed from its present mouth up to the canal intake where the control works will be built. The canal extends across high land beyond the Niagara gorge to the powerhouse, which will be built at the foot of the gorge at the river elevation. Water will be delivered to the powerhouse by penstocks laid on the slope of the bluff.

"The river-channel section is being excavated by dredge and cableway, to provide sufficient waterway. Canal excavation is largely through rock with a heavy earth overburden. The first one and a quarter miles of the canal just beyond the river is in earth section; the remainder is in rock with the exception of a short earth section opposite the Whirlpool, where an old gorge, probably a former bed of the Niagara river, drops the rock bottom so deep as to make it impossible to found the canal on rock.

"At a distance of about 2,400 feet from the river the canal widens out into a forebay 1,000 feet long and 300 feet wide at the intake gate. The penstocks are of riveted steel plates 14 feet in diameter and about 450 feet in length and extend down the steep bank of the gorge and the river from the forebay to the powerhouse. No surge tanks or standpipes will be required.

"The work at present may be divided into that on the river, that on the canal proper, and that on the power-house. In the Welland river a dredge is working up from the mouth of the Niagara river and has reached the Michigan Central Railway bridge, about a half mile from the mouth. This dipper dredge is spoiling into scows which are being taken out into the Niagara river and dumped. A cableway excavator farther up the river has done a certain amount of work, but is now operating at full capacity. Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 cubic yards of earth is the total excavation in the river. About one-quarter of this has been removed.

"The larger part of the work in the canal has been done, beginning at the forebay end. The forebay itself is practically completed and channelers and drills are working in the rock cut between the forebay and the end of the earth overburden excavation. The construction railway is completed, all except a short section at the upper end and is in operation carrying trains of earth and rock cars to the spoil dump, which is on a spur two miles to the west of the canal-line.

"Two of the big concrete bridges, those carrying the St. Catharines and Thorold Railway and that carrying the Wabash Railway, are completed. The twin bridges carrying the Grand Trunk and the Michigan Central are under way, the foundations being all done at this time. At the power-house site the whole face of the cliff has been stript and a construction railway is being built down to the river edge from a connection to the main-line road, about a mile below the power-house site. A steam-shovel has been worked along about fifty feet above the river level and is engaged in excavating the power-house site."

Quebec increased her acreage under cultivation from 4,863,859 acres in 1914 to the enormous extent of 13,292,798 in 1918; agricultural products from $99,000,000 in 1914 to $273,000,000 in 1918—a war record unequalled by any other province.

GERMAN DEBENTURES OFFERED FOR SALE

Invest $2,000 Canadian money in first-class debentures of the leading German cities and, in normal times you will withdraw $25,000!

Here is the appeal which is being sent out by a Canadian firm of stockbrokers, through the medium of at least one newspaper to Canadian investors, and which has aroused unbounded astonishment in Toronto's finacial circles.

We recommend, reads the advertisement, the following issues:

Berlin	4 per cent.
Frankfort	4 per cent.
Munich	4 per cent.
Leipsig	4 per cent.

"History teaches us," continues the appeal, "that the purchasers of foreign debentures of defeated countries during the past 50 years, have received enormous returns within a few years. Today the situation as regards Germany is even more attractive and the possibility of reaping profits even greater than ever. This is the finest speculation which has presented itself within the past century."

"It should be brought to the attention of the Minister of Finance, if steps have not already been taken by him to check this traffic," declared the banker interviewed. "In view of the appeal made recently by Sir Henry Drayton, all brokers and bankers have ceased trading in foreign stocks and bonds. In this case it is obviously not playing the game, as the brokers generally responded to the Minister's appeal which is not an order and which therefore carries no penalty for non-compliance. There is a committee in Montreal which should deal with the case and it is probable that action may have been taken by now."

"In any event, on its face, it is not even as attractive as the purchase of German marks, were this permissable" he continued. Two hundred thousand marks may be purchased for $2,400 at the outside, which in normal times would be worth $48,000. For its sheer "nerve" the proposition is amazing."

First Nights At "The Movies"

"Romance of Tarzan" A Thriller—"Happiness A La Mode" Amusing Comedy

Those students of modern screencraft who delight in dissecting successful cinema productions to discover the various elements that have been combined to produce entertainment value should find a subject worthy of their keenest attention in "The Romance of Tarzan" which was screened as the feature offering at Griffin's last night. This spectacular seven-part film drama presents the concluding chapters of Edgar Rice Burroughes, "Tarzan of the Apes." While retaining all the picturesque and refreshing novelty of theme that set that production apart from other screen features, "The Romance of Tarzan" offers, in additiotn, a swift moving plot in which excitement and suspense are deftly woven into natural sequence. Much is also made of the dramatic contrast between Tarzan's life as the white king of the jungle empire and his later adventures when plunged into the complex world of high society. Here the various threads of the narrative are deftly joined to produce an effect that cannot fail to hold the attention of everyone who loves a good story well told. Wildred Lucas, the director of "The Romance of Tarzan," and Bess Meredyth, who prepared the scenario have made the most of the novel material provided them by Edgar Rice Burroughes. A remarkably effective illusion of reality has been created in the atmospheric handling, while emotional acting of a high order is provided by Cleo Madison, in the role of the siren who sets out to entrap Tarzan in her toils only to find she loves him too well to carry out her unscrupulous plans. Gaumont World Wide News, a funny 2-reel Centure comedy, "Lonesome Lovers and Wild Lions" and a beautiful Bruce travelogue are also being presented on the same program and proved most entertaining. The entire program is being repeated again to-morrow night for the last time a road attraction, Tyrone Power in "The Servant in the House," holding the boards to-night.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

CONSTANCE TALMADGE AT PALACE THEATRE

In "Happiness a La Mode" a clever comedy writen in a satiric vein of the divorce evil, now so prevalent in the United States, Constance Talmadge and Harrison Ford have been provided with a vehicle worthy of their talents. The picture is a high-powered comedy with the most delightful and delicate situations, yet in no sense is there the slightest taint of suggesiveness. It is simply a clever and original picture directed with consummate skill. Harold Lloyd is also appearing on the same program in a new comedy "At the Back Stage Door," Ditmar's Book of Nature is also being presented on the same program. A two reel Iko comedy "Rough House Cabaret," which arrived too late for the performance last night is also being shown tonight and Wednesday matinee and night.

"THE SERVANT IN THE HOUSE"

What promises to be the greatest theatrical event of the season, will be the appearance of the Distinguished English actor, Mr. Tyrone Power, in his original character part of the Drainman in Chas. Rann Kennedy's greatest play of the generation, "The Servant in the House," which will be the attraction at the Griffin's Opera House, to-night for one night only.

For years and even centuries, the church has attacked the stage and its people, these attacks have been answered from time to time with more or less success by defenders of the serious drama. It is a novel experience however to find the stage turning critic and mercilessly lashing abuses on the church. That is what is done by Charles Rann Kennedy in his famous play, "The Servant in the House," which is a scathing satire on the hypocrisies of conventional religion, "The Servant in the House," is a mysterious Hindoo, whom New York critics called a re-incarnation of the Christ. "This servant" exposes the "graft" of a fashionable but wealthy Bishop and drives him from his brother's house, when the enraged Lord of the church says, "If I could have my way with you sir; I would have you publicly whipped, I would visit you with the utmost vigor of the Law, I would nail you up sir, for an example. The servant replies, "I have encountered similar hostility before my Lord from gentlemen very like your Lordship."

Mr. Tyrone Power will be supported by a specially selected company, including Mr. Harvey Hays, Mr. Walter Edwin, Mr. Edward Foster, Mr. Harold DeBecker, Miss Alma Chester, Miss Chela Knight and others.

Mr. Tyrone Power and his company will be the first production under the banner of trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, the new all-Canadian Theatrical enterprise, now controling and operating a chain of theatres from the Atlantic to the Pacific throughout the Dominion.

Storm King Holds Sway On East Coast

New York, March 6—The storm king paid another visit to New York today. As the temperature dropped steadily during the night, the wind increased in velocity, until, during the early morning hours, it had reached an unofficial velocity of 60 miles an hour, which boded ill for shipping off the coast.

The gutters soon were turned into miniature millraces, sewers were clogged, cellars were flooded, small streams in the outlying sections overflowed their banks, roads were washed out, and high tides contributed to damage along the waterfront. Thousands of emergency calls were received by the water department.

Service on nearly all the trolley lines in Manhattan and on some of the elevated lines were cripples. The drifting snow later added to the difficulty and even with motor plows it was difficult to keep traffic moving.

It unloosened signs, toppled over chimneys here and there and smashed great plate glass windows in the fashionable shops along Fifth avenue, causing thousands of dollars damage.

The telephone and telegraph companies reported that wire communication out of the city was badly crippled.

New York Central trains from upstate were three to four hours late in reaching the Grand Central Station. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad reported that its service was almost completely tied up by the storm. At 9 o'clock this morning the Pennsylvania Railroad reported that no train had arrived here from its southern division since 10 o'clock last night because of a wreck, the exact location of which is not known here.

Philadelphia, March 6—The storm raged from 8 o'clock last night until shortly before daylight. Driven by a strong northwest gale, the snow piled up in big drifts and brought the trolley service in this city to a standstill.

Virtually every stream in this section of the state overflowed its banks yesterday, and ice gorges broken by the high water swept away bridges and railroad tracks. In many places a number of towns and cities were in darkness last night by the flooding of power plants. Scores of houses along the banks of the swollen streams were washed away and many mills and factories had to shut down because of flooded boiler rooms. Men, women, and children marooned in their homes, were rescued in boats, some of them being taken from second storey windows.

BARON VON ALVENSLEBEN RELEASED ON PATROL

Salt Lake City., Utah, March 9—Alvo von Alvensleben, German financial baron of the Pacific northwest before the war and interned at Fort Douglas here since May 1917, was granted a conditional parole and it is expected he will leave for Seattle and Vancouver soon to gather together what may remain of the fortune he had invested in mines and timber lands in that region.

During the war Von Alvensleben is declared to have been an active agent against Canada. He was a former lieutenant in the German army, but was expelled from that country because of a dispute with a superior officer. Claims that he is a cousin of the former Kaiser have never been proved, but it is beleived much of the money he invested in the Northwest was furnished by William of Hohenzollern.

Parole conditions did not stipulate that Von Avensleben return to Germany.

GREAT POWER PLANTS

STRIKING FEATURES OF WORK BY ENGINEERS.

Queenston-Chippewa Power Development Is Well Under Way and One Interesting Detail Is the Reversal of the Flow of the Welland River—Power Will Be Available Next Year.

SOME novel features mark the new Queenston-Chippewa power development on the Canadian side of the Niagara river, now well under way. One detail is the reversal of the flow of the Welland river, whose present mouth, where it runs into the Niagara, will become an intake. Niagara water will flow up the Welland for four miles and a half, and then through a nine-mile canal to Queenston at the edge of the cliff that marks the limit of the present Niagara gorge and the site of the falls in a former geologic age. Here will be the power plant, utilizing a fall of over three hundred feet to the level of Lake Ontario. The horse-power developed will be 300,000, but not all of it can be used without shutting down some of the power in the older Canadian plants. Otherwise, the limit of flow assigned to Canada by international agreement would be exceeded. Our quotations are from an article in the Engineering News-Record (New York), which we quote and condense:

"Work on the new hydro-electric development at Niagara Falls, which the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario started in 1918, is progressing at an expected rate of speed. Some little difficulty has been met in holding the slope in the deep cuts in the earth overburden, but this has not caused serious retardation, and the prospect now is that power will be available in 1921.

"As at present designed, the plant will develop 300,000 horse-power with a flow of 10,000 cubic feet per second or a development of 30 horse-power for each cubic foot per second. The old Niagara river power plants developed from 12 to 15 horse-power per second-foot, the new Ontario Power Company's development on the Canadian side about 17, and the new Hydraulic Power Company's development on the American side about 20.

"The project comprises four and one-half miles of river canalization and nine miles of power-canal dug in the dry. The river canalization is in the Welland river, whose direction will be reversed from its present mouth up to the canal intake where the control works will be built. The canal extends across high land beyond the Niagara gorge to the power-house, which will be built at the foot of the gorge at the river elevation. Water will be delivered to the power-house by penstocks laid on the slope of the bluff.

"The river-channel section is being excavated by dredge and cableway, to provide sufficient waterway. Canal excavation is largely through rock with a heavy earth overburden. The first one and a quarter miles of the canal just beyond the river is in earth section; the remainder is in rock with the exception of a short earth section opposite the Whirlpool, where an old gorge, probably a former bed of the Niagara river, drops the rock bottom so deep as to make it impossible to found the canal on rock.

"At a distance of about 2,400 feet from the river the canal widens out into a forebay 1,000 feet long and 200 feet wide at the intake gate. The penstocks are of riveted steel plates 14 feet in diameter and about 450 feet in length and extend down the steep bank of the gorge and the river from the forebay to the power-house. No surge tanks or standpipes will be required.

"The work at present may be divided into that on the river, that on the canal proper, and that on the power-house. In the Welland river a dredge is working up from the mouth of the Niagara river and has reached the Michigan Central Railway bridge, about a half mile from the mouth. This dipper dredge is spoiling into scows which are being taken out into the Niagara river and dumped. A cableway excavator farther up the river has done a certain amount of work, but is now operating at full capacity. Between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 cubic yards of earth is the total excavation in the river. About one-quarter of this has been removed.

"The larger part of the work in the canal has been done, beginning at the forebay end. The forebay itself is practically completed and channelers and drills are working in the rock cut between the forebay and the end of the earth overburden excavation. The construction railway is completed, all except a short section at the upper end and is in operation carrying trains of earth and rock cars to the spoil dump, which is on a spur two miles to the west of the canal-line.

"Two of the big concrete bridges, those carrying the St. Catharines and Thorold Railway and that carrying the Wabash Railway, are completed. The twin bridges carrying the Grand Trunk and the Michigan Central are under way, the foundations being all done at this time. At the power-house site the whole face of the cliff has been stript and a construction railway is being built down to the river edge from a connection to the main-line road, about a mile below the power-house site. A steam-shovel has been worked along about fifty feet above the river level and is engaged in excavating the power-house site."

Quebec Richer.

Quebec increased her acreage under cultivation from 4,863,859 acres in 1914 to the enormous extent of 13,292,798 in 1918; agricultural products from $99,000,000 in 1914 to $273,000,000 in 1918—a war record unequalled by any other province.

GERMAN DEBENTURES OFFERED FOR SALE

Invest $2,000 Canadian money in first-class debentures of the leading German cities and, in normal times you will withdraw $25,000!

Here is the appeal which is being sent out by a Canadian firm of stock-brokers, through the medium of at least one newspaper to Canadian investors, and which has aroused unbounded astonishment in Toronto's finacial circles.

We recommend, reads the advertisement, the following issues:

Berlin	4 per cent.
Frankfort	4 per cent.
Munich	4 per cent.
Leipsig	4 per cent.

"History teaches us," continues the appeal, " that the purchasers of foreign debentures of defeated countries during the past 50 years, have received enormous returns within a few years. Today the situation as regards Germany is even more attractive and the possibility of reaping profits even greater than ever. This is the finest speculation which has presented itself within the past century."

"It should be brought to the attention of the Minister of Finance, if steps have not already been taken by him to check this traffic," declared the banker interviewed. "In view of the appeal made recently by Sir Henry Drayton, all brokers and bankers have ceased trading in foreign stocks and bonds. In this case it is obviously not playing the game, as the brokers generally responded to the Minister's appeal which is not an order and which therefore carries no penalty for non-compliance. There is a committee in Montreal which should deal with the case and it is probable that action may have been taken by now."

"In any event, on its face, it is not even as attractive as the purchase of German marks, were this permissable" he continued. Two hundred thousand marks may be purchased for $2,400 at the outside, which in normal times would be worth $48,000. For its sheer "nerve" the proposition is amazing."

quiries in reference to the Provincial Highway going through the city.

Ald. Hanna—Yes. The Minister stated that so long as the connection was complete it did not make much difference how it went through the city.

Ald. Bone—Will the city have to assist in the upkeep outside of the city limits?

Ald. Hanna—No.

Ald. Ostrom in referring to the matter thought Dundas street was the proper course as it was a straight road from east to west and eventually a bridge might be built over the river at the junction of Dundas street.

Ald. Ponton asked if it was contemplated to finish the curve on Hillcrest Park? There was about 225 feet of a curb to be built.

Ald. Hanna—The Public Works will lay out a program of work to be done and this matter may be considered.

Ald. Ponton—Would there be any objection to the electric switch which turns on the lights on Victoria Park being placed in No. 1 firehall.

Ald. Ostrom said he would consult Chief Brown in the matter.

Ald. Ostrom referred to the Chamber of Commerce and if it was going to assist the Council in reference to matters appertaining to the city's welfare?

Mayor Riggs—The Chamber of Commerce was working hard on city matters and would assist the Council.

Ald. Bone stated that the Chamber of Commerce was working on the bay bridge and other matters and now that the ban was lifted a public meeting of citizens would be held in the near future to discuss matters relative to the city's welfare. The Chamber of Commerce is anxious to work with the City Council in matters appertaining to the city's welfare.

Ald. Ostrom said it was time the Council made a move and the people are looking to the Council to do something. The Board of Trade can assist, but the Council, he thought, should take the lead.

City's Finance

Ald. Ponton said that for some reason of other there was a wrong impression abroad about the city in reference to financial matters. At a recent meeting of the Council Ald. Bone gave a warning as to expenditure and he (Ald. Bone) presented figures which many believed were estimates. Such was not the case. The people believe we are going to spend the amount mentioned. He, the speaker, was not at present prepared to vote for $50,000 for the bay bridge and he was not prepared to grant $350,000 to the Board of Education for a collegiate institute without going to the people. He took issue with Ald. Bone that the Council had to give it if the Board asked for it. He, the speaker, was by no means in accord with the alarm expressed by the majority of the citizens in regard to the figures presented by Ald. Bone.

Motions

Ald. Hanna moved, seconded by Ald. Bone that the license on all shows brought to the city of Old Boys week by the Old Boys' Reunion Committee be remitted.

After some explanation by Ald. Hanna the motion was adopted.

Collect Poll Tax

Ald. Bone moved, seconded by Ald. Ponton that the tax collector instruct the City Solicitor to take proceedings to collect all the poll and unpaid taxes for 1919—Carried.

Ald. Ponton moved, seconded by Ald. Hanna that the W.C.A. be requested to deed to the city a small piece of land situated near the hospital to be used for industrial purposes. —Carried.

Unfinished Business

Under this head Ald. Ostrom spoke in reference to the cutting of a channel in the river and contended it was a waste of money. The ice was not so thick in the river as we were led to believe. What would the cost be?

Ald. Hanna—The cost will be about $400 and he believed it would relieve the city from a flood. He (the speaker) had consulted three ice men in the city and they stated that it would cost $5,000 to $6,000 to do the work.

Ald. Ponton said the Council could not shelve the opinion of engineers in this matter and something had to be done. If there is danger of a flood and we have been warned that there is such a danger it was necessary to try and avoid it.

Ald. Demarsh considered the money was well spent in making a channel.

Ald. Wensley—We should not criticize the Chairman of Public Works in this matter as he is doing the best he can.

This completed the business of the session and the Council adjourned.

O.H.A. Junior Final—Stratford at Toronto Canoe Club.

VICTORY FOR COLLINGWOOD

Collingwood, March 8—For the third consecutive year the O.H.A. Intermediate championship has been brought to Collingwood. Tonight the locals defeated Kingston in the final game, 14 to 2, winning the final round and championship by 16 goals to 3. It was an exciting game and at times bordered on the sensational.

With the score 2 to 1 in Kingston on Friday night some critics claimed that the Limestone City did not show their best. Both teams tonight, however worked like trojans. Kingston went at their opponents like wildcats and for a short time in the first period played some great hockey, scoring two goals in quick succession.

Strong in All Positions

The winners were strong everywhere. The defence blocked and rushed in sensational style, while the forwards easily out-skated their checks. The game opened with a determined rush by Kingston and after a few minutes play the spectators came to the conclusion that there was a real battle on. After considerable end-to-end skating, Walton went in for the first goals for the winners. Two more goals followed also in favor of the locals, Fryer getting the puck from the face off and scoring on a short shot from outside.

Kingston were trying for all they were worth, and one excellent rush by Brown looked like a score, but the heavy local defence bunched in front of the goal and cleared. Right here a storm broke loose. Stewart grabbed the puck in front of his own net and on a brilliant rush scored Kingston's first goal. Taking their cue from Stewart, every member of the Kingston team cut loose and soon ran in another goal, and although this was disputed it was finally allowed. Walton earned a penalty, and after the face off Fryer secured the puck and scored. The period ended 4 to 2.

Start Fast and Fade Fast

Kingston again started the second period with a rush, but soon dropped back. It was a hard checking period with plenty of stiff bodying handed out on both sides. For some minutes neither team got any shots until Fryer scored an easy one for Collingwood and from then to the end of the period the winners carried the play continually into the visitors' defence, being rewarded for their efforts by goals by McLeod, Fryer and Hughes. The second period ended with the score Collingwood 10; Kingston 2.

On the resumption of play for the final period Kingston continued their efforts to pull down the lead, but without success, while the locals counted three times. The visitors opened the period with an offensive game, but failed to score. At the end of the period they were playing nearly every man on the defence.

Brand of Hockey that Wins

The winners scored their first goal of the period when Fryer got the puck on the faceoff and passed back to McLeod, who made a brilliant rush down the ice with Hughes, who succeeded in getting past Tobin. Noble frequently dashed down the centre and was finally rewarded by scoring the fourteenth goal after a general mix-up, which reminded one of football rather than hockey.

The winners have a unique record as this is the fifth time this championship has been won by Collingwood. The first was in 1910 when it was brought from London. In 1913 the London team were again defeated, while in 1918 Collingwood won from Oshawa and in 1919 defeated Kingston by a score of 9 to 6 on the round. The teams were:

Kingston—Goal Tobin; defense Elmer and Brown; centre, Stewart; wings, Cook and Smith, subs, Stanton and Derry.

Collingwood—Goal, Cook; defense McLeod and Noble; centre, Hughes; wings, Fryer and Walton, subs, Burns and Foulis.

Referee—L. Whitehad, Toronto. Judge of play—"Bill" Box, Toronto.

The religious ceremony will be celebrated at a parish church Tuesday. The civil marriage occurred some hours before the time originally set, in order to avoid the crowds.

Real Wonder Tale From Old Kentucky

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 9—"Uncle John" Shell, who claims to be 132 years old, and the oldest man on earth but whom State officials declare is not yet 100, has just figured in one of the most exciting episodes of his life, and came out the victor, according to reports that reached here from Shell's home on Greasy Creek, Lexington County.

Shell had been away from home and on his return found his 35-year-old wife fatally ill. She died in a few hours and "Uncle John" notified his wife's relatives, among them George Chappel, his 75-year-old father-in-law.

The funeral was held on the snow-covered hillside, and Chappel, apparently believing his son-in-law was not able to care for his six-year-old son, proceeded to take the boy home with him. Shell hurried after his father-in-law and begged him to give up the child. Chappel refused.

Held up Father-in-Law

Shell returned home, secured his flint-lock rifle which he says he made himself more than a hundred years ago, mounted his mule and started after Chappel and the boy. He overtook them several miles away and at the point of the gun forced Chappel to give up the child.

"Uncle John" took the boy on the mule with him and they returned alone to their cabin on Greasy Creek. Shell is the champion rifle shot of the mountains.

Neighbors will look after Shell's needs until someone is found who is willing to go to his lonely cabin and care for him and his son.

Education And Vote For The Indians

OTTAWA, March 9.—Compulsory education and compulsory enfranchisement of Indians are the principal features of the new Indian Act to be placed before Parliament this session by Hon. Arthur Meighen, Minister of the Interior. The object of the act is to wipe out the distinction which now exists between Canadian citizens and Canadian Indians and to change the latter from their present status as wards of the nation of citizens.

Formerly an Indian could not be enfranchised until he had passed through two probation periods of three years each, and then only with the consent of the band. That this advantage was not sought by many Indians is shown by the fact that from the date of Confederation to 1918 only 160 were enfranchised.

The new act gives the Government the legal right to enforce the attendance of Indian children at boarding schools. The religious views of the children are considered, and they can attend either Roman Catholic or Protestant schools if their parents request it. Educational tests will be applied to those to be enfranchised and the educational clauses of the act are designed to prepare an ever-increasing number for citizenship.

SLEEPING SON SHOOTS PARENTS

Danbury, Conn., March 9.—Engaged in an imaginary battle, while apparently in a dream, Franklin M. Komp, 19, son of Frank H. Komp, shot his father and mother in their home last midnight and otherwise injured them during the struggle that followed.

CRACKED HIS SKULL TO SAVE HIS SOUL

Hamilton, March 9.—Thos. Soloman believes in heroic methods when his friends' interests are at stake. For instance, in the bowling alley where he is employed, George Casey worked. Casey had a fondness for dope. Argument not availing, Soloman walloped his friend over the head with a ten pin tied him to a table and confiscated the needles and hop. He took the outfit to the police station and told a detective the story. Casey was found, securely tied and with a fractured skull. The police sent him to the hospital, from which he escaped. Soloman was given his liberty today after spending three weeks in jail.

THE INDOMITABLE.

Great Ship That Brought King to Canada Scrapped.

A few years ago, barely a decade, Quebec celebrated with appropriate ceremonial the tercentenary of the foundation of the city by Champlain. From far and near people came in crowds and a very grand naval and military display contributed largely to the attractions. First in the former part of the program came a British fleet of six ships, the columns being respectively commanded by Sir W. Curzon-Howe and Sir John Jellicoe, now more familiarly known to Canada. Four battleships, Exmouth, Albermarle, Duncan, Russell, and two cruisers, Arrogant and Venus, steamed into the port. Then, there followed two splendid French cruisers, the Leon Gambetta and Admiral Aube, and a new American battleship, the New Hampshire. Of these, the Gambetta and Duncan have gone to the bottom in the course of the late war. But there was more to come and when the Prince of Wales, now King George, escorted by a battle cruiser, the Minotaur, brought his ship, the Indomitable, to her anchorage, the Dufferin Terrace and the glacis of the citadel were black with people for the most part curious to see a vessel which had been the subject of a great deal of comment in the press and naval circles. She was known to be the "last word" in warships, a combination of cruiser and battleship, combining the speed of the former with the battery power of the latter. Built "under a veil" with the utmost secrecy, she was known as the "mystery ship" and no one but the crew saw more than a somewhat bulldog-looking, three-funneled ship. That she was some eighteen thousand tons burden was publicly stated; it was not so generally stated that she carried eight twelve-inch guns. These were not tested in war until some years later at the battle of the Dogger Bank, with the grand fleet, where her powerful battery helped to sink the Blucher. She also towed the Lion out of danger at Jutland, a dangerous and difficult feat, which was greatly praised by the admiral. Her speed was tested on the journey from Quebec to Cowes, and her remarkable steaming qualities demonstrated. The run from land to land, Belle Isle to Fastness Point, 1,684 knots, was made in 67 hours, averaging 26.4, and for the full passage 24.8. This was a rather forced trip both in draft and labor, the prince himself doing a little stokers' work "with the rest." This was some ten years ago. To-day the announcement is officially made that this once peerless ship is "scrapped" and tenders from ship breakers called for! The war has emphasized the truth of the lesson; taught some time ago by Sir Percy Scott and others, that the tremendous battleships would not come up to the expectations of their champions in the hour of trial, and it has not escaped the notice of critics that the great naval work of the war was accomplished by vessels materially differing from the giant battleships. The scrapping of the Indomitable is certainly an object lesson in matters of marine warfare. There is something almost grimly ironical in this casting away of what has cost millions on millions within a comparatively few years.

February Has Five Sundays.

For the first time in forty years there is five Sundays in February. Ordinarily the sequence of five Sundays in February recurs once in each twenty-eight years, but owing to the fact that 1900 was not a leap year the calendar "slipped a cog," and Sunday, being shunted out of place in numerical order, it did not get back into position to become the first and last day of the month from 1880 until this year.

INCOME TAX CANNOT BE AVOIDED.

The Dominion Income Tax can not be dodged in any shape or form and any neglect to make required returns may prove expensive. Misunderstandings have arisen in regard to the notices issued from the Income Tax Offices. Some people who believe that they are not liable for income tax neglect to fill out and return the forms as requested, which is a very dangerous practice, as the organization for the collection of the Income Tax has been brought to a high state of perfection, and the call must not be denied under pain of penalties, as shown by the following clause from the Income War Tax Act:

> "Every person liable to taxation under this act shall, on or before the thirtieth day of April in each year, without any notice or demand, and any person whether liable to taxation hereunder or not, upon receipt of a notice or demand in writing from the commissioner of taxation or any officer authorized to make such demand, deliver to the Minister a return, in such form as the Minister may prescribe, of his total income during the last preceding year. In such return the taxpayer shall state an address in Canada to which all notices and other documents to be mailed or served under this act may be mailed or sent."

In fact it is not even necessary for notices to be sent out, but many notices have been sent out and the penalty for failure to fill them out as directed and return them to the Income Tax office is provided in the Act as follows:

> "Every person required to make a return under sub-section one of this section who fails to make a return within the time limited therefor, shall be subject to a penalty of twenty-five per centum of the amount of the tax payable, and every other person who is required to make a return under the provisions of this section who fails to do so within the time limited therefor, will be subject to a penalty of ten dollars for each day during which the default continues, and all such penalties shall be assessed and collected from the person liable to make the return in the same manner in which taxes are assessed and collected."

In view of the above information it would be just as well for persons receiving notices, and those who have not received notices, but who are liable under the act, to take the trouble to get into touch with the inspector of taxation or his representatives, and see that this matter of income tax is attended to promptly.

"WANTS TO KNOW."

A prominent citizen whose annual tax bill is quite large, was one of a number of ratepayers among the daily callers at The Intelligencer office to express approval of the articles recently published advocating rigid economy in civic expenditure this year. This particular ratepayer says that there are several things which the ratepayers "want to know." Referring to the letter of Alderman Bone, published in The Intelligencer in Monday's issue, this ratepayer "wants to know" what he means when he says:

> "If these ladies secure a social worker, capable of properly organizing the various charitable institutions in the city to see that charity is properly handled and not bungled, she will save the citizens her salary twice over in this matter alone."

"Organization of the various charitable institutions," is not any part of a social worker's duties, in the opinion of this ratepayer, who "wants to know" what "bungling" has been done to amount to double the amount of a social worker's salary, or $2,400 a year, as intimated by Alderman Bone.

He also "wants to know" something about the $50,000 patriotic fund charge, still unpaid, stating that he subscribed to the fund upon the understanding that $75,000 was to be raised entirely by popular subscription and not levied for in the taxes. He gave all that he felt he could afford, but has been paying a tax levy as well, as the amount was not all raised by popular subscription and a civic grant was made. He "wants to know" where the patriotic fund money provided in the tax levy went and where this $50,000 charge still unpaid comes from. No doubt the ratepayers would be pleased to receive full details along this line, and the Chairman of Finance, Alderman Bone, can no doubt furnish the explanation required.

We understand that the $50,000 in question was authorized in a by-law passed in 1918, was never levied for, and in the opinion of some municipal authorities need not be paid. An official explanation would prevent any misunderstandings in regard to this supposed liability.

.·. CRISP COMMENT ·.

A number of remunerative positions will shortly be filled by the Drury Government, and as the abolition of "patronage" is a plank in the U. F. O. platform, it will be interesting to note the personnel of the new appointees.

If it is giving the city a "black eye" to call attention to possible civic expenditures in the local press, then the city would be better off wearing two black eyes than to have the local press neglect its duty to advise against civic expenditure that can be possibly avoided this year.

The Toronto Mail and Empire points out that "in February, 1919, house permits in Toronto numbered 134, while for February of this year there were only 69. This is a big decline, and it simply means that building has become almost economically impossible." The same thing must apply everywhere.—Kingston Standard.

Poor old New York! Up to the neck in snow again after four weeks of slow recovery from the last storm! Pity the poor New Yorker—scarcely had the memory of the lightless, heatless, meatless days and nights faded when the dry wave came along and shriveled up the bubbles along Broadway and the beer along the Bowery; then came the blizzards and the winter of high rent and discontent. Verily Manhattan has its woes!

In regard to the annual grant of $1200 passed by the City Council Monday evening to provide for the salary of a trained social worker from Toronto, Alderman Adams voiced a feeling which is quite common among ratepayers, that if the grant was made at all it should be to employ a resident of Belleville. Alderman Adams stated that he was opposed to the proposition of procuring an outsider to do the work of a social worker when it can be done within the city. He would not object to the spending of $1200 annually for this purpose if it was expended within the city and not go to an outsider. Alderman Adams is to be commended upon his stand.

Sola's Comet

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

There is much speculation among astronomers as to the identity of the new Sola comet, the name being that of the Spanish astronomer who first noted its appearance. It is now approaching at a rapid rate and is said to have the appearance to the eye of a star. Some astronomers are wondering if it be not "the comet," as an unknown comet of gigantic size, density and luminosity is sometimes called. The astronomers have not data enough to predict when the great comet will come again, if it ever does, but they are far from skeptical about it making an appearance at any time. If this Sola comet is the big one we shall be treated to a spectacle this year such as no one now alive ever witnessed. If it is one of the few large ones which have appeared at unreckoned intervals in the past, other than Halley's, astronomers may be able to compute the curve in its path and determine when it will return.

America's Problem

(Westminster Gazette)

It is significant, however, that in no Republic set up since theirs has the President been accorded such power as vests in the official head of the United States; and it might be no bad thing for the United States and the world if the American Constitution were at this point revised. But whatever may happen, it is not for us in this country, of all nations, to assume any airs of superiority in this connection; and we should be blind indeed if we did not see how the constitutional difficulty complicates America's problem. We periodically modify our own Constitution, which luckily is unwritten; and the situation in Ireland to say nothing of the open question of the House of Lords, is an eloquent reminder that we have not yet made our own political house adequate to our needs. The moral is that we should be deeply guilty if we added fuel to the heat of the American controversy by playing either the Pharisee or the provoker.

HUMANITY

See! In the rocks of the world
Marches the host of mankind,
A feeble, wavering line.
Where are they tending? A god
Marshall'd them, gave them the goal.
Ah, but the way is so long!
Years they have been in the wild;
Sore thrist plagues them, the rocks
Rising all around overawe;
Factions divide them, their host
Threatens to break, to dissolve.
—Ah, keep, keep them combined!
Else, of the myriads who fill
That army, not one shall arrive;
Sole shall they stray; in the rocks
Stagger forever in vain,
Die one by one in the waste.

Couldn't Be Caught

"And now, ladies and gentlemen," said the guide of the local museum "we come to the armory. On our right we 'ave the identical knives with which the robbers fought where they took the Babes into the Woods. On our left we 'ave the axe with which Sir Walter Raleigh was beheaded. Next to it we see one of Dick Turpin's pistols, and again next to that we 'ave the shield which the Black Prince used in the Crimean War. 'Ere we 'ave the bow and arrow used by the Dook o' Wellington at the Battle of Mons and, passing along a little further, we see the actual sword with which Balaam slew the ass."

"Just a moment," said one of the party. "I didn't know Balaam had a sword. I thought he only wished for one."

"Quite so—quite so! And if you'll give me time to finish and not interrupt—I was just going to add that this is the one 'e wished for."

A Natural Mistake

(London Answers)

As the man and the maid strolled through the picture gallery the lady stopped before one exhibit.

"Oh, how sweet!" she breathed.

"I wonder what it means," questioned the young fellow, as he eyed the pictured pair who clung together in an attitude of love and longing.

"O, Charlie don't you see?" the girl chided tenderly. "He just asked her to marry him, and she has consented. It's lovely! What does the artist call the picture?"

The young man leaned nearer and eyed a little label on the frame.

"I see!" he cried. "It's printed on this card here one-half sold!"

The following information is summarized from a letter from Mr. S. Messer, President of the Company:—

1. The Continental Oil Company, Limited, of Canada, the business and assets of which have been acquired by the North Star Oil & Refining Company, Limited, a Canadian corporation, has been in successful operation in the Prairie Provinces for the past eleven years.

2. The Company has no bond issue or other funded indebtedness outstanding nor any floating debt other than current accounts payable.

3. Earnings after the completion of a refinery for the production of refined oil, gasoline and lubricating oil, at Winnipeg, which refinery is expected to begin operations about the middle of the year, are estimated to be initially at the rate of $150,000 to $160,000 annually, or equal to over twice the dividend upon the Preferred Stock. With the completion of other refineries, earnings are expected to materially increase.

4. The Company has affiliations with large and responsible producers in the United States which should ensure a continuous and constant supply of crude oil. In the event of the development of crude oil in commercial quantities in the Canadian West, the Company, with refineries at Winnipeg, Saskatoon and Calgary, will be in an advantageous position to manufacture from this crude, refined oil, gasoline and other petroleum products for the Western trade.

Applications, which should be accompanied with cheque for full payment, will be received only on the understanding that the right is reserved by us to allot all, a portion only, or none of the amount applied for. In the event of a partial allotment the balance, and if none be allotted the full amount forwarded, will be returned to the applicant.

LOSS BY CAPREOL FIRE IS $60,000 TO $75,000

Sudbury, March 6.—Fire on Sunday afternoon last completely destroyed the handsome Y.M.C.A. building under construction for the Canadian National Railways at their divisional centre at Capreol. The building was rapidly nearing completion and was soon to be ready for occupation. Nothing but two brick walls are now standing and the steel is a twisted mass of wreckage. The loss is between $60,000 and $75,000 and is covered by insurance.

CARELESS SHAMPOOING SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap must be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or to teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

RAILWAY MAGAZINE WILL BE PUBLISHED

Another publication, the Canadian National Railway Magazine, with W. J. Whiteside as editor, and under the direction of A. J. Hillis, assistant to the president, has appeared. It will be distributed free among the 50,000 Government railway employees, who are requested to contribute articles on railway topics. The first issue will contain a leading article by the president, D. B. Hanna. It marks the beginning of an attempt to show the employees on the National lines the present greatness of the system and its future possibilities, says the leading editorial in the first number.

GET MANY MISSING LOADS OF LIQUOR

Detroit, March 8—Navigation in the Livingstone channel of the Detroit river will not be menaced this season by floating casks and submerged auto loads of Canadian whiskies if rivermen are called on by the United States Government to volunteer to remove the debris from the channel.

The discovery that the Livingstone channel is the "graveyard" of many missing loads of liquor which were en route under smugglers' convoy from the Canadian shores was made by the Detroit Federal official when it was reported recently that a truck load of Canadian liquor foundered in Livingstone channel when the ice gave way.

Truck Left Only a Foot Clear

An investigation by Richard I. Lawson, Collector of Customs, revealed the lively operation of liquor smugglers in this particular section. Further investigation by Col. E. M Markham, United States Engineer, resulted in an order to remove the truck from the channel, which has a depth of 22 feet, because the truck obstructed 21 feet of the channel depth. It was precelved that no boats could pass until it was removed.

Liquor Fishing Prohibited

The salvaging caused much excitement among watchers on the shores and on motor boats that swarmed in the vicinity. There was real disappointment and protests when a Federal order was issued forbidding "liquor fishing" in or near the vicinity of the channel. Such fishing is a right reserved by the Government for its authorized representatives.

Plans are ready for complete exploration of the waters of the channel and vicinity for missing trucks, and the salvaging of the submerged cargoes before the opening of navigation.

C. N. R. TRAIN WRECKED; PASSENGERS UNHURT

Fredericton, N.B., March 8.—Word reached here of a wreck on the transcontinental division of the Canadian National Railways Saturday morning when a passenger train left the rails. C.N.R. officials declined to give out any more information here, than to say that the wreck took place west of Edmondston, nobody was injured and the passengers were being transferred from the wreckage to another train.

by cutting out the expensive foods (so lacking in real nutriment) and eating the simple, natural, inexpensive foods that contain the largest amount of digestible nutriment. Shredded Wheat contains more real nutriment than meat or eggs, is more easily digested than potatoes or other starchy foods. Two of these little loaves of baked whole wheat with hot milk (or hot water and butter) make a nourishing, satisfying meal at a cost of a few cents.

Big Game Now Extinct

SPEAKING of the brontosaurus, if anyone ever did, one might paraphrase:

"I never saw a dinosaur.
"I never hoped to see one."

Yet, according to reports accredited to M. Capell, Belgian explorer, a live dinosaur, a brontosaurus, has been found in Africa.

Now that the dinosaur is with us, potentially, big game enthusiasts will be interested in this description of prehistoric big game, quoted from a communication to the National Geographic Society by Barnum Browne:

"To-day we must go to Africa for the biggest game, but there was a time in the dim distant past when America produced animals larger than any now living. That was so long ago that nothing remains of these creatures except their bones, any they are turned to stone.

"The animals are dinosaurs; for the moment we will call them lizards —not the creeping, crawling kind, but huge reptiles that stalked upright through the jungles, rivaling in size the elephant, the hippopotamus and the rhinoceros.

"The place is Alberta, Canada, and the time of their existence 3,000,000 years ago.

"In these marshes of prehistoric times dwelt a host of reptiles, some large, some small, and of various forms, flesh-eaters and herb-eaters, but all sharing certain characters in common and known as dinosaurs. Not any were closely related to any living reptile, yet they had some characters common to the lizards, crocodiles and birds.

"Of the kinds characteristic of the period one species, an herb-eater named Trachodon, was more than 30 feet long and about 15 feet high when standing erect. Its head, with broadly expanded mouth, resembles that of a duck, but back of the beak there are more than 2,000 small teeth, disposed in many vertical rows, each containing several individual teeth, the new ones coming up from below as the old ones wore out.

"The long hind legs terminated in three large hoofed toes, and the shorter slender front feet were partly webbed. A long, thin, slender tail acted as a powerful swimming organ, and the body was covered with rough tuberculate skin. Having no means of defence, it lived chiefly in the water, where is was free from attacks of the flesh-eaters.

"Along the shores lived Ornithomimus, bird mimic, as the name implies, one of the most remarkable of the dinosaurs. A skeleton found in 1918 shows it to have been a toothless creature, the jaws sheathed like the beak of a bird.

"The bones were light and pneumatic like those of birds, but the skeleton closely resembles that of the flesh-eating dinosaurs. It was about 12 feet in length, with long, slender hind legs and shorter front legs. This was an agile creature, different from the typical flesh-eaters in feeding habits and doubtless a shore-living type that may have fed on crustaceans.

"On land, there were hoofed quadrupedal herbivorous kinds, some, like Monoclonius, having an immense skull, six feet in length, with three horns, a short one over each eye and a longer one above the nose. The jaws terminated in a sharp clipping beak, like that of a turtle, and further back in the mouth there were rows of double-rooted teeth. The back of the skull was developed into a broad shield, with scalloped border, extending over the neck. It was ancestral to the later Triceratops.

"Strangest of all was the herbivorous Ankylosaurus, a stocky, short-legged, big-bodied creature, completely encased in armor. Dermal plates covered the skull, followed by rings of plates over the neck and rows of flat plates over the back and hips. Its tail terminated in a huge club, and the belly was covered by a pliable mosaic of small, close-set plates. It was further protected by a movable plate that could be dropped down like a shutter over each eye, thus completing its protection from insects and formidable foes."

YOU LOOK OLD WORN OUT TIRED OUT!

While the Cause Differs, the Condition is the Same

Your Local Druggist Guarantees Vinol to Restore Your Old-time Strength and Energy

Why do run-down, anaemic, overworked, tired-out men and women continue to drag around in this condition, unhappy themselves and making every one around them unhappy, complaining about their condition, when we guarantee VINOL, our non-secret cod liver and iron tonic, to create a hearty appetite, aid digestion, induce sound sleep, make rich, red blood, and in this natural manner create vim, vigor and energy.

There are thousands of men and women in Canada, once run-down, anaemic and sickly, who are now strong, hearty and well, all owing to VINOL.

Mrs. James Stock, of Winnipeg, Manitoba, says: "I suffered from general debility and a nervous breakdown; I was depressed, weak and tired all the time. A neighbor told me about Vinol, and after all other medicines had failed to help me, VINOL built me up and made me well. I heartily recommend VINOL."

For all run-down, anaemic conditions, weak women, over-worked men, feeble old people and delicate children, the druggists guarantee VINOL to make rich, red blood and build you up or return your money.

HANGED BANDIT FOR MURDER OF AMERICAN

Washington, March 6—Information received by the State Department indicates that Mexican bandits had planned to kidnap and hold for ransom Augustus Morrill, formerly American Consul at Manzanillo and that the bandit Cacheton exceeded orders in killing him.

"Cacheton was hanged by the bandit chief, Carona, within twenty-five yards of the scene of the murder, as a punishment for the murder,' said an announcement by the Department. "On the murderer's shirt was found pinned a pencilled note reading: 'Manuel Remirez, soldier, died for the assassination he committed. Executed by order of Cipriano Carona.'

"Morrill's horse was shot under him. Morrill received a shot in the right breast and he fell after running twenty yards. He received a second shot in the back of the head, evidently fired at him while he lay helpless. The amount of money taken from him is unknown.

"The Governor of Colima, in which State the murder occurred, has advised the American Consul at Manzanillo that three military detachments have been sent to the bandits' stronghold in the mountains twelve miles northwest of Colima City."

MAKES 180TH ESCAPE FROM ARM OF LAW

Los Angeles, Cal., March 8—Roy Dickerson, charged with aiding in the robbery of a bank at Phoenix, Alabama, made what is said to have been his 180th escape from jail here, when he used a crude key on his cell lock in the city prison, climbed up a ventilator shaft and fled.

Dickerson's wife, who is in jail here, said her husband formerly was a vaudeville performer, making a specialty of freeing himself from handcuffs and other restraints. She told the police he had escaped one hundred and eighty times, and that he never had been imprisoned successfully more than two months.

Dickerson's cell mate was found asleep after the escape. He told the guards he had not heard Dickerson's movements.

APPLES FOR ONTARIO

Some Varieties Recommended for Home Orchards.

Early Bearers and Annual Producers Desirable — Also Varieties Not Easily Liable to Disease—Hardiness Also a Good Quality—Keep Potato Rot From Spreading.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THE home orchard should provide high-class dessert and cooking apples throughout the entire apple season, or from the middle of July until the following spring. It is quite easy to select varieties for any part of old Ontario which will do this satisfactorily. The varieties selected should come into bearing early, should produce annually, and should be as free as possible from diseases of all kinds, so that they may be handled with a minmum of expense and care. Throughout this article the varieties mentioned are listed in the order of their season of use, so that intending planters may be guided in making a selection to cover the season.

In order to simplify the selection of varieties for any given district a classification of the most desirable varieties is given herewith based on their relative hardiness, which is their ability to withstand cold winters successfully.

Hardiest:—Transparent, Duchess, Dudley, McIntosh, Hibernal, Crabs. These are hardy as far north as Parry Sound, and can be grown successfully even further north.

Second Hardiest:—Astrachan, Alexander, St. Lawrence, Wealthy, Colvert, Snow, Scarlet Pippin, Wolf River, Golden Russet.

Third Hardiest:—Blenheim, Tolman, Spy.

Fourth Hardiest:— Gravenstein, Wagner, Stark, Greening, Ben Davis.

Fifth Hardiest:—These varieties are more or less tender and thrive best south of a line drawn from Hamilton to Brantford and Goderich —Cayuga, Ribston, Hubbardston, Grimes, Ontario.

Sixth Hardiest—These varieties are tender and thrive best in the Lake Erie counties, although they are not entirely atisfactory even there—Jonathan Winesap, Spitzenberg, Newtown.

King and Baldwin are omitted from the above classification for the reason that their inclusion would probably be misleading. It is true that these varieties were formerly listed in about the fourth grade for hardiness, but intending planters would do well to make careful note of the fact that they have winter killed badly of recent years, even in the most southerly counties of Ontario.

The varieties which come into bearing earliest (about five or six years) are Duchess, Wealthy, Milwaukee, Wagner and Ontario. Most of the other varieties listed should begin bearing at about seven or eight years, but Blenheim and Spy are notorious exceptions to this, and frequently do not produce fruit until they reach fifteen to eighteen years of age.

The varieties which are least subject to apple scab are Duchess, Ribston, Blenheim, Hibernal, Baldwin and Russet.—Prof. J. W. Crow, O. A. College, Guelph.

Travel In Newfoundland.

An express train on the Reid-Newfoundland Railway, a narrow guage line, arrived in St. John's, Nfld., on Friday, February 13, after being three weeks on the way across the island from Port au Basques. The train was scheduled to make the 546 miles run in 29 hours. Several storms were encountered and it was snowed in frequently.

Passengers reported that at some exposed points the snow drifted to a height of 20 feet. They were on scanty rations much of the time, with fish as the principal food.

A Fire Burning 25 Years.

There has been a fire burning on the water front of the Hastings Mills on Burrard Inlet, B.C., for twenty-five years. Through rain and storm, winter and summer, the flames gleam brightly and black smoke rises. Ever since the mills started there has been this bonfire, fed by the endless sawdust carriers. At other mills throughout the province the sawdust is treated the same way. The matter is being investigated with a view to making use of this enormous waste.

LAWYERS OBJECT TO UNJUST CRITICISM

Toronto, March 6.—At the Ontario Bar Association's convention at Osgoode Hall, Hon. Mr. Raney, U.F.O., Attorney-General, was seated on the platform. During the debate on the question of preventing unqualified persons from acting as Notaries public on conveyances the attitude of the Provincial Government towards the legal profession was construed as antagonistic.

Mr. Harry Sanders, of Norwich, speaking on the question hotly condemned the opposition of both farmers and some newspapers to the election of lawyers to the legislative houses.

"Just recently I read that the country has been given an honest Government at last and it is now determined it shall be free from the domination of lawyers and others."

A general disapproval of the item cited was unanimously registered.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., of Belleville, urged that the Attorney General be appointed as a permanent public official, thus removing him from the realm of politics. He indirectly referred to Mr. Raney's recent effort to secure election by remarking that an Attorney General should not have to engage in the turmoil of elections.

COUNTERFEITERS JAILED

London, March 6—Six months imprisonment was the sentence pronounced upon the six men who have been on trial charged with melting gold here for thefts from the Canadian Na- possession, amounting to more than 110,000 soverigns, was ordered forfeited. Including in the group are Harry Lewis, a barrister, and Shure & Chamberlain, diamond merchants.

It has been brought out in the trial that the accused withdrew from the Bank of England during 1919 gold weighing eighteen hundred weight. During December alone, it was charged ,they disposed of bar gold worth $45,000.

OXFORD TEAM WON JUDGING CONTEST

Toronto, March 8.—The Oxford Couny team of young farmers won the provincial stock judging contest in the final test with the team from Carleton County. The Oxford team, which is composed of Burns McCorquodale, John Blair and Max Butcher of Tmbro, had a total score of 2,223 or 275 points more than the Carleton team made up of Echlin Croskerry, Lloyd Armstrong and E. Armstrong of Kinburn. McCorquodale was high man, with 769 points out of a possible 1,000, and Croskerry, the Carleton leader, was just three points below him.

The contest, which is staged annually by the Department of Agriculture, is waged for a trophy donated by the Union Stock Yards and the abattoirs, which becomes the property of the team winning it three times. So far no team has succeeded in repeating. The two teams were picked from among others in the earlier competitions, one at Guelph for the Western half of Ontario, and the other at Ottawa for the Eastern counties.

The Oxford team had the edge upon its opponents in each class except that of sheep. Their margin on dairy cattle was particularly big.

The Telephone Situation.

The Man Who Knows

"The real underlying cause of unrest and discontent, which is in turn the cause of present social and business conditions, is ignorance of the other fellow's problems, lack of appreciation of his difficulties."—N. C. Kingsbury.

We have found that the more our subscribers and the public know about our business, the more smoothly it runs—the better the service.

In other words, when people understand something of how complex and infinitely detailed a modern telephone system is — especially in a big city — the more readily they co-operate with us in our efforts for good service.

We have found that the most satisfactory subscriber to deal with, is the man who has been through a telephone exchange and has seen it in operation. His criticism is always considerate, always fair and helpful, just because he knows what an intricate, comprehensive and yet delicate thing a modern telephone system is.

That is why we invite subscribers to visit our exchanges, and why, from time to time, we endeavor to tell in the newspapers just what the telephone situation is.

SARNIA EXPECTS RATE OF FORTY MILLS

Sarnia, March 8.—City officials announce that the Imperial City will vie for tax rate prominence with all other Western Ontario cities including London, and that despite much pruning and see-sawing the tax rate in Sarnia for 1920 will in all probability be 40 mills on the dollar a jump of 9 mills over 1919 when the rate stood at 31.

In the pruning process that has just been completed the Board of Education received a knockout blow, $21,000 being struck off that had been designated for construction work as follows: $8,000 for portable Public Schools, $6,000 for the Collegiate portable school and $7,000 for the Imperial School in the south-end of the city.

The School Board's apportionment of the rate is 17 mills, an approximate increase of 7 mills over 1919. Rate set for garbage collection is 1 3-10 mills, an increase over 1919, when it was 3-5 of a mill.

The Police Commission rate is half a mill and there is an increase in the general rate of two mills over 1919. Some of the increases are offset by decreases. The rate is struck on the estimated expenditures on last year's assessment of 10,005,103.

DRAINAGE IS IMPORTANT

Some Benefits of a Well Devised Drainage Plan.

Guesswork Is the Poorest Method to Adopt—Get the Land Levels and Then Arrange for Tiling.— How to Protect Drainage Outlets.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

When a man is about to erect a building be it ever so small, the first thing he does is to make a plan. That plan may be on paper or it may exist only in the mind of the builder, yet it is a plan. Without a plan to follow, a builder cannot do good work. The same is true of tile drainage. The man who places a "string" or "line" of tile in a watercourse, which traverses his fields, should not do so without asking himself such questions as: "Am I putting this tile in the lowest part?" "Will I be able to get a satisfactory outlet? How many acres will this tile drain, and is it large enough to drain it satisfactorily? Have I sufficient grade to drain the holes in the rear fifty?" If he does not ask himself these questions he is like a builder without a plan; he is working in the dark; his work cannot be efficient. All these questions the drainage plan answers, and more.

No matter how small the means for immediate construction of drains, or how few the drains which one is about to instal, he should not do so without having first laid out a plan of which these drains will be a part. On rolling land such a plan is not hard to decide upon, because the differences in elevation are very pronounced, and any one who is familiar with such lands is able to intelligently plan a system of drains for them. But where the area is large and the topography irregular, or very flat, guesswork is out of the question. It is then that we must resort to the tape and the levelling instrument for reliable information.

A drainage plan shows first of all the differences in height or elevation between all parts of the farm over which the survey extended. This allows the owner of the land to plan his own system of drainage. The possession of the levels for all parts of the farm lays bare the most advantageous routes for tile drains, from a study of the levels and contours of a plan it is possible to calculate the acreage which each main tile must drain. This information together with the fall or grade procurable is the only true guide to help us decide upon the size of tile needed in any given drain. It is only when the planner has a picture of the whole project before him that he can draft an efficient yet economical plan of drains for any piece of land.

Future Benefits.—The benefits of a plan do not end with the completion of the drainage system. Only those of us who have tried long and hard to find a drain, the location of which was nowhere recorded, know the value of guidance such as is offered by a plan. When a tile-drained farm is offered for sale the existence of a plan of drains adds greatly to the value of the farm. The plan is of equal value to both the seller and buyer. With proper care well-constructed tile drains will give good service for several generations; therefore for the convenience of our children and grandchildren it is necessary to have a plan of our underground drainage work.

There is another way in which a drainage plan is very helpful to a farm owner; it is a splendid guide toward ascertaining the acreage of any field or part of the farm. Fences are located on the plan, and the whole plan drawn to scale, so that with the aid of a rule it is possible to measure the area of any part of the land surveyed. This is of great assistance in planning a season's crops as well as in calculating yields per acre.

Tile drainage pays; but, before you start even a small system by all means secure a plan—G. Heimpel, O. A. College, Guelph.

Protecting Drainage Outlets.

Tile, particularly clay tile, should not run out to the mouth of the drain. If a piece of old gas pipe, eight or ten feet long, can be secured, this should be placed in the drain in place of the last few tile. Failing this a piece of corrugated steel, or even a plank trough is much better than running the tile right to the end, where they will be broken, washed into the outlet, or otherwise destroyed, allowing the earth to roll in and stop the flow of water.

Under any condition the bank is liable to wear away. Animals pasturing in the field may tramp it down, and block the tile, so in the second place, an abutment should be built through which the outlet discharges its water and the bank will be kept in a state of preservation. This may be made of concrete, stone or plank, and should be a permanent structure. In some cases where the flow is heavy and the water would have a tendency to undermine the wall, it is well to build an apron on which the force of the falling water is broken.

There is still another precaution which should be given due consideration. Frequently small animals, muskrats, coons, ground hogs and others, seek refuge in the tile. Here they are entrapped, and form a dam to the flowing water. To overcome such, the outlet should have bars across the end. These may be quite small, and close together so that nothing can get through. A screen may be fitted over the end, but unless the mesh is quite large the water is retarded in its flow. Sometimes the first tile is threaded with wire. This forms a good protection.

When all these devices are given attention, the outlet should remain in a state of efficiency for years, and the system, if properly installed, should give satisfaction.—F. L. Ferguson, O. A. College, Guelph.

INVENTS NEW ETHER.

Dr. J. H. Cotton of Toronto Discovers Anaesthetic.

The new ether, perfected by Dr. James H. Cotton, a young Toronto surgeon, has been proclaimed in the papers of the United States as one of the most important discoveries in medical science for many years. Once again, it would seem, the prophet has not been appreciated or encouraged in his own country. As far back as May, 1916, Dr. C. K. Clarke, the present Dean of Medicine at the University, wrote to the press in enthusiastic terms about the new discovery, but nothing was done. To-day Toronto hospitals are buying the "Cotton Process Ether" from the great DuPont firm, which has perfected the manufacture of the product at last.

There are many things claimed for the new ether, which is really a development of the old that was discovered in Boston many years ago. It acts more quickly, almost eliminates the nausea that follows the use of ordinary ether, allows many operations, even of a major character, such as the removal of an appendix, or a deep-seated growth, to be accomplished without the patient losing consciousness, and gives up its hold on the patient inhaling it almost as soon as the cone or tube is removed from the face or nostrils. Compared to the old ethers and anaesthetics only about one-quarter of the quantity needs to be used, and sleep can always be induced by the addition of a few drops more.

"In the ether that I have perfected," Dr. Cotton once explained, "there is no reaction, because sensation is blocked. With the old ether, you could have the patient drunk, and yet the sensory nerves would not be blocked. With the new ether, the mind can be made a complete blank."

The idea came to Dr. Cotton in 1915, the year he graduated in medicine. He had been interested in chemistry even when he was attending Harbord Collegiate, and followed his bent in a course of Physiology and Biochemistry, which led to a B.A., then an M.A. degree, at Toronto University, before he entered medicine.

The first promising results took place when a number of animals were able to be relieved from pain without going to sleep. At this time, May, 1916, the material could only be manufactured very slowly, one pound every three weeks, and it cost about $80 a pound. It was offered as a discovery to the Toronto General Hospital, and the University of Toronto, combined, to do what they will with it for war purposes.

In June, 1917, a paper and a demonstration were given at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, with two operations. The result was so satisfactory that the new product received the active approbation of the whole Dominion Association. The DuPont people, who approached Dr. Cotton then, only received the complete rights of the new discovery, after the delay in Toronto, and then to speed up processes and production for war purposes. It took exactly eight months to produce in quantity even then, after the intricate secret process had been handed over.

Another important aspect of the discovery is in its relation to crime. "It is capable," said Dr. Cotton, "of making the most hardened criminal tell the truth, and nothing but the truth."

Immodest Dress.

Immodest dress by women of the day is not peculiar to any one country. It prevails to an amazing extent in the United States, in Canada, in Great Britain, in France, and probably in other countries. What has given so strong an impetus to it is largely conjectural, but presumably it is one of the social reactions from the soberer conduct, thought and feeling of the war period.

If girls cherish a thought and hope that they enhance their chances of a happy marriage, or marriage at all, by a free revealment of physical charms, they are deluding themselves. With comparatively few exceptions the man who puts his mind seriously to the marriage project looks about him for the womanly woman, one of whose fundamental charms is modesty. He envisages such a woman as likely, above all others, to have the qualities required in a life mate whom he can honor, love and trust.

Men are none too good at best. Indeed, as a class, they are too bad at best, but about the surest way to make them worse is for women to appeal, by dress or otherwise, to their grosser natures. It is enough that deficient draping of the female figure exerts a harmful influence in terms of sex, but atop of that is the fact that it is a menace to health and an injustice to children yet unborn.

APPLYING THIS PASTE. ACTUALLY REMOVES HAIRS

(Beauty Notes)

Merely applying an inexpensive paste to a hairy surface, say beauty specialists, will dissolve the hairs. This paste is made by mixing a little water with some powdered delatone; after about 2 minutes it is rubbed off and the skin washed. This simple method not only removes every trace of hair, but leaves the skin free from blemish. To insure success with this treatment, be careful to get real delatone.

FOUND SKELETONS OF 100 "MISSING"

Rheims, March 9—Nearly a hundred skeletons of those who are on the great list of "missing" in the war have been located a few miles from here in the advanced trenches near the Canal Lock of Sapigneule. The belached bones were found in shell craters and also in territory which was unscarred by the greater shells, but the thick underbrush had hidden them from view.

KINGSTON LABOR PEEVED

The Kingston union of electrical workers reports that forty vocational electrical students are doing wiring work in the city while ten union electricians are out of employment. The claim is made that the Government's vocational training system is working to the disadvantage of organized labor whose members have undergone years of apprenticeship.

TEACHERS GET INCREASE

At the adjourned meeting of the Deseronto Public School Board at which the different teachers who had resigned were present and laid their claim, the board after some consideration granted each of the staff a raise of $100 per year, to begin on April 1, 1920. Although this was not what the teachers asked for originally, they accepted the boards offer and will remain with one exception, Miss M. Provins, who has been accepted at Fort William at an initial salary of $900.

TRAGIC DEATH AT PORT HOPE

Mr. Charles Scott, of Port Hope, a well known resident of that town on Sunday took his life by hanging while in a state of despondency. He had driven two spikes into the stairway ,and to this he attached a rope. He left a note telling of his physical trouble, stating that he had been advised that an operation would be necessary, and it might mean a long and painful illness and for this reason he had decded to finish the whole thing.

A POSSIBLE NEW INDUSTRY

At the City Council meeting last night Ald. Ponton, as chairman of Parks and Industries stated that he hoped to announce within the next two weeks of the establishment in Belleville of a large New York industrial firm. Directors and engineers of the concern would in a few days visit Belleville to look over the situation and it was confidently expected that the concern would be induced to locate here.

TRAINS DELAYED

Railway men report that travelling on the railroads these days is a difficult undertaking. A couple of days age there was thaw and melting snow streamed across certain tracks in small streams. The next day the frost closed everything up and froze over the tracks in spots. Delays were numerous on various parts of the G.T.R., C.N.R., and C.P.R. as a result. In some cases engines gave out and in many cases slow orders were given

HOME FROM OVERSEAS

Major General Garnet Hughes, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., son of Sir Sam and Lady Hughes, landed in New York on Sunday from overseas, where he has been since September, 1914, continuously in the service of Canada and the Empire. Major-General Hughes had a distinguished career overseas, going over with the 3rd brigade, and winning his D.S.O. at St. Julien with his brigade. He later was transferred to the 2nd Division under General Turner, and then to the 1st Brigade and to the 5th Division. After a short stay in Toronto with Sir Sam Hughes Major-General Hughes, jr., will pay a visit to his home in Lindsay.

$3,000 FOR WIFE'S AFFECTIONS

At the Supreme Court Sittings at Lindsay on Monday before Hon. Justice Rose the only case on the docket was that of Vankoughnett vs. Staples of the Township of Manvers and Port Nelson (Co. of Halton) respectively. The plaintiff sued the defendant for alienation of his wife's affections On examination for discovery at Hamilton recently the defendant admitted that he had visited the plaintiff's home o nelection night with his automobile and taken the plaintiff's wife away with him to his home at Port Nelson, where she remained for a time, afterwards returning to her husband. The case was finally settled out of court, the plaintiff agreeing to pay the defendant $3,000 damages and costs.

INJURED IN A SAND PIT

Mr. Robert Cranston of Harold, Rawdon Township, on Friday last had a narrow escape from suffocation when the roof of a gravel pit he was working in fell in upon him. By timely assistance of near by workmen, Mr. Cranston was rescued. It was ascertained that his right leg was severely fractured above the knee. The victim was brought to the hospital here for treatment.

OLD TIME REVIVAL

A real old time Methodist Revival was commenced last evening in the Tabernacle Church. Even in face of inclement weather conditions there was a very encouraging attendance from all three Methodist Churches—a noticeable and pleasing feature was the large number of young people who turned out. A song service was commenced at 7.45. The Rev. Dr. Scott and Rev. Mr. Elliott led in Prayer and the Rev. Foster of Holloway Church delivered a stirring discourse that sent his hearers away with a feeling of having benefitted greatly in a spiritual way by having attended the first meeting of this Evangelistic effort. These meetings will be continued every night this week in the Tabernacle Church, next week in Holloway Church and the following week in Bridge St. Church.

HOME OF JOHN RUSKIN

A little journey to the heart, home and work of John Ruskin, who has been aptly described as a "poet, painter, prophet, art critic and social reformer," was the delightful program provided by the Women's Canadian Club Monday evening, resuming the series of educational gatherings which have been so appreciated, but were interrupted by the suspension of public gatherings during the influenza epidemic. The speaker was Miss E. M. B. Warren, a talented artist of London, England, who was a pupil and friend of John Ruskin. Her subject was "Haunts and Homes of John Ruskin" illustrated by colored lantern slides taken from sketches made by the lecturer, and from Ruskin's drawings. Miss Warren in a very entertaining manner sketched the life and work of John Ruskin and with word and picture followed his wonderful career, showing his great talent and his benevolence and kindness in the love of art and humanity. Miss Warren has several letters written by Ruskin and some of his sketches. These the members of the Women's Canadian Club present were privileged to view. Mrs. George Gorman, President, acted as Chairman in her customary pleasant and capable manner, Miss McQuaig, presided at the piano and a vote of thanks was moved in very kindly and appreciative terms by Mrs. S. D. Lazier and seconded by Mrs. Downey. The evening was one of extreme pleasure and those who braved the storm to attend were well repaid in meeting this talented lady and being privileged to secure such intimate glimpses of the life and work of the real John Ruskin which it was Miss Warren's great privilege to become familiar with. Miss Warren is a noted artist and came to Canada to paint the pictures of noted Canadian generals and battalion colors in connection with an art movement to preserve interesting records of the war.

WHEN BRITISH USED BEER TO MIX MORTAR

In England, in the days when beer was cheaper than it is now, it sometimes served to mix mortar, which was supposed to enhance the durability of the buildings where it was used. Moreover, mortar could be made with beer during frosty weather, when water could not be used.

William Andrews, the antiquarian, says in his "Famous Frosts" that "a tradition still lingers in Derbyshire respecting the famous Bess of Hardwick to the effect that a fortune teller told her that her death would not happen so long as she continued building. She caused to be erected several noble structures, including Hardwick and Chatsworth. Her death occurred in 1607, during a very severe frost, when the workmen could not continue their labors, although they mixed their mortar with hot ale."

G. T. R. Freight Shed At London Burned

LONDON, Ont., March 7—Fire that swept the Grand Trunk freight house on York street, between Waterloo and Wellington streets, early Sunday morning causing a loss of $150,000 has raised London's hopes for immediate consideration of track elevation and terminal problems that have been on the tapis for the past ten years.

With the freight house and its offices went eight cars loaded with merchandise, on No. 1 track. Other cars were hauled out of the way by the yard engines, but those adjoining the freight sheds were ignited and it was feared that if they were hauled further out adjoining property might be endangered.

All bills and records have been lost in the fire, according to Grand Trunk officials, and it will be necessary to obtain duplicates from shippers and out-of-town freight agents. The greater part of the loss is on goods which had accumulated in large quantities during the past week as a result of the teamsters' strike.

DR. D. W. FAULKNER

On Monday afternoon the funeral of the late Dr. Daniel W. Faulkner of Foxboro, took place and was largely attended by relatives and friends. At the Foxboro Methodist Church Rev. C. G. Smith, of Montreal, formerly of the Baptist Church, in this city, conducted an impressive service assisted by Rev. Mr. Kemp The sacred edifice was filled to overflowing during the service. The interment took place at Sine's cemetery. The numerous and beautiful floral designs were evidences of the popularity of the departed. The bearers were intimate friends of the doctor, namely, Messrs Dennis Callery, Dan Ketcheson, Ira Simmons, Joseph D. Thrasher, Peter Vanallen, and Dr. E. F. G. Ward.

MISS A. GAFFNEY

This morning the body of the late Miss A. Gaffney was placed in the vault at Belleville cemetery after service had been held at St. Michael's Church by Rev. Father Whalen. A brother of deceased, Mr. John Gaffney, was in attendance at the obsequies.

THADDEUS D. SCOTT

The funeral of the late Mr. Thaddeus D. Scott, of Canifton, took place on Monday afternoon and many were in attendance. At the family residence Rev. Mr. McMullen conducted a service after which the body was conveyed to Belleville cemetery vault. Upon the casket were placed a number of floral designs. The bearers were Messrs A. Black, C. W. Badgley, Joel and J. Brenton.

CHARGED TENANTS FOR USE OF CLOTHESLINE

Jersey City, N.J., March 9—Charging tenants $1.50 a month for the privilege of hanging their wash on lines strung from a pole, is the latest profiteering by the "meanest and cheapest landlord" yet discovered, according to Jas. F. Gannon, Jr., Director of Revenue and Finance—and the pole doesn't even belong to the landlord but to the New York Telephone Co.

Mr. Gannon said the landlord was Harry Drainow, whose tenants at 138 Monticello Avenue, are compelled to pay for sun and air. But in a letter to Drainow, Mr. Gannon has made it clear, after addressing him as the "meanest and cheapest landlord,' that if Drainow persisted in "this petty larceny practice, accept my assurance that your personal assessment will be what it should be instead of what it is."

credits whereby other countries might purchase the natural products of Canada. Sir Thomas pointed out that Hon. T. A. Crerar's views on the tariff as expressed in the House of Commons were much more moderate than his views expressed in Western Canada. In the West he had declared that he would abolish the tariff root and branch; in the House he said that he did not intend to remove the tariff "at one fell stroke." Sir Thomas thought Mr. Crerar's views had been modified since his trip through Canada. "The people of this country,' said the ex-Minister, "will not tolerate any Government which regards the tariff only as a means to raise revenue and disregards the tariff as an instrument for the development of resources in this country and the maintenance of its stability."

"I know the farmers of my own province, and my own constituency, and I know they will not vote for a policy which would deprive them of certain markets in Toronto, Hamilton and other centres in favor of uncertain markets in the United States, which could be closed against them at any time by the capricious action of Congress. It was for the farmers as well as for the manufacturers and the agricultural classes that the national policy was promulgated. I see no reason why that principle cannot be retained in our tariff and that tariff be made acceptable to people on both sides of the House."

PRINGLE APPEARS FOR PAPER FIRM

Ottawa, March 9.—A dramatic incident occurred at one of the hearings before the board of commerce, sitting as paper controller, when R. A. Pringle, K.C., who was paper controller from the creation of that office until six weeks ago, appeared before the board as counsel for one of the newsprint manufacturers.

Both Commissioner O'Connor and Commissioner Murdock question the ethics of Mr. Pringle's appearing in that capacity under the circumstances and after a lengthy argument Mr. Pringle withdrew.

The two commissioners were visibly embarrassed when Mr. Pringle on the hearing being opened, proceeded to present the cases of one of the newsprint manufacturers and referred to certain arrangements he said he had concluded in his previous capacity as paper controller. Mr. O'Connor asked Mr. Pringle whether he was appearing before the board as counsel for the manufacturers and on receiving an affirmative reply, whether he did not feel embarrassed. Mr. Pringle disclaimed any feeling of embarrassment and proceeded with his presentation of the case.

Mr. Murdock said the board of commerce, as paper controller had not received the co-operation it had a right to expect from Mr. Pringle as the former incumbent of that office and added that he thought it strange that Mr. Pringle should now appear as counsel for a newsprint manufacturer to contest an order made by the board as paper controller. Mr. Pringle pleaded that his object was to assist the board.

"You are embarrassing me," said Commissioner O'Connor. "You are saying things as counsel for a newsprint manufacturer that I feel I should take up with you as the previous paper controller."

Mr. O'Connor said that his guiding principle had been not to touch anything in one capacity that he had been connected with in another. Mr. Pringle then withdrew.

HOLD C.P.R. ANNUAL DINNER IN TORONTO, ENTERTAIN 800

Montreal, March 9.—For the first time since its inauguration four years ago the annual banquet of the Canadian Pacific Railway will be held outside Montreal next Saturday evening at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, when the officers of the company will entertain about 800 of the staff from all over Canada, the United States and England. Addresses will be given by Lord Shaughnessy and President E. W. Beatty. The plan of holding these annual dinners of Canadian Pacific Railway officials at various points in Canada will be continued and the probability is that the 1921 dinner will be held at Winnipeg.

Sinn Fein Cannot Poll Half The Votes In Ireland

PHILIP W. WILSON, LONDON CORRESPONDENT, ASSERTS DE VALERA, REALIZING DEFEAT, IS SEEKING COMPROMISE—DENIES MAJORITY OF PEOPLE DESIRE INDEPENDENCE.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Addressing the Canadian Club here on the Irish question, Philip Whitewell Wilson, special correspondent of The London Daily News, and formerly a member of the British headquarters, stated that under the Lloyd George bill, now before parliament, Ireland would receive as a gift the entire capital value of the land purchase scheme, amounting to half a billion dollars, or $100 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Mr. Wilson declared the bill did not divide Ireland. It followed the colonial precedent exactly, he said. In Canada, each province joined the Dominion of its own consent. The same arrangement was successful in bringing Natal into the South African Union and New South Wales into the Commonwealth of Australia. While Ulster was given a separate parliament, England would welcome the union of Ireland, which time would bring about if mischief-makers would only take a holiday.

Mr. Wilson said that it was utterly untrue that the majority of Irishmen desired independence. In Ulster, the people were almost unanimous against such a solution, and Ulster was the industrial brain of the whole country.

The recent municipal elections had shown that the Sinn Fein, under proportional representation, could poll less than half the votes, and this left De Valera in a difficult position, as he knew his entire program could never be carried out. He was, therefore, seeking a compromise, which was displeasing to those of his followers who only wished to use the Irish question for ulterior motives and who had no idea of welcoming a settlement which would in fact "deprive many of them of their occupations as agitators." De Valera had weakened his influence by stating that he wanted Germany to win the war. "This," said Mr. Wilson, would have meant the humiliation not of England merely, but of Canada and the United States, and it would have subjected Catholic Belgium to intolerable insults for all time and would have meant that numberless Irish soldiers would have died in vain for liberty."

Panic Prevails In Wall Street

Misleading Report of Court Decision Knocks Stock Values.

New York, March 9.—Wall Street was thrown into a state of demoralization yesterday and many hundreds of thousands of dollars were lost and won within a few minutes when news agencies which serve the financial district misstated the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the stock tax case and declared that stock dividends were taxable.

During the violent declines which followed the misleading report, frightened traders sold almost regardless of value. The hundreds of thousands of dollars forfeited by them were captured on the rebound by others who had refused to sell on the strength of the first and false reports, or who were in ignorance of what was happening.

Make Big Gains.

General Motors was the star performer, gaining 15 points before noon, reacting 11 points on receipt of the erroneous report, and then rising briskly to 301, a net gain of 42½ points.

Crucible Steel was another spectacular feature, gaining 30 points after having shown an actual loss of 10 points. Many other industrial shares closed 5 to 10 points over last week's final prices.

Rails were slow to move, but rose spiritedly in the last hour, when word reached Wall Street that the railroads had won their valuation suit in the Supreme Court over the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Now Distribute Profits.

The belief prevails that many corporations whose dividend policy had remained in abeyance pending the tax ruling will now proceed to distribute profits gained during the last few years among stockholders.

In the case of high-priced stocks this is likely to take the form of a splitting up of shares with "rights" accompanying the recapitalization. In other instances it is probable that increased or extra dividends will be declared.

MAN DUG OUT OF SNOW HORSE AND COW MISSING

Montreal March 7—A farmer of St. Luc, a suburb of Montreal, was taking a sleigh drawn by a team of horses along the Cote St. Luc road on Friday when the sleigh overturned. On it were himself, his hired man and two cows. When order was restored it was found that the hired man, one of the horses and one of the cows were missing. The horse and cow are still missing, but the hired man was dug out of the snow on Saturday morning, apparently little the worse for a night in the snow. It is calculated that the snow on this road is twenty feet deep.

Sims Says U.S. Naval Policy Prolonged War Four Months

OUTCOME WAS UNNECESSARILY JEOPARDIZED BY FAILURE OF WASHINGTON TO ACT PROMPTLY ON RECOMMENDATIONS — CHARGES DANIELS WITH USING PROPAGANDA TO INJURE HIM.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Rear-Admiral Sims today told the Senate Committee investigating the navy's conduct of the war that the failure of the Navy Department to act promptly on recommendations and to place the entire naval resources of the United States at the disposal of the allies within six months after the United States entered the war prolonged the struggle for at least four months. He added that it also unnecessarily jeopardized the outcome. Declaring that 3,000 lives were lost and $100,000,000 spent every day of the war, the admiral said the conclusions from his statement were obvious.

Admiral Sims said his criticisms were directed at the navy's work in 1917 and "had nothing to do with the magnificent way the navy functioned in 1918 after it really got into the war." The navy, he said, was not properly prepared in April, 1917, and the administrative machinery was cumbersome and inefficient. He denied that his statements constituted "an attack" on anyone and characterized as "ridiculous" statements that he was attacking civilian control if the Navy Department, which, he said, was essential 'I am at the end of my career and have nothing to gain and all to lose," said Admiral Sims.

PRO-BRITISH CHARGE

Declaring to the Senate Committee that he had raised questions about the efficiency of the navy, solely because he had felt it his duty to point out errors in naval administration. Admiral Sims said he had been "much embarrassed by implications insubordination and impropriety."

He also vigorously attacked what he characterized as "efforts to convict me of divided allegiance," and of being "pro-British," saying that he happened to be born in Canada because his mother went there on a visit.

"If they didn't want a man who was pro-British and pro-French to sit in the councils of the allies, why did they send a pro-German with a trunkful of bombs?" asked the admiral.

Declaring that he was "sorely embarrassed" by reason of lack of confidence and co-operation from the navy department during the most trying days of the war, Admiral Sims said he repeatedly asked the department to relieve him if he had lost its confidence.

Bay Bridge Discussed By Chamber Of Commerce

SOME NEW ANGLES IN FREE BRIDGE SITUATION DISCUSSED BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS—PUBLIC MEETING SOON—DAYLIGHT SAVING TO BE DISCUSSED AT GENERAL MEETING.

A number of important matters were considered at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Riggs was in attendance and took part in the discussion of the Bay Bridge situation which followed the report of the deputation sent to interview the Hon. F. C. Biggs last week. Owing to the fact that there are a number of new angles to the situation and that there are some details that still remain to be run down, it was decided to collect all the information possible as a result of the new turn of affairs, so that when a public meeting is called to discuss the subject the matter can be laid before the people in some complete form. It is believed that the bridge situation has reached a very satisfactory point and that it will be possible to dispose of the question definitely within a very short time.

Athletic Field.

Mr. George K. Graham, Chairman of the Recreation Committee, reported very favorable progress in the plans under way to secure an athletic field for the coming season. He also laid before the Directors a plan for organizing the various athletic activities of the city under the head of an athletic association and a public meeting to discuss this plan will be called in the near future.

The Forum Committee reported that a general meeting of the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce will be held on Thursday evening, March 18th, to be preceded by a dinner at the Hotel Quinte, for the purpose of discussing Daylight-Saving, the establishment of a Rural Relations Section of the Chamber and also to get the opinions of the members relative to the local link in the Provincial Highway. Some appear to favor the Bridge Street route, while others favor Dundas street as the city link in the highway. An opportunity will be given the advocates of each route to present their case.

Hotel Men Want Concession.

A petition from the hotelmen relative to the general and unrestricted sale of non-alcoholic beverages, was considered at some length, and a reply will be sent to the hotelmen which, it is believed, will be satisfactory to them.

President Bone went into the matter of the Business Profits Tax and a resolution will be drafted to be sent to the Government asking for a modification of the existing tax, and the substitution of some measure that will work out more equitably.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer

LONDON, March 10—Continued postponment of allies' decision with regard to Constantinople is attributed in Peace Conference circles to France and Italy, neither of which countries it is asserted have definitely answered Great Britain's invitation to cooperate in occupying the city. Italy is credited with maintaining reluctance to participate in drastic actions and to be receiving the support of a section of French politicians. Former Premier Briand is said to favor the British proposal, however.

TORONTO, March 10—"It is our sincere desire to make the Ontario Temperance Act effective and to enforce it in such a way that there will be no reaction for we must not jeopardize the permanent cause of temperance in the Province. We are as anxious as you to make the Act effective and we will move to that end as swiftly as possible but with due deliberation." Such was the assurance given by Premier Drury to a deputation of some 250 delegates from the Dominion Alliance Convention who waited upon the Government today asking that action be taken to remove legal difficulties which hamper enactment of temperance legation.

Alliance Will Not Ask For Referendum

Special Despatch to the Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

TORONTO, March 10—The Dominion Alliance in convention this morning unanimously decided that legal difficulties must be removed before it will ask for a Provincial plebiscite. In this the Alliance stands at variance with the Ontario Referendum Committee which has asked for a referendum. No decision has yet been reached by the joint gathering of the Dominion Alliance, Referendum Committee and Alliance Executive which began yesterday. A report of the special committee of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance was presented and passed this morning's session of the convention. The deputation to the government submitted that the present situation in Ontario is perplexing alike to the Government and to the prohibition forces. The Dominion Act known as Bill 26 is admitted to be so surrounded with difficulties as to make its use at the present time inadvisable.

Rev. Ben Spence Pays Tribute To Hearst

Matter of Importation Biggest Question to be Discussed, He Tells Alliance Delegates

With more than 1,200 delegates from outside of the city, in addition to hundreds of delegates from Toronto church, the largest annual prohibition convention in the world will attend the convention in Massey Hall under the auspices of the Provincial Branch of the Dominion Alliance.

"This is a critical time in the history of the temperance movement," said Rev. Ben Spence, the Alliance's general secretary. "The most important question for the convention to consider will be whether or not the Legislature should be asked to bring on a vote in Ontario on the question of stopping the importation of intoxicating liquor, and what amendments for the strengthening of the Ontario Temperance Act should be requested."

Featuring Rev. Ben Spence's annual report are the following statements:

> The past year has marked another epoch in the history of the temperance reform. It was crowded with important happenings and crowned with glorious success.
> No man in the history of the Province of Ontario has rendered more signal service to his Province and country than did Sir William Hearst.
> These three men (Drury, Raney and Nixon) who have most to do with the administration of the Ontario Temperance Act, may be said to be "bone of our bone, flesh of our flesh."
> Bill 27, like the Act it amends, the (Doherty Act) is of little value from a prohibition standpoint.
> It is a matter of great regret that the convention (National Liberal convention at Ottawa) should have yielded to the temptation of side-stepping.

Expressing the pleasure of prohibitionists that Mr. Drury was chosen to lead the new Government, Mr. Spence says:

"The Hon. E. C. Drury, present Premier of Ontario, is a life-long, thorough-going prohibitionist and he has been successful in surrounding himself with a splendid type of public-spirited men. In this connection it would not be making invidious distinctions to mention particularly the able, fearless, conscientious Attorney-General, the Hon. W. E. Raney, and the capable, high-principled Provincial Secretary, the Hon. H. C. Nixon We look hopefully into the future both in the way of enforcing the Ontario Temperance Act and in the making of that measure the most efficient possible agency for the suppression of the evils of intemperance.

Charged With Illtreating Child

KINGSTON, March 9—Warren Hawley, R.M.D., No. 1, Enterprise, will, on March 19th be called upon to answer to a charge of inflicting bodily injuries and criminal neglect to a eleven year-old ward of the Orphans' Home. The case will be heard in Napanee.

On Friday the information was laid by Inspector Robert Martin of the Provincial Children's Aid Society.

It will be remembered that the child was brought to the Kingston General Hospital about two weeks ago suffering from injuries to her back and her feet were badly frozen. After the feet were fozen, heat was evidently applied as the inspection made by the provincial detective service showed that the feet were burned.

It is stated that it is one of the saddest cases ever treated at the Kingston Hospital. The child suffering such pain from the cuts on her back that a cage had to be erected in the bed so as to prevent the bed clothes from touching her body.

The child a ward of the Orphans' Home, was working for Mr. Hawley at the time she is alleged to have received the beating. As soon as the child was brought to the city, the ladies in charge of the Orphans' Home made an investigation with the result that W. F. Nickle, K.C., solicitor for the institution, had Detective A. B. Boyd, of the Provincial detective services go to Enterprise and make an investigation, which resulted in the case being brought before the court.

The child states that she was compelled to sleep in the loft over the shed in the cold weather.

At the present time, the child is able to sit up but it was learned on Saturday morning, that she will be crippled as a result of having her feet frozen and burned.

Since the child has been in the hospital hundreds of citizens have visited her and brought her dainties.

It is expected that when the case is called, the child will be able to go to Napanee to give evidence.

F. W. Barrett, Children's Aid Inspector of Lennox and Addington and Inspector Robert Martin of the Provincial Children's Aid Society, were in consultation in Napanee on Friday, with the result that Inspector Martin swore out the information.

BERLIN, Maren 9—Another anti-allied incident is reported, this time from Bremen. The victims, as in the Hotel Adlon incident were high French officers who are members of the Entente Military Commission. When the Frencamen entered the barracks in Bremen to conduct negotiations with German officers, the accounts ran, the soldiers sang "Deutschland Nber Alles," the singing attracting a large crowd which roughly handled the French when they left the barracks.

Still another incident of similar nature at Bremen is reported by the Vossiche Zeitung. It says that yesterday two French officers and an Italian officer stopped a man wearing a field grey uniform, supposing him to belong to the German army when the man failed to salute them, and that high words followed culminating in blows. A crowd assaulted the allied officers, who were considerably injured before they were rescued by the police.

House-To-House Canvass In West

Soliciting Election Campaign Funds To Oppose the Government

OTTAWA, March 10—Having learned that there is a propaganda afoot throughout their section of the country, some Western members of the House of Commons are contemplating the advisability of issuing a letter to their constituents urging that no attention be paid to the idea of unhesitatingly agreeing to support any candidate put up at the next election by those opposed to the Government.

It is currently reported that there is a house-to-house canvass being carried on in the West at the present time, not only for the purposes of soliciting election campaign funds, but also securing pledges from all parties canvassed that they will here and now commit themselves to the support of a policy that sets itself up in direct opposition to the Government. It is held by some that this is unfair, on the ground that it is committing the electors before an opporunity has been presented for them to secure the programme and policy of the Government.

The letter proposed according to its sponsors, is not desired to influence the opinion of any electors but they term it a request of the people to hold in abeyance any committment that in the future might hamper their rendering an unbiased decision when they have all the facts before them.

Former Prince Under Arrest

Hotel Adlon Culprits to Be Punished States Foreign Minister

BERLIN, March 10—According to the newspapers, the French Charge d'Affaires and Gen. Nollet, chief of the French Military Mission in Berlin, had a conversation with the Foreign Minister regarding the Hotel Aldon incident The Foreign Minister is said to have expressed his regret over the incident, and promised that the culprits would be punished.

It is added that a high Foreign Office official visited Capt. Klein, one of the French party in the hotel at the time of the disturbance, to enquire as to his condition. Prince Joachim Albrecht is said to be under arrest at police prefecture.

The heads of the Inter-Allied Commissions have decided to refer the Adlon episode to the Supreme Council at London for official action. They deem this advisable rather than to remain the subject of negotiations between France and Germany.

For Air Mastery Of The Pacific

Giant Flying Boats Being Built by the United States Navy

NEW YORK, March 10.—The United States Navy is preparing two giant flying boats for the first flight over the Pacific Ocean. The first flight will begin in a few days of two boats nearly twice the size of the N.C.-4, which made the first trans-Atlantic flight.

The proposed route is from San Francisco to Hong Kong, a distance of 7,616 nautical miles. Stops will be made at Honolulu, Wake Island, Guam and Manilla.

It is believed here that Great Britain is constructing a great air boat for a trans-Pacific flight so that the event is likely to be a race for air mastery of the Pacific.

A Rhode Island man has, it is said, invented a system whereby three Liberty motors are coupled to one 18-foot propeller. The new boats will be triplanes with a wing spread of 140 feet a wing area of 6,000 feet, and carrying a crew of 16 men. The hulls will be 67 feet long and the cruising radius estimated at 2,100 nautical miles.

Immediate General Election Defeated In The Commons

MACKENZIE KING'S AMENDMENT CALLING FOR REVISION OF VOTERS LISTS AND GENERAL ELECTION DEFEATED BY MAJORITY OF 34—ELEVEN CROSS-BENCHERS VOTED WITH THE OPPOSITION.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer
Canadian Press Limited

OTTAWA, March 10—By a majority of thirty-four on division in the small hours of this morning the strength of the Government of Sir Robert Borden was settled in the House of Commons. The vote of the members of the House was 112 to 78. It was first taken on the amendment of the Liberal Opposition Leader, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, demanding a revision of the voters' lists and an immediate general election. After the defeat of this amendment the House divided with the vote reversed on the main motion on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Eleven cross benches, largely representative of agricultural parties, headed by Hon. Mr. Crerar, former Minister the Union Government voted with the Liberal opposition.

Important State Documents Fall Into Sinn Fein Hands

MINUTE DATA REGARDING THE GOVERNMENT'S FUTURE PLAN OF ACTION IN IRELAND CONTAINED IN VICEROY FRENCH'S MAIL CAPTURED LAST WEEK.

LONDON, March 10 — Viceroy French's mail, captured by Sinn Feiners last week, included some of the most important State papers, the Dublin correspondent to the Daily Graphic cables. The correspondence, he adds, gives minute data regarding the Governments' future plan of action in Ireland The correspondent continues:

'The Sinn Fein leaders now claim to have arms for 300,000 men and can put 300,000 in the field. Drilling with rifles and band grenades and revolvers is constant throughout the country, and the rebels now possess machine guns.

'Gun-running is not uncommon, but the Sinn Fein organization is so watertight that only in a few cases does information leak out. The leaders claim to have enough ammunition to last three months.

"Personally, I am convinced that the Sinn Fein has the advantage of highly-skilled chemists for explosives in which they are specializing.

"If a rising should come, Europe will have the spectacle of thousands of Irish boys of 16 and 17 years of age fighting. The women also are feverishly busy preparing. I have concluded that there are Sinn Feiners among the members of the Government forces, including detectives, which accounts for the constant leakage of Government secrets to the Sinn Fein organization and the uncanny knowledge of the Government's plans.

Hundreds Dead, Thousands Homeless As Result Of Earthquake

ALL VILLAGES WITHIN A RADIUS OF SIXTY MILES OF THE CAPITAL DESTROYED — SMOKE ISSUING FROM SUMMIT—THOUSANDS OF REFUGEES.

TIFLIS, March 10.—Several hundred persons are dead and thousands of others are homeless as a result of an earthquake which destroyed Makhet, Grakali, and other villages within a radius of 60 miles west of Tiflis. The city of Tiflis was shaken and many buildings were severely damaged.

Thousands of refugees are pouring into Tiflis. The constituent Assembly of the Republic of Georgia immediately voted 20,000,000 rubles for first aid to the sufferers.

The railway betwen Tiflis and Batoum was severely damaged by the earth shock, while the station was absolutely destroyed at Gori, a short distance north-west of Tiflis. The town of Gori was practically wiped out and a hundred dead have already been recovered from the wreckage.

Twenty persons were killed at Uplisjin. Smoke is reported to be issuing from the summit of the mountain where the Monastery of Goris-Djavri stood, and two great sulphur springs have appeared.

Nature's Mirror

When a woman is well and healthy—there's a sparkle in her eyes, a rose tint in her cheeks, and she has rich red blood. After taking nature's tonic which Dr. Pierce called "Favorite Prescription," there's elasticity in every movement and a spring in her step. Love comes to every woman who has bounding health—but when she is pallid, dull eyed, languid, she has no magnetism nor does she appeal to any man.

SAVED A LIFE

Elmira, Ont.:—"I have a very kind feeling for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for it once saved my mother's life. When going through middle age her health failed very fast; she suffered with pain in her head and backache, in fact, she had pains and aches all through her body. She lost weight, was very nervous, would become dizzy and at times faint and fall wherever she chanced to be. This necessitated our watching her all the time, we dared not leave her alone. She was as miserable as one could be and live. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was recommended to her. She took six bottles and was completely restored to good health."—MRS. B. E. Settler Made Good On Small Capital

KAPUSKASING, Ont., March 10—J. P. S. Ballantyne, superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Kapuskasing, testified before the commission that he came into the north country in 1905 for railroad construction work. He had nothing then but a knapsack and $5. In 1913 he took a farm at Hearst and cleared 50 acres at a cost of $60 an acre. His farm was now rented at $600 per year and produced good crops. The same conditions existed at Hearst at at Kapuskasing, witness believed.

"We have the most conclusive evidence at the Dominion Farm that land clearing has a tendency to warm the soil for cultivating,' said Ballantyne. He never saw a better clover country nor better crops of peas, hay and oats than those grown at the Dominion Farm, and said that twelve acres of fall wheat sown in 1918 had yielded a good crop last year.

In 1918 the Dominion Farm crops were all right, but he knew that in the same year the settlers' crops on the other side of the river were frozen

Thomas Multby said he coul dnot make a living at farming on less than 40 acres. He had no compalints personally, as he had received more money for his logs this winter than he expected.

Servant In The House Allegorical Play

Treat of the Theatrical Season in Tyrone Power's Presentation of Religious Drama.

If "The Servant in the House" presented at Griffin's Tuesday night is an indication of the class of productions which the new management of the Trans-Canada Theatres, Limited, intend to present, the residents of Belleville may feel assured that a very high standard will be maintained.

Tuesday night's performance was of especial interest for several reasons. It is the first production made by the Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., the Montreal syndicate whose ambition it is to make the Canadian drama less dependent on the American producer. Furthermore, Mr. Tyrone Power, the star, has not only made his home in Canada for several years, but is willing to devote the remainder of his professional career to serving the interests of the Canadian drama should the field prove genuine for such efforts.

'The Servant in the House' is a reverent effort to deal with such a delicate question as the shortcomings of the church and its servitors, the literal acceptance of the Master's teachings as a gui dto conduct, the dignity of labor and the spirit of brotherhood. Such a remarkable play caused a decided sensation when it first appeared because of the daring experiment of Chas. Rann Kennedy to present as his two central figures a divine personage about whom the author leaves no doubt that it represents Christ in a present day incarnation, and an uncouth and profane drainman. It will be easier to understand why Mr. Kennedy wrote such a play when it is known that he was early intended for holy orders but entered mercantile life and finally was attracted to the stage, that he is a serious student of the drama and of sociology and possesses a deeply religious nature inclining to the mystical.

Mr. Power in his original character of Robert Smith, the drainman, made a deep and lasting impression upon the audience. The human qualities which he imparted to the role, the careful gradations by which he illustrated the transition from the sullen interloper of the first scene to the regenerated character of the conclusion made the characterization one that will not soon be forgotten. Another capital impersonation was that of Manson, the butler, taken by Mr. Harvey Hays, upon whom fell the task of suggesting the divine character of the servant. Although costume and make-up assisted very much Mr. Hays completed the illusion by a sustained dignity and benignity of bearing and subtle touches of gesture. These actors received ovations from the large audience which seemed desirous of hearing a few words from Mr. Tyrone Power.

The remainder of the parts are very competently filled. Mr. Edwin Foster's presentation of the Bishop of Lancashire is a capital study in episcopal worldliness. The spiritual struggles of the vicar are strongly depicted by Mr. Walter Irwin. Miss Alma Chester as the wife, Miss Chelsea Knight as Mary and Mr. Galway Herbert as Rogers, the page boy, an original role, were all eminently successful in their interpretations.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"HUMAN DESIRE"

How a patient man's love may be killed by a woman who is too cold, and how later he may find his ideal in a child of warm, impulsive Italy, is told in "Human Desire," in which Anita Stewart is starred. The scenes of the picture are laid in Italy and in and around New York City. Miss Stewart has the part of a little Italian girl who has been brought up in a convent. She never has seen a real baby, yet she loves babies more than anything else in the world, and daily brings lilies which she lays in the arms of the Frampinnil Madonna, which stands in the convent where she lives. Two American women come there, and she asks them if there are lots in America, and that some of them are cold and hungry. This touches the heart of Bernice, the Italian girl, and she decides that she will go to America, and comfort the cold, hungry babies. So, after a great storm which breaks open the front door of the convent, she escapes and starts. The events that follow will be found most unusual and of unusual interest. Conway Tearle is Miss Stewart's leading man in this picture. A two-reel Big V. comedy, and three other varied plays are also being screened on the same program.

FINAL SHOWING OF ROMANCE OF TARZAN

All the mystery and fascination of life in the untamed jungles is shown in "The Romance of Tarzan" which presents the concluding chapters of the cinema version of Edgar Rice Burroughes' "Tarzan of the Apes" in seven spectacular parts. "The Romance of Tarzan" is being shown at Griffin's tonight for the last time. Troupes of wild apes, lions, tigers, leopards and an elephant of remarkable ragacity support Elmo Lincoln in the role of Tarzan, the white son of an ape Foster-Mother. A two reel Century comedy and other varied plays of interest are also being exhibited on the same program.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE

"Happiness A La Mode' is the title o fthe latest Select comedy featuring Constance Talmadge and Harrison Ford which is being shown at the Palace for the last time tonight. Harold Lloyd is a new comedy "At the Old Stage Door," Ditmar's Animal Study, and "A Rough House Roof Garden," a two-reel Century comedy are also announced for exhibition.

THRILLING WESTERN STORY

Harry Morey is appearing at the Palace tomorrow to Saturday, matinee daily in "For the Honor of Bar X Ranch" another of his beloved blue-shirted roles in which he throws into his interpretation all the power of his intense personality. Besides the above five-act western drama a program of comedy and varied attractions have also been arranged for presentation.

Belleville Man Elected Director

Of Canada National Fire Insurance Co. A Progressive and Prosperous Institution

The ninth annual report of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company, with head office in Winnipeg, Manitoba, is of considerable local interest by reason of the fact that a Belleville citizen, Mr. S. D. Lazier, was one of those instrumental in the formation of this company nine years ago, and takes great pride in the outstanding success of the company from its inception. At the annual meeting recently held, Mr. Lazier was elected to the Board of Directors.

MR. S. D. LAZIER

The ninth annual report of the Canada National Fire Insurance Company is an interesting document from several standpoints one point of interest being the proving that a purely Canadian company, managed by Canadians can be made eminently successful. A glance at the report shows a huge surplus to policy holders of over two million dollars, also $555,000 in Dominion Victory Bonds, and a net surplus to shareholders of nearly $100,000 after paying a dividend of six per cent.

The Canada National Fire Insurance Company is now the largest fire insurance company in Canada and the progress made by the company since its inception is a credit to the wise and progressive management of its officers. Such good progress has been made by the company during the last five or six years, the most strenuous period in the history of the country, that it is not unreasonable to expect, as the report points out, a much larger measure of success for the company in the more prosperous years yet to come.

Mr. Lazier is to be congratulated for his connection with such a live and progressive institution.

WILL AID PROSPECTORS

Cobalt, March 10.—While the first of the year saw a considerable number of changes in the Mining Act of the Province go into effect, it is believed that the coming session of the Ontario House will see a great many further changes made.

The prospector will come in for no little attention when the Mining Institute meets in Toronto this week in the discussion of the attitude of the Canadian Government as regards mining development and the Institute's proposed short course for prospectors such as is to be undertaken by the Manitoba branch.

Northern mining men have received an intimation that the Government proposed to reduce the recording fee to $5 per claim, but that the fee where claims are staked by one person for another will be $15. Heretofore the fee has been $10. It is proposed to make arrangements to produce new blue prints at regular intervals, the Government to provide the facilities and to sell the prints at cost.

A third probable amendment will have to do with making assaying easier.

Collegiate Institute To Be Discussed

Public Will Be Invited to Express Opinions Upon Projects of Board of Education.

Such a city-wide interest is being manifested in the proposed new Coleman Ward public school and the Collegiate Institute, that the Chamber of Commerce, acting in conjunction with the Board of Education, will hold a public meeting at the City Hall on Friday evening, March 12th, at eight o'clock, to discuss the two projects mentioned. A general invitation is extended to the public to attend this meeting and take part in the discussion.

For the past year or more the need of a new school in the Coleman Ward district has been generally recognized as one of the real needs in the development of the city's educational facilities.

Of equal importance is the project to provide for the Collegiate Institute, which has been under discussion for some time, in order that advanced pupils may be properly provided for and adequate facilities furnished for technical instruction. With the operation of the new Compulsory Education Law the school age will be extended to fourteen years, while children up to sixteen must attend the school at least 320 hours a year. It is obvious that the present High School will not be large enough for this increase in the number of scholars and, in fact, it is claimed that the accommodations at the High School are inadequate for even the present demand.

As the Collegiate Institute could not be started for another year, it is believed that the time is ripe to consider the construction of this school so that the necessary plans can be prepared and approved. It will take some months to do this as the Government will have something to say in the matter by reason of the fact that Provincial aid will be forthcoming to aid in the construction and maintenance of the technical and agricultural end of the Institute.

Owing to the importance of these two proposed buildings, it is hoped that all interested citizens will attend Friday evening's meeting so that a comprehensive consideration of the subject can be had and all views properly presented.

SPLIT AMIDSHIPS AND TOTAL WRECK

Sydney, N.S., March 10.—With the steering gear torn away and propeller blades smashed by the ice floes and the force of the gale, the Dominion Coal Company's carrier, Cape Breton, is lying a total wreck on the shore of Scatterie Island, split in two amidships, after battling for five hours with heavy seas in Saturday's storm. Her crew are all safe in Louisburg, with the exception of Captain J. A. Willett, of Sydney and the first officer Pynn, who remained on Scatterie Island to superintend the work of removing personal effects and fixtures from the vessel.

The Cape Breton sailed on Friday from Halifax and near St. Esprit encountered heavy ice floes which disabled her. She was blown ashore at 11 a.m. Sunday morning and was thrown so high upon the shore that the crew were able to land without difficulty.

TRIED TO ENTER THE PRINCE'S GATE

Madrid, March 10.—During the changing of the guard at the palace there was great excitement when a man named Manuel Sanchez dressed in rags attempted to enter the Prince's gate. He was arrested after having resisted strenuously and was taken, shouting, to the station house.

Sanchez declared that he desired to petition King Alfonso to relieve his poverty saying he had nothing on which to subsist. It is believed the man is insane.

Surveyor Dies From Exposure In Northern Quebec

QUEBEC, March 10—Stricken with scurvy while prospecting with a party of explorers and surveyors in the wilds of Hudson Bay, Saul Mercier, 26 years and single, of St. Gregoire, county of Montmorency, was first given what primitive aid a tribe of hunting Indians could imagine to relieve him, then driven over two hundred and fifty miles of snow-covered wilderness on a dog-sled and taken to St. Felicien, Lake St. John district, whence he came to Quebec by train.

He was given all kinds of treatment since he arrived here on Monday last but died last night. The young man had gone up north with a party of surveyors under Mr. Jean Marie Roy and was doing survey work for the Provincial Government. They went through the wild regions of Mistassini Lake Chebogamo, then farther north and were due to reach the shores of James Bay, Hudson Bay region. About two and a half months ago young Mercier fell sick with scurvy; the party had left Quebec early last summer and Mercier says that he felt the sickness creeping into his system, the more he kept on the camp diet of canned and cured meats. When he took sick he stayed in camp under canvas and friendly Indians treated him, but when the malady got the better of him he decided to attempt the trip back to civilization. Then started a trip the equal of which no writer of fiction ever overdid in the most thrilling tales of adventure.

They had about two hundred and fifty miles to cover through utter wilderness on dog-sleds in a season when blinding snowstorms make dog-sled travel almost an impossibility; then came the cold wave that dropped the mercury to 55 degrees below zero in the thermometers. Still the little party of guides and friendly Indians kept on their grind of ten miles a day through the drifts, over frozen lakes, around wind-swept cliffs and through the undergrowth of the bush.

All the while the sickness was gaining on Mercier, who would not give up the trip, but urged his companions on and on until at last, after twenty-one days of agony over the wide expanse of the northern snow, they struck the first signs of civilization and came to the little railroad station at St. Felicien, Lake St. John. There the sick surveyor found a slight improvement in his sad plight. From his long journey in a cramped position on the sled and in the tents that were pitched over him at night, during this incredible plugging through the snow for twenty-one days, Mercier's right leg had grown almost rigid and he found some relief when he boarded the train. He was made as comfortable as possible for his fifteen-hour ride down to Quebec, where his family gave him the best of care. But science could not undo what savage nature and hazardous travelling had done and he died last night.

Mercier highly praised his superiors in the expedition for the precautions and good care they gave him. He said that it was all part of the game, and, like the pioneers of old, he smiled a disdainful smile over his plight, well knowing that the trail blazers of the north are real men and that no weakling finds a place among the uplifters of the sound traditions of those to whom we owe an ever-growing Canada.

WHOLE CITY COUNCIL ON CONTEMPT CHARGE.

Saskatoon, March 10.—All members of the Saskatoon City Council have been served with writs of summons to appear before Mr. Justice E. Haultain in the King's Bench Court here, and show cause why they should not be committed to jail for contempt of court for failure to obey an injunction forbidding maintenance of a nuisance ground in Cory municipality.

The writs are returnable next Thursday. Application for commitment of the officials is instituted on behalf of officials of Cory Council, who some time ago obtained an injunction to prevent dumping of garbage and refuse just behind the west end of the city limits.

Blends Democracy With Regal Pomp

Good Clothing Without Pretension, Keynote of Legislature Opening.

TORONTO, March 10.—As some credulous persons may have been led to expect from anticipatory notices, the attendant throng that witnessed the opening of the fifteenth legislathre of the province of Ontario did not come dressed for the most part in jeans and kitchen aprons. There was in fact no noticeable departure from the efforts of recent years to attach to the ceremony as much of the pretension of fashionable society as possible. The precincts of the legislative chamber were never more crowded and there must have been twice as many invitations issued as the floor of the House and galleries could hold.

The members' seats and emergency benches were given up to ladies, who were all in their best frocks, but the ultra-fashionable note was not detected in a single instance.

The members of the U. F. O. Cabinet in a procession led their wives ceremoniously to their seats, and this incident contributed the only slight suggestion of Cavalleria Rusticana that the new order can be said to have struck.

There were crowded together representatives of girlish good looks, matronly comeliness and the beauty of the white-haired womanhood. Certainly the most lovely type of the old generation was the widow of the late Rev. Dr. Dewart, who sat at the desk of her son, the leader of the opposition. There were no bouquets visible other than the sheaf of red roses carried by Mrs. Clarke, wife of the lieutenant-governor, who, when she entered, escorted by an aide, was greeted with an incipient burst of applause by those who expected the gubernatorial household to come in all together. The great majority of the ladies wore hats, but a few displayed their attractive hair dressing.

Fair Weather Omens.

Premier Drury wore a morning suit, but Hon. R. H. Grant had donned the more formal Prince Albert. The other Ministers came in business suits of dark color. The leading members of the different groups greeted each other with heartiness and all omens seemed to indicate fair weather for the session.

The judges of the province turned out in stronger force than is their custom. The three octogenarians, Meredith, Mulock and Maclaren, sat together. Justice Riddell made himself polite to the ladies and Justices Sutherland, Ferguson, Rose, Hodgins, Masten and Lennox mixed in among other dignitaries. Bishop Sweeney was the most prominent churchman present, and Mayor Church, who came late, had to put up with standing room only.

Across the narrow aisle from Chief Justice Meredith sat License Commissioners Flavelle and Dingman, but others more exalted soon claimed their places and they fell to the rear.

J. J. Morrison, E. W. B. Burnaby, Col. John Z. Fraser and the strong men of the U. F. O. did not emerge from the background of the picture. James Simpson and J. T. Marks were also visible above the far horizon.

Hon. Nelson Parliament, when he appeared in his cocked hat and white gloves after election as Speaker, was as to the manner born and spoke his thanks for the honor conferred upon him in a pleasing even voice.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Clarke also functioned perfectly. His manner is easy and his voice clear but rather low. Though surrounded by a brilliant staff of officers he nevertheless may be said to have united a little of the democratic with the military show.

On the whole yesterday's ceremony was not less spectacular than its predecessors; it attracted a far bigger crowd, and, like the much-heralded closing of Government House by the farmers, was as a social [illegible] but a plausible promise of fancied improvement upon the old order.

OLD TOM MORRIS, OF NEBRASKA.

Nebraska has a rival for that Kentucky mountaineer who is said to be 131 years old. Nebraska's candidate for the honor of being the oldest man in America, if not in the world, is only 125 years old. It is said that he has the old family Bible containing the record of his birth on January 15, 1794, besides other records and proofs. It would seem then, if reports are true, that his age is not a matter of tradition; it is an authenticated fact.

Old Tom Morris, of Westerville, Nebraska, is the man Nebraska puts forward as the oldest man in America. According to a Chicago writer, he has lived in Westerville 33 years. He lived in Harrison county, Missouri, four years; Streator, Illinois, and Blackstone, Illinois, sheltered him for ten years. He was born in Berrew, Montgomeryshire, North Wales, and he remembers when the Duke of Wellington won the battle of Waterloo from Napoleon.

"The only reason I was not with the English at Waterloo was because of an accident to my foot which made me lame for life," Morris used to say. "I wanted to enlist, but the army wouldn't have me. I was lame."

Morris always regretted his inability to be at Waterloo more than anything in the 125 years of his life, except the death of his sweetheart.

According to the result of a number of investigators into claims of extreme old age, doubt is thrown upon all claims to be over one hundred years old; in fact some investigators say that not one claim of a man or woman living to be over one hundred years old has been substantiated in this generation.

Old man Schell, the Kentucky mountaineer who has been exploited as 135 years old, is found upon investigation and examination of records to be only ninety-seven. As a 135-year-old he was a valuable freak attraction for sideshows and fairs; as only 97 he will lose his drawing power.

Barnum was right when he said the American public delight in being humbugged—and also that "One was born every minute." However, it looks as if the real sure enough crop of hundred-year-olds was getting thin on top.

AIR PATROL TO PROTECT FORESTS.

One of the peace-time uses of air-craft is for forest fire patrol. In the United States, experiments have been carried out in some of the Western states, under an arrangement between the Air Service and the Forest Service. These trials produced such promising results in the prompt discovery and reporting of fires that a greatly enlarged program for the current year is under consideration.

Col. H. H. Arnold, of the United States Air Service, has presented to his Government a report recommending that an air patrol be inaugurated to cover all lands, Government, state and private, in western Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California. This would require five complete observation squadrons of 18 planes each, or 90 planes, with pilots, observers and complete squadron equipment, each plane to be equipped with radio sets for sending location of fires discovered, and two planes in each squadron to be equipped with wireless telephone sets and cameras. Operators for wireless stations at bases and sub-bases, and the establishment of pigeon lofts at bases and sub-bases would also be required.

A resolution of the Western Forestry and Conservation Association points out that the use of airplanes to protect the nation's forests gives opportunity for the training of pilots and observers, while serving a purpose which, in itself, fully justifies the expense involved.

The experiments along this line in Canada have been comparatively limited, being confined, during the past summer, to two seaplanes loaned by the Dominion Government to the St. Maurice Forest Protective Association. The Quebec Government has also co-operated by aiding the work with a cash grant.

In Canada, the whole question of the Dominion Government's programme of air services is under consideration by the Aid Board. As the possibilities and limitations of peace-time uses of aircraft have been by no means fully demonstrated, it is logical that the Dominion Government should take the lead, in co-operation with the provinces, as to services of an essentially public character. Experimentation and demonstration are essential if this wonderful new development, resulting largely from the war, is to play its full part in the peace-time development of Canada.

When the full extent of this disastrous experiment is made known it will be well to remember some of the caustic comments made at the time in reference to The Intelligencer's stand upon the question and the personnel of the commentators. The ratepayers "Want to Know" how much money was squandered in the civic fuel experiment, and they have waited a long time for the information.

Among the vacant positions to be filled by the Drury Government is that of the Chairmanship of the T. & N. O. R'y Commission rendered vacant by the resignation of Mr. J. L. Englehart. Many names have been mentioned for this position, but the Government can hardly do better than elevate Commissioner Geo. W. Lee to the position of Chief Commissioner. Commissioner Lee resides in the North Country, is familiar with every phase of the business of the T. & N. O. R'y, and by his ability, courtesy and fair dealing has won the respect and esteem of all who have dealings with the Ontario Government Railway.

(London Daily Telegraph)

America will be a more astonishing country than ever if this law remains permanently in force, and if—which is another proposition—it is strictly administered and punctiliously observed—joints upon which our New York correspondent expresses considerable doubt. It may possibly render the American people more efficient and effective than before, but whether it will make America a pleasanter place to live in remains to be seen. "Fiat experimentum in copore alieno." We shall be well content to watch for a while before rushing to follow so drastic an example. The world has not drunk wine for countless centuries suddenly to throw off so confirmed a habit at the bidding of Transatlantic fanaticism. We like to remember the gentle rebuke offered by an Anglican Bishop to an intemperate advocate of prohibition when he said: "And yet I think that claret is one of the good creatures of God."

The Poet's Corner

SOME DAY
London Daily Mail

Courage, brave heart, for though the cost of raiment,
Even a ditto suit of homely tweed,
Be far beyond your humble powers of payment,
The wind is tempered to the shorn lamb's need.
Though tailors' bills grow noticeably steeper,
Fate dogs the profiteer's unholy way,
And hope proclaims that clothing may be cheaper
Some day.

What though at eve, your daily labor ended,
Weary with bodily or mental strain,
Your last poor energies must be expended
In fighting for a place within the train?
Even amid the racing motors' clangor
Remember, as you wildly lurch and sway,
That there may be a strap for every hanger
Some day!

And taxes, it may be, shall yet be lighter,
Though nought be left by them to tax at all,
And hopes of peace on earth be somewhat brighter
And Bolshevism totter to its fall.
Our leaders' pledges may be honored duly,
Our land made fit for heroes from the fray.
Ah! when that time arrives it will be truly
"Some" day!

The Perfected Blend of Ceylon's Finest Tea

Here is a new tea—the best value the world produces. Lanka—the perfected blend of the finest tea that grows in the hill gardens of Ceylon. It is blended with supreme skill—the flavor is incomparable. The rich sparkling color, the delicious bouquet, proclaim the perfection of Lanka.

But, although this superlatively fine tea hasn't an equal, it costs no more than other good tea. The price of Lanka is but 75 cents a pound. Practically every grocer can fill your order for Lanka Tea. They have seized the opportunity to supply their customers with a tea which surpasses all expectations, that can't be equaled. Because it is imported direct with a saving of freight charges and duty we are able to offer it at a popular price.

Lanka Tea is imported and packed by

FOOD FOR THOUGHT.

It was washing-day, and John had been kept from school to look after the baby. Mother sent them into the garden to play, but it was not long before cries disturbed her.

"John, what is the matter with baby now," she inquired from her washtub.

"I don't know what to do with him, mother," replied John. "He's dug a hole and wants to bring it into the house."

Handle 2,800 Tons Of Nickel A Day

Sanitary Drinking Fountain and Shower Baths in Canadian Nickel Mine

The great underground industrial system by which a daily average supply of 2,800 tons of the world's greatest nickel deposits are extracted and hoisted to the surface at the Creighton Mine, Sudbury District, by 1,300 men working an eight-hour shift, was intimately described by Mr. J. C. Nicholls general superintendent of the International Nickel Company, Limited, of Canada, in an illustrated address before the Canadian Mining Institute at Toronto. The subterranean views of the mine showed that it was a sort of little industrial world in itself, where, in addition to all facilites being provided for the most scientific and expeditious mining operations, every precaution is taken to ensure the maximum of comfort and safety to the men who make possible commercial utilization of an internationally used mineral on which this country has practically a universal corner Sanitary drinking fountains and other conveniences are provided hundreds of feet beneath the earth while overhead are waiting rooms at the head of mine shafts, a dressing-room with hot and cold water and shower baths, a hospital moderuly equipped with X-ray apparatus and other up-to-date surgical and clinical accessories a clubhouse with recreation rooms and dancing parlor and numerous other facilities and accommodations.

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, flossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

Million Pairs Of Shoes Are Needed

Destitute Jewish Children of Eastern Europe Use Rags to Protect Feet From the Cold.

A million pairs of shoes are needed by the destitute Jewish children of Eastern Europe today, according to reports received by the Canadian Jewish Relief Committee from relief workers abroad.

At least that many of the helpless and hungry Jewish youngsters of Eastern Europe are absolutely without footgear of any kind, these relief agents say. Thousands of others have rags sewn around their feet in lieu of shoes.

Several carloads of shoes that formerly belonged to allied soldiers in France were purchased there by the Joint Distribution Committee of Funds for Jewish Sufferers from the War for the Jewish women of Eastern Europe. But it was impossible to buy the shoes in sizes that could be worn by the children, and all others sold in Europe are at a prohibitive price. So a million youngsters are barefoot during the hard winter of Eastern Europe.

There is a great lack of every conceivable kind of clothing, as well as shoes. In Siberia, a common child's costume just now consists of two sacks with holes cut through for hands and feet. In Poland, flour sacks and sugar sacks sent with supplies to the destitute Jews by Jewish relief agencies are all being made over into clothing, and even small salt sacks are pieced together, and used for this purpose.

EARLY CLOSING POINT SETTLED BY JUDGE

Toronto, March 10—In a seven-page judgment, which only the Privy Council has the right to set aside, Judge Marson upheld the city's appeal from the decision of Magistrate Kingsford, which dismissed a prosecution brought under the Grocers' Early Closing By-law and fined the accused in the test case $1.00 and costs. Magistrate Kingsford, in his judgment, was guided by his belief that the by-law which J. W. Curry, K.C., claimed had been passed in bad faith, was ultra vires. In his judgment of yesterday Judge Morson held there was no evidence to entitle him to find there was bad faith on the part of the City Council, the Board of Control and the sub-committee Magistrates and judges, he stated, should be slow to condemn as invalid by-laws passed by the municipalities in the exercise of their powers The question of the reasonableness of a by-law or the fact that it is oppressive and works a hardship and interferes with the liberty of the subject could not be dealt with by the magistrate and were only grounds for consideration on a motion to quash the by-law.

SOCIALISTS TO OPPOSE LABOR

Winnipeg, March 10.—At a meeting of the Socialist Party last night Charles Stewart declared that R. B. Russell, now under sentence for his activities at the strike of June, was their ideal candidate for the next Provincial elections. He stated that in the campaign even the Labor party would be bitterly opposed by the Socialists. He said that Bolshevism as it is in force in Russia looks pretty good to him.

WHISKEY SMUGGLERS

Bridgeburg, March 10.—One thousand dollars in fines were paid by Paul Bush and John Smith of Buffalo in Police Court here, when they were discovered trying to smuggle out of Canada, between sixty and seventy bottles of whiskey in their automobile. The seizure was made by Ontario Policeman James Edwards at the Fort Erie ferry. The whiskey was concealed under the seats, from which the springs had been removed and in other clever ways.

Making Merry

At Mealtime Means Good Appetite, Good Digestion Good Cheer, And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Do You Use Them? If Not Why?

To sit back after a good meal and know there is not going to be sour risings, gas, drowsiness and discomfort is the logical result of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. Most people believe they can trace each attack of indigestion to the something they ate and can still "taste." And it surprises them, invariably, to note how quickly relief comes after using one or two of these tablets. Whether it is highly seasoned food, rich pastry, the heavy hearty foods or some one particular offender the relief comes just the same. Those who are susceptible to attacks of indigestion or dyspepsia should try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets as they supply the stomach with an alkaline effect just as it does naturally when it is working in a perfectly healthy condition.

A glance around the table will likely indicate one or more who plainly look as if they anticipated the dyspeptic's mournful assemblage of distresses shortly after the meal is finished. Many a bon vivant, however, has learned how to leave the table in a happy frame of mind by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets immediately after eating. And whether it was rich soup, pastry, cheese, or dishes usually rated as "heavy" these tablets contain ingredients that digest food, assist the stomach in the work of digestion and supply the alkaline effect that the stomach requires. Thus before you conjure up the troubles that ordinarily would follow eating some favorite dish, try this plan of avoidance.

Or if the trouble is already doing its worst get a 50-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets of any druggist and note how gently and smoothly your stomach settles down to good behaviour.

A "Neponset" Roof or—?

THE roof, exposed as it is to nature's various moods, should receive the greatest consideration—a little extra thought spent on the roof more than pays in years to come.

NEPONSET

plays an important role in "roofing Canada." Thousands of roofs throughout the Dominion are covered with this long-lasting material.

Any person who has used Neponset Paroid will tell you that it is the premier roofing material in Canada. It combines durability with hard wear; is not affected by weather; and compared with the cost of wood and metal shingles, or slate, it is by far the most economical roof you can lay.

The base of Neponset Paroid is a high-grade rag felt, thoroughly impregnated with asphalt, making it positively water-proof and fire-resisting.

Easy to lay—With every roll of Neponset Paroid is supplied sufficient nails and cement with full directions.

There is a Neponset dealer in your district. Write us for his name and a copy of our illustrated booklet "Roofing Canada."

CROWN PROSECUTOR SCORED PROPAGANDA

Winnipeg, March 9.—Propaganda waged by Labor radicals in general and the seven strike leaders in particular was scathingly denounced by A. J. Andrews, Crown prosecutor, when he resumed his speech to the jury. The session lasted only an hour when one of the jurors became ill, so the court was adjourned until 2.30 o'clock this afternoon.

The strike leaders' propoganda advocated a departure from constitutional methods of Government. Andrews to the place where might and cunning superceded right," he said. "The Calgary convention was a comouflage Labor conference. At that meeting radical leaders made the most of a dishonest and pernicious appeal to all pedatory instincts of humanity.

"These Reds were continually preaching to the workers that they were slaves; preaching to them to go out and take that which belonged to others. Instead of preaching contentment, they were always pointing to others who had something more of worldly goods. They would say to the workers 'Look at them riding in autos while you walk, you poor sucker.' Throughout their propaganda there was no word spoken advising political action as a means toward improving their condition. It was force and violence they advocated."

NEAR A PRECIPICE IN LIQUOR ISSUE?

Hamilton, March 9.—George Halcrow, M.P.P., says that the conference of the Government supporters agreed to allow all leaders of groups of fifteen or more members in the Legislature an extra $1,000 a year. He says that Attorney-General Raney announced that there could be no changes in the O.T.A., saying in explanation: "We are dangerously near a precipice and the temperance people are trying to force us over it." Mr. Halcrow thinks a majority of workers do not want the eight-hour day.

SNOW IN NEW ENGLAND HALTS PASSAGE OF THROUGH TRA

Concord, N.H., March 9.—Nearly 360 travelers, bound north, were waiting here for an opportunity to continue journeys with destination as Montreal in some cases yesterday. Little hope was held out of through trains before Wednesday. The Boston & Maine line was opened to Franklin but it took six hours for the first train to cover the 18 miles from this city. Drifts along the line north of Franklin were described as topping the telegraph poles. A single line of track was open for traffic between here and Boston.

MONTREAL PLANS TO SPEND $2,000,0000 ON PUBLIC WORK

Montreal, March 10—The Administrative Commissio is at present studying the plan of public orks for the coming season, submitted to that body by Mr. A. E. Doucet, Director of Public Works. The plan, as outlined in the report, calls for an expenditure of two million dollars in this connection, of which $1,200,000 is for street pavement. The balance is for sidewalks and sewers.

U. S. Airplanes Used At Front "Death Traps"

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Flatly opposing views of the aviation accomplishments of the United States during the war were expressed in Congress during a four-hour session devoted entirely to discussion of divergent reports arising from prolonged investigation of aviation matters by a special committee.

Representative Magee, of New York, who was a member of the committee which investigated aviation expenditure, during the war, declared that not one American-built plane, or regular bombing plane, was produced during the war from the expenditure of more than a billion dollars for aircraft. He said that the 213 American-built planes sent to France were "awkward and dangerous" in service.

Representative Frear of Wisconsin said that investigation had shown inefficiency, irresponsibility and enormous waste of money in the United States aircraft program. The only American-built machines to reach the front, he added, were "notorious death-traps."

Representative Frear said that of 5,000 planes bought from France and other countries, 2,000 were obsolete.

A defence of the air service administration was made by Representative Lea of California, who contended that although the United States had only 213 American-built planes on the front on the day of the armistice, a total of 417 American-built planes went over the German battle lines, and there were 1,620 service planes available for use by American aviators when the armistice was signed.

MILLIONAIRE'S WIDOW SPENT $300,000 FOR TROUSSEAU

Paris, March 9.—The trousseau of Princess Christopher of Greece, formerly Mrs. William B. Leeds, widow of an American millionaire, cost $300,000.

The trousseau contains: 30 morning dresses, 30 afternoon dresses, 30 evening dresses, 12 sport costumes.

Only six of her dresses are tailormade, the princess holding the view that a really smart woman always wears a one-piece dress, never a shirt waist. Her evening gowns are described by experts as startling, especially one of white tulle chiffon spangled with gold, giving the effect of a golden rainstorm, while another particularly stunning dress is of black velvet with the tiniest bodice on record. It has neither sleeves nor a back to it.

DRAYTON IS SILENT ON ANY TAX CHANGE

Ottawa, Ont., March 9—Forecasts of budget proposals must of necessity be in the nature of a guess, inasmuch as it is not the custom of the Finance Minister in whose breast are locked the secrets of probable fiscal or tariff changes, to divulge these secrets until the budget is delivered.

The general belief here is that the Income Tax Act will be amended so as to include corporations among those liable to its incidence. Under the present Act, corporations over a certain capitalization are liable to the income tax, providing such tax would be higher than that under the Excess Profit's Tax. If the Excess Profit's Tax is not renewed provision will likely be made for more effective extraction under the income tax law, of the profits and firms and companies.

FOOD FOR POOR WENT TO HEARST SAYS GOVERNOR

New York, March 9—Governor Smith, in a speech delivered here reopened the campaign which was urged against William Randolph Hearst by many prominent citizens during the war. The governor, in a slashing attack, accused Hearst of diverting to his own use almost $1,000 worth of army food, which, he said, was intended to feed the poor of New York City.

"And I want to see some real newspaper ask him tomorrow whether he paid for it," said the governor, according to reports printed in the morning papers here

PILED-UP BODIES OF DEAD AT STATIONS LIKE CORDWOOD

London, March 8—A party of British officers arriving at Harbin from Omsk and Chita declare that their experiences west of Irkutsk excelled all other previous horrors, says The London Times, Harbin, Manchuria, correspondent in a communication dated February 19.

"Piles of naked, frozen and gnawed bodies of men, women and children were stacked at every station," the correspondent quotes the officers as saying. "The Czechs took the engines from the hospital trains, leaving the sick to perish from cold and hunger."

COBOURG'S FLOATING DEBT

Cobourg Council has applied to the Provincial Legislature for permission to issue debentures to cover the floating debt of that town, amounting to $34,000.

LAD STILL MISSING

The child, John Milso, aged 4 years, who has been missing since Thursday last from its home in Port Hope has not yet been found. The general impression is that the lad wandered to the lake and was drowned.

READY TO OPERATE

The large new factory being erected in Napanee by the Farmers' Dairy Company, of Toronto, is nearing completion, and a good deal of the machinery is in place. In a few weeks the large plant will be in working order.

DAMAGED BY FIRE

Considerable damage was sustained yesterday afternoon by fire to the interior of a small frame residence on Howard street, West Belleville, occupied by a family named Hoard. By prompt action on the part of the fire brigade the building was saved from destruction. An overheated stove was alleged to have caused the fire.

TAX RATE INCREASED

The Peterboro City Council has acceded to the request of the firemen for salary increases. Under the new schedule Chief Grange will receive $2,000, assistant chief Johnson, $1,600, captains $1,500, and firemen $1,350. City Solicitor C. R. Widdifield's salary was increased from $1,000 to $1,500. The city tax rate was fixed at thirty-five mills. Last year's rate was thirty-one mills.

CASE ENLARGED

Before Magistrate Masson this morning George R. Peters was accused of taking a pair of boots and a gold filled watch the property of Herbert Hilliard. The articles have been returned to the owner and Peters stated he had no intention of stealing but took them to use temporarily. The parties are boarders at a house in the city and occupied the same room. The disposition of the case was laid over until tomorrow owing to the absence of the County Attorney from the city.

BROTHERHOOD MOVEMENT

Mr. Harry Whitehorn and Mr. W. G. Hooper will be in Belleville on Sunday next, speaking in the churches on behalf of the World Brotherhood Movement. Mr. Whitehorn is the special correspondent of the "Westminster Gazette" and Mr. Hooper is the well known scientist whose theory that ether is subject to the laws of gravitation is making a stir in scientific circles. Both gentlemen are well informed on most modern subjects of interest.

SPECIAL SERVICES

There was a large crowd at the Methodist Revival Meetings in the Tabernacle Church last evening, and as this Evangelistic campaign progresses it is expected that it will create additional interest and be productive of much good in a spiritual way. The Rev. Dr. Scott delivered the discourse last evening and took as his theme "Spiritual Christianity." It was a sermon full of earnestness and appeal and made many feel in a deeper sense their obligation to themselves and their God. The song service commenced at 7.45 and the meeting closed at 9.15.

BAT INTERRUPTED PLAY

A vagrant bat almost spoiled one of the most impressive scenes during the presentation of "The Servant in the House" at Griffin's Theatre Tuesday evening. The bat flew on the stage brushing against Mr. Harvey Hays, who, in the character of the Spirit of Christian brotherhood, was delivering one of his strongest speeches of the drama. The actor involuntarily stepped back but was not disconcerted in the least. The bat flying low passed out over the footlights almost touching the heads of the audience, distracting attention from the stage and creating some disorder which grew to considerable volume as the creature circled in the gallery. Mr. Hays, recognizing the situation, ceased his declamation and stood quietly until the attention of the audience was again centred upon the stage when he resumed his lines as though nothing had happened.

SALE OF HOLSTEIN CATTLE.

At Mr. Fred S. Parrott's farm, front of Thurlow, about a mile east of the city limits, a sale of twenty-five head of thoroughbred Holstein cattle took place on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended. While no fancy prices were secured, the cattle sold well. Mr. G. A. Brethen wielded the hammer and proved satisfactory. In addition to the cattle, some horses and conveyances were disposed of.

KINGSTONIANS IN HOTEL FIRE

Mr. and Mrs. T. McGinnis, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, of Kingston, who were away for a short vacation, had a very narrow escape when the Hotel Chamberlain, at the well known resort, Old Point Comfort, Virginia, burned down during Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis were staying at the hotel at the time of the unfortunate catastrophe and it is thought that although both parties were fortunate enough to escape without injured, they were forced to leave the burning building before they could save their clothes.

GOOD FOR THE COWS

Graham's Limited have received the following letter from Gordan S. Gooderham, an official of The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada at Clarkson, Ontario, in regard to dried carrots supplied by the Graham Company: "As per my telephone of today I hope that you have sent me along the 200 lbs. by express. 'Please find enclosed cheque for one ton, the 500 that you shipped to me on the 23rd has now been received. You will be glad to hear that a cow that I had on test before the carrots came was milking about 60 lbs. per day, she has now increased to almost 80 lbs. I will let you know further when she finishes her record. In what quantities can I get these carrots because if they keep on doing as well as they are so far, I could do with five or ten ton.'

KINGSTON WOMEN TEACHERS MODIFY SALARY DEMANDS

Kingston, March 10—At a meeting of the Kingston women school teachers it was decided to modify their salary demands to a certain extent in order to come to a compromise agreement with the Board of Education. The teachers who have served the city for longer periods of time will still hold out for the increase of $300 while those who have been teaching in city schools for only a short time less than 18 months will be satisfied with $200.

Social And Personal

Mr. Wm. Carnew, County Attorney, was in Stirling to-day on business.

Mrs. Nelson Parliament received in the Speaker's drawing-room after the opening of the House yesterday, and a very gentle and gracious welcome she gave to each individual who made up the stream of humanity that poured in from the Chamber. Mrs. Parliament wore a charming gown of black charmeuse and black Georgette and silk lace, with touches of blue; her hat of black tulle was trimmed with graceful plumes, and for jewels she wore a string of pearls and tucked a knot of gorgeous red roses into the girdle of her gown. Mrs. Drury, the wife of the Premier, received with her and the newly-elected Speaker, wearing his gown of office, with the rosette at the back of the collar, was also in time to say "How do you do?" The Premier himself stood a little behind the group and as visitors made their way into the room they met the Hon Manning Doherty and his wife, the Hon. R. H. and Mrs. Grant and their daughter, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Biggs and other Cabinet wives. The tea table, decked with roses was laid in the dining-room, and among the bevy of pretty girls who assisted were Miss Drury, the sister of the Premier; Miss Lucy Grant of Hazeldean, daughter of the member for Carleton; Miss Lilliar Case, Picton; Miss Reid, London; Miss Anna Coyne, Brantford; Miss Gertrude Green, Windsor; Miss Edith Jackson, Guelph; Miss Eleda Horning Toronto; Miss Evelyn Cunningham, Belleville; Miss Riggs, Listowel; Miss Thomson, Miss Hay Listowel; Miss Graham and Miss Sutter of Glencoe, and Miss Partridge, Barrie. So great was the crush for a time that it was impossible to find one's friends, but it was a very happy party, with members and wives of other Cabinets comparing old experiences with the new rulers. Miss Norah Whitney, the daughter of a former Premier, looking very charming in a brown frock and toque, being among them. As space is at a premium it will be impossible to duplicate lists and so the list of those noticed on the floor of the House all of whom came in to tea must be the list of guests at Mrs. Parliament's reception also.—Toronto Globe

MRS. ALICE McCLUSKEY, prominent Lewiston woman, who says she wishes she could have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago, as it would have saved her lots of suffering. Declares she is now well and happy and that she wants everybody to know about it.

"I have been trying for twenty long years to find a medicine that would overcome my troubles, but my efforts failed me completely until I commenced taking Tanlac,' was the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Alice McCluskey, residing at No. 66 Park Street, Lewiston, Me., a well-known and most highly respected woman of that city.

"I just feel like I would give the world to meet everyone who suffers as I did and tell them about this medicine. If I could only have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago it would have saved me a lot of suffering and money.

"My principal trouble was in digestion, and for many years I could not eat meat or pastries for I would always suffer afterward. I would most always have a distressed feeling after eating and nothing seemed to agree with me. Then, to add to the rest of my suffering, I contracted rheumatism in my shoulders and hips and the awful pains I suffered can never be told in words. This trouble finally got so bad I could hardly walk and my arms pained me so I could scarcely raise my hands to my head. I even had to give up my housework and was hardly able to get around at all.

"You can imagine how happy I was when, after taking only a few bottles of Tanlac, I found such a wonderful improvement in my condition! Why, it was just the medicine I needed all the time and I continued taking it until now I am perfectly well again. I can truthfully say that I am enjoying as good health now as I ever had in all my life. I have gained about 14 pounds in weight and can again trouble. I don't get tired like I did and after doing my work I can get out and walk for blocks and I feel just fine when I get back home. I earnestly advise everyone who suffers as I did to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

JOHN DAWKINS

The funeral of the late Mr. John Dawkins took place Tuesday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. J. J. Galloway, John St., city, and a number of realtives and friends were in attendance. Rev. Dr. Scott, Pastor of Bridge Street Methodist church, conducted services at the house. The floral emblems were many and beautiful in resign. The bearers were immediate friends of the family.

MYSTERY SIGNALS WILL BE TESTED.

London, March 10.—Organized tests of the mysterious signals supposed to come from some other planet will be made towards the end of April, when Mars reaches the nearest point to the earth, Godfrey Isaacs, director of the Marconi organization, announced today. All Marconi stations will be instructed to watch out for mysterious messages, he said, adding:

"We will try first to discover whether the sounds are picked up in various parts of the world in the same instant, because if so, the theory that they are definite messages from another planet will be enormously strengthened."

INDIANS TO OPPOSE FRANCHISE BILL

Brantford, March 10.—The proposal of the Dominion Government to bring in a bill providing for compulsory enfranchisement and education of the Indians of Canada, meets with the opposition of the Six Nations, of whom some 5,000 are domiciled on the Grand River Reserve near this city. They state that they have not been consulted in the matter, and it is believed that they will oppose the move being applied to them on the ground that they are not subjects of Canada but, by treaty allies of the British Crown, and therefore subject only to the British Crown. On this plea they successfully fought conscription during the war, though the proportion of Indian enlistments was very high.

WHALING COMPANY FORMED

It was a sermon full of earnestness and appeal and made many feel in a deeper sense their obligation to themselves and their God. The song service commenced at 7.45 and the meeting closed at 9.15.

BAT INTERRUPTED PLAY

A vagrant bat almost spoiled one of the most impressive scenes during the presentation of "The Servant in the House" at Griffin's Theatre Tuesday evening. The bat flew on the stage brushing against Mr. Harvey Hays, who, in the character of the Spirit of Christian brotherhood, was delivering one of his strongest speeches of the drama. The actor involuntarily stepped back but was not disconcerted in the least. The bat flying low passed out over the footlights almost touching the heads of the audience, distracting attention from the stage and creating some disorder which grew to considerable volume as the creature circled in the gallery. Mr. Hays, recognizing the situation, ceased his declamation and stood quietly until the attention of the audience was again centred upon the stage when he resumed his lines as though nothing had happened.

OLD BOYS' REUNION COMMITTEE

A general meeting of the Old Boys' Reunion Committees will be held this evening at the Council Chamber, city building.

SALE OF HOLSTEIN CATTLE.

At Mr. Fred S. Parrott's farm, front of Thurlow, about a mile east of the city limits, a sale of twenty-five head of thoroughbred Holstein cattle took place on Tuesday afternoon and was largely attended. While no fancy prices were secured, the cattle sold well. Mr. G. A. Brethen wielded the hammer and proved satisfactory. In addition to the cattle, some horses and conveyances were disposed of.

KINGSTONIANS IN HOTEL FIRE

Mr. and Mrs. T. McGinnis, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham, of Kingston, who were away for a short vacation, had a very narrow escape when the Hotel Chamberlain, at the well known resort, Old Point Comfort, Virginia, burned down during Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Cunningham and Mr. and Mrs. McGinnis were staying at the hotel at the time of the unfortunate catastrophe and it is thought that although both parties were fortunate enough to escape without injured, they were forced to leave the burning building before they could save their clothes.

GOOD FOR THE COWS

Graham's Limited have received the following letter from Gordan S. Gooderham, an official of The Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada at Clarkson, Ontario, in regard to dried carrots supplied by the Graham Company: "As per my telephone of today I hope that you have sent me along the 200 lbs. by express. 'Please find enclosed cheque for one ton, the 500 that you shipped to me on the 23rd has now been received. You will be glad to hear that a cow that I had on test before the carrots came was milking about 60 lbs. per day, she has now increased to almost 80 lbs. I will let you know further when she finishes her record. In what quantities can I get these carrots because if they keep on doing as well as they are so far, I could do with five or ten ton.'

KINGSTON WOMEN TEACHERS MODIFY SALARY DEMANDS

Kingston, March 10—At a meeting of the Kingston women school teachers it was decided to modify their salary demands to a certain extent in order to come to a compromise agreement with the Board of Education. The teachers who have served the city for longer periods of time will still hold out for the increase of $300 while those who have been teaching in city schools for only a short time less than 18 months will be satisfied with $200.

Social And Personal

Mr. Wm. Carnew, County Attorney, was in Stirling to-day on business.

Mrs. Nelson Parliament received in the Speaker's drawing-room after the opening of the House yesterday, and a very gentle and gracious welcome she gave to each individual who made up the stream of humanity that poured in from the Chamber. Mrs. Parliament wore a charming gown of black charmeuse and black Georgette and silk lace, with touches of blue; her hat of black tulle was trimmed with graceful plumes, and for jewels she wore a string of pearls and tucked a knot of gorgeous red roses into the girdle of her gown. Mrs. Drury, the wife of the Premier, received with her and the newly-elected Speaker, wearing his gown of office, with the rosette at the back of the collar, was also in time to say "How do you do?" The Premier himself stood a little behind the group and as visitors made their way into the room they met the Hon Manning Doherty and his wife, the Hon. R. H. and Mrs. Grant and their daughter, Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Biggs and other Cabinet wives. The tea table, decked with roses was laid in the dining-room, and among the bevy of pretty girls who assisted were Miss Drury, the sister of the Premier; Miss Lucy Grant of Hazeldean, daughter of the member for Carleton; Miss Lilliar Case, Picton; Miss Reid, London; Miss Anna Coyne, Brantford; Miss Gertrude Green, Windsor; Miss Edith Jackson, Guelph; Miss Eleda Horning Toronto; Miss Evelyn Cunningham, Belleville; Miss Riggs, Listowel; Miss Thomson, Miss Hay Listowel; Miss Graham and Miss Sutter of Glencoe, and Miss Partridge, Barrie. So great was the crush for a time that it was impossible to find one's friends, but it was a very happy party, with members and wives of other Cabinets comparing old experiences with the new rulers. Miss Norah Whitney, the daughter of a former Premier, looking very charming in a brown frock and toque, being among them. As space is at a premium it will be impossible to duplicate lists and so the list of those noticed on the floor of the House all of whom came in to tea must be the list of guests at Mrs. Parliament's reception also.—Toronto Globe.

POST TOASTIES

MRS. ALICE McCLUSKEY, prominent Lewiston woman, who says she wishes she could have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago, as it would have saved her lots of suffering. Declares she is now well and happy and that she wants everybody to know about it.

"I have been trying for twenty long years to find a medicine that would overcome my troubles, but my efforts failed me completely until I commenced taking Tanlac,' was the remarkable statement made recently by Mrs. Alice McCluskey, residing at No. 66 Park Street, Lewiston, Me., a well-known and most highly respected woman of that city.

"I just feel like I would give the world to meet everyone who suffers as I did and tell them about this medicine. If I could only have gotten Tanlac twenty years ago it would have saved me a lot of suffering and money.

"My principal trouble was indigestion, and for many years I could not eat meat or pastries for I would always suffer afterward. I would most always have a distressed feeling after eating and nothing seemed to agree with me. Then, to add to the rest of my suffering, I contracted rheumatism in my shoulders and hips and the awful pains I suffered can never be told in words. This trouble finally got so bad I could hardly walk and my arms pained me so I could scarcely raise my hands to my head. I even had to give up my housework and was hardly able to get around at all.

"You can imagine how happy I was when, after taking only a few bottles of Tanlac, I found such a wonderful improvement in my condition! Why, it was just the medicine I needed all the time and I continued taking it until now I am perfectly well again. I can truthfully say that I am enjoying as good health now as I ever had in all my life. I have gained about 14 pounds in weight and can again trouble. I don't get tired like I did and after doing my work I can get out and walk for blocks and I feel just fine when I get back home. I earnestly advise everyone who suffers as I did to take Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Belleville by Ostrom's Drug Store and by the leading druggists in every town.

The floral emblems were many and beautiful in resign. The bearers were immediate friends of the family.

MYSTERY SIGNALS WILL BE TESTED.

London, March 10.—Organized tests of the mysterious signals supposed to come from some other planet will be made towards the end of April, when Mars reaches the nearest point to the earth, Godfrey Isaacs, director of the Marconi organization, announced today. All Marconi stations will be instructed to watch out for mysterious messages, he said, adding:

"We will try first to discover whether the sounds are picked up in various parts of the world in the same stant, because if so, the theory that they are definite messages from another planet will be enormously strengthened."

INDIANS TO OPPOSE FRANCHISE BILL

Brantford, March 10.—The proposal of the Dominion Government to bring in a bill providing for compulsory enfranchisement and education of the Indians of Canada, meets with the opposition of the Six Nations, of whom some 5,000 are domiciled on the Grand River Reserve near this city. They state that they have not been consulted in the matter, and it is believed that they will oppose the move being applied to them on the ground that they are not subjects of Canada but, by treaty allies of the British Crown, and therefore subject only to the British Crown. On this plea they successfully fought conscription during the war, though the proportion of Indian enlistments was very high.

WHALING COMPANY FORMED

BARBER—PENNY

At the Tabernacle Church Parsonage in this city, a wedding was solemnized last evening, by Rev. W. Elliott. The groom was Mr. Charles Barber and the bride Miss Minerva Penny, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Penny of this city. The bride was assisted by Miss Mary Palmateer whilst Mr. Garfield Penny, a brother of the bride, did honors for the groom. The young couple will make their home in Chicago. Their many friends in this city will wish them every happiness and prosperity.

FORESTS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Speaking at the Royal Canadian Institute, Toronto, Prof. C. D. Howe, of the Faculty of Forestry, University of Toronto, stated that the continued neglect to conserve the forest resources of the country would mean still further increase in the cost of living. He said that one-half to two-thirds of the forest wealth of Canada had been destroyed in the past 75 years. There were 1,900,000 square miles of forest in Canada.

By the aid of a clearly defined map he showed the regions of Canada that were productive and non-productive of the commercial timber. He stated that 1,600,000 square miles of the Dominion were incapable of producing forests of a commercial value.

Murphy Again Seeks Spot Light

OTTAWA, March 9—Parliament today for the third time in two years, listened to Hon. Charles Murphy, Liberal member of Russell, make a stinging attack on Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Privy Council. Mr. Murphy made a multitude of charges, practically all of which have been ventilated previously. The President of the Privy Council, speaking subsequently, categorically denied all the allegations of Mr. Murphy. Several times Mr. Rowell stirred up more than usual enthusiasm among Government supporters at the manner in which he dealt with Mr. Murphy and the Russell member's statements. The galleries and floor of the House tonight were crowded.

Mr Murphy Was Absent

Mr. Murphy tonight committed the same offense that Mr. Rowell was criticized for previously. The former took the whole afternoon to make the attack on Mr. Rowell, although in closing he also severely castigated t Orange Order and read a confidential circular of March 1, 1918.

On a former occasion, when Mr. Murphy spoke at night and first made his charges, Mr. Rowell was not present, although he had been in the afternoon. When Mr. Rowell took the ground that an unfair advantage had been taken of him, Mr. Murphy retorted that the President of the Council should not have absented himself. Although it was just six o'clock when Mr. Murphy concluded his speech this afternoon, Mr. Rowell formally rose to proceed. He was given a tremendous reception by Government supporters The House then rose for dinner.

It was after 8 o'clock before the night session resumed and Mr. Murphy was not in his seat, and did not take his place until just after Mr. Rowell concluded.

Landed property would pay six per cent., agricultural profits ten per cent., and salaries six per cent., with an exemption for Paris of the first six thousand francs.

RITCHIE'S

SPRING OPENING

Your presence is requested Tomorrow at our official Opening Display of

Styles for Spring

Because of the pointedly different character of the 1920 fashions, this Opening is a highly instructive exhibition. An entirely new influence is evident. The new ideas in apparel, millinery and accessories of Dress reveal a vast difference from those of past seasons. Every section of the store is ablaze with the new goods and we will welcome your presence on these Opening Days.

AN UNPRECEDENTED

Showing of Millinery

The Art of Millinery is delightfully expressed in the Spring Hat models that have emerged from our workrooms for the Opening Days—Hats that are inspired by all that is best in the latest Parisian importations. The new Hats are gleaming. They are bright with flowers and fruits and bright surface straws or glossy satin. There is not a popular shape or model but is prominently conspicuous in these Spring Opening displays. We will not attempt to describe them; but come in and look around. Come tomorrow, if at all possible!

New Style Features

YOU'LL SEE ON OPENING DAYS

THE NEW DRESSES show mostly low necks, short sleeves and short skirt lengths. You'll see them displaying these and many other clever characteristics in all the accepted fabrics. Priced from $25.00 to $115.00.

THE BLOUSE DEPARTMENT offers for your seeing many delightful new styles that have just come to hand in time for opening—showing sheer Silk Crepes, Georgettes, Wash Satins, Voiles, etc., priced $4.00 to $20.00.

SEPARATE SKIRTS are shown in a great variety of treatments this season. Many novel effects are shown that are developed of Serges, Taffetas, Fancy Tweeds and Novelty Silks in Plaids and Fancy Designs. The accordeon and box pleated styles are especially popular. Priced $7.50 to $42.50.

Quite apart from the Suits of other seasons are the new models that are here for Opening Days. Just to see these new garments will be an education in Suit styles for Spring—and we would welcome the opportunity of showing you. Prices $35.00 to $100.00.

Don't Fail to See the Extensive Exhibit of Artistic Furniture --2nd Floor

A VISIT TO THE 3rd FLOOR

Just to walk through this department on Opening Days is an education to home lovers, and the displays are sure to impart many artistic ideas to anyone at all interested in "Dressing Up" the home. Several new window drapes are on exhibition. Scores of new Pedestal and Table Lamps, Metallic Table Lamps, Chesterfields, Reed Furniture and Rugs in the most wanted colorings, patterns and qualities. We would ask our guests on Opening Days not to leave the store until they have seen this most interesting display of homefurnishings.

THE RITCHIE COMPANY LIMITED

EDITORIAL

WE were just thinking this morning as we walked from department to department how really instructive and pleasing it was to look at and feel the new when they are fresh and new. We thought again how nice it would be if we could have all our friend see this splendid assortment of new Spring merchandise; for to do so one would never think there was any great shortage in merchandise. But the fact is obvious. Goods are scarce, indeed — but not at Ritchie's.

In making Spring selections we have adhered strictly to those fundamental principles by which our store is so well known: Exclusiveness, Style, Quality and Dependableness. This applies not only to wearing apparel, but to everything that this big store sells. We would like to have you come in this week, during the opening days if possible; but in any case come in soon and view the new goods that are displayed for your easy seeing in the various departments.

FORESTS DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Speaking at the Royal Canadian Institute, Toronto, Prof. C. D. Howe, of the Faculty of Forestry, University of Toronto, stated that the continued neglect to conserve the forest resources of the country would mean still further increase in the cost of living. He said that one-half to two-thirds of the forest wealth of Canada had been destroyed in the past 75 years. There were 1,900,000 square miles of forest in Canada.

By the aid of a clearly defined map he showed the regions of Canada that were productive and non-productive of the commercial timber. He stated that 1,600,000 square miles of the Dominion were incapable of producing forests of a commercial value.

Murphy Again Seeks Spot Light

OTTAWA, March 9—Parliament today for the third time in two years, listened to Hon. Charles Murphy, Liberal member of Russell, make a stinging attack on Hon. N. W. Rowell, President of the Privy Council. Mr. Murphy made a multitude of charges, practically all of which have been ventilated previously. The President of the Privy Council, speaking subsequently, categorically denied all the allegations of Mr. Murphy. Several times Mr. Rowell stirred up more than usual enthusiasm among Government supporters at the manner in which he dealt with Mr. Murphy and the Russell member's statements. The galleries and floor of the House tonight were crowded.

Mr Murphy Was Absent

Mr. Murphy tonight committed the same offense that Mr. Rowell was criticized for previously. The former took the whole afternoon to make the attack on Mr. Rowell, although in closing he also severely castigated t Orange Order and read a confidential circular of March 1, 1918.

On a former occasion, when Mr. Murphy spoke at night and first made his charges, Mr. Rowell was not present, although he had been in the afternoon. When Mr. Rowell took the ground that an unfair advantage had been taken of him, Mr. Murphy retorted that the President of the Council should not have absented himself. Although it was just six o'clock when Mr. Murphy concluded his speech this afternoon, Mr. Rowell formally rose to proceed. He was given a tremendous reception by Government supporters The House then rose for dinner.

It was after 8 o'clock before the night session resumed and Mr. Murphy was not in his seat, and did not take his place until just after Mr. Rowell concluded.

RITCHIE'S

SPRING OPENING

Your presence is requested Tomorrow at our official Opening Display of

Styles for Spring

Because of the pointedly different character of the 1920 fashions, this Opening is a highly instructive exhibition. An entirely new influence is evident. The new ideas in apparel, millinery and accessories of Dress reveal a vast difference from those of past seasons. Every section of the store is ablaze with the new goods and we will welcome your presence on these Opening Days.

AN UNPRECEDENTED

Showing of Millinery

The Art of Millinery is delightfully expressed in the Spring Hat models that have emerged from our workrooms for the Opening Days—Hats that are inspired by all that is best in the latest Parisian importations. The new Hats are gleaming. They are bright with flowers and fruits and bright surface straws or glossy satin. There is not a popular shape or model but is prominently conspicuous in these Spring Opening displays. We will not attempt to describe them; but come in and look around. Come tomorrow, if at all possible!

New Style Features

YOU'LL SEE ON OPENING DAYS

THE NEW DRESSES show mostly low necks, short sleevesand short skirt lengths. You'll see them displaying these and many other clever characteristics in all the accepted fabrics. Priced from $25.00 to $115.00.

THE BLOUSE DEPARTMENT offers for your seeing many delightful new styles that have just come to hand in time for opening—showing sheer Silk Crepes, Georgettes, Wash Satins, Voiles, etc., priced $4.00 to $20.00.

SEPARATE SKIRTS are shown in a great variety of treatments this season. Many novel effects are shown that are developed of Serges, Taffetas, Fancy Tweeds and Novelty Silks in Plaids and Fancy Designs. The accordeon and box pleated styles are especially popular. Priced $7.50 to $42.50.

Quite apart from the Suits of other seasons are the new models that are here for Opening Days. Just to see these new garments will be an education in Suit styles for Spring—and we would welcome the opportunity of showing you. Prices $35.00 to $100.00.

Don't Fail to See the Extensive Exhibit of Artistic Furniture
--2nd Floor

A VISIT TO THE 3rd FLOOR

Just to walk through this department on Opening Days is an education to home lovers, and the displays are sure to impart many artistic ideas to anyone at all interested in "Dressing Up" the home. Several new window drapes are on exhibition. Scores of new Pedestal and Table Lamps, Metallic Table Lamps, Chesterfields, Reed Furniture and Rugs in the most wanted colorings, patterns and qualities. We would ask our guests on Opening Days not to leave the store until they have seen this most interesting display of homefurnishings.

EDITORIAL

WE were just thinking this morning as we walked from department to department how really instructive and pleasing it was to look at and feel the new when they are fresh and new. We thought again how nice it would be if we could have all our friend see this splendid assortment of new Spring merchandise; for to do so one would never think there was any great shortage in merchandise. But the fact is obvious. Goods are scarce, indeed — but not at Ritchie's.

In making Spring selections we have adhered strictly to those fundamental principles by which our store is so well known: Exclusiveness, Style, Quality and Dependableness. This applies not only to wearing apparel, but to everything that this big store sells. We would like to have you come in this week, during the opening days if possible; but in any case come in soon and view the new goods that are displayed for your easy seeing in the various departments.

Canadian Navy Unit Suggested By Jellicoe

FOR PROTECTION OF CANADIAN PORTS ADMIRAL JELLICOE SAYS THREE LIGHT CRUISERS, ONE FLOTILLA LEADER, TWELVE TORPEDO CRAFT, EIGHT SUBMARINES AND PARENT SHIP, ARE NECESSARY.

OTTAWA, March 11.—"If Canada desires to co-operate in the general naval needs of the Empire it may be convenient to possess a basis on which to build up her fleet.

"The basis suggested under these conditions is a fleet-unit which, it is considered that war experience has shown should comprise in the case of Canada—one battle cruiser, two light cruisers, six destroyers, four submarines and two floating mine sweepers.

"The naval force suggested as adequate purely for the protection of Canada's ports comprises three light cruisers, one flotilla leader, twelve torpedo craft, eight submarines, with one parent ship."

The above excerpts from the report of Viscount Jellicoe, Admiral of the Fleet, on the naval mission to Canada, which was tabled in the Commons by Hon. C. C. Ballaytyne, Minister of the Naval Service, indicate what this eminent authority on naval affairs considers are Canada's naval requirements if she is to play her part in Empire affairs, and also if she is to protect her own shores.

NOT A LONG REPORT.

The report, which is not a lengthy one, after mentioning the subjects on which advice was requested by the Government of Canada, deals with the question of a Canadian navy under a number of specific heads. It mentions that naval assistance in the shape of cruisers, destroyers and other small vessels during the last eighteen months of the war by the United States, was of great help in the institution of the system of protecting trade by convoy, and that without this help Great Britain would only have been able to use convoys to a sufficient extent to meet the submarine menace by abandoning some of her overseas expeditions.

Four suggestions, ranging from a twenty-five million dollar fleet, to one costing five million dollars, are made by Admiral Jellicoe in his report.

Although he does not state specifically what would be the cost of the fleets recommended for Canada, as given above, he includes a table in his report which shows the cost of the various vessels mentioned. It places the cost and maintenance of a battle cruiser at four million pounds, or approximately twenty million dollars, and that of a light cruiser at approximately $2,500,000. He emphasizes the importance of air work in the navy, stating that any navy to be complete must use the proper implement of air craft.

Under the heading of "administration," the report states that "it is impossible to omit mention of the advantages that result from keeping the naval service outside the region of party politics. It recommends the administration of the navy by a Canadian Naval Board, more or less along the lines of the militia council at present in existence. It expresses the view that there should be a minister for the navy, and exclusively responsible for that service, and that the other sea-faring affairs should be conducted by another Minister.

The Minister of Naval Affairs would be responsible to Parliament, and the administration proposed would place the final control of the navy under civil authority.

Admiral Jellicoe goes into the question of personnel and discipline.

He makes recommendations with regard to rates of pay and pensions, for officers and men. He also recommends the continuation of the Royal Naval Canadian Volunteer Reserve, under the title of Royal Canadian Naval Reserve.

Chaos In The Wake Of Denikines Army

Bodies of Men, Women and Children Hanging From Telegraph Poles

LONDON, March 11.—Chaotic conditions in the wake of General Denikine's army as it retreated in South Russia before the Bolsheviki are vividly described by a non-commissioned officer with the British expeditionary force. The British soldier had been as far north as Taganrog, on the Gulf of Taganrog, an arm of the Sea of Azov.

"Never have I seen or participated in such a scramble in my life," the soldier wrote in a letter to the Daily News, telling of the flight. "We were lucky to get away at all; and the worst feature of the whole business was that the townspeople of Taganrog turned Bolsheviki to a man at the finish. They looted everything, even taking away the switchboard from the telephone room at great headquarters.

"At Rostov things were worse. The engine drivers had to be bribed with rum and food to proceed further down the line. The streets of Rostov were swept by hailstorms of machine gun fire while the bodies of men, women and children who had been hanged on telegraph posts and trees by the retreating Denekine army were awful to see. The pleading voices and appealing faces of those who could not be allowed on the train were pitiful. The whole scene was enacted in a blizzard of snow and sleet, so you can imagine the plight of the women and children.

"This place is nothing more than a den of thieves. The weather is still pretty severe, but despite this the men are turned out into open sheds and called upon to give up beds and bedding for the refugees. Many men have had to walk about all night in their fur coats in order that these Russians clad, by the way in our uniform might occupy their beds.

"One of the hill brigands attacked a sergeant and myself the other morning on the way to breakfast, and "it whistled a bit." This morning he repeated the dose, but we buried him this afternoon with his boots and fur cap on.

Wood Alcohol Causes 2 Deaths

London Man and Brother Succumb After Taking Poison Beverage

LONDON, Ont., Mrach 11.—Bert Piper, aged 41 of London, and his brother of Exeter, died as a result of drinking wood alcohol here. The Exeter man came to the city [illegible] brief visit and while with his brother both partook of the poison beverage. John left London at 4.40 in the afternoon apparently unaffected by the drink during the night. Bert, who lived with his sister at 222 Talgot Street became violently ill, and his death resulted at 7.45 a.m. When his sister telephoned to Exeter to communicate with John, she learned that he, too, had died within the hour. The Exeter man had made his home with his mother, but she was visiting in London, and he was alone when he succumbed. His body was found by those who attempted to deliver the message from his sister in London. Coroner Ferguson, who investigated the London case, concluded that an inquest was unnecessary.

JAPAN IGNORES RED OFFER

Tokio, March 10—The diplomatic advisory council decided to ignore the peace offer recently made by the Soviet Government of Russia.

Party Caucus Will Approve Borden Policy

OTTAWA, March 10—The Government caucus on Thursday will adopt the policy of the National Liberal-Conservative party that was announced by Sir Thomas White. Last November Sir Robert Borden submitted to his supporters for their consideration his views on national issues. Since then the Cabinet has carefully reviewed this memorandum, making certain additions and modifications, but not materially altering the proposals of the Prime Minister. They will be submitted to the Government caucus on Thursday with the unanimous endorsation of the Cabinet. Union on a party name and policy has been accomplished in the Cabinet, and will, with few, if any defections, be accepted by the Unionist supporters in Parliament and on this policy, after a census and redistribution, the National Liberal-Conservative party will appeal to the electorate for endorsation.

Interest is chiefly centred in the fiscal resolution. It has been carefully revised, and though the principle of a revenue tariff is adopted, it is very indefinite on the protection to be afforded by the tariff. It leaves a wide latitude for support.

Definite adherence to the United Farms by some of the farmer Unionist supporters will decrease the attendance. Last year such members as Dr. Clark, J. A. Maharg and others were invited to the Unionist caucus and many of them attended, even after breaking with the Government on the fiscal issue. To the present caucus invitations have not been extended to members of the third party nor to Major Andrews, Centre Winnipeg, clearly indicating that the line of political cleverage for the future is the fiscal issue.

Will Oppose Purchase

The Government's proposal to absorb the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway into the National Railway system will meet with opposition in the Commons, but the big fight against this acquisition will be made in the Senate. If the bargain had included the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway, the other section of the McArthur system, it is doubtful if the Government could have received the endorsation of Parliament. With this eliminated, much of the criticism has been silenced. Government ownership and operation of railways is a doubtful experiment, but if it is to succeed at all, there must be feeders to the Transcontinental. The Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway taps the Peace River Country, rich in agricultural, minerals and timber resources. The development of this huge area mean great traffic to the road which the Government now seeks to acquire ,and the system including this road will acquire a valuable feeder for a transcontinental system. With two Government lines the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, paralleling each other from Winnipeg to Edmonton, all possible traffic will be required to change them from national liabilities to national assets. One argument being used in favor of the Government proposal is to keep the Canadian Pacific from acquiring the McArthur system, but there is no evidence that this great railway desires further extensions in Northern Alberta.

Labor Stands by Tariff

Interest is chiefly centred on the attitude of labor and eastern farmers on the fiscal question. Local trades union council indicate that there is no doubt but labor will stand fast by Canadian industry. Labor is prosperous and standing steady, and labor leaders are freely expressing the opinion that the disappearance of tariff protection means disaster to them. It is understood that even more definite expressions of opinion on this subject will be forthcoming from labor leaders and labor councils. Ontario farmers are, according to information received here, seriously considering the tariff question. Statistics secured show that under similar conditions farmers in Ontario are more prosperous than those in the United States. Mortgages and chattel mortgages have decreased in a much greater degree than in the United States. In certain parts of Western Canada, farmers' commercial organizations are not showing anticipated results, and there is threatened disruption in their ranks. It is believed that the main attack on the fiscal policy has been delivered, and that the agitation against protection is rapidly spending its strength.

Wants To Know Does Hartley D.

TORONTO, March 11.—H. H. Dewart, Liberal leader, lost no time in raising his voice in the fifteenth Parliament. When the local House opened Mr. Dewart inquired of Premier Drury whether the latter had received or asked for the resignation of Hon. I. B. Lucas, as a Hydro commissioner.

"The opinion prevails," said Mr. Dewart, "that, as a member of the defeated Hearst Government, he rather clings to that office. This matter, to some extent, involves a question of patronage. Some honorable members, to judge from their recent utterances, may not know what patronage means. I submit that it might be perfectly fair, that, with a representative of the Conservatives of the Province head of the commission, in the person of Sir Adam Beck, Hon. Col. Carmichael, representing the Government, the Premier should accept representations from us to name a Liberal as the third member of the commission.

Ex-Kaiser's Cousin Still In Custody

Chief Aide in "Battle of the Adlon" Cannot Be Found, However

BERLIN, March 11.—"Deutschland uber allies" has sustained a disastrous defeat, though by numerical superiority the Germans won a victory over four members of the French mission in the "battle of the Adlon," as the riot in the big hotel's dining room Saturday night is popularly referred to by the press here.

Minister of Defence Noske forbade the playing of this air in the A[illegible]n or in any other public dining rooms in Berlin. It was the refusal of the Frenchmen to stand up when the air was played that led to the fracas in the Adlon.

Prince Joachim Albrecht of Prussia the ex-Kaiser's cousin, is still under arrest. The warrant for the arrest of his chief aide in the row, Captain von Platen, has not yet been served because the captain cannot be found. Prince Joachim has made a statement to the press that he had no part in the "battle," but this did not deter the Vorwaerts from printing a violent attack on "reactionary insolence," under the heading, "Drunken Prince Thrashes Respectable People," an official investigation into the fracas is under way.

The French officers involved in the affair indignantly deny that there was any intention on their part to show discourtesy, declaring "that Deutschland uber allies" is not officially the national air of Germany, and that therefore they saw no reason for standing up when it was played.

(Note—Hitherto the official German national air has always been "Heil dir im siegerkranz," the tune of which is the same as that of "God Save the King.")

The democratic and socialist newspapers vigorously denounce the attack on the Frenchmen and seize upon it to strike at the rising of the nationalistic sentiment in Germany. In nationalistic circles the incident is regretted as coming at a moment when Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's candidacy for the rational presidency is announced.

Ulster Wins If Irish Bill Is Adopted

Carson Says Unionists Get Without Fighting What Covenant Demands

BELFAST, March 10—Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist Leader, during the course of a speech to-day said that if the present Home Rule bill passed, Ulster won. They would be lucky, he added, in getting without fighting what they had covenanted to fight for.

If the bill had included the whole of Ulster, said Sir Edward, they would have had to oppose it tooth and nail; then, if it were rejected, the 1914 act would come into force and they would have a Home Rule Parliament in Dublin.

Instruct Members

The Ulster Unionist Council accepted Sir Edward Carson's advice to it to the effect that it acquiesces in the six-county Ulster proposal in the Government's Home Rule Bill. They have instructed their Parliamentary representatives, however, that they are to vote for, not against, the second reading of the bill and to try and amend it further in committee in the interests of the Unionists.

PAROLED GERMAN CLAIMS MILLIONS

Seattle, March 11.—Announcement that he would attempt to recover property in Canada said to be worth between six and eight million dollars and which was taken by the Canadian Government during the war, was made on his arrival here from Salt Lake City yesterday by Alvo von Alvensleben, recently paroled from the Federal prison at Fort Douglas, Utah, where he was interned as an enemy alien. The property is located in British Columbia. He will not attempt to enter Canada but will negotiate with the British custodian of enemy property.

Harmony Prevails Among Union Gov't Supporters

CAUCUS OF UNION GOVERNMENT SUPPORTERS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS MARKED BY ENTIRE UNANIMITY —SIR ROBERT BORDEN'S PROGRAMME DISCUSSED.

OTTAWA, March 11.—On leaving the caucus of the Union Government supporters this morning, private members stated that there had been entire unanimity on the questions discussed. It is understood that a programme following the lines of that laid down by Sir Robert Borden before he left Ottawa was laid before the members, but, it was understood, in condensed form. After the meeting Sir George Foster stated that a statement would be issued to the press late this afternoon. There was a full attendance of Unionist members.

Proper Housing The First Duty

Sudbury Pastor Says That Good Roads and Public Buildings Can Wait

SUDBURY, March 11.—Stating that good roads and public buildings could wait, Rev. Wm. McDonald, of St. Andrew's Church, Sudbury, said the first duty of the Ontario Housing Act was to supply funds for the proper housing of people. The present housing conditions in many homes, he charged was conductive to immorality and unclean living. The solving of the housing problem, he thought, would uplift the moral standing of the community and lessen the sin, vice and discontent now following in the wake of present living conditions in many homes and families.

Halcrow M.P.P. Comes Back At Raney

HAMILTON, March 11—George G. Halcrow, M.P.P., in making his recent announcements, said his object was to show that Attorney-General Raney was not so narrow-minded as he was depicted by many. He admits that Mr. Raney did not make the statement as to the "Government being dangerously near a precipice, with the temperance forces trying to push them," at the caucus, but he insists that Mr. Raney did say so to another member of the House. He also insists that the proposal to give all Leaders of groups of fifteen members or more a $1,000 bonus was discussed in caucus, though perhaps he should not have told what happened at the caucus. If he cared to, he could give out much that would make good reading about the caucus. As to his statement that the workers did not want an eight-hour day, he believed that the workers wanted a minimum wage before they secured the short day.

CANADIAN HOSPITAL FOR NEW YORK

New York, March 11—Members of the Canadian Club of New York are making preliminary arrangements to organize effectively for the purpose of raising $1,000,000 or as much more as may be needed, with which to build and equip a Canadian hospital in this city.

The project was suggested at a recent club dinner by a member, who pointed out the need for such an institution and called attention to the fact that there are a large number of American citizens of Canadian birth who will welcome an opportunity to show their appreciation of their citizenship in the United States.

Already subscriptions are beginning to come in—one of a very substantial sum from a gentleman who has pledged it in memory of his mother, who was a Canadian. Committees will be appointed, and the work of raising the needed funds put upon a systematic basis.

Worst Floods In Years Are Feared In St. Lawrence

QUEBEC, March 11.—With the ice on the upper St. Lawrence 33 inches thick near Sorel, and a solid barrage stretching across the river from Cape Sante as far up as Montreal there are fears that the Government ice-breaking steamer Lady Grey will not be able to prevent the worst floods that have occurred in years, over all the low lands above Quebec, including Montreal, Longuedil, Berthier, Sorel, Three Rivers, Lotbiniere, etc.

Expert observers talking over the situation with The Gazette's correspondent, were pessimistic over the chances of averting serious floods this spring. They point to the unusual and unfavorable conditions that have prevailed throughout the winter—cold that has had no equal in our Quebec winters in recent years, have built a solid barrier of ice over the St. Lawrence for miles and miles, while the Lady Grey was left all by her lone self to gnaw at the ice that now blocks the river.

The gallant ship again went up the river this morning and kept at her grinding work of breaking the ice at Cap Sante. She is now occupied in ice thirteen and fourteen inches thick, and it is expected that she will break a channel as far as Point Platon by the end of the present week. But she will then be still one hundred and fifteen miles from Montreal and forty miles from Three Rivers, and it is not expected she can proceed very far into the ice after she strikes Grondines for above that point the ice gets thicker all the way, so much so that opposite Sorel, where the ice was cut into last week to measure its thickness it was found to be 33 inches thick at places. This will prove a formidable barrier that will block the passage of the ice and of the water when the big thaw comes and this is why observers predict severe floods.

LAD HITCHED MULES TO SAFE WITH BONDS

Chattanoga, Tenn., March 11—Edward Hooser, 14 years of age, was arrested here charged that he hitched a pair of mules to a safe in a country store, dragged it to a narby field and blew it open with dynamite.

Police say a trail of Government bonds, sold at bargain prices, led to the boy's arrest.

PRISON AND LASHES

Toronto, March 11.—Alfred La Ferriere and John B. Butler were sentenced to five years each in Kingston Penitentiary and to be given ten lashes by Judge Coatsworth in the Sessions yesterday afternoon for robbery with violence. La Ferriere and Butler hired a taxi, driven by Nathan Pusitz and while driving south on Dufferin street to Exhibition Camp they held up Pusitz, beat him, threw him from the taxi and stole $42.

Detective-Sergeant Koster testified having arrested La Ferriere.

Labor Tired Of Strikes Trade Congress Declares

ENGLISH TRADE UNION CONGRESS VOTED OVERWHELMINGLY AGAINST PROPOSITION FOR GENERAL STRIKE TO FORCE NATIONALIZATION OF COAL MINES.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

LONDON, March 11.—The special trade union congress in session here voted overwhelmingly today against a strike policy and in favor of continued efforts by constitutional means to effect the nationalization of mines. The adoption of a resolution favoring political action in the form of political propaganda for the next election followed.

Clerical Friends Of Sir Sam Solicitous For His Welfare

FLOOD OF MESSAGES REACH FORMER MINISTER'S ROOM IN WELLESLEY HOSPITAL, BUT NEWLY-ACQUIRED RED CORPUSCLES PROVE REBELLIOUS.

LT.-GEN. SIR SAM HUGHES

Sir Sam Hughes, lying abed at Wellesley Hospital under the care of Dr. Norman Allen, is carrying on a vigorous and successful drive with an objective of five million red blood corpuscles.

If solicitude on the part of clerical friends goes for anything, Sir Sam assuredly "leads all the rest" among the Favorite Sons of Church Militant here in Canada. Entirely surrounded by letters from clergymen of high and low degree, and of many communions, the former minister of militia looks out across the flood from the altitude of an island position.

But those pesky, earth-bound, new red corpuscles—Sir Sam just can't make them behave! They are more rebellious than Anna Held's eyes were wont to be. Having, seemingly, put the flu germs to rout, they pugnaciously refuse to turn from the ways of the flesh.

Ministerial labors avail not in pointing the way to the higher realms of the spirit—wherein a troubled pilgrim might dwell in forgiveness, charity and the peace which passeth all understanding with the Rowells, the Calders and all the seraphic company which exalteth the nation.

A SUPPLEMENTARY EFFORT

To supplement the efforts of the clerical ministrants, friends of the patient are throwing out hints of the possibilites which might rest in a layman's chain of prayer as a means of grace in dealing with the unregenerate corpuscles.

Other friends possibly more temporally-minded, however, shake their heads dubiously and point out that with a real, old fashioned 'rattlesnake' hunt in prospect, within the measurable future, the endeavors of the gentlemen of the cloth might, perhaps, better be deferred.

In any case Sir Sam is reported to be making rapid strides toward his old-time form and is expected to leave the hospital within a few weeks.

FROM BISHOP SWEENY

Among the letters received by Sir Sam is one from the Anglican bishop of Toronto who has learned that the patient's objective was five million red corpuscles (the normal number). The bishop expresses the hope that Sir Sam's "Internal Forward Movement" will go not only to the five million objective, but away beyond, as becomes "all good Methodists."

FROM REV. DR. CHOWN

The following letter was received from the Rev. Dr. Chown, D.D., L.L.D general superintendent of the Methodist church:

Wesley Building,
Toronto, Ont.

Sir Sam Hughes, Wellesley Hospital,
Homewood Place, Toronto, Ont.

My Dear Sir Sam:

I owe you so much that I cannot hesitate to write you now that you are laid aside. I am myself just home from the Toronto General Hospital only a week after a stay there of thirty-one days, following a severe operation necessitated by overwork. I therefore feel a deep sympathy for you in your enforced retirement at Wellesley Hospital and very sincerely hope and pray that your recovery may be speedy and permanent.

Hospital life is tedious and trying to persons who have been so actively engaged in affairs of so great importance as you have been. It, however gives one time to think, and I found when facing the ultimate issues of life that there was nothing so needful or so true as the old gospel of forgiveness through repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. I trust you will find comfort and strength in the same source.

I am very sorry I am not able to go and see you, but I will try and keep in touch and do so when I can.

Very sincerely, your friend,
(Signed) S. D. Chown

SIR SAM'S REPLY

The Wellesley Hospital,

Rev. Dr. S. D. Chown, D.D., L.L.D.,
Wesley Building, Toronto.

Dear Dr. Chown:

Kindly let me thank you for your lovely letter. You are a dear old boy, and prove in your everyday work that it is the man that counts.

Pardon me for telling you, but when I see you I always think of the dear old clergyman in Chaucer's Canterbury Tales, where it says:

"Christe's Lore and his apostles twelve He taught, but first he followed it him self."

I have been anaemic for some time and was in danger of pneumonia, flu and every other wandering epidemic common to the month of February. Already I am about 50 per cent. improved in matter of red corpuscles, and hope to be 100 per cent. soon.

I heartily agree with you in your remark concerning the "old gospel of forgiveness through repentance towards God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ." But if I remember aright "repentance" on the part of a sinner must precede "forgiveness." I do not feel that I am called upon to forgive any unrepentant sinner.

Indeed, it is a real good creed to follow to hit a rattlesnake's head whenever it shows itself. I have always been fair and tolerant, but I cannot be a party to placing the destinies of Canada in the hands of traitors to human liberty, to responsible government, and therefore to the best interest of Canada and her people.

I should be more than delighted to have a long talk with you on important public matter, and hope to be able to do so within the next few weeks.

I have tried several times this last year to see you, but failed.

With kindest regards and thanks,
Faithfully,
(Signed) Sam Hughes

Negro Charged With Shooting Brother

St. Catharines, Ont., March 11—Jas. Grant, a colored native of St. Catharines, who won the Military Medal in France for conspicuous bravery, was committed for trial by Magistrate Campbell on a charge of shooting his brother Arthur with intent to kill. The shooting was the result of a family quarrel. In giving his evidence Arthur said he really believed his brother had only intended to scare him and had shot him by accident. He had snapped the 22 calibre revolver a couple of times before it went off.

DARING HOLD-UP BY MASKED MAN

St. Thomas, March 10—The mysterious hold-up man who has been making many visits to the householders of the city appeared again. He made a second attempt to enter the residence of L. D. Marlatt. This time the masked robber rang the front door bell and when Mr. Marlatt opened the door, the burglar thrust a revolver in his face and demanded money. The robbery was frustrated by Mrs. Marlatt, who was in another room, and telephoned the police and then rushed out from a side door, calling for help. Upon hearing the commotion, the hold-up man ran out of the house, pursued by a neighbor, who failed to keep him in sight.

SOLD ASTOR PROPERTY FOR OVER FIVE MILLIONS

New York, March 11.—A total of $5,159,075 was realized at public auction for the Henry Astor estate which many years ago was part of the Eden farm, but now is dotted with theatres private dwellings, factories and tenement houses. The chief transaction of the day was the sale of land on which the Astor Bijou and Morosco theatres stand to Robert E. Dowling for $1,140,000. Individual sales brought $8,000 to $75,000. One speculator who bought a plot on West 45th street, sold it a few minutes later at a profit of $65,000.

HIGHER COAL PRICES FROM WAGE DEMANDS

New York, March 11—Demands which anthracite mine workers of Pennsylvania have asked mine operators to incorporate in the new wage agreement to be drafted to take effect April 1st were formally presented to the mine owners, and a sub-committee of practical men was named to negotiate the new contract. The body includes representatives of workers and employers.

It was stated by both sides that no definite decision will be reached until the award of the bituminous coal commission in the wage demands of the soft coal miners is handed down at Washington. This will not be before Friday. The demands include the following:

Contract wage scales to be increased sixty per cent.

All day men to be granted an increase of $2 a day.

A work day of not more than six hours for all classes of inside and outside day labor and for monthy men five days per week with time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays and holidays.

A closed shop contract.

A two-year agreement instead of four years at present.

Operators said after the meeting that if the demands were granted the price of coal would have to go up The present contract expires March 31. Neither operators nor miners would say today whether there was danger of a strike if the wage negotiations were not concluded before that date.

Women who are over-worked, weak, all run-down, no energy and hardly able to drag about, if you could only realize what VINOL, our cod liver and iron tonic, will do for you, there would not be enough in Canada to supply the demand.

Miss Phyllis Jones, W. Toronto, Ont., says: "I was run-down, nervous, and losing flesh rapidly, and had fainting spells, so I had to stop work for weeks at a time. My doctor told me to take VINOL. I did and after two or three days I commenced to feel better. I have gained flesh rapidly and feel better in every way since taking it."

What VINOL did for Miss Jones it will do for every pale, sallow, weak, over-worked woman. Every such woman in Canada should ask her druggist for VINOL today and start on the road to a healthy, happy existence. Your druggist will return your money if Vinol fails to help you.

FORGED CHEQUES IN SEVEN CITIES

St. Catharines, March 11—The police have enquiries from many points as to Leola Greenwood and Stanley West, the pair arrested here with bogus cheques in their possession. According to the police they operated at Buffalo, Niagara Falls, N.Y., Black Rock, Bridgeburg, St. Thomas, London, Tillsonburg and other places, and must have cleaned up a considerable sum, the police think, though, they had little money on them when arrested. West has been given a three years' sentence at Niagara Falls.

The Tillsonburg Chief of Police wrote Chief Green here asking that the woman be turned over to him; as she is wanted there in connection with cheque swindling, but Chief Greene stated that she will be dealt with in St. Catharines as she has a forgery charge hanging over her head here.

In Tillsonburg the couple not only passed bogus cheques, but also jumped their board bill, the Tillsonburg Chief said.

VICTIM'S FRIENDS TO SEE MURDERER DIE

Frankfort, Ky., March 11—The state has stretched the law prohibiting public executions and decided to permit T. C. Hardman and about fifteen other residents of Lexington and vicinity to witness the execution in Eddyville prison next Thursday of Will Locket, negro, convicted murderer of Hardman's sister, Geneva.

A promise to allow Hardman and members of the family to be present when Lockett dies in the electric chair was made to Hardman by Circuit Court Judge Charles Kerr at Lexington, when the mob gathered at Lockett's trial.

This promise was made on condition that Hardman appeal to his friends to allow the law to take its course which he did. Governor Morrow ratified the agreement. Lockett has confessed to the murder of four women.

Coal Resources Of Canada Should Be Developed

NO NEED FOR BEING DEPENDENT LPON U. S. COAL, SAY AUTHORITIES — ONTARIO COMPLETELY AT MERCY OF PENNSYLVANIA MINES AND U. S. RAILROADS.

Freight Bounties to Equalize Rates—Would Bring Alberta Coal to Ontario and Develop a Great Industry

How much longer is Ontario going to depend on a foreign nation for her coal?

Coal is the basis of industry. Every time the United States has a coal strike, Ontario's industry is tied up. If the United States were to have a war, and commandeered all her coal Ontario would be closed up tighter than a drum. If, by any mad chance, the United States were to declare war on Canada, Ontario would become another Belgium overnight. For the shutting down of this Province's coal supply from Pennsylvania would mean the closing up of factories, railroads would stop and the army would be crippled. Even to-day, the exchange rate is forcing so high a coal price on us as to cause suffering.

As the situation now stands, Ontario is utterly dependent for the basis of industry on a foreign nation. The industrial mess in Germany and France to-day is said to be largely due to the fact that 70 per cent. of these nations' coal production is shut off.

Yet Canada contains one-twelfth of all the known coal in the world. Nova Scotia has been producing the highest grades of coal for many years. Our Western Provinces, according to Government experts, have within their boundaries 1,193,774,342,000 tons of good coal ready to be mined!

The reason Ontario secures its supply from Pennsylvania is that these American mines are much closer than any Canadian mines. But Ontario is the greatest consumer of coal of all the Provinces. And, therefore, Ontario's preference for United States coal is hindering the development of the Canadian coal resources. The mines in Alberta, can only work, for example, three to four months in the year, because the demand on them is so small. This short-season production means more expensive production, great labor difficulties and huge overhead costs.

Must Develop our Resources

The coal shortage last year and this, owing to the strikes in the United States and the disadvantages of American exchange rates, has awakened Canadian manufacturers and others dependent on coal to the necessity of developing Canada's coal resources so as to cover Ontario.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto and Montreal have organized a committee to investigate thoroughly the entire situation.

The chief problem, of course, is transportation. How to get coal the 800 miles from Nova Scotia and the 1,500 miles from Alberta as cheaply as the 300 miles from Pennsylvania.

But the first problem encountered is a prejudice against western Canadian coal. For several years past an indefinable scoffing campaign has been carried out against this coal. The interests opposed to the development of Canadian coal, if any would naturally be the producing, transporting and distributing forces connected with the United States supply. Therefore the Pennsylvania operators, certain coal dealers in this country dependent on U. S. coal and certain railroad and shipping interests engaged in carrying coal to and throughout Ontario and Quebec have been suspected of depreciating the Canadian product. A short time ago certain Western coal dealers resorted to the following scheme to discredit Canadian coal: In their windows they exhibited samples of fine black diamond coal from the States, labelled "Pennsylvania coal," and beside them a few chunks of the poorest class of lignite, such as is found lying on the surface of the western coal districts and they labelled this "Canadian coal."

But Government reports show that the highest grades of bituminous and sub-anthracite coal is found in stupendous quantities in the West.

Give Special Freight Rate

Transportation is the great problem. And the Western coal operators, as represented by the Edmonton Board of Trade, declare that the Government of Canada should aid the development of the western mines by giving a special freight rate on coal to Ontario on the new Government-owned railroads.

In a resolution passed by the Edmonton Board of Trade is the following:

"The Government railways in Canada are yearly faced with heavy deficits which arrive through lack of sufficient traffic to assure a profitable conduct of their business. The Province of Alberta is possessed of unlimited quantities of all varieties of coal suitable for Ontario's needs.

"It is, therefore, suggested that the freight rates from any mine in Alberta to any point in Ontario should be equalized with the freight rates prevailing from the mines in the States to the points of consumption in Ontario. For example, if the freight rate from any mine in Pennsylvania to any point in Ontario is $5.40 per ton, then the same rate should apply from any point in Alberta. In addition, the freight rate should apply from any point in Alberta. In addition, the freight rate from Alberta might also bear the duties and exchange charges, which would go to help out the railways.

"The mines of Alberta are already developed to produce annually 150,000 tons of anthracite, 4,000,000 tons of bituminous, and 5,000,000 tons of domestic coal. This could almost immediately be increased enormously. In a very short time, the reduced freight rates would mean not a loss, but a great reduction in the annual deficit of the railroads."

In addition, it would build up a great and wealthy industry in Canada and would make the Dominion independent in the matter of the basic supply of practically all industry.

Government statistics for 1916, which are the best available, show as follows:

Total consumption of coal in Canada in 1916 was 29,865,856 tons. Of this, 41.3 per cent. was Canadian (Nova Scotia and Western Canada) and 58.7 per cent. imported.

The total sales of coal produced in Alberta in 1916 were 4,227,164 tons, of which 2,956,205 tons were sold for consumption in Alberta, 1,021,656 tons in Saskatchewan. 98,629 tons in Manitoba, 89,582 tons in British Columbia and 61,092 tons in the United States. The total value was $11,386,577.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

ANITA STEWART AT GRIFFIN'S

"Human Desire" in which Anita Stewart will be seen at Griffin's tonight to Saturday, with a matinee Saturday is a feature which carries one to that shrine of artistic America, Washington Square. Here one does not meet the pseudo-artist, but the "arrived" man who makes plenty of money out of his work. The hero is an artist who one evening steps out of the front door of one of the fine old homes which still line the north side of the square, to find a poor Italian girl resting on the steps. He learns she has no place to go, turns her over to the care of a kind land lady, and later uses her as the model for a picture he is painting. Trouble comes when she learns that he has a wife, from whom he is separated. The wife suddenly appears during the artist's absence and turns the Italian girl into the street. Too proud to seek out the man who thus deceived her she lives under the hardships until fate opens the way to a reconciliation. A two-reel Big V comedy and three other plays of merit are also being screened on the same program.

THRILLING WESTERN PLAY AT PALACE

Harry Morey, the popular exponent of western screen roles, is appearing at the Palace tonight to Saturday, matinee daily in a thrilling drama of early western daring titled "For the Honor Bar X Ranch." There other selected comedy and varied plays are also announced for exhibition.

"LISTEN LESTER"

With a whirl of merriment, song and dance, and music that is rich in melody, sung by a score of unusually pretty girls, artistically costumed, "Listen Lester," John Cort's musical comedy success, with the entire New York cast chorus, production and special company orchestra, which for a year kept audiences at the Knickerbocker Theatre in New York agog to keep pace with it, comes to Griffin's Opera House next Tuesday night, March 16th, for one night only. The book and lyrics have a quality of light-heartedness that distinguishes them as sure-fire recipes for merriment, and the music is tuneful, and what is more, distinctly original, which would, of course, be true of any play which lays claim for being from the pens and minds of Harry L. Cort, Geo. E. Stoddard, and Harold Orlob.

Nothing has been spared in securing for this attraction the most gorgeous costuming and settings that could be procured, and the result is a colorful kaleidoscopic projection against which distinctly and surely the story stands—a story of real dramatic value, centering around a package of letters written by a flirty colonel to a wise and canny lady who decides to make the best use of them she can, and drawing along with them, love affairs, comedy situations, clever dialogue, and whistlable, hummable music. There is a dainty chorus that sings more than half the time, dances most of the time, and looks pretty all the time.

Decision Of Ulster Hangs In Balance

BELFAST, March 11.—The fate of home rule so far as Ulster is concerned, is still hanging in the balance, awaiting the result of the Unionist council meeting today, though it seems probable that Sir Edward Carson, who spent Tuesday harranguing the meeting, may succeed in obtaining the assent of the council with definite reservations. The meetings are mostly private, but the atmosphere in the Unionist building is one of settled gloom. It seems absolutely established that Ulster does not want the bill, fearing the results, especially politically. Therefore, the probability is that there will be a demand for the inclusion of Donegal, Cavan and Monaghan, with the six counties forming the northern Province. Without these, under the proportional representation vote, it is openly stated that it would be impossible to obtain a Unionist majority.

WILL WANT GUARANTEES

Another reservation demand will probably be for guarantees of protection for Protestants in the southern provinces. Many Ulster people are dissatisfied with Sir Edward Carson's light dismissal of this important body of loyalists, who for many generations have assisted and trusted Ulster, with the suggestion that they leave their long-established homes and move to the north.

Meanwhile those favoring acceptance of the bill, while not admiring the measure, realize the inevitability of some form of home rule and advise taking the least evil and driving the hardest bargain possible with the Government. They appreciate the changed conditions since 1914, when the Government's hand was forced. The youth of Ulster knows too much of modern warfare to accept a bitter struggle fought on the borders of a prosperous province.

CARSON TO TRIUMPH

There is little discussion of the financial and judiciary clauses of the bill the opposition centreing upon partition and the general principles of the bill. However, it is probable that Ulster will swallow with no good grace the bitter pill under the influence of Sir Edward Carson, who still maintains his hold upon the imagination of the people which he cemented six years ago.

Tit-Bits Celebrates 2,000th Birthday

First Shop From Which Many a Journalist Graduated with Honors

LONDON, March 11.—"A clever young journalist," known as Alfred Harmsworth, was only one of the many earlier and now famous contributors of Tit-Bits, a cheap weekly comic paper, which has been described truly enough as the 'biggest gold mine in newspaper history.' Tit-Bits recently celebrated its 2,000th weekly birthday.

Started on a capital of only $1,000 89 years ago, the paper was to prove the first "shop" of many a famous British journalist and newspaper proprietor. It was from Tit-Bits that that "young Mr. Harmsworth" gained the inspiration which was to lead him to found The Daily Mail, to the proprietorship of the Times and many other publications and to his elevation to the House of Lords as Viscount Northcliffe.

Sir Arthur Pearson worked his first job as a sub-editor with Tit-Bits. Later in its career this remarkable little paper claimed Lord Riddell, now head of a number of newspaper companies in its associations. Its own founder afterward was to become head of the now famous publishing house of George Newnes.

Breach Opens In Prohibition Ranks

TORONTO March 11—"It's a clean breach," said Rev. Ben Spence, when he was asked if there was not a sharp division between the Dominion Alliance and the Referendum Committee as to the next step the temperance forces should take. The statement was made at the Parliament Buildings after the deputation from the Massey Hall temperance convention had made its demands on the Drury Government

Premier Drury told the deputation that while he was as anxious as they were to make the O.T.A. effective, even the temperance leaders themselves disagreed as to the best measures to take. He could only promise to consult with their executive at every stage before a final decision was reached by the Government. As matters stood the Referendum Committee wanted a vote on shutting out importations, while the Dominion Alliance wanted legislation passed both in Toronto and Ottawa before a referendum was granted.

"I think we should make an effort to heal the breach that exists between two temperance organizations," said Rev. J. W. Hibbert, of Essex county, at the Provincial Prohibition Convention.

"It was a sad thing for me to hear the Premier tell us that the Government had to act as a judge between two differing temperance bodies. I would move that we invite the Referendum Committee to send its representatives here to state its case, for I confess that I am in the dark, and I should be able to tell the people I represent what the breach is about and whether it can be overcome."

NOT WISE

President Steele: "I do not think it would be wise to enter into any such general debate in this convention, taking up many little points and details which would not help. He assumes that your executive has had the situation in mind and are fully alive to it."

"FINGER IN MY MOUTH"

J. J. Haylock, of Chatham: "That's all right, Mr. President, but what are we going to tell the people we represent when we go home? We don't know what the situation is. When they ask me I'll have my finger in my mouth."

Rev. Mr. Hibbert: "Why is it that temperance people disagree? Why is it that the Referendum Committee is representing itself as the official temperance organization of Ontario."

President Steel: "I cannot answer that question—we have had conferences, but I have not found the reason for that. People will never wholly agree, and if we wait until we do, we will never get anywhere.

Then the matter dropped for the time being.

THREATENED HIS LIFE

Then the convention heard reports from the various counties.

Hughson Johnson of Windsor, told how the Liberty Leaguers in that border town had threatened to kill him. Pastors of four churches had allowed Liberty Leagues to use their pulpits. That was the handicap they had in Windsor.

J. H. Turner, of Oakville, told how the temperance workers had rallied behind Premier Drury in the recent by-election when they found that the Liberty League was backing his opponent, Ed. Stevenson.

"In some rural polls we got every vote for the Premier."

As to new legislation, Mr. Turner said they should look to Ottawa for it, "or we'll put in a farmer Govt. that will give it to us."

QUALITY THE HALL-MARK.

Urging good workmanship and maximum production as labor's contribution to the Made-in-Canada campaign, the Canadian Labor Press, for February contends that "quality should be the hall-mark of Canadian products. It is the guarantee needed to ensure the success of the Made-in-Canada movement." "The time," it says, "seems to be curiously one of new political parties and class platforms. There is need for a national platform constructed in the interests of all the people, and for such a platform the Canadian Labor Press suggests and endorses the following planks:

1. Public support of the home market through purchase of Made-in-Canada goods.
2. Development of export trade.
3. Scientific determination and utilization of natural resources.
4. Maximum production in field and factory.
5. National thrift and rigid reduction of imports from the United States."

WHAT HARD ROADS MEAN TO FARMERS.

They mean your produce to the market when the price is high, regardless of the weather.

They mean better sanitary conditions, and, therefore, lengthening of life.

They mean comfort in travel when seeking pleasurable recreation.

They mean shortening the distance to the doctor when human life is at stake.

They mean closer contact with the world at large and are the forerunner of more frequent mail deliveries.

They mean a saving of time when it is necessary to go to the machine shop for repairs.

They mean higher efficiency on the farm and more money in the bank account.

They mean progress, keeping pace with your neighbor, broader vision and closer communion with the daily affairs which so greatly influence your interests.

They mean closer proximity to better schools and more thorough education for the boys and girls of your district.

They mean the proper application of your money already being paid into the province from a source that inspires GOOD ROADS.

FRUIT EXPERIMENT STATION WANTED.

One of the best apple growing districts in Canada is situated in the Iroquois Valley, that part of Ontario lying in Toronto along the Lake Shore and that part of Ontario lying between Toronto and Kingston on the North Shore. And in all this great apple producing district there has not been a successful fruit experiment station established. The apple growers of Northumberland and Durham in a recent apple growers' convention at Cobourg passed resolutions asking the Government to establish in this district an experiment station. This move should have been started long ago. So many mistakes have been made with varieties and so much money lost because of the lack of information that the country would have been considerably richer had the Government taken proper measures to establish an experimental station in this district some time ago.

It is not too late yet to be done along this line. The matter of apple growing has not been taken seriously by the legislators in Ontario for some time. We have no central or branch experimental stations that are really doing good work on Apple Growing. Vineland has recently taken a great deal of interest in apples and the work that they are doing will be of the greatest benefit to all fruit districts, and more particularly to the Niagara district. It is to be hoped that the demands of the apple growers will receive that attention that it deserves.—Farmers' Magazine.

The Emigration Department of The Salvation Army is without doubt one of the finest Empire-building machines in existence. The idea originated in the mind of the late General Booth, and has gradually enlarged under the capable direction of Commissioner D. C. Lamb until its energies have become world-wide. Emigrants are now sent by The Salvation Army to all our vast Dominions beyond the seas, but the chief efforts of this organization are centred on Canada. . . . This magnificent work is one of which we must all be proud. It is a credit not only to The Salvation Army and Commissioner Lamb, but also to the British nation at large.—Sunday Circle.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING FIRST

We are all aware that there are numberless avenues through which the public can be reached—billboards, street cars, dead walls, circulars, souvenirs, etc., but in the opinion of the merchant princes of the world these and all other modes of advertising are but secondary to newspaper advertising. There are many men in business who fail to take newspaper advertising seriously, to the extent of employing it to promote their enterprises. They refuse to be convinced. They lose out eventually. You know of many of them in the past few years who have gone into the discard as a result of their failure to advertise.

Remember, always, the bigger the business the more it needs the assistance of sound advertising. Never put off until tomorrow the profits you should be making today by having advertised yesterday. If you could gather five or ten thousand prospective buyers into a large auditorium daily and talk to them, you would not need newspaper or any other kind of advertising. But you cannot do this, so the only alternative is to put those same words into print and send them to prospective buyers through the newspaper. Can you think of a better way? If so, we would like to have you tell us—it would be the greatest discovery of the age. The newspaper is always a power in any community, either for good or evil. Advertising can do nothing for the man who disregards it. Advertising doesn't add to your resources so much as it multiplies them.

We say to you conscientiously that the local newspaper is the greatest merchandising force in the world. It has helped build some of the world's greatest organizations; and the fact that some of the world's greatest stores advertise extensively and constantly, is proof that IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE. Knowledge plus enthusiasm, plus advertising, equals prosperity. This means money. Advertising saves time. Your advertisement in the newspaper has greater weight than what you say personally because it has the additional weight of the newspaper's recommendation, which combines in giving the buying public confidence in your and your merchandise.

THE SONG MY MOTHER SINGS

O sweet unto my heart is the song
  my mother sings
As eventide is brooding on its dark and noiseless wings,
Every note is charged with memory,
  every memory bright with rays
Of the golden hours of promise in the lap of childhood's days.
The orchard blooms anew, and each blossom scents the way,
And I feel again the breath of eve
  among the new-mown hay.
While through the halls of memory in happy notes there rings
All the life-joy of the past in the song my mother sings.

It's the song of love and triumph, it's a song of toil and care,
It is filled with chords of pathos and it's set in notes of prayer,
It is bright with dreams and visions of the days that are to be,
And as strong in faith's devotion as the heart-beat of the sea;
It is linked in mystic measure to sweet voices from above,
And is starred with ripest blessings
  thro' a mother's sacred love,
O sweet and strong and tender are the memories that it brings
As I list in joy and rapture to the song my mother sings.

"Well, I like that!" said the mother in a loud, angry tone.

"Now look here, madam," said the old gentleman. "I've raised three families of children and not a single child was ever allowed to annoy people."

That evening Mrs. Atkins said to her husband:

"Oh, by the way; some cigars came for you to-day—evidently a gift from some one! Knowing you didn't smoke I gave them to the plumbers, who were working in the house."

EX-SERVICE MEN FOR THE DOMINION

London, March 10.—In the discussion in the House of Commons of the Colonial Office vote, Under Secretary Amery explained that the Overseas Settlement Committee, having secured effective co-operation with the Dominion Government in directing emigration into Canada, had granted ex-service men easy terms. Applications for about 18,000 persons to emigrate had been made and 11,000 to 12,000 had already sailed or were about to.

Premier Lloyd George stated that, according to Government information the sailing cost this year was $200,000 and in the next two years might reach $5,000,000. Canada was giving substantial assistance to a federation dealing with women immigrants. The whole matter, he said, was one of the greatest importance to the Empire and the most important thing about it was the keeping of British emigrants under the British flag.

When two Wives Meet

Secretly, every wife is fiercely ambitious for her husband—his success, appearance, strength—his standing among his fellow men.

Be worthy of that wife of yours. Keep healthy! Strength, appearance, success depend on health.

Living habits today are largely artificial—indoor—sedentary. To be healthy, we must regard Nature's laws. And one of the first of her laws is "Avoid Constipation. Keep the poisons of intestinal matter moving out of your body."

By an entirely new principle Nujol will keep the poisonous waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only bearing Nujol trade mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

A New Method of Treating an Old Complaint

Abolish Paddles And Flogging In Korea

Toe Nails of Educated Young Men Are Ordered Extracted

LONDON, March 10—"The efforts of the new Japanese Administration of Korea to recover the confidence of the Korean people are largely nullified by official maltreatment of Koreans," says the Tokio correspondent of the Daily Express.

"While the use of paddles and flogging is publicly abolished by the Government, police officials regularly use torture upon the suspects."

The following particulars of the methods employed are furnished by Dr. Frank Schofield, of the Severance Mission Hospital, Seoul:

"Case 1—An educated young man, punished with 90 blows of the paddle for complicity in the independence movement, and released after six weeks' imprisonment, was re-arrested and questioned with regard to the bomb that was thrown at Admiral Salt. During the police examination he was seven times suspended from the ceiling by a cord tied around his wrists; on five occasions his head was forced back and tied to his hands, which had been fastened behind his back; water was poured down his nostrils off and on during a period of four days, and for a further period of three days soap and water were substituted for plain water.

"As a last expedient in this line, pepper tea was used; the reaction was so severe that the young man became unconscious. All these methods having failed, the police order his toe nails to be extracted. The Korean torturer, instead, pulled out a piece of flesh from the inside of the small toe, which caused profuse bleeding and satisfied the police.

"Case 2—A young man charged with printing the 'Independence' newspaper, refused to give the names of his accomplices. He was beaten unconscious three times in six days and once by hot irons. When seen by the doctors he was a physical wreck.

"Case 3—A Korean young woman also educated, was beaten so violently over the head, that an abcess formed in one ear, and her knee and hip joints were twisted to the verge of dislocation. She was "thoroughly spat upon."

"One result of such methods is naturally the production of false evidence and the prosecution of innocent people. Another is the creation of a conviction in the Korean mind that promises of reform are for foreign consumption only, and there is no hope of their condition being ameliorated under Japanese rules. Such are evil results of ten years of military rule."

SIX MEN TO AN ASH CAN

(New York Sun)

A few years ago a suburban town near New York undertook in the name of civic betterment to collect the ashes from the homes of its residents.

A municipal department was formed for the purpose, a superintendent was hired, the necessary equipment of waggons and horseflesh was bought and the great improvement was put in operation, the tax rate rising without a tremor.

Two men took the ash cans from the cellar doors of the townsfolk, carried them to the waiting waggon, emptied them into it and returned them to the spots where under the regulations the householders were required to have them in readiness for the collectors. Of course the municipal service did not take the ash cans from the cellars as the private carters who preceded them had done, but this disadvantage while it amounted to an actual hardship for old ladies who could not afford to keep men of all work, was borne good naturedly by the population.

Today the municipal collection of ashes is a fixture in this town, but it is a much more impressive affair than it was in its earlier days.

Instead of two men calling for the ashes, six are needed to perform that important function.

Two boldly entered the backyard and escort the ash can to the sidewalk.

Two others assist in lifting the can to the waggon box and help the ashes fall into it.

Two more take the empty can back to its appointed resting place.

It is a splendid and inspiring sight to see those well trained men function in perfect unison in this notable puglic service. Particularly it pleases the taxpayers.

Naturally the old ladies who cannot afford men of all work in their home still have to lug the ashes up the cellar stairs and then carry the empty can down.

Happened In Picton In The Long Ago

Incident at Military Review in the Olden, Golden Days

Reviewing the history of the 14th Prince of Wales' Own Rifles, the Kingston Whig gives an account of a military pageant held at Picton in the long ago in which the 14th P.W.O.R. took part, with the following reference to the late Sir Mackenzie Bowell:

"In connection with the review Sir Mackenzie Bowell tells a good story of his first meeting with Lieut.-Col. G. A. Kirkpatrick, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, who was then ensign and adjutant of the 14th Rifles. The brigade major had put the adjutant in command of the battalion, because the captains were required to look after their respective companies and there were no majors at the time. Sir Mackenzie Bowell was then an officer in the Belleville Rifle Company and was acting as "galloper" or A.D.C. to Col. Shaw, the officer in command of all the troops assembled at Picton. The knowledge of drill and military matters possessed by the officers in 1863 was very slight and if one officer in any respect excelled another it was in ignorance of his duties. To Mr. Bowell, A.D.C. was given an order which was to be communicated to the officer commanding the 14th. Off went the A.D.C. at full gallop. His horse unaccustomed to the swinging and banging of the sword on his flanks, went at full gallop, with his tail high in the air.

"Arrived at the extreme end of the line, Mr. Bowell asked for the officer commanding the 14th. The youthful Adjutant Kirkpatrick saluted and acknowledged that he was the officer asked for. The order was given to perform some movement with the regiment. The adjutant asked the A.D.C. to repeat the order. His request was complied with. Then the adjutant asked the A.D.C. how the movement was to be executed to which the A.D.C. replied, "I'll be d—d if I know," and putting spurs to his horse galloped off.

"This was the first introduction to each other of these two men who afterwards for many years sat side by side in the House of Commons at Ottawa, and have since risen to be one Lieut.-Governor of Ontario and the other Premier of this fair Dominion."

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

SUPPLIES WORLD WITH ASBESTOS

Quebec, March 10.—The Quebec Bureau of Mines in its annual report just published, of the mineral production of the Province for 1919, shows the value of the mines' output the highest yet recorded, totalling $20,701,001 or nearly $2,000,000 more than for 1918.

Asbestos enters into this amount for over half the total and the Quebec mines supply 85 per cent. of the world's consumption. Other mineral products that figure on the list are chromite, copper ores, magnesite, mica zinc and lead ores. There was also an appreciable production of gold and silver.

SUSPECTED OF BEING BANK ROBBERS

Winnipeg, March 10.—Sanford H. Pellet and Charles Bevans were arrested here by Detective Young, on a description from the New York police where they are wanted to answer a charge of bank robbery.

It is alleged that Pellet who was clerk in the bank, took $3,400 from the Battery Park branch of the National Bank, No. 2 Broadway, and that he shared it with Bevans. Upon arrest they had $1,000 on their persons.

The pair had headed north for big game hunt and carried a paraphernalia of guns, ammunition and implements for the purpose. The local police say that Bevans acknowledges taking the funds from the bank.

WHISKEY PROFITEERING

New York, March 10—A strong movement in favor of the establishment of Government agencies for selling whiskey on prescription has been started as a result of profiteering by druggists. As high as $12 per pint for very poor whiskey is charged.

MINING INDUSTRY IN ONTARIO IS EXPANDING

Haileybury March 10—The number of prospectors in the precious metal-bearing areas of Northern Ontario has increased considerably during the past few months and a greater number of mine-hunters will be on the trail within the next month or so than since the recent war caused such a drain on the country's manhood. The burden of the proof of the great potentialities of the great new territory in this part of Northern Ontario has again fallen to the man to whom it rightfully belongs, and as spring approaches he is found extending his energies not only to the new, but to the partly-prospected areas which abound in almost every direction. The old spirit of determination to find mines bigger than those already working is made manifest on every hand, and the possibilities of the hopes of these men being realized is something with which mining men in general are again reckoning.

It is a fact that the mining industry of Northern Ontario is gaining momentum. The mineral regions that are gaining in popular favor and the new finds being made all have a strong tendency to create multiplied faith in the great mineral resources of this country.

DARING COUP BY AUTO BANDITS

Paltimore, Md., March 10—Automobile bandits, operating in broad daylight on the busiest thoroughfare in the shopping section, smashed a big plate glass window of James A. Armiger & Co.'s jewellery store, cleaned the windows of thousands of dollars worth of diamonds, shot and seriously injured a man who attempted to prevent their getaway and escaped in their wa atuginltremier9.P in their waiting automobile.

Four men were in the car which drove up to the store. The window was smashed with a brick shots were fired at the passers by who attempted to halt the get away. The whole operation took only a few minutes. The injured man is receiving treatment at Mercy Hospital.

OLD ENGLISH RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you know of some one who is troubled with Catarrhall Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint, (Double Strength.) Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a tonic action that helps to obtain the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh or head noises or is hard of hearing should give this treatment a trial.

Party Line Consideration

A TWO-PARTY LINE IS A SINGLE CIRCUIT, SHARED IN COMMON by two subscribers. It is not reserved for a single user and should be used on the share-and-share-alike basis.

On a two-party line, it is possible for both users to try to talk out on the same circuit at the same time. There is also the liability of both being wanted at the same time to receive incoming calls.

Therefore, there are special considerations which we urge a party-line user to keep in mind:

1. Long conversations prevent the use of the line by the other subscriber; therefore party-line talks should be as brief as possible.
2. Whenever another party-line subscriber requests the use of the line for an emergency, courtesy should prompt the first user temporarily to give up the use of the line.
3. Whenever a party-line subscriber takes the receiver from the hook and finds the line in use, the receiver should be replaced at once in a careful manner.
4 At the end of a conversation the receiver should be replaced upon the hook immediately, otherwise the other subscriber cannot signal the central office.
5. Be sure always to give the operator the letters W or J in calling a party-line subscriber.

Co-operation is required to ensure good service of any kind.

Extinction of the Beaver

AN alarming situation has been brought about in the Timagami forest reserve, northern Ontario, as a result of the beaver hunts that have been carried on in that huge territory for the past few years. The beaver, once plentiful in that country of lakes and forests before the Government lifted the ban on their destruction in the early part of 1917, is now threatened with utter extinction, due to the insatiable desire of the Indians and trappers for the pelts of Ammek—the beaver.

The reserve, which takes in thousands of square miles and stretches from Boyce, north of North Bay, on the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, and runs as far north as Elk Lake City, on the Montreal, bounds some of the finest trapping grounds in Canada; provided that they are nursed along and not ravaged by those whose slogan is "to-day and not to-morrow."

Such inroads have been made upon the beavers in the reserve that unless the Government puts the lid on their destruction those highly prized fur-bearing animals will become as extinct as the great auk within the confines of the reserve. It is no exaggeration to say that with the exception of perhaps a few families, the beavers will be wiped clean out of the reserve under the present system of ten pelts for each trapper, ten pelts for each Indian belonging to the reserve, ten for his squaw and ten for each child.

The exact number of beavers trapped last year in the reserve is probably not known even to the Government, but in the district around Bear Island, where the Hudson Bay Company has operated a post for many years, and where the skins captured by the Ojibways, who make their headquarters there, are handled, it is safe to say that 2,000 pelts were turned over to the "Big Company" and the free traders that do a small business there during the trapping season.

This large amount of pelts, in addition to the thousands that were taken out of the northern and extreme western sections of the reserve has practically sounded the death-knell of the beaver in that section of Ontario, and experienced trappers claim that even with a closed season of five years, it is doubtful if the beaver will ever again be plentiful in the Temigami forest reserve. But, under any circumstances, they argue that the only possible way to bring the beaver back to the reserve is another tightening up of the game laws and proper supervision to see that they are enforced to the last letter.

While trapping was largely responsible for these deplorable affairs, the coupon system that the Ontario Government put into effect with the object of securing a bounty of 50 cents on each pelt, is certainly not an arrangement calculated to help the beaver propagate its race. The trapper pays $5 for his license and receives ten coupons to be placed upon the ten pelts that he is entitled to take out in a season. On the other hand, any Indian that belongs to the reserve does not need to take out a license and is permitted to kill ten beaver for himself, ten for his squaw and ten for each of his children. To make matters better, or worse, as the case may be, race suicide is not popular among the "haughty redmen."

This system might not be of such a devastating nature if adhered to, but, of course, there is a "nigger in the woodpile." Free traders put the coupons on the skins bartered by the Indians. It means that the Indians can kill as many as they like, as there is only the trader to check them up and he is not going to "pass anything by." It also leaves another loophole in the law, by which the trapper can take his furs to the trader, who will put Indian coupons on them. Then the trapper can go back to the bush with his ten original coupons intact. He can repeat this as many times as he is fortunate enough to secure ten pelts, and then finish up the season by bringing out another ten pelts, on which he places his own coupons.

Many beavers are also purchased direct from the Indians by tourists and hunters, and this helps to swell the killing. The Government loses its bounty of 50c on these pelts, and the trapper in many cases sells for more than he would have secured had he turned the pelts over to the Hudson Bay Company or the free traders.

A quick way of blotting out a colony of beavers is to break a hole in the dam, insert a net in the opening, and then smash in the houses. They will immediately endeavor to escape through the aperture in the dam and get tangled in the net, when a blow on the head finishes their short career on mother earth.

Summing it up, there are so many ways of killing the beavers that they have not a chance in a thousand to escape. Sometimes they are fortunate enough to erect their house on the river bank, and as the water goes down it leaves an opening between its surface and the ice. This forms a supply of air, and once the beaver has escaped from the house, should the trapper fence it in he is able to secure plenty of air under the ice. Under such conditions, he cannot be caught.

There will be a tremendous objection from certain quarters should the killing of beaver be prohibited in the Timagami forest reserve for at least five years, but if there are to be any beaver left in that part of the province a closed season of the above period is absolutely necessary.

The earliest coinage that can be called American was minted in the Bemudas in 1612.

Woman Penned "Poem Of Death"

Slew Her Lover and Then Sent Bullet Through her Own Brain

CHICAGO, March 11—

"Sleep! For thy hand is sure.
The cold steel, bright and pure,
Strikes through thy heart and mine;
Shedding our blood like wine."

This verse, bearing the title "A Poem of Death" and written in a woman's hand was found on a desk in the apartments of Mrs. Ruth Randall, where the divorcee and Captain Clifford M. Bleyer, advertising man and club member, were found shot to death last night.

The poem and other evidence discovered in the apartment led Coroner's Physician Joseph Springer to assert that the shots which killed Bleyer and Mrs. Randall had been fired by the latter in the belief that she had reached the end of her secret romance. It is the belief of Dr. Springer that the shot that killed Bleyer was fired while he was asleep. Each had been shot in the right temple and the revolver with two empty cartridges lay between them.

Mrs. Bleyer, wife of the slain man and her two little daughters, were prostrated with grief. She said she had never suspected her husband of any attachment for another woman.

Captain Bleyer was 37 years old. When the United States entered the war he joined the aviation section of the signal corps reserve. He was discharged April 16, 1918, and immediately entered the ordnance department, going to France as a first lieutenant of the motor equipment section, engineering division.

A SMOOTH, HAIRLESS SKIN FOR EVERY WOMAN

(The Modern Beauty)

With the aid of a plain delatone paste it is an easy matted to rid the skin of unsightly hairy growths. The paste it is an easy matter to rid the with powdered delatone. This is applied to the hairs not wanted and after 2 or 3 minutes rubbed off and the skin washed when every trace of hair will have vanished. When you go to your druggist for delatone, be sure you get the genuine article.

Baltimore, Md., March 11—A party of masked men bound and gagged the government watchman in a distillery and hauled away 50 barrels of whiskey worth about $25,000 in automobile trucks.

"Sauce for the Goose—"

From an Ontario town comes a story which is so good that one would be sorry to hear that it wasn't true. The local news dealer, a woman, went to a grocer's for sugar, and was told that she could have it only by buying with it a specified amount of other goods. She bought the required amount and departed. A few days later the grocer called at the news room for his paper. "You can't have it," said the woman dealer, "unless you take"—and then she named several magazines whose aggregate cost was many times that of the paper. The grocer took his medicine "gamely," bought all that the woman demanded, and was thus enabled to leave the store with his daily newspaper in his pocket.

Keep Potato Rot From Spreading.

When harvesting potatoes, more especially in damp seasons, it is essential to pick them over and discard any specimens that are diseased, particularly those that show any indication of rot. If this is not done, the disease is liable to spread through the whole mass during storage. If wilt or dry rot (Fusarium) or black leg and wet rot (B. solanisaprus) or late blight (Phytophthora infestans) has been noticed in the growing crop, it may be taken for granted that a percentage of the tubers will be infected. These diseases may be found in all stages of development in the tubers produced by an affected plant. These are the diseases most liable to spread to a greater or less extent through a pile or bag of stored tubers if any of them are affected at the time they are stored away. Consequently, the greatest care should be taken when harvesting a crop that has shown diseases when growing in the field.

These diseases show themselves on the tubers, either as a dry moldy rot or a wet slimy rot, or as brown or blackish discolorations. On some tubers the diseased condition may be fairly well advanced and consequently easily noticed. On other tubers the disease may be of recent development and not easily seen.

Where practicable it is desirable to pick out all tubers in which the disease is readily seen and then to wash the remainder either in a tub of water or by turning a hose on to them. This washing not only removes any soil that may be sticking on, but it intensifies the discolorations produced by the disease, and so makes it a comparatively easy matter to pick out those tubers which are only lightly affected. After washing, the undesirable specimens should be removed and the remainder thrown out in a thin layer to dry before being stored away.—Prof. D. H. Jones, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

GUN FIGHT WITH FIVE BANDITS AT CANTON, OHIO

Canton, Ohio, March 11—Three men were wounded in an exchange of shots when five automobile bandits held up a restaurant here, and escaped with $5,000 in cash. A waiter who tried to defend the cafe is dying from wounds received.

OUR ABORIGINES.

Origin of the Indians Remains a Mystery.

The origin of the Indian cannot be determined by history, nor will calculation ever arrive at a probable certainty. No two authorities agree. For a period of over two hundred years the subject has engrossed the attention of learned men, and yet the question, "By whom was America peopled?" remains without satisfactory answer.

In 1637 Thomas Morton wrote a book to prove that the Indians were of Latin origin. John Joselyn held, in 1638, that they were of Tartar descent. Cotton Mather inclined to the opinion that they were Scythians. James Adair seems to have been fully convinced that they were descendants of the Israelites—the lost tribes; and, after thirty years' residence among them, published, in 1775, an account of their manners and customs, from which he deduced his conclusions.

Dr. Mitchell, after considerable investigation, concluded "that the three races, Malays, Tartars and Scandinavians, contributed to make up the great American population, who were the authors of the various works and antiquities found on the continent."

DeWitt Clinton held, that "the probability is that America was peopled from various quarters of the Old World, and that its predominant race is the Scythian or Tartarian."

Calmet, a distinguished author, brings forward the writings of Hornius, son of Theodosius the Great, who affirms that "at or about the commencement of the Christian era, voyages from Africa and Spain into the Atlantic Ocean were both frequent and celebrated"; and holds that "there is strong probability that the Romans and Carthagenians, even 300 B.C., were well acquainted with the existence of this country," adding that there are "tokens of the presence of the Greeks, Romans, Persians and Carthagenians in many parts of the continent."

Then Priest, in his "American Antiquities," states that his observations had led him "to the conclusion that the two great continents, Asia and America, were peopled by similar races of men."

So Stupid!

She was one of the war-products. With "goo-goo" eyes, a sweet smile, and very little knowledge of her work, she called herself a typist. She had learned her job in a Government office, but now she was out in the cold, hard world.

One day the manager called her into his office.

"Surely, Miss Greene, 'incum' is a new way of spelling 'income,' isn't it?" he asked mildly.

She fluffed her hair with one dainty finger for a moment in thought. Then her famous smile came into play.

"Oh, I'm sorry!" she gurgled. "How stupid of me to forget the B!"

ALMOST SEVEN MILLION COST OF OTTAWA PILE

Ottawa, March 11—The cost of the new Parliament Buildings up to date is $6,954,116, according to Hon. J. D. Reid who also told the House of Commons that the architects get five and a half per cent. commission on the cost of the structure.

Dr. J. T. Edwards, M.P., for Frontenac is stealing the thunder of Major Howatt, member for Parkdale. He introduced a measure with a view of substituting electrocution for hanging as the method of carrying out the death penalty for condemned murderers. Another object of the bill, he explained, was to convey persons convicted of murder to the penitentiary instead of the jail. He thinks they should await the time of execution in the penitentiary and not in the local jail.

Sir Henry Drayton refused to say in reply to Mr. Casgrain whether the Government intended to re-enact the excess business profits war tax. "Information of that kind is given in the budget speech," he said.

"The Government will give due advice on any legislation contemplated in connection with the recommendations of Admiral Jellicoe." This was Hon. C. C. Ballantyne's reply to a question regarding the naval officer's report tabled in the House.

Fifty-nine thousand freight and other railway cars belonging to Canadian railways are now in the United States which Canadian railways are using 40,623 cars belonging to the American roads, according to information given by the Minister of Railways.

Sir George Foster told Mr. Casgrain that the Government does not contemplate the use of bilingual stamps, bilingual coins and paper money in Canada.

TO DEDICATE A FONT

Bishop Bidwell, of Kingston, will on Sunday next preach at St. Mark's Church, Deseronto, and will dedicate a font, credence table, Bible and Books.

NO MEETING HELD

The meeting called for last evening of the Committees in connection with the Old Boys' Reunion did not materialize, owing to counter attractions in the city.

PRESENTED WITH PURSE

After mass in St. Vincent de Paul Church, Deseronto, on Sunday, the parishioners presented Father Hartigan, who leaves shortly with the Archbishop on a trip to Rome, with a neatly worded address and a well-filled purse.

INSPECTING GARAGES

Mr. Hugh Stevenson, of Toronto, inspector of the accident branch of factory inspection was in the city today and made a round of the public garages. The object of his visit was to impress upon the proprietors of the garages to instal proper ventilation to take away the gasses.

HOGS ADVANCE IN PRICE

The price of live hogs has advanced $1 per hundred weight during the past week. Today $18 was the price paid as against $17 last week. At this price Mr. Robert Empson and Sons shipped from here a large number. The price paid for calves was from 5 to 18c. per pound, according to size and quality.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Miss Ruby Ryan, residing at 24 Wilkins street, city, last evening entertained a number of her friends to commemorate her birthday. Those present were most hospitably entertained and thoroughly enjoyed themselves at games, etc. Later in the evening a bountiful repast was partaken of. Miss Ryan was the recipient of a number of useful gifts and was by the company voted an ideal hostess.

MARRIED AT PETERBORO

A very quiet wedding took place this morning at the S. A. Quarters, Peterboro, when Mr. D. D. Hawley (formerly of the 93rd Battalion) and Sybil A. Cooper, were united in marriage by Adj. Bunton. The happy couple took the G.T.R. train for points west and will reside at Peterboro on their return.

POLICE COMMISSIONERS MEET

The Police Commissioners of the city composed of Judge Deroche, Police Magistrate Masson and Mayor Riggs met yesterday afternoon and transacted some business. A number of accounts were passed and Chief Newton was authorized to procure some necessary equipment. The Commissioners considered the applications for members to the police force but no appointments were made.

WORLD'S CHAMPION

The Avondale Farm herd of Holstein Fresians, owned at Brockville by A. C. Hardy and acknowledged to be among the finest on the continent has scored another triumph. Lady Waldorf Sylvia, owned by Mr. Hardy, has broken the world's championship for 60 days' production of milk as well as for butter. Her last 60 days' totalled 4834.7 pounds of milk containing 219.52 pounds of butter, which is the world's record by a substantial margin.

BODIES AND SOULS

At the Evangelistic services held in the Tabernacle church last evening Rev. Mr. Elliott preached from 2 Cor. 13: 5—"Examine Yourselves, whether ye be in the Faith.' In a vivid way he drew a comparison between the way people care for their bodies and their souls. Some persons go regularly to their medical advisers to have their bodies examined to see if their various organs are performing their functions in a correct manner. There is a standard of health that must be maintained. So there is a standard of health for the soul. We must constantly examine ourselves to see if the standard of spiritual welfare is being maintained. He traced this through repentence, faith, love and fellowship, and brought his hearers to the scriptural test in a very heart-searching way. The after service was conducted by Rev. Mr. Foster and Rev. Mr. Brown. Dr. Baker and Dr. Scott each took part and an old time fellowship service was participated in by many.

W. C. A. NOTES.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Christian Association was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, March 2nd, at 2.30 p.m. Reports from the different departments were read.

Prohibition Is In Open Warfare

TORONTO, March 11—Open war with the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance in convention at Massey Hall was declared last night by Dr. A. S. Grant, Chairman of the Ontario Referendum Committee. Whatever the decision of the Provincial Prohibition Convention at Massey Hall Dr. Grant declared that his organization would go on with the plebiscite on "bone dry" prohibition. The present convention he characterized as one "without policy or program."

"The position yesterday," said Dr. Grant, "was that they wanted to meet with the referendum body, and we met in conference with them. We stated our position and we practically came to an agreement in a committee of 50 in which the majority were Alliance men, that they would ask for a vote." But, apparently, they altered that, as they did not ask for that, but asked for amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act, such as the committee asked for before and were refused. So the convention has put themselves in the position of the Referendum Committee.

Care Nothing for Alliance

"We are going to take a vote. We don't care anything about the Alliance. Mr Spence has simply refused to fall in with the majority in these meetings. The majority in these meeting has been a for vote in the Dominion field. All the provinces with perhaps one exception, and I am not sure that perhaps that one will not be willing to come in, are for a vote on the question of importation, notwithstanding the action of the Alliance."

With considerable vigor Dr. Grant added, "We have the assurance that they will ask Ottawa to give us a vote."

"I am not going near them," Dr. Grant asserted, when asked if he would go before the convention, as had been suggested on the floor of Massey Hall yesterday. "It is really only a difference of opinion between one man (Mr. Spence) and the policy of the whole committee. He called this big convention "just a bit of camouflage from beginning to end. They have no policy, their program is a farce, and they don't represent anything."

O'Connor Attacks A Probe Witness

HAMILTON, March 11—Attempted blackmail was the construction placed upon the evidence of Archibald Jolly, a former salesman for the W. K. Kellogg Cereal Company, of Toronto, of the Board of Commerce. Jolly testified before the board which is investigating the operations of the alleged wholesale grocers combine with regard to a conversation which he had held with H. C. Beckett, of Hamilton. This conversation dealt with alleged activities by Beckett in furthering the appointment of Mr. O'Connor to the Board of Commerce, of Beckett's expenditure of some $200 in propaganda to aid the appointment and of the tribute paid O'Connor by Beckett. Mr. O'Connor took the witness from the hands of Mr. A. W. Roebuck, counsel for the public and flayed Jolly right and left charging him with having a loose tongue which wagged too much.

The testimony came as a thunderbolt upon the calm of the court. The commissioner was most fiery in his attack upon the witness while Commissioner Murdock occasionally interjected comments which indicated his disfavor of the denouncement.

MUGGLEY LEAVES FOR THE STATES TO-MORROW

Montreal, March 11.—H. H. Muggley, whose extradition to the United States was halted pending the settlement of a claim against him by a firm of jewellers at Victoria, B.C., will not be held in Canada longer than today. The goods for which the western city put in a claim were returned to representatives of the company today and the case has been dropped by mutual consent.

Muggley will be taken to Minneapolis tonight by the detectives Captain Regan and Detective Crumey. Detective Savard will have charge of the prisoner as far as the border at which point Muggley will be taken in charge by the American detectives. A $3,000 necklet was given to the Victoria Jewelery representative by Muggley, who made a purchase which caused a warrant to be issued against him. On the refund of necklet, the warrant was withdrawn.

COULDN'T SPELL 50 GOES TO GAOL

Montreal, March 11.—Spelling was the cause of Serge Symons conviction yesterday. Symon was charged with having raised a five dollar bill of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, making it look like a fifty. Asked by the court how he spelled "Fifty," Symon said with two "F's." The raised bills were all spelt that way.

The marriage was solemnized Wednesday afternoon of Mary Kathleen Madge (Tot), daughter of Mr. A. W. Hepburn of "Rickarton," Picton, and of Mrs. Hepburn, and Frank Lawrence Nokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Nokes, Norfolk, Va., formerly of Winnipeg, the Rev. Fr. Player officiating. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. J. de C. Hepburn, wore a suit of navy blue gabardine, with blouse of lace and Georgette, a very becoming hat of blue straw and taupe fox furs. Her bridesmaid was her youngest sister, Miss Ina Hepburn, who was frocked in blue and tan-shot taffeta, and wore a black hat, and the groomsman was Mr. W. O. Bobard. The bride's mother looked very handsome in black charmeuse and smart black hat; her sister, Mrs. L. E. Plummer, was gowned in blue Tricolette, and wore a black hat; another sister, Mrs. Charles Ackerman, of Peterborough, wore blue tricolette and blue hat; her sister-in-law, Mrs. James Hepburn, was in blue Georgette and satin, with blue hat, and the bride's young niece, Miss Rebecca Hepburn, was frocked in blue taffeta and a pretty hat to match. The bride's bouquet was of sweetheart roses and taffeta, and her gift from the groom, a diamond ring. After the service the bridal party drove to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Plummer, in Roxborough street, where a reception was held, Mr. and Mrs. Nokes leaving later for Norfolk, Va.

WILL ARBITRATE THEIR GRIEVANCES

London, March 11.—The danger of a nation-wide strike of the highway transport workers, which would have involved betwen 150,000 and 170,000 men, has been averted. At a prolonged conference at the Ministry of Labor both sides to the controversy agreed to arbitrate their differences.

USE THE PENITENTIARIES

Ottawa, March 11.—Dr. Edwards of Frontenac introduced a bill in the House to provide for the execution of capital sentences in penitentiaries, instead of city jails. Mr. Fielding asked if it was intended to substitute electrocution for hanging. Dr. Edwards replied that the bill did not make any change in the method of carrying out the sentence. But his purpose in introducing it was to make possible a change on those lines.

Called by Death

MRS. EDWIN McTAGGART

At Hatzie, B.C., Mrs. Edwin McTaggart, nee Miss Edith Clapp, of this city, passed away on Wednesday. Deceased was born in Northumberland County but lived for a greater portion of her life in Belleville. She was educated in the Plainfield Public School, Belelville High School and Madoc Model School. Mrs. McTaggart was a lady possessed of a bright and lovable disposition and was also of a literary turn of mind. While here she was a devoted member of Holloway Street Methodist Church and for some years was a faithful teacher of a boys' class in the Sunday School. Deceased left here some fourteen years ago for Vancouver. In addition to the husband a young son, Douglas, 7 years of age survives; also her mother, Mrs. Sarah Clapp of Hatzie B.C.; three sisters and two brothers. The brothers are Messrs Wm. B. Clapp, of Winnipeg, and Charles S. Clapp, of Belleville. The sisters are Mrs. John A. Barr, of Hatzie, B.C., Mrs. Thomas Nightingale of Huff's Island, P.E. County and Mrs. Herbert O. Foster, of Vancouver, B.C. The heartfelt sympathy of many friends in this city will be extended to those called upon to mourn the loss of a loved one.

DIED

McTAGGART—At Hatzic, B.C., on Wednesday morning, March 10th, Edith Annie Clapp, beloved wife of Mr. Edwin McTaggart, of Hatzic, B.C., and daughter of Mrs. Sarah Clapp, formerly of Belleville Funeral Saturday afternoon from her late home. 1td

LEAKING SHIP WRECKS FEW MILES FROM PORT

Halifax, March 11.—While returning to port leaking, the Portuguese owned steamer Albatross, which sailed from Halifax on Monday for Portugal, went ashore Tuesday midnight on Tommie's Ledge, near Egg Island, 28 miles east of Halifax. In abandoning the ship two of the crew lost their lives. They were Dunn, the cook, and Walker, a seaman. The remaining eight, scantily clad, reached the island and were provided for by the lightkeeper. They suffered severely from exposure. The ledges are dangerous and it is considered a foregone conclusion that the Albatross will be a total loss.

The Albatross formerly was in the naval service and was purchased last year by Portugal parties for the sardine fisheries.

Troops And Guns Land At Dublin

DUBLIN, March 11.—Two steamers landed at Dublin Tuesday night. The Freeman's Journal says today, with considerable forces of cavalry and infantry and a number of field guns. Subsequently these entrained for southern provincial depots including Kilkenny, Waterford and Curragh. Two infantry battalions had previously left Dublin for the southern military areas, according to the newspaper.

MR. HANNA CONTRADICTS BROCKVILLE REPORT

Kingston, March 11.—Before 250 leading citizens of Kingston, at a banquet held in Grant Hall, Queen's University, under the auspices of the Board of Trade, D. B. Hanna, President of the Canadian National Railways, reiterated what he said in Ottawa and Brockville regarding the bright outlook for the Government lines.

He denied the statement in the despatch sent out from Brockville that he had intimated that the Canadian National management was considering the electrification of its lines in Western and Central Ontario. "I was very much surprised to read about this in the Ottawa papers," he said. "I never said a single thing about the electrification of the railways. The Canadian National could not afford to electrify its lines," he declared.

John F. Pierce, General Passenger Agent of the Canadian Steamship Lines, spoke on the value of the St. Lawrence route for tourist trade, and hoped that Kingston would erect a big hotel to meet this trade. Other speakers were: Major Alex. C. Lewis, Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Deep-Waterways and Power Association, and H. G. Acres, Chief Hydraulic Engineer of the Ontario Hydro-electric Power Commission, who spoke about the power possibilites of the St Lawrence between Kingston and Montreal.

John M. Campbell, President of the Board of Trade, presided at the banquet.

RITCHIE'S

SPRING OPENING

Your presence is requested Tomorrow at our official Opening Display of

Styles for Spring

Because of the pointedly different character of the 1920 fashions, this Opening is a highly instructive exhibition. An entirely new influence is evident. The new ideas in apparel, millinery and accessories of Dress reveal a vast difference from those of past seasons. Every section of the store is ablaze with the new goods and we will welcome your presence on these Opening Days.

AN UNPRECEDENTED
Showing of Millinery

The Art of Millinery is delightfully expressed in the Spring Hat models that have emerged from our workrooms for the Opening Days—Hats that are inspired by all that is best in the latest Parisian importations. The new Hats are gleaming. They are bright with flowers and fruits and bright surface straws or glossy satin. There is not a popular shape or model but is prominently conspicuous in these Spring Opening displays. We will not attempt to describe them; but come in and look around. Come tomorrow, if at all possible!

New Style Features
YOU'LL SEE ON OPENING DAYS

THE NEW DRESSES show mostly low necks, short sleevesand short skirt lengths. You'll see them displaying these and many other clever characteristics in all the accepted fabrics. Priced from $25.00 to $115.00.

THE BLOUSE DEPARTMENT offers for your seeing many delightful new styles that have just come to hand in time for opening—showing sheer Silk Crepes, Georgettes, Wash Satins, Voiles, etc., priced $4.00 to $20.00.

SEPARATE SKIRTS are shown in a great variety of treatments this season. Many novel effects are shown that are developed of Serges, Taffetas, Fancy Tweeds and Novelty Silks in Plaids and Fancy Designs. The accordeon and box pleated styles are especially popular. Priced $7.50 to $42.50.

Quite apart from the Suits of other seasons are the new models that are here for Opening Days. Just to see these new garments will be an education in Suit styles for Spring—and we would welcome the opportunity of showing you. Prices $35.00 to $100.00.

Don't Fail to See the Extensive Exhibit of Artistic Furniture
--2nd Floor

A VISIT TO THE 3rd FLOOR

Just to walk through this department on Opening Days is an education to home lovers, and the displays are sure to impart many artistic ideas to anyone at all interested in "Dressing Up" the home. Several new window drapes are on exhibition. Scores of new Pedestal and Table Lamps, Metallic Table Lamps, Chesterfields, Reed Furniture and Rugs in the most wanted colorings, patterns and qualities. We would ask our guests on Opening Days not to leave the store until they have seen this most interesting display of homefurnishings.

THE RITCHIE COMPANY LIMITED

EDITORIAL

WE were just thinking this morning as we walked from department to department how really instructive and pleasing it was to look at and feel the goods when they are fresh and new. We thought again how nice it would be if we could have all our friend see this splendid assortment of new Spring merchandise; for to do so one would never think there was any great shortage in merchandise. But the fact is obvious. Goods are scarce, indeed — but not at Ritchie's.

In making Spring selections we have adhered strictly to those fundamental principles by which our store is so well known: Exclusiveness, Style, Quality and Dependableness. This applies not only to wearing apparel, but to everything that this big store sells. We would like to have you come in this week, during the opening days if possible; but in any case come in soon and view the new goods that are displayed for your easy seeing in the various departments.

Scientist Spent Six Days In Sealed Glass Cage

SUPPLIED WITH QUANTITY OF OXYGEN REQUIRED BY AVIATORS AT HIGH ALTITUDES, HE SPENT MUCH OF THE TIME IN SCIENTIFIC WORK.

LONDON, March 12—Joseph Bancroft, a Cambridge scientist, has just spent six days in a hermetically sealed glass case for the purpose of deciding whether it is possible to calculate the quantity of oxygen necessary to an airman at great altitudes.

The glass case is seven feet high and ten feet in width, and furnished with a bed chair and table. Bancroft spent his time doing scientific work and sleeping. Occasionally he took exercise riding a stationary bicycle affixed to the foot of his bed.

Although nitrogen was continually introduced into his glass chamber, the air became more and more void of oxygen, until it finally approximated that of 15,000 feet altitude. At that juncture Bancroft began to suffer from vomiting fits, lost his appetite and was unable to sleep.

When released the scientist said he felt badly shaken up by his experiment, but gratified at the technical results.

Relays of University undergraduates mounted guard in front of the case while Bancroft was inside, to prevent tampering.

Toronto Warning As To Civic Expenditure

Go Slow Says Finance Commissioner To Toronto Controllers

TORONTO, March 12.—A plainly-worded warning against ill-considered capital expenditures was presented to the controllers by Finance Commissioner Thos. Bradshaw. After outlining the $5,500,000 of capital outlay in which the city is already committed this year, he reported as follows:

"In my opinion, it is both dangerous and unwise to obligate the city to capital expenditures this year to a greater extent than is covered by the foregoing. Without taking into consideration the above five and one-half millions of new debt, the city is now within nine millions of the amount which it may legally borrow. Within a comparatively short time we must raise, so as to have on hand by September, 1921, the several millions which will be required to acquire the Toronto Street Railway property plans for which should be laid now and nothing should be done to prevent the necessary capital for this undertaking being raised on the most advantageous terms possible. The added burden upon the taxpayer for debt charges, if an unjustifiably heavy addition to the debt is made, will be so severe so to bring about conditions which will be almost intolerable, and as you know there is a limit as to the amount of capital which any public body, no matter how strong it may be, can raise."

DON'T TRY TO GET FACTS

The report concluded with the following significant sentence: "I can not but give expression to the view that in my opinion matters involving not merely hundreds of thousands, but millions of capital expenditure, are given far too little consideration and the city is too frequently committed to liability and debt without a due knowledge of what is involved, or without even endeavoring to ascertain the true facts."

D'Annunzio Vows To Commence War

Will Fire on Venice If Landing of Fiume Children is Forbidden

FIUME, March 11—Gabriele D'Annunzio, the insurgent leader, issued the fololwing statement:

"I read in the newspaper the considerable piece of news that the command of the royal troops in Julian Venetia prohibits the passage of the poor children of Fiume into the kingdom of Italy, while more than seven thousand Vienese children are today housed with tenderness under Italian roofs.

"I will not tolerate this infamy. I am preparing the roughest edged tool to brand it. Besides caring for Fiume's famishing children on one of my ships, I shall land them at Venice, ready to fire on whosoever dares to obstruct me in undertaking this legitimate reprisal. Yes, now commences war."

Several weeks ago more than 200 Fiume children were taken to Milan. At that time General Caviglia, former Italian Minister of War, said he had opened the doors to children taken to Italy for humane reasons. Gen. Caviglia is now making a tour of inspection along the armistice line.

A letter had been received by D'Annunzio from Said Zagloul Pasha, the Egyptian Nationalist leader, expressing their "common aims for emancipated humanity."

Canada's Loans To Foreign Countries

OTTAWA, March 12.—A. L. Desaulniers, Champlain, was informed in the House of Commons that the advances by Canada since November 11, 1918 to foreign countries were as follows:

Italy—Total advance, $6,003,301.20. Interest is payable half yearly at five and a half per cent. in Canadian dollars. The principal must be repaid by December 31, 1923.

France—Under agreement of May 15, 1919, the Dominion agreed to advance up to $25,000,000 for purchases in Canada of Canadian products during the period ended December 31 1919. The total advances including contracts entered into and still unpaid, amount to $5,519,047.60. The bills carry interest at 5½ per cent and are repayable December 31, 1924.

Greece—Canada advanced up to $25,000,000 for purchases in Canada; these carry interest at 5½ per cent, and debentures will be due on June 30, 1920.

Belgium—Canada agreed to advance $25,000,000 at 5½ per cent. the necessary debentures for which have been deposited in London to the order of the Finance Minister.

Rumania—$25,000,000 was advanced for purchases in Canada. The total advances, including contracts entered into and still unpaid, amount to $22,542,223.76. The Rumanian minister in London has deposited a bond for $25,000,000 to cover the advance.

Canada is among the "first class" members of the League of Nations, according to a statement by Mr. Rowell in the House of Commons.

CANADIAN ENLISTMENTS

Mr. Joseph Demers, St. Johns and Iberville, was informed that the grand total recruited in Canada for the C.E.F., to December 31, 1918 exclusive of those enlisted for naval service, R.A.F., Imperial Mechanical Transport, Inland Water Transport and exclusive of Britsh and Allied reservists, was 591,472. There were enlisted in England, 1,733; in Canada for overseas service other than C.E.F., 21,169; British and Allied reservists, 14,590, a total of 628,964.

J. H. Sinclair, of Antigonish, was informed at question time in the House that 4,176 permanent appointments and 22,954 temporary assignments had been made by the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Pius Michaud, Victoria, N.B., was informed that Canada paid $7,513,550 during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1919, on loans floated in the United States.

Mr. Michaud was also told that 6,137,643 bushels of wheat were exported to the United States during 1919. In the same year 61,725,631 bushels were sent to Europe. Of this amount 20,040,960 bushels were exported through the United States.

SCOTLAND DRY WHEN DOMINION TAKES ALL LIQUOR

London, March 12—A special correspondent of the Daily Graphic says that the only way Scotland is likely to go dry is by Canada draining her of whiskey. A greatly increased area is being sown with barley and the correspondent declares he has seen evidence in the hands of a whiskey export firm that Canada is prepared to take more whiskey than Scotland can supply. "Vancouver, for instance, has been getting hundreds of cases per month from one firm alone and the cry is 'send us more,' says the correspondent." According to the correspondent a Scottish distiller scoffed at the idea of prohibition in Scotland adding: 'Prohibition in Canada is a farce and we have a splendid market there for more whiskey than we can spare."

General Eight-Hour Day Debated at Ottawa

MEMBERS DOUBT POWER OF PARLIAMENT TO PASS MEASURE—FARMERS IN OPPOSITION, DECLARE SHORT WORK DAY WILL DRAIN FARMS OF LABOR.

OTTAWA, March 12.—When the House resumed last evening H. A. Mackie, Edmonton East, resumed the debate on the eight-hour day resolution by Mr. Burnham. Mr. Mackie dealt with the progress in regulating the hours and conditions of labor for women and children, particularly in Europe, the United States and Canada. A Dominion-wide eight-hour day was not going to meet all requirements. There were some conditions under which eight hours would be too long. The question of insurance and protection against unemployment should also be taken up in discussing a resolution of this nature. While he was in favor of an eight-hour day, Mr. Mackie did not like the phrase, subject only to the right of express private contract."

Col. W. F. Cockshutt, Brantford, expressed the belief that the eight-hour day could never be successfully applied to all Canadian industries until it became international. There was too much competition between nations. He was, however, in sympathy with this principle.

Not Possible on Farm.

Mr. J. A. Sexsmith said: "If the eight-hour day is applied to city industries you won't have a baker's dozen of young men on the farms." He was in sympathy with short hours for workers, but thought the eight-hour day under present conditions impossible.

Hon. W. S. Fielding could see no good reason for dividing the House on the matter. Canada had already given a broad general expression in favor of the eight-hour day. The next step, it seemed, should be the introduction of a bill along the lines indicated by the Government. He understood that the Government was obligated to do this.

Major D. L. Redman expressed doubt as to whether it was a matter of Federal jurisdiction, saying that under the British North America Act it would appear to rest with the provinces.

Can Government Do It?

Before going any further in a matter of this kind, said Hon. Mackenzie King, it was important to learn just what were the Government's rights in regard to enforcing an eight-hour day law. Before any further discussion took place the Government should place itself in a position to inform the House just where its rights ended.

John Best, Dufferin, said that men would not remain to work on the farms when they could get bigger pay and shorter hours in the city. Young and middle-aged men were giving up their farms because of this. It was becoming increasingly harder to secure farm labor, and a law of the nature proposed would only tend to reduce production of foodstuffs in Canada.

Thought He Had Killed His Son

Western Farmer Committed Suicide, But Son Lives.

SASKATOON, March 12.—Suffering pangs of remorse at having, as he thought, just shot and instantly killed his son, Andrew Olsen, a well known farmer of Turtleford, Sask., reloaded his rifle and shot himself dead.

"His son was lying sick in bed when Olsen was beside him cleaning his gun. Seeking information on how the gun worked the father asked the boy. Believing the gun was not loaded the boy was showing his father how it worked, with the muzzle pointed towards him. In some manner the father pulled the trigger. The shot entered the boy's arm. The son turned his face toward the wall, writhing in pain.

Under the impression that his son was dying, the father then turned the rifle on himself. The shot entered his head, killing him instantly. An investigation has been ordered.

Additional Outrages Take Place in Various Parts of Ireland

dustry

DUBLIN, March 11—A number of additional outrages are reported to have taken place in various parts of Ireland last night. Police Sergeant Nazer was shot dead, and Constable Doyle was wounded, at Rathkeale, 17 miles west of Limerick.

In the Cork district, Inspector McDogah was dangerously wounded in the head by a bullet from a revolver while exchanging shots with crowds which attacked him and another officer. One civilian was badly wounded during the fighting.

In Limerick, Constable Murphy was ambushed and shot, and dangerously wounded. At Kilbeggan County Westmeath, one hundred armed men raided Durrow Castle, a private residence, for arms. The family was absent, and only two sergeants were in the castle. The raiders gained entrance to the building by smashing the big door with a sledge hammer.

Kansas Cashier Shot By Thugs In Bank Fight

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 11—Glen M. Shockey, cashier of the South Side Bank, 39th and Main Streets, was killed by one of four unmasked bandits five minutes after the bank was opened in the morning. Maurice J McNellies, vice-president of the bank, and James Smith, a negro janitor, were shot and clubbed, but not seriously injured. Miss Eva Lathrop, telephone operator, was not injured although she sat through the fusilade in the line of fire. The bandits escaped in an automobile.

Henry Strohmyer, bookkeeper followed the robbers from the bank, firing a revolver at them. One man had remained at the wheel of the bandits' car. As the last man entered it, a bullet from Stromyer's revolver struck car by his companions as the car sped him. He fell, but was pulled into the away.

Southern Tornado Kills Many People

Ten Reported Dead in Missouri and Three in Nevada

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., March 12.—Ten persons are known to be dead, one is reported dead and eight are injured as the result of a tornado which swept through the valley of Turkey Creek, near Branson and Hollister in Taney county, yesterday.

Seven of the dead are minor children of Ran and William Box, brothers living at Melva, a small town five miles south of Branson.

John Gross and his wife, living on a farm pear Oasis, north of Branson, were blown away with their home and no trace has been found of either the home or its occupants.

BLOWN ACROSS STREAM

Ridgeway Mankey was carried 1,000 feet from his home at Melva and when he regained consciousness on the opposite bank of Turkey Creek, he saw his young brother William struggling in the water. He was too weak to give aid. Later the body of the brother was recovered down stream.

Reports of unusual effects of the storm were numerous last night. A work train of eight cars south of Branson and on which the wives of six workmen lived, was moved 200 feet down the track and the cars uncoupled but not one of the occupants hurt.

OTTAWA, March 12.—Measures to curtail importation of luxuries, it is rumored here, may be a feature of the next budget proposal. There has been some discussion of the matter, it is understood, but so far the Government has reached no decision. Reports from Washington that the Government is contemplating an embargo on the importation of non-essentials are said to be without foundation. The Government, it was officially stated today, has reached no such definite conclusion and in any event, action decided upon would not be announced before the budget is submitted to Parliament.

Premier Will Resume Parliamentary Duties

WILL BE BACK AT HIS DESK EARLY IN MAY, PREPARED TO CARRY ON WITH HIS OLD-TIME VIGOR, SHOULD IMPROVEMENT IN HEALTH CONTINUE—FINAL DECISION UPON SEVERAL QUESTIONS IS POSTPONED IN MEANTIME.

OTTAWA, March 12.—"We approve of the rest you are taking and which you have so justly earned, and we assure you of our determination to carry on and to give our whole-hearted support to the Acting Prime Minister and the Government during your absence," says the message which the caucus of Unionist Senators and members of the Commons yesterday unanimously decided to forward to Sir Robert Borden. The Government's supporters were called upon to pronounce upon the arrangement whereby Sir Robert remained at the head of the Administration and was enabled to seek in a long holiday restoration of his health and to entrust the duties and responsibilities of his office to Sir George Foster. In consenting to this arrangement the Prime Minister insisted that it should be submitted to his followers in Parliament for their ratification. Events which have transpired since the opening of the session made it a foregone conclusion that this ratification would be gladly given. The resolution embodying the legislators' consent and their message to Sir Robert was introduced by H. H Stevens, of Centre Vancouver, a Conservative and seconded by H. M. Mowat, of Parkdale, a Liberal Unionist It was carried without a dissenting voice.

The caucus was largely attended and, judging from the sound of cheers which issued from the reading room of the Commons, the place of meeting it was a most enthusiastic one. The members were highly gratified by the report of the improvement of Sir Robert Borden's health, when the announcement of his intention to return to his place in the House of Commons and at the head of the Government in six or eight weeks, if his progress toward recovery continued at the same rate as during the past two months. That announcement led the caucus to defer final decision upon several questions which had been brought before it. For instance the meeting decided to await the Prime Minister's return before taking action upon his suggestion with respect to future policy. The caucus had before it the outline of a platform which, it is said, was prepared by the Prime Minister and has been approved by the Cabinet. The nature of the draft platform has been a carefully guarded secret.

REVISION OF THE TARIFF

On the question of tariff policy, it is reported that a thorough investigation of the tariff schedules is recommended, and that appropriate action is suggested to prevent undue enhancement of the prices of necessaries of life in Canada and to require manufacturers of agriclutural implements, enjoying tariff protection to sell their products at prices comparable with the price of like articles in competing countries. There was a general discussion of the tariff and of other questions.

Attorney-General Laughs At Prohibition Precipice

AGAIN DENIES STATEMENT ATTRIBUTED TO HIM AS TO PROHIBITIONISTS TRYING TO FORCE GOVERNMENT OVER PRECIPICE—LIVELY OPENING OF LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, March 11—A lively few minutes questioning featured the opening of the Legislature this afternoon, when the House settled down to resume the debate on the Speech from the Throne. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, Conservative member for West York, read a newspaper statement quoting G. G. Halcrow, Labor member for East Hamilton, as having attributed to Hon. W. E. Raney a statement that "the Government is dangerously near a precipice and the temperance forces are trying to force it over."

"A despatch from Hamilton, two days ago was the first that I heard of this precipice' the Attorney-General replied amid laughter from Government supporters. "This dispatch is the second time it has been called to my attention and is all I know about it."

Should Submit Questions

"I consider," declared Mr. Halcrow, "that members who have such questions to ask, should submit them to me. Now that the matter is before the House, I should like to say that if a member of the House cannot get into private converastion with a few friends, without having his words picked and published in such a way as to create a false impression, then I don't think this House is going to finish this year."

Mr. Halcrow was called to order by the Speaker, who ruled that no debate could be permitted on this question.

F. W. Hay, Liberal member for North Perth, called the attention of the Provincial Treasurer, to a report from New York that $5,000,000 of Province of Ontario five year, five and a half per cent. bonds, had been sold in that city at 93.76 providing a yield of seven per cent.

Were Absorbed

"The information is incorrect," replied Hon. Peter Smith. "The press has made a mistake. I sold no bonds outside of Ontario. These bonds were absorbed by a local firm in the Province, and I feel that I have no responsibility after they have taken them in charge. I received over par in Canadian money for the bonds."

"What was the actual price?" inquired Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Conservative leager.

"One hundred point six five," replied the treasurer amid applause.

F. W. Hay also ventured a criticism of the conveniences provided in the members lavatory.

"I know most of us are accustomed to using the kitchen towel when we are at home," he admitted, "but the conveniences provided thus far by the Minister of Public Works are not wholly satisfactory. I hope we will see that we are provided with individual towels, or at least something more satisfactory. Even though economy is the aim of the Government in every detail, I hope we can be supplied with individual towels ,or at least something better than the paper ones we are now forced to use."

HARRY MOREY IN STRONG ROLE

In "The Honor of Bar X" Harry Morey, the popular Vitagraph star has been provided, with one of the best vehicles of his career. The story is unusually gripping and holds the attention rivetted to the final scene. "The Village Venus," a two-reel Universal comedy, Pathe Gazette with its gists of important news events, Topics of the Day with its amusing paragraphs culled from the press of the world, and a beautiful Travelogue are also being shown on the same program.

ANITA STEWART IN "HUMAN DESIRE"

Bernice, the Italian girl played by Anita Stewart in "Human Desire," which is being shown at Griffin's tonight and Saturday matinee and night is placed in the painful situation of being taken in by a married artist, made his model, given an adopted baby to care for, and then, in his absence, being accused by his wife, who has been away, of improper relation. The Italian girl left Italy, where she had spent her whole life in a convent for the purpose of finding in America the suffering babies of whom she has been told. Persuaded to pose for the artist, a child in her arms, she grows to love the baby so that the artist, who is separated from his wife, obtains a child from a home to satisfy the big desire in the heart of Bernice After he finds the girl gone the artist begins a search which is at last successful, at this period in the story incidents are introduced which gives the photoplay a surprising but a very happy ending Lyons-Moran are also appearing on the program in a good comedy offering. Pathe News showing the World in motion, an Outing Chester play of unusual interest and "Rubes and Robbers" an exceptionally funny two-reel comedy are also being screened on the same program.

"LISTEN LESTER"

Next Tuesday night, March 16th Belleville will have the opportunity of seeing the musical comedy that reigned at the Knickerbocker Theatre, New York City, for twelve consecutive months with the entire cast, chorus, production and special company orchestra. "Listen Lester" which was awarded the trade-mark as "the smartest musical comedy of the Broad way season" is the work of Harry L. Cort, Geo. E. Stoddard, and Harold Orlob. It deserves the rank as much for its terpsichoreon efforts as for its tuneful melodies which have circulated throughout the country on the Victrola. The story concerns one Arbutus Quility, successful manicurist with much foresight and a package of letter, written to her by a repentant Colonel Dodge. The erstwhile suitor, Col. Dodge, is trailed by the determined Arbutus to a hotel in Florida. The Colonel establishes a reputation for dodging the vindictive Arbustus; the female detective who is trailing Arbutus and the designing widow, Mrs. Munn, who waits him with open arms. William Penn, jr., the hotel clerk is a good mixer and almost keeps peace between the guests of the hotel; Lester, the titular hero of the comedy, is a hotel portter, who listens only when the request is backed b ya bank note. His services are much in demand by all parties.

Nickel Coinage Urged On Gov't. By Mining Men

"That the Canadian Mining Institute go on record as recommending to the Government that the metal employed in the manufacture of the coinage of Canda be changed to nickel at an early date." Following a paper on nickel coinage read yesterday by C. F. Macdonald of the International Nickel Company, at a meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute, the above resolution moved by T. W. Gibson, Deputy Minister of Mines was unanimously carried.

In a short resume of the history of coinage Mr. Macdonald said that the idea of using nickel for the manufacture of coins was not a new one, but dated as far back as 235 B.C., though where the metal came from then, he could not say. The first regular issue of nickel coins were those of five, ten and fifteen centime pieces, issued by the Belgian Government in 1861. Since then the speaker stated that the tendency to use nickel coinage had increased among the nations of the world.

The different metals that had been used in the manufacture of the worlds coinage were reviewed by the speaker and their various defects pointed out. Bronze coins, Mr. Macdonald said, were easily counterfeited which facts rendered them unsuitable for coins of high value. Aluminum coins had also been tried in various parts of the British Tmpire, but had had to be replaced in two years. German silver, cobalt and nickel alloy had all been tried with little success. The silver coins at present in use had many defects, the speaker stated. Over a period of forty five years, Mr. Macdonald said, the United Kingdom had withdrawn 30 per cent. of the total issue of coins for that period. Though of good appearance, silver coins had several drawbacks not the least of these being their affinity to sulphur, which causes them to turn black.

The ideal metal for the coinage in the opinion of the speaker was nickel as it met all the necessary requirements and made very remote the danger of counterfeiting. Apart from the sentimental reasons attached to the use of a metal typically Canadian many other advantages would accrue from its use.

Prof. A. P. Coleman spoke on the "Lost Placers of Ontario," his paper where the gold placers, which he was sure were in Ontario, were located. Some of the changes noted in the mining camps of Northern Ontario during the last four years were discussed by J. G. McMillan in a paper on "Recent Developments in Northern Ontario."

The following officers for the coming year were elected: President, O. E. S. Whiteside; Vice-Presidents, British Columbia, E. E. Campbell; Manitoba, W. J. Dick; Quebec, H. Y. Rusel; Nova Scotia, G. D. McDougall.

Eight-Hour Day Before Commons

OTTAWA, March 12.—The fuel supply and the eight-hour day were under discussion in the House of Commons. It was the first private members' day of the session, and, following the long sitting of the previous day, attendance was slim. Both questions arose on motions by Mr. Burnham, of Peterboro'. In the eight-hour day, (discussion on which was unfinished when the House arose) there was difference of opinion. Both Mr. Burnham and Mr. Stevens, of Vancouver, who seconded, had urged adoption of a national eight-hour day subject only, in the words of the motion to "the right of express private contract. "The opposition to the motion came from Mr. Prouix of Prescott. Mr. Prouix argued that the eight-hour day would decrease production and prevent the farmer from getting the assitance he needed. He further cited the objections expressed by the Catholic lagor unions of Quebec to a general eight-hour day.

SOARING COST OF LIVING

The question of fuel supply throughout Canada will be discussed fully in the House of Commons at an early date. On motion of J. H. Burnham of Peterboro, the Government agreed to select a time for such discussion.

Mr. Burnham in introducing his motion said that the soaring cost of living could not be ignored by the Government unless it was willing to face a possibility of anarchy. Mr. Burnham condemned free trade. It could not be qualified, he said. It meant the free importation of everything, including Chinese labor, and inevitably would reduce the status of the workingman in this country and bring about child labor and other undesirable industrial conditions.

Speaking of coal supplies and the recent threatening shortage of fuel during the coal strike Mr. Burnham urged the Government to give some consideration to the scientific discoveries as to the possibilities of alcohol as a source of industrial power.

D. D. McKenzie said he had used coal in his own house for thirty years and he thought the problem of fuel supply could be met by opening the St. Lawrence trade route between Port Arthur and the Atlantic. If this were done coal loaded at Nova Scotia ports could be shipped through to the West. Nova Scotia has coal in abundance. The situation was entirely one of finding a way of shipment.

GREAT PROBLEMS INVOLVED

Hon. Mr. Meighen reminded the House that there were many great problems involved and the mere existence of unlimited supplies of coal did not help to any extent. "Every section of land in Western Canada has approximately $1,000,000 worth of resources on or under it, but it is the getting out of such resources to which we must devote our attention." It has been charged that the Government had given too many coal leases away, but actual statistics showed the Government to come out better than the investor. Dating back to 1914 there had been no alienation of resources save those which had been closely guarded by lease. One great problem was to find a large enough market within range which would compete with foreign coal. Western coal was such that most of it did not permit of exposure or long distance hauling, but he was very glad to report that the briquetting system, upon which a board of experts was now working, was getting toward a very satisfactory state, so much so that private capital was eager to get in on its development.

Mr. Meighen was asked if Canada could get along in case the United States shut down on the export of coal to this country.

"I would be the last man to admit that any action of the United States would place us off the map. If they did stop export there might be considerable inconvenience and some suffering, but we have coal and wood and the time would not be long before we could adequately meet the situation," he replied.

WATER TRANSPORTATION

Referring to water transportation, Mr. Meighen said the Government was quite in favor of developing that as far as possible, but here again the question of finance loomed large. The wisdom of water transportation was unquestioned.

Mr. Meighen urged that private enterprises should be attracted as much as possible to the development of peat and oil resources. Only two per cent. of the oil consumed in Canada was produced at home. "And yet we are not very far from very considerable oil discoveries in this country," he added. The Government, he said in conclusion would do its utmost to encourage anything which would lead to economical independence and free the country from the legislation or whims of any other Government. He also urged that persons desiring information on the progress of dealing with the fuel problem write the department.

U.F.O. ENDORSES GRANT'S REJECTION OF MASSEY OFFER

Toronto, March 11.—Mr. J. J. Morrison, Secretary of the U.F.O., yesterday issued the following statement regarding the proposed Massey Education Commission:

"Referring to the statement in yesterday's evening papers, criticizing the Hon. Mr. Grant's so-called change of heart towards the proposed Massey Commission, the U.F.O. is not interested in whether it was foresight or hind-sight that led to his decision.

"The U.F.O. Executive believes, at any rate that it was "wise-sight," and thoroughly endorses the stand taken in turning it down. It was announced about the same time that the Rockefeller Foundation was coming over here to confer on public educational matters. The U.F.O. objects to great interests interfering with the public institutions of the country and, especially the educational system."

NOT PATRONAGE, CERTAINLY NOT!

Toronto, March 12—Another appointment of Ontario's favorite sons has been made in the person of Geo. Watson Holmes, who is to be the new Deputy Minister of Titles, in succession to George H. Murihead, who has accepted a position with a trust company in Brantford.

Mr. Holmes for the last ten years has been associated with Gordon Waldron, who is prominent in U.F.O. circles. He has practised law in Toronto since about 1886, when he graduated from the Osgoode Law School. He was born and raised in Lambton County, but has resided in Toronto for nearly forty years. Prior to entering partnership with Mr. Waldon he was a member of the legal firm of Holmes and Gregory.

J. G. Scott, the Master of Titles, although quite active, is nearly 84 years of age.

—and such interesting new-comers as they are! There is no need to label them Spring, for the spirit of the new season is indelibly stamped in the lines, fabrics and colors of each presentation.

SUITS.
—are shown in irresistible styles that w'll make you want to slip them on at once. Tricotines, Serges and Jersey Cloths are finding favor.

COATS.
—with backs swinging free from the shoulders, giving a combination of style and comfort which you will like.

Kimono Crepes

Many heavy Bath Robes and Kimonos will now be discarded in favor of those of lighter weight. Here are excellent materials—Serpentine Crepe and Delmona Cloth—that will make excellent Kimonos. The large figured patterns are good and the materials will give long service. Priced 75c. and 85c. yard.

Interesting Voiles

This season our showing of Cotton Fabrics for dainty frocks is even more attractive than ever before. When you imagine the fabrics of this collection fashioned into styles you desire you will at once decide on one or more Dress Lengths. The prices, too, are reasonable. Some of these attractive materials may be seen in our Window.

Underthings

—in excellent qualities of Nainsooks, Bridal Cloths and Madapolams are daintily trimmed with laces and fine embroidery, while some have been hand embroidered by the Filipinos. Your inspection is invited.

GEORGETTES.
—that are as strong as these will be found quite economical for Blouses. They are 40 ins. wide, in Black, Navy, White and Taupe, at $4.50 yard.

CREPE DE CHINE.
These are gorgeously figured Crepe de Chines of unusually good quality. They will be much used for Blouses and trimmings.

Underskirts

Our assortment of Underskirts is larger than ever before. There are Skirts in Children's, Misses', Ladies', and in over-sizes. Materials are Sateen, Moire, Silvasheen, Taffeta, Silk Jersey, Figured Silkoline, and Habutai Silk. Prices range from $1.25 to $16.50.

A special number in a Child's Underskirt is made in a good range of colors, in Cotton Taffeta. Priced $1.65.

CANADA'S FUEL SHORTAGE.

The fuel situation in Canada is again acute, and is likely to remain more or less in this condition. Canada has enormous supplies of coal, but these, unfortunately for the central portions, are situated in our Eastern and Western provinces. Central Canada has been largely dependent for coal upon imports from the United States, and so long as this supply was normal, the average Canadian paid little attention to the situation, though the Conservation Commission had been pointing out the danger almost from the day it was organized. The coal strike, resulting in the reduction of shipments from the United States, has focused attention upon our coal resources.

Foreseeing the day when the United States, owing to the depletion of coal resources, may curtail the amount permitted to be exported, the Canadian Commission of Conservation has advocated the following measures to meet the situation:

1. The public development, under comphehensive plans, of the total regulated flow of our water-powers, so far as such development is economically feasible, also that water be conserved by the creation of storage reservoirs.

2. The establishment of central coking plants, in which all bituminous coal shall be coked before being used as fuel. By constructing these plants near our larger cities the gas will be available for heating and domestic use, thus reducing the demand for coal for this purpose. The other by-products, coal tar and ammonium sulphate, would also be recovered. At present, owing to the consumption of the new coal by our industries, railways, etc., these by-products are largely wasted.

3. The development of super-power stations at mine centres in the West, where water-power is not economically available. From these stations steam-generated electric power could be distributed by transmission lines to municipalities within a radius equal to that of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission's line from Niagara Falls to Windsor, Ont. Large amounts of slack or waste coal accumulate at the mines. Where possible this waste should be used for power generation, and the distribution of this power would relieve the railways of the transportation of a large tonnage of coal

The Commission warns us that fuel in Canada is a necessity, and it warrants the most careful consideration.

"GENTLEMAN OF CELLARS."

It is announced that the King has appointed Major Edric Thomas Kingscote to be Gentleman of the Cellars in succession to Thomas Arthur Fitzhardinge Kingscote, who has resigned, says the London Mail.

The great vaults that extend under nearly the whole of St. James' Palace are used for storing the wine required for the various royal residences and include a complete bottling establishment.

During the war abstinence was observed in the King's household. In peace time large purchases of wine are made each year, and experts are employed in travelling about the vineyards of the continent seeking suitable vintages.

The King and Queen appreciate the light wines of Australia, and a large stock of these has found a place in the cellars.

Still wines, such as chablis, port and claret, are bought in bulk and after being allowed to mature, are bottled and stored in the cellars, which cover about a quarter of an acre. The task of the Gentleman of the Cellars and his staff is to preserve the wines and buy new stocks.

"NO ASSET REMAINS"

The interesting if somewhat unpleasant situation in which many western municipalities find themselves as a result of their pre-war extravagances is commented upon by Mr. John Appleton, of Toronto, writing in the current issue of the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

"Unnecessary expenditures, made to meet developments which in the pre-war period were regarded as probable, account for much of the difficulty that has arisen," says Mr. Appleton.

"Particulars are given below showing precisely how one town with a population of about 400 utilized the money it borrowed."

The list ,which is rendered by Mr. Appleton as follows, shows twenty items of expenditure, in nine of which, no assets remain, while in several others the assets are of questionable value:

1. For roads and market. Roadwork done satisfactorily but property for market handed back to G.T.R. No real asset exists.
2. For water wells. No asset remains.
3. For exhibition grounds. Asset still exists.
5. For sidewalks. Sidewalks constructed.
6. For firehall. Building erected and used as municipal office.
7. For water and gas wells. Casing pulled from wells, and no asset remains.
8. For grading. Grading still in evidence.
9. For deepening gas well. No asset remains.

10 and 11. For waterworks. Boiler and engine sold and all that remains is hydrants connected.

12. For industrial site. Property that remained handed back to original owner and no asset remains.

13 and 14. For natural gas. Gas wells became flooded with water and all work abandoned. Casing pulled out and no asset remains.

15. For industrial site. See No. 12.

16 and 17. For fire equipment which is still on hand.

18. For natural gas. See Nos. 13 and 14.

19. For hospital. No asset exists.

20. For ditch. Work done.

Heavy tax bills this year of high cost of living will not be capable of humorous treatment, Figures seldom lie, men often do; consequently a man's words may be of little consequence while his figures may be of tremendous importance. In other words, his remarks may cut no figure, but his figures may be quite remarkable.

Funny, isn't it, that ratepayers should suggest putting a brake upon civic expenditure this year wherever possible? The grin, however, has a habit of coming off when the tax bills come in or the tenant's rent is raised on account of increased civic expenditure.

Sir Thomas White's downrightness in saying what he thinks of the western farmers' movement is characteristic of the strong personality which is his. It is one reason why Sir Thomas stands out as a man of individuality and power. No politician can rise very high in the estimation of Canadians now who has not the courage of his convictions on a great national question. —Mail and Empire.

Discussing the industrial history of Ireland in the February number of The Protectionist, Dr. R. E. Thompson says: "Under the tariff enacted by the National Parliament in 1782 Irish manufactures grew and flourished. That Parliament rejected the first approaches of the scheme for the Union because it would sacrifice those manufactures. So the Act of Union, in 1801, provided for a very gradual reduction of the duties in that Irish tariff, and multitudes of Irishmen believed the native industries were strong enough to stand alone after this reprieve. By 1820 the duties were gone, and by 1826 the manufactures had gone after them. Ireland settled down to farming and famine."

Fear Our Whiskey
((London Saturday Review)

Walking down Oxford street, the other day we saw an extraordinary sight, a long double queue of al lsorts and conditions of men and women waiting to gain admission to a public house. The queue stretched around the corner of Soho street and at each end was a constable, with a mounted policeman in front of the door. On asking the sergeant the meaning of this protected crowd, we received the laconic answer, "Whiskey." It is stated in some of the papers that there are large importations of American and Canadian whiskies from the useless stores of those countries. If the Government wish to exercise their powers, legal or illegal, of prohibiting imports let them keep "Bourbon" and "Rye" from British heads and hearts, for they are fiery poison.

To Curtail Lawsuits
(New York Sun)

By far the most interesting and important reform recommended to the Legislature by the New York State Bar Association at its recent meeting in this city is the enactment of a measure to permit our courts to entertain jurisdiction of lawsuits to prevent future litigation. These cases are known as suits for declaratory relief. The plaintiff comes into court with the contract he has made with the defendant; questions have arisen in regard to the rights and duties of the respective parties thereunder; he asks the judge to consider their conflicting views and render a judgment answering these questions and declaring just what each party is lawfully bound to do under the agreement. The complaint is really a request for judicial guidance to avoid the commission of errors which might result in serious loss. If the judge can tell the parties to the contract what their rights and duties are now a suit for heavy damages in the future may be avoided.

Chatham, March 12—A report to the Board of Education on the physical condition of 623 pupils in Central School shows 359 up to standard; 112 were physically unfit and mentally backward; 52 were physically unfit and mentally normal; 13 were very irregular and in poor physical condition.

"Eighty per cent. of the pupils who are physically unfit," stated the report, "keep irregular hours and attend moving picture shows too often."

Beauty and the Dictionary

She lived next door—a damsel fair,
With eyes of blue and—oh, her hair
Was glistening like pure, radiant gold
That's spun by fabled nymphs of old. old.
I've watched her at her casement as she whiled long hours through,
I've seen her in the morning as fresh as diamond dew,
I've gazed at from afar upon her pretty lithesome form,
And heard her cheery laughter in sunshine and in storm.
But never have I spoken to this neighbor fair of mine,
Though often have I smiled at her, and answered she in kind.

And then—I heard her at the phone,
And curse the day I pulled that bone!
She said, "I seen him," and, "I've went,"
And "Can that stuff," "I bet a cent,"
And "Ain't you right," and then "I've sawn"—
And now, alas, her beauty's gone!

EXPECTS SCOTLAND TO SOON GO "DRY"

London, March 12—It is possible that within twelve months or a little more that all Scotland will have gone dry.

The experiment in Scotland by prohibition forces will be a local experiment, and it is expected that the resulting efficiency and morality will induce other areas to follow suit.

I hope Scotland will be the pioneer in reform in which England, will, perhaps at no distant date, follow suit.

LOOK OUT FOR 'FLU

Don't Trifle With a Cold.

Influenza was not stamped out last winter. It has appeared again. Many cases are reported.

You can't afford to neglect a cold. With the nose, throat and bronchial tubes inflamed and the system weakened you simply invite the germs of Influenza to attack.

Break up the cold with DOMINION C. B. Q. (Dominion Cascara, Bromide and Quinine Tablets) in the red box.

In a few hours, after taking these tablets, the head will clear; the stuffy feeling and headache will disappear. You should keep DOMINION C. B. Q. always in the house through the winter. No telling when you will need this reliable remedy. All druggists have DOMINION C. B. Q. in the red box. This is one of the standard preparations of the National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited. 14

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive

During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "Flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza.

Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 30c at druggists. Guaranteed.

BANKERS IN IRELAND DEFY GOVERNMENT

Dublin, March 11—The banks of Ireland offered defiance to the British Government when they decided to refuse to allow it to examine their books with a view to determining Sinn Fein deposits. The banks claim the privelege of inviolability of a depositor's right to secrecy concerning his accounts. A special court sitting here to start an island-wide inquiry into deposits was adjourned after two witnesses called refused to answer questions and declined to produce the books or documents asked for.

The inquiry's ulterior object is said to be to find who has subscrib- to the Sinn Fein loan and how much.

THE EASIEST WAY TO END DANDRUFF

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

HINDENBURG STILL OBEYS EX-KAISER

Berlin, March 12—The Deutche Zeitung reports that when the German Nationalists offered Von Hindenburg the candidature of the German presidency the field marshal asked for time to consult the former Emperor, to whom he had sworn allegiance, according to a despatch to the London Times. "As Von Hindenburg has since accepted the candidature," adds the despatch, "it is clear that the ex-Kaiser's opinion still carries weight in the Reichs party's political opinions."

WIRELESS PHONE USED.

Montreal, March 12.—A large gathering of the members of the Rotary Club yesterday heard with much interest of the development of wireless telephony, the speaker being Arthur Hyatt Morse, of the Marconi Company of Canada. Mr. Morse held in his hand a small aerial, something of the size and style of a gridiron. There was a sending instrument near the Bonaventure station and the ether waves were picked up through the aerial at the hotel, which in turn transmitted the sound through a reproducing instrument and megaphone amplifier, and the members heard the strains of "There's a long, long trail a-winding," and later a lively waltz tune by this means. There could also be heard in the dining room the sound of street cars stopping and starting outside the station near the Bonaventure station, as well as the varied city noises mingling with the tones of the singer.

Mr. Morse pointed out that the wireless telephone has obviously very wide application, but that there was no present indication of its being developed to supplant the ordinary city telephone. He pictured 20 or 30 aerials in one city block at work to emphasize that the ordinary telephone within the city would not likely be replaced. There was no need for it for such use, but for long distance work, from city to city and over greater distances than were practicable for wires, it would be of great benefit.

CHASED STEAMER BY TUG

New York, March 12—A speed record for tug travel through New York harbor was made by Lieut. Travers Williams-Taylor, son of Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, of the Bank of Montreal.

Lieut. Williams-Taylor had booked passage on the Cunard liner Imperator. Just after the departure of the big steamer, shortly after noon, he arrived at the dock. Waving two fifty-dollar bills, he shouted: "The man who puts me aboard the Imperator gets $100 and the one who makes a good try and loses gets $50." The captain of the tug boat Lewis Bulger, immediately cut loose, shouting to the lieutenant to jump aboard. The captain won his hundred dollars off the Statue of Liberty.

Expect Cobalt To Outyield Yukon

Provincial Minister of Mines Optimistic About the North.

"The returns from the Cobalt fields have been $180,000,000, and $90,000,000 of this amount has been paid back to investors. Before Cobalt dies she will produce more in value than the Yukon."

This statement on the yield and prospects of the well-known Northern mining region was made at the annual dinner of the Canadian Mining Institute at Toronto by Hon. Harry Mills, Minister of Mines for Ontario. The declaration was received with much enthusiasm by the large gathering of members. Mr. Mills made a request that the next convention be held at the head of the lakes. He said he had been entrusted to convey this invitation in behalf of Fort William, and asked that the institute give it their serious consideration. In outlining the activities of his department he said that $10,000 had been appropriated this year for the development of exploration facilities in mining fields in the province, thousands of square miles of which had yet to be tested. He stated that some of the best mining men in Canada were on his staff and he was of the opinion that they were underpaid. Better pay for civil service employees all round was being provided for, and the men in his branch would benefit by the increases.

Mr. Mills said the statement had been made that the war had advanced science 500 years in five years, but he did not think that this had been true with regard to mining. The encouragement should be given to the investment of legitimate capital, but wild-catting should be strongly discouraged. He would say that more capital had been invested with no return by small investors than had been represented in the total output of the mines. This was a broad statement, but he felt safe in making it. There had been a drop of $24,000,000 in the mine products in the last year. Nickel had been hit particularly hard owing to the fact that a large reserve was on hand.

WAR WAGE SAVINGS GIVEN TO STATE

London, March 11—There are some interesting contrasts, presenting economic conditions, available here. Lord Colwyn, Chairman of the Income Tax Commission, gave the Manchester Chamber of Commerce three instances of inflated war fortunes. One man, who was worth one million in 1914, has now multiplied it six times, another man who had three million had multiplied it five or six times. Some aliens who came here during the war, had capital of about ten thousand pounds. They got hold of things the Government wanted and their capital was now a half million pounds. Sir William Pearce, Chairman of the Committee on Taxation of War Wealth, told another gathering of a working man who presented the State with his entire war wages savings, amounting to ninety pounds in recognition of the sacrifices of his fellow countrymen.

350,000 MEN WILL STRIKE AGAINST PROFITEERING

New York, March 12—Possibility of a general strike of 350,000 union men in New York city if relief is not provided immediately against profiteering landlords and other high costs of living was up for consideration at a conference here between Mayor Hylan and officials of the Central Federated Union. The threat to recommend the strike was made recently by the Central Union, the officials of which asked the Mayor to support a bill designed to check profiteering in rents.

Opposition Members Ask Questions Galore

Many Notices Filed by Conservatives And Liberals on the Opening Day of House

Opposition members in the Legislature hav callowed no grass to grow unde rtheir feet in opening a bombardment of queries against the Government forces. Both Liberal and Conservative members, in large numbers gave notire of questions which they desire answered in the usual course.

H. Hartley Dewart, Liberal leader, asks fir an order of the House for copies of all correspondence or agreements entered into between the Government and J. J. Carrick or anyone in his behalf or any other person or persons, company or corporation, relative to the sale of the Pic River and Black Sturgeon River timber limits in the district of Thunder Bay, and the carrying out of the provisions of a certain agreement dated the 9th day of May, 1917, between the said Carrick and the Government of the Province of Ontario as presented by the Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines requiring as part of the consideration for the transfer of the said limtis, the occupying and operation of a pulp mill and a paper mill within a period of 3 years at an expenditure of nit less than $2,000,000, and which agreement was rescinded by a subsequent agreement bearnig the date 8th day of May 1918, whereby the Government relieved the said Carrick from carrying out the terms of the first-mentioned agreement by reason of ohe alleged absence of suitable water power to permit of the operation of the said pulp and paper mills or warrant their action.

All correspondence subsequent to the return above mentioned (between the Government of the Province of Ontario and the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario) with reference to the supply of power for the operation if the said mills.

WOULD REVISE PENSIONS ACT

Capt. J. O. Ramsden, Liberal member for South-west Toronto, seat B. gave notice of a motion calling on the Government to make representations to the Federal Government, requesting a revision of the Pensions Act and an investigation into the operations and procedure of the Board of Pension Commissioners, "also to grant much-needed increases in the pensions scale."

Lieut.-Col. H. S. Cooper, Liberal member for North-west Toronto, gave notice of a motion: "That an humble address be presented to the Lieutenant Governor praying that he will cause to be laid before this House a return of all orders-in-Council passed during the year 1919 in such form as they may be easily identified by their reference numbers and with such detail as to the subject matter as may convey reasonable information as to the matter dealt with."

J. W. Curry, Liberal, South-west Toronto, has filed a motion to fix the last Monday in June as the date for the holding of general elections when such shall be necessary.

W. E. N. Sinclair, of South Ontario, gave notice of a bill to amend the law relatin gto the guardianship of infants. J. C. Tolmie, of Windsor, gave notice of a bill to amend the Ontario Election Act, and Malcolm Lang of Cochrane, of a gill to provide for extension of the Temiskaming and North Ontario Railway to James Bay.

COMBINE OFFICTS ?

Captain Joe Thompson wants to know if it is the Government's intention to combine the registry offices for East and West Toronto, and if not, whether any appointment has been made for West Toronto. He also asked if the Government intend to abolish the fee system for the payment of registrars of deeds and land titles.

General Hogarth asks for the names and addresses of persons or firms operating export warehouses in Ontario, and the number of certificates authorizing the establishment of such warehouses issued by the License Board since Nov. 13 last.

Hon. G. S. Henry asks what expenditure has been made singe Nov. 13 in the purchase of machinery and equipment for road construction and what further contract has been placed not nicluded in the above.

MORE QUESTIONS

Charles McCrea of Sudbury has filed the following questions of the Minister:

(1) Has J. C. Elliott been appointed to any position by the Government If so what is such appointment; what are the duties, from what date does it take effect, what is the salary.

(2) Has J. L. Englehart resigned as chairman of the T. and N.O. Railway Commission? If so, when? Who has been appointed to fill the vacancy if any and when?

Hon. Howard Ferguson gave notice of the following enquiries:

(1) Has the Government received any report from the Civil Service Commissioner dealing with the classification of the Civil Service? When will the repor tbe presented to the House?

(2) Does the Government intend to appoint a Purchasing Commissioner? Who are the applicants for the position? To what department will he be attached?

(3) Is it the intention of the Goverment to appoint a Civil Service Commission? If so how many commissioners will it consist of? When will the appointment be made?

Thomas Magladery, Temiskaming gave notice of the following questions:

Has there been negotiation with the Government of Canada for the acquisition of the T. and N.O. Railway?

John O'Neill, Liberal, of Southeast Toronto asked for a return of all special warrants issued from the 31st day of October, 1919, to the 29th day of February, 1920, together with such details as will plainly set forth the purposes for which the money in each case was expended.

ALL HE ASKED.

They were standing outside the front door having a final chat after his evening call.

He was leaning against the door post, talking in low, dulcet tones. She was listening and gazing up rapturously into his eyes.

Suddenly she turned round. The door had opened; and there, just inside, stood her father clad in a dressing gown.

"My dear father," she asked "what is the matter?"

Her dear father ignored her question.

"John," he said, addressing the young man, "you know I've never complained about your staying late, and I'm not going to complain now; but for goodness' sake stop leaning against the bell-push. Other people want some sleep, even if you don't."—London Tid-Bits.

ICELAND A FREE STATE.

Story That Canada Should Adopt Country Was Wrong.

Information has been received from Copenhagen, Denmark, that the Danish Consul-General in London, J. E. Boeggild, has been appointed Danish Minister to Iceland. Denmark surprised the world last year by recognizing Iceland as a free and sovereign state, united with Denmark only by the same king. In further acknowledgment of Iceland's position as an independent state, the Danish Government has now sent a Minister to Iceland, the first ever credited to the old Saga Island.

This recent action of Denmark sets at rest the story current last year that Iceland would be adopted by the Dominion of Canada after the Peace Treaty was signed. The story always seemed ridiculous to Canadians.

Mr. Boeggild seems especially fitted for this post, as he has Icelandic blood in his veins. On the maternal side he is descended from the well-known Tulinius family of Iceland, which traces its origin back to Thorfinn Karlsefni, one of the famous Norsemen who discovered America nearly a thousand years ago. Karlsefni, of whom a statue was recently erected in Philadelphia, was the first white man to settle in America, spending two years in "Wineland," where his wife, Gudrid, gave birth to a boy, who was called Snorri. From Snorri descended a numerous and distinguished lineage, among whom is numbered the Tulinius family, and the new Minister to Iceland can thus lay claim to being descended from the first white man born in America.

Iceland, which has now formally taken its place among the free states of the world, being absolutely independent in home affairs and only represented by Denmark in foreign affairs, has an area of 40,437 square miles. But the inhabitants of Iceland number only about 90,000. The mountain ranges and extensive lava deserts make a large part of Iceland uninhabitable. Since 1870 a considerable emigration from Iceland to America has taken place, and about 15,000 Icelanders are now living in Canada and the United States.

Although the main industry of Iceland is farming, the country does not produce a single bushel of grain. Wheat, corn, barley—everything in the line of breadstuffs—must be imported. There are no trees on Iceland, and the story, published last year in some newspapers, that the Icelanders were suffering from famine and had to make bread out of the bark of trees was, therefore, an amusing piece of fiction. But grasses grow in abundance and on their meadows the inhabitants are dependent for the keep of their live stock.

Sheep are Iceland's main source of wealth. The 90,000 inhabitants own more than 600,000 sheep, exclusive of lambs. Large quantities of wool and salted mutton are exported yearly. The number of cattle is not quite 30,000, but the Icelanders nevertheless are able to export about 300,000 pounds of butter yearly, having learned the co-operative dairy system from Denmark.

The Icelanedrs are noted as some of the ablest, most daring and persevering fishermen in the world, and the cod fisheries in Icelandic waters stand second to none in importance; excellent profit is also realized from the herring fishery. The fishing was formerly carried on from open boats, but the Icelanders now own a modern, strictly up-to-date fishing fleet, consisting of decked motor boats.

Iceland is not a rich country, the national wealth being estimated at about 120,000,000 kroner, or $33,-000,000. But the Icelanders point with pride to the fact that no people's national wealth yields a higher interest than does theirs.

Before the war, Iceland was in the unique position of having no national debt. Instead, it had a balance of 250,000 kroner. But during the war it became necessary for the Icelandic Government to take over most of the trade and for this purpose heavy loans had to be raised. At the beginning of 1918 the national debt, therefore, amounted to nearly twenty million kroner (over five million dollars), but for this the Government has values in steamships, merchandise, etc.

Captured an Eagle.

The American eagle recently spread his wings majestically over Canadian soil. The eagle—a real one, by the way—soared from somewhere and landed in Sandwich, Ont. Whence he came nobody knows. But it was from a long way off, as he was manifestly exhausted when he alighted on the roof of a new house at the corner of Lot and Peter streets. It was just about noon, and children coming home from school espied him.

The bird stayed on his perch for some time, when the mob gathered below. The eagle surveyed the crowd in a bored manner during the minutes when he was not engaged in searching with his beak for something or things under his feathers. The crowd became larger and more threatening. Finally, one braver than the rest, evidently a Briton without guile, cast the first stone.

The eagle spread his wings to their full extent and waiting not for the year of parley between disputant nations, and fluttered to the ground, and capitulated without more ado.

Down the streets of Sandwich the proud bird trotted with unhurried but dangerous steps. Through a gauntlet of citizens he ran, Indian like, turning his beak from right to left with each new step to peck at some venturesome bystander or overardent pursuer. It looked for a time as if the bird would not be captured. But finally came to a man whose attitude was determined. With scarcely a struggle the eagle gave in.

His captor was Clyde Thorton, of No. 31 Peters street.

During the remainder of the day the Sandwich residents made tentative peace offerings in the form of pieces of meat. The bird accepted them ungraciously.

The Queue for Canadian Rye.

Walking down Oxford street, London, Eng., the other day we saw an extraordinary sight, a long double queue of all sorts and conditions of men and women waiting to gain admission to a public house. The queue stretched around the corner of Soho street, and at each end was a constable, with a mounted policeman in front of the door. On asking a sergeant the meaning of this protected crowd, we received the laconic answer, "Whiskey!" It is stated in some of the papers that there are large importations of American and Canadian whiskey from the useless stores of those countries.—Saturday Review.

The Uses of the Shark.

Valuable as are the minerals of Alaska, and important as is its promise of future agricultural development, the world seems in a fair way to owe yet another debt of gratitude to it for a new kind of leather. The cow, horse, sheep, and goat have shod us, provided us with gloves, trunks, traveling bags, and whatever else is made of leather, but leather is becoming far more expensive than one likes to think of, and the idea of a new and unlimited supply is available, for an Alaskan plant has for some time been tanning the skin of the shark with results indicating that shark leather is not only something "just as good" but quite a bit better than the leather of ordinary use. The practical development of the plant was shown the other day by the visit of J. F. Lavarne, of Alaska, expert in the art of the tanner, to the east, to secure new machinery, and to interest some of the fishing vessels of Gloucester in the new industry of gathering material for shark leather. For some time past, it appears also, various governments have been experimenting with the new product, taking up nearly all the shark leather that has yet been tanned, but at the same time sharkskin shoes have been worn by persons employed in the industry with results that bear out all the claims made for shark leather.

SITTING A HORSE.

Rough-riding Westerner Talks About Royalty.

Pictures of the country's recent guest, the Prince of Wales, engaged in assistant cow punching in the West and riding a Western saddle in the Western fashion, have been generally printed in the newspapers. Perhaps even in this age of automobiles there are horsemen enough still left to share the interest in the exhibition expressed by a Canadian writing in the Daily Mail of London.

"Yesterday," he writes, "I was comparing a photograph of the Prince of Wales taken in Hyde Park and another of him taken during his tour in Canada. In the first he sits an Irish hunter on an English hunting saddle. He has the seat of a born cavalier. In the second he sits a Canadian bronco on a California stock saddle (a stock saddle has a high cantle, a horn, and is ridden with a long stirrup). His heels are up and he is 'all of a hump.'

"Horsemen in Canada smiled indulgently at the prince's father when, as the Duke of Cornwall and York, he made similar tour to the one his son recently made and first put leg across Canadian horseflesh. Englishmen could not sit a horse, they proclaimed. They were all right for hacking about, but when it came to riding—real riding—they were not in it.

"I recall well the day the riding master strode into the Royal Northwest Mounted Police stables at Regina and announced that he was looking for a high-stepper to carry the heir to the throne. No 'mean' tricks, some sense and plenty of style was was he called for.

"I was in the rough-riding squad at the time, and we paraded a few of the 'perfect ladies' that we had in the stables. He chose a bay mare who had brains enough to do almost anything except talk, and told me to school her and get her into shape for royalty.

"Some weeks later the duke—today's King—rode through the lines on that same little bronco and inspected the Northwest Mounted Police. He inspected us casually, I am afraid, for she was giving him a lot to do. He did not understand the stock saddle and the bitting.

"We, on the other hand, inspected his Royal Highness critically. We liked his horse but we did not approve of his seat. Englishmen certainly could not sit a horse.

"Many years later we came to the war. And we saw Englishmen, many of them sitting on horses. At first we were inclined to sneer. There was nothing about the management nor the handling of horses they could teach us.

"But we worked side by side with crack British cavalry regiments, and they kept their horses in as good fettle as we did, and seemed to make longer marches with as little fatigue. we began to wonder if, after all, there might not be something in the English seat and the English saddle.

"Finally our lot got cut up a bit and for reinforcements we got Household Cavalry horses with universal saddles. And our boys looked 'all of a hump' for a week or two; that sitting a 'mean' horse in a universal saddle takes horsemanship. Sitting the same horse in a stock saddle is like sitting in an easy chair.

"So now we agree that Englishmen are something more than park riders, and we do not smile indulgently when we see the young prince 'all of a hump' on a bronco."

Acid In The Stomach Causes Indigestion

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain...How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

City AND Country

DAIRYMEN MEET

A number of dairymen of this district met in the city this afternoon at the Hotel Quinte and were addressed by Mr. H. B. Cowan and others relative to the movement of amalgamating the cheese factories in this section.

TRAIN WENT THROUGH BRIDGE.

Dubois, Pa., March 12.—A train of 24 cars of coal crashed through the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh railroad bridge over Black Lick creek, near here, tieing up traffic into the Josephine coal fields for at least three days.

OVERSUBSCRIBES OBJECTIVE

At the afternoon session of Peterboro Presbytery, the Rev. Dr. Wallace of Toronto gave an interesting address on the Forward Movement. The Peterboro Presbytery objective was $80,000. The total subscribed to date is $85,000, with nine places to hear from.

NORWOOD ENDORSES HYDRO

Norwood ratepayers, by a vote of 103 for and only 2 against endorsed the Hydro Electric By-law, which provides for the borrowing of $33,000.00 to conduct a distributing system and to purchase the existing system Construction and installation work will being as soon as the frost goes out of the ground. It is expected the work will occupy about four months so that the new system will be ready by early fall.

SEVERELY INJURED

Mr. F. M. Moran, of Cudington while felling a tree on Wednesday morning, received injuries from which he may never recover. He was felling a tree and as it fell a limb caught and the bend which it received on the downward path, when released caused it to spring and hit Mr. Moran on the head, cutting a gash six inches long. The blow rendered the unfortunate man unconsciou in which condition he has since remained.

ACCIDENTALLY SCALDED

On Monday last Edward Gay, aged three years, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Gay, of Campbellford, met with a painful accident. The little fellow was playing with a string and threw it over the spout of a boiling tea kettle pulling it over and the water scalding him badly about the breast and limbs. Immediate attention was given the little fellow and medical aid summoned. He suffered terribly for some time but is now doing nicely.

CONCUSSION BREAKS WINDOWS

This morning civic employees, in order to release the heavy flow of water coming down Catherine street drain, blew up the concrete covering which encased the drain pipe at the river bank. This was done because the mouth of the drain was completely frozen over. The concussion from the blast was so great that a number of panes of glass were broken in Dr. Cronk's residence nearby, also in the building on the opposite side of the river occupied by Hart Bros., and in the rear of Mr. Geen's drug store.

LEAVING FOR ROME.

His Grace Archbishop Spratt, Kingston, Very Rev. Vicar General Corbet, Cornwall; Rev. Fathers Hartigan, Deseronto; Corrigan, South Mountain, and Hanley, Kingston, were guests overnight of Rt. Rev. Mgr. Murray, V.G. His Grace, accompanied by Rev. Father Hartigan, left this afternoon for New York, from where they will sail for Rome. The Archbishop will pay an ad limna visit to Pope Benedict. In his absence Rt. Rev. Mgr. Murray will discharge the important duties of administrator of the archdiocese of Kingst n.—Brockville Recorder.

WON MANY FRIENDS

The Picton Gazette in referring to the anniversary services of the Bloomfield Methodist Church has the following reference to a well known soloist in this city: "Prof. Staples of Albert College, Belleville, was the choice of the committee as soloist for the evening program. It was Prof. Staples' first appearance in Bloomfield. But with his very first number he won his audience. Both in the character of his selections and his excellent rendering of them he delighted every one and won for himself a host of friends who shall glady welcome a return visit from him."

REFUSED TO TELL

Brant Brant, an Indian, was this morning before Magistrate Masson charged with intoxication, pleaded guilty. When asked by the Magistrate where he obtained the liquor Brant refused to tell and under the provision of the Ontario Temperance Act there was no alternative for the Magistrate to impose a sentence of three months in jail. Brant stated that he would take the punishment rather than tell from whom he obtained the fire water. If in the meantime the decides to divulge the information the case will be reopened.

Bold And Clever New York Burglars

NEW YORK, March 12.—A gang of burglars whom the police say have been the most clever and boldest that have come to light in some time, entered the loft building at No. 225 West 20th street during the night, blew two safes, getting $125 in money and $2,000 in stamps and ransacked every office in the building which is of five stories.

George Smith discovered the robbery when he opened the front doors of the building at six o'clock this morning. The thieves in the opinion of the police, have secreted themselves overnight in the building, which closes at five o'clock.

The first place broken into and robbed was the office of the American Education Press, on the second floor. Two safes were blown. The one safe the thieves got $125 in cash. From the other they got $2,000 worth of stamps.

The thieves then went to the third office of the Gorham Silver Company on the third floor, where, finding no safes to crack they ransacked every desk in the office. It looked as if a cyclone had gone through the premises.

The Aeolian Music Company, on the fourth floor, was next entered. Tactics of demolishment were repeated here, although nothing of value was obtained.

In trying to enter the office of the Pictorial News, on the top floor, the thieves discovered that the door was connected with a burglar alarm and they desisted after a few futile attempts to force the door.

The police found a quantity of unopened mail that had been carried downstairs from the Aeolian Music Company offices to the second floor, where the thieves read it at leisure.

Girl Wounded Man's Throat Cut

BROCKVILLE, March 12.—Suffering from a wound in the throat, which is said to have been self-inflicted after he had made a brutal attack upon a female employee on the farm of W. A. Moulton, three miles from Lansdowne village, John O'Connell, aged twenty three is a patient at the General Hospital here, to which institution he was brought last night following the affair. O'Connell's wounds are not serious and it is expected that he will recover.

The girl, Margaret McGee, aged nineteen, a ward of Fairknowe Home Brockville, is at Lansdowne and she will also recover, although she is said to have been attacked with a sledgehammer and beaten into insensibility. The attack, it is alleged was unprovoked and doubts are expressed as to O'Connel's sanity.

Power Of The Press Is Appreciated

Intelligencer Appreciated by Methodist Publicity Organization

The following letter from the Toronto headquarters of the Methodist National Campaign in connection with the Inter-Church Forward Movement is self-explanatory:

Toronto, Ont., March 11th, 1920.
The Belleville Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—I am directed by the National Executive of the Methodist National Campaign to express to you our thanks for the sympathetic treatment accorded our special matter in connection with the recent financial drive of the churches. Yours appeared to be one of the papers which a little ahead of time became convinced of the keenness of public interest in the Movement and accordingly gave us fine consideration for anything that you secured from us by mail or over the press wires. We appreciate a daily newspaper which has the courage to go it strong on a religious affair, and to give a really big movement a good showing.

Again thanking you, I am,
Yours very truly,
R. P. STOUFFER,
Publicity Editor.

Educational Needs Of Belleville

An interesting discussion is promised at the public meeting that will be held this evening at the City Hall to discuss the proposed erection of a new school in the Coleman Ward district and a Colelgiate Institute. It has been known in a general way for some time that the present school accommodations, particularly at the High School, are much below the desired standard and altogether inadequate for the present needs of the city. With the increase in the compulsory school age to 16 years with a further provision for children up to 18 years it is becoming increasingly apparent that the city will soon be face to face with a critical situation in respect to its institutions for advanced scholars. In connection with this latter phase of the subject some interesting facts will be presented at tonight's meeting that have not heretofore been made public.

Just how prominently the matter of good schools figures in the plans for city development was shown again yesterday when the represnative of a large manufacturing firm who came here to look for a site for a branch factory made very searching inquiry about the school situation. He said that a number of families that his firm would bring here contained children of school age, some for advanced classes, and he felt sure that he could not induce them to locate if the educational facilities were not up to average requirements. The same thing occurred before in the case of manufacturers who have had this city under consideration and this has brought home the fact that if the city is to have a healthy growth it must keep pace with the times in the matter of its schools of all kinds.

In view of the importance of the meeting there sould be a large attendance. The meeting is being held under the joint auspices of the Chamber of Commerce and the School Board and everyone will be given an opportunity to have his say. An invitation extended to all citizens to attend the meeting and express their views.

Test Of Milk From Local Dealers

A test was made this week of samples of milk taken by Sanitary Inspector T. F. Wills, under direction of the Medical Officer of Health, Dr. H. A. Yeomans, and inspected by J. A. Kerr, milk inspector:

Following is the report from Mr. Kerr to Dr. Yeomans:

Denton, grocer	3.2
Ridley, grocer, sour	3.4

Dear Sir,—

The milk more or less has stable flavors. I would strongly advise more care in handling the milk; place it in a clean place immediately after milking to cool. Warmer weather is almost here and greater care must be taken to keep the milk clean and cool from the time it is milked until it is used.

One sample marked sour is the carelessness of the dealer.

To H. A. Yeomans, M. D.,
Medical Health Officer.
J. A. KERR,
Milk Inspector.

THE HAINES SHOE HOUSES

Called by Death

JOHN M. RIDDELL.

The death occurred on Wednesday night of Mr. John M. Riddell, of the Grand Trunk Railway System at Portland, Me., and well known in railroad circles throughout the eastern section of the continent. Mr. Riddell's death occurred on his 71st birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. M. McKergrow of Westmount. He had been in failing health for some time past.

Mr. Riddell was born at Port Dover, Ont., and entered the service of the Port Dover and Lake Huron Railway, now part of the Grand Trunk System, in 1871. He was agent at Woodstock and at Stratford and in 1882 was apointed Assistant Superintendent at Toronto, Belleville and Montreal. In 1879 Mr. Riddell was appointed Freight Agent of the Grand Trunk at Montreal and in the eleven years that he held that position he was in close touch with all the commercial interests of the city. In 1907 he was transferred to Portland to take charge of the important import and exprot freight business of the Grand Trunk at that port remaining in that capacity until his death.

Mr. Riddell is survived by his widow, two daughters and two sons, Mrs. Wilford Forbes, of Calgary, Mrs. C. M. McKergrow of Westmount, Mr. Garnet T. Riddell of the Grand Trunk and Mr. C. Percy Riddell, General Secretary of the Canadian Railway Association.

Mr. Riddell was well known in Belleville and had many friends. He resided in this city for some years whilst he occupied the position of assistant superintendent of this division of the G. T. R. Deceased was very popular with the employees of the railway.

The One Most Worthy Of Record

Referring to the death of Hon. Chief Justice Sir William Glenholme Falconbridge, the Canada Law Journal following a lengthy biographical sketch, speaks as follows:

"In our editorial columns we refer more fully to the distinguished judicial career and to the personal worth of the late Chief Justice, who may well be called one of the great men of Canada.

"Numerous testimonials appeared in the daily press at the time of his death. One, however, did not appear, and we prefer to quote it as perhaps the one most worthy of record; it is the mmorial of the officers and members of the County of Hastings Law Association, expressing their deep sense of loss in the lamented death of the Chief Justice in the following words:

"The Officers and members of the County of Hastings Law Association desire to record their deep sense of loss in the lamented death of the Honorable Sir Glenholme Falconbridge, Chief Justice of the King's Bench.

"In him centred and lived again all the old traditions, literary, scholastic, social, professional and judicial, which have lent honor and dignity to the British Bench and Bar. He fulfilled the ideals of the grand old name of gentleman and he touched nothing that he did not adorn. As a friend, as a public-spirited citizen and philanthropist, he will be missed by a still wider circle, but by none will his death be more sincerely deplored than by the Members of the Bar of this District who will ever keep green the most delightful memories of his charming and cultured personality and intercourse so genially and generously shared. And we desire to extend to Lady Falconbridge and all the other members of the bereaved family our sincerest sympathy and condolence."

Collegiate Institute Project Discussed In Public Meeting

PUBLIC MEETING CALLED BY BOARD OF EDUCATION NOT LARGELY ATTENDED — RESOLUTION PASSED ENDORSING ERECTION OF NEW PUBLIC SCHOOL IN COLEMAN WARD THIS YEAR—COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE NEXT NEXT YEAR.

In the opinion of this meeting during the year 1920 a new public school be built in Coleman Ward and the building of a Collegiate Institute be started not later than 1921.

Such was the resolution, moved by ex-Mayor Ketcheson and seconded by Mr. H. W. Ackerman and adopted at a public meeting held in the City Hall last evening to discuss new school buildings. About 200 were present at the meeting which was by no means as representative as the important question to be discussed deserved. This may be attributed to lack of advertising.

Mr. F. S. Deacon

Mr. F. S. Deacon, ex-chairman of the Board of Education, presided over the meeting and stated its objects, namely to discuss educational matters. We have now three good public schools in the city and a new one was desired in Coleman Ward. New school regulations had been passed in Ontario and the age limit has been increased for boys and girls from 14 to 16 and we must provide school accommodation for scholars up to this age. In the High School with the day and night pupils the attendance is nearly 500. Our high school building is not as sanitary as it should be. The Department of Education will withdraw the grant if steps are not taken to build a new school. All High Schools inspectors have reported adversely on our high school building. In our high school night classes, the late Government p[illegible] teachers' salaries and paid for all the equipment The present government will pay 75 per cent of the teachers' salaries For the establishment of a Collegiate Institute the Government will pay 50 per cent of the cost of the building and equipment. The speaker stated that it was not a fact that the school estimates were greater than other municipal estimates, as last year it was only 23 per cent. The Board is not desirious of making great expenditures, but desire to lay plans for a new public school and also a Collegiate Institute. The latter undertaking will take a year or two to complete. A great factor in building up a city is its schools.

Principal MacLaurin

Principal MacLaurin of the High School being called upon spoke of the present High School building. The registration at present shows that there are 325 day pupils and 283 night school pupils, a total of 608. In the next year or two accommodation will have to be provided for upwards of 1000 pupils. The present high school building is obsolete and inadequate for collegiate work. It is defective in many respects and the proper temperature cannot be maintained. The building is defective in light and this is not conducive to the children's eye sight. We have some artificial light which is not desirable The ventilation is by no means what it should be. During the winter months the building is cold The present building is detrimental to the physical health of the children. Our children pass through good public and Separate Schools only to enter into an inadequate high school building. We are losing annually about $1100 in grants from the government because of the condition of the building and we will lose our present grant if we do not provide a proper new industrial and technical school. There appears to be an indifference in the city in reference to the building of this new school. If we do not build now we will lose the golden opportunity offered by the Government. It is no use to talk about a bigger and better Belleville if we do not provide the proper school accommodation to keep our children in the city and not allow them to go away.

Mr. A. McGie

Mr. A. McGie, Chairman of the Board of Education being called upon stated that the general opinion about the city was that a new public school is necessary to be built in Coleman Ward this year ,in order to take care of the extra children who will attend after the midsummer holidays. The sketch plans for a new school have been approved and as soon as the Council make the grant the building will be commenced. In regard to a Collegiate Institute being built there seems to be a misunderstanding among the citizens. Some say we must wait until things are cheaper. If we had built the public schools years ago as they should have been built they would have been about paid for by this time. The Board of Education find that a new public school is required in Coleman Ward and also a Collegiate Institute is necessary. The inspectors who inspected our present High School building have made most disparaging reports. In speaking of a new collegiate building Mr. McGie said that debentures wil lnot be asked for until 1921 as it will take months to find out what is best needed for the present needs of the city. The Board practically told an inspector that a new collegiate building would be erected two years after the war. He hoped that the City Council would make the grant which the Board will ask for as it will not ask for more than it requires

Mr McCreary

Mr. W. R. McCreary stated that it was a fact that the registration of children in the public schools of the city was increasing yearly. He spoke in support of the Coleman Ward school being built this year.

Debenture Debt

Mr. F. S. Deacon said that if citizens would study the financial position of the city for themselves and not rely entirely upon newspaper reports it would be much better. The debenture debt of the city is $1062,000 and the assessment is over six millions. Belleville in regard to its taxation for school purposes was by no means in as bad a position as many other places. Letters are published in the papers which put a wrong phase on the matter.

Want Both Schools

Mr. D. V. Sinclair said that there was opposition in the city against the building of two schools, He was sorry that Mr. Flint, who has written letters against the proposition, was not in the city at present, but instead was enjoying himself in California. As a member of the School Board and a taxpayer of the city he was prepared to do what he could for the boys and girls of our city. He questioned the wisdom of expending money by the millions for a navy in Canada. He was in favor of a Collegiate Institute being built in the city in addition to a public school.

Mr. J. Elliott

Mr. J. Elliott stated that while it costs more to build today than it did a few years ago the citizens of Belleville were well able to pay for it. No large amount of debentures would be asked to be floated this year. We have three fine public schools and it is only fair that Coleman Ward should be provided with a new public school. We will not build a new High School this year but possibly may next year. Let us be fair to Coleman Ward and build a new school there this year. The money granted by the City Council will be judiciously expended. He (the speaker in referring to the figures presented at a meeting of the City Council by Ald. Bone stated that there would be no such expenditure as $1,300,000 this year in Belleville.

Mayor Riggs

Mayor Riggs stated that the Board of Education would receive the attention of the Council at the proper time. He was in favor of the scheme proposed by the Board. The council would weigh these matters when brought before them. He would, however, like to see the matter of a collegiate institute passed on for another year

Col. Ponton

Col Ponton said we should not be enthusiasts nor stampeders. There was no doubt that the present City Council would not take the responsibility of providing the money required for the proposed new schools without a mandate from the people. Our High School was accomplishing good despite the handicap. He would like to see that every citizen is persuaded in his own mind to do what was the right thing in regard to this important

Dewart Assails New Government

Charges the Premier With Ingratitude In Refusing Liberal Offer

TORONTO, Ont., March 12 —While the members of the Government coalition joined the Conservatives in laughing and applauding Hon. G. Howard Ferguson in the House yesterday gave H. Hartley Dewart, the Liberal leader a grilling that will serve to inject into the rest of the debate upon the Throne Speech just the measure of zest and party feeling needed to lift that usually dull preliminary debate out of the rut of general discussion. Mr. Dewart brought it on himself by a rather remarkable address, the chief burden of which was a mournful complaint of ingratitude on the part of the Drury Government toward the Liberals, 'their allies," and Mr. Drury's ignoring of his own offer to co-operate. The Liberal leader spoke for nearly two hours and covered a good deal of ground. He started out by reviewing the record of the Liberal party to show that the wave of popular disapproval that overwhelmed the late Government had broken harmlessly against the position of Liberalism, strengthened by its programme of progressive policies. Then, using as a caucus belli a remark from Mr. Watson, of North Victoria, that any jarring note in the song of co-operation would probably be supplied by the member for southwest Toronto. Mr. Dewart proceeded to show that not he, but the Government was lacking in the spirit of co-operation. It was a touching picture of comrades working together for the common good against a common enemy. But where the Liberal party had sown the U.F.O. had reaped. His voice trembled as he told of the Liberals withdrawing the candidates to clear the way for the U.F.O. and his tone gained fervor when the farmer members, particularly Hon. Manning Doherty, broke into laughter.

Mr. Dewart Disappointed

Mr. Dewart's indignation reached a climax when he read to the House a letter written to Mr. Drury, just after his selection as Farmer leader, in which he congratulated the Premier-to-be and suggested a "conference," he was still waiting for an answer.

The Liberal leader's "wall of disappointment" as Mr. Ferguson described it, furnished the former Minister with excellent material for the dry cutting humor for which he is noted. He gave Mr. Dewart a thoroughly uncomfortable half hour as he poked fun at his futile efforts to get some political advantage out of the debacle of October last.

Mr. Ferguson, however, did not turn all his ammunition upon his companion in political adversity. He brought Hon. Mr. Drury into it by reminding the House of days gone by when Mr. Drury and Mr. Dewart stumped the country for reciprocity and shared in a defeat that left but a dozen Liberal members in the banner Province of the Dominion. Mr. Ferguson commented pointedly upon the fact that the Premier was again airing free trade opinions and warned him sharply to get himself clear of a doctrine that could not but bring disaster to the great industrial interests of the Province.

The Conservative leader also commented upon the paucity of the coalition programme, as outlined in the Speech from the Throne. The measures it foreshadowed were almost without exception covered by the policy of the Liberal-Conservative party as presented to the people before the last general election, but it was more remarkable for the things left unsaid than those touched upon. For instance there was not a word of the Government's proposals to the Hydro, the greatest enterprise in the Province today. The time had come, Mr. Ferguson declared, when the Government should make clear its attitude toward the Hydro.

The addresses of the two leaders took all afternoon, and Mr. Drury who had planned to speak, did no more than move the adjournment of the debate. He will speak when the debate is resumed on Tuesday.

TRIAL RESUMES SATURDAY

Winnipeg, Man., March 13—Formal adjournment of the trial of the strike leaders was made until Saturday morning, when the Assize Court sat for a few minutes. It was reported that juryman Jack, on account of whose illness the postponments have occurred was progressing favorably, and that he might be able to take his place in the jury box by Saturday.

New York funds advanced slightly to 12 7-8 at the close.

New Franchise Bill Before Parliament

OTTAWA, March 13.—The new Franchise Bill, forcasted in the speech from the Throne, was introduced in the Commons by the Hon. Hugh Guthrie.

In presenting the bill, Mr. Guthrie said that under its terms the franchise had been established upon very broad principles. The only requirements would be those of British citizenship residence in Canada for one year and in the particular constituency for two months and the attaining of the age of 21 years. These requirements would apply alike in the case of male and female voters.

In regard to the preparation of voters' lists, the principles adopted was that existing Provincial lists in any Province where authorized by law for use in Provincial elections could be utilized in the case of Dominion elections, providing the lists were not more than 12 months old or more than 12 months had elapsed betwen the compilation of such lists and the issue of writs for a Dominion election. When the lists were more than one year old, they would form the basis for Dominion lists.

There was power in the bill to add to such Provincial lists, any names which should be added and to take away from the Provincial lists any name which should be removed. This provision would give general up-to-date lists in all Provinces.

When no such Provincial lists existed the principle adopted by the bill was in urban municipalities that of registration and in rural municipalities that of registration by way of enumeration.

In urban municipalities all persons male and female, would be required to register during the time prescribed in the Act. When the registration period had expired appeals would be permitted either by those whose names were not upon the lists or against those whose names had been included in the lists. In all Provinces where there were county judges, the county judges would be appointed to revising officers. In other Provinces, appeals would be to the district judges.

In rural municipalites where there were no Provincial lists which could be utilized by the terms of the bill, a registrar would be appointed to prepare lists. He would make an enumeration of the voters in a polling sub-division. When his lists were completed they would be returned to the proper officer. In this case, however, there was no revision or appeal, because a further provision in the Act provided that any person who claimed to be entitled to vote and whose name had been omitted in a rural division would be entitled on polling day on taking the prescribed election oath, to receive a ballot paper and cast his vote.

ELECTION MACHINERY

The machinery for holding an election, as provided in the bill was not very different from that at present in use. There were one or two innovations however. The act proposed to abolish the office of the clerk of the Crown in Chancery and to create instead a chief electoral officer. This officer would have charge of elections and his duties would be very similar to those of the general returning officer in the election of 1917. He would be a permanent official. The bill also provides for the holding of advanced polls in order to enable railwaymen, sailors and others who were unable to vote on election day to cast their ballots. The period fixed between nomination day and polling day, by the bill was 14 days.

Mr. Guthrie closed by saying that the intention of the bill was to bring uniformity in voting throughout Canada and to promote safety and simplicity. An examination of the bill, would, he thought, convince members that it was founded upon principles of equality and justice.

In answer to questions by Mr. W. D. Euler, Mr. Guthrie stated that persons precluded from voting under the naturalization act, would not be permitted to vote by the new law. He also said that any person, disqualified by reason of race from voting in provincial elections would also be disqualified in Dominion elections.

41 CHILDREN VICTIMS

Edmonton, Alta., March 13—Particularly fatal was a kind of hooping cough at Fort Simpson and Fort Providence in far northern Alberta, according to Dan Patterson, of Fort McPherson. At Fort Simpson 22 children succumbed and at Fort Providence 19. Sleeping sickness also made its appearance in the north and one woman died at Whitefish.

400,000 Workers On Strike In France

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer Canadian Press Limited

PARIS, March 13.—It is estimated by Federation of Labor officials today that nearly four hundred thousand persons are on strike in France at the present time. The number includes silk mill hands, coal miners and building workers.

Premier Making Steady Progress

OTTAWA, March 13—Sir Robert Borden has telegraphed to inform his followers in the House that he is making steady and encouraging progress toward recovering his health, and expects to be in the Capital within seven or eight weeks.

The message was in answer to that sent by the caucus on Thursday and reads as follows:

"Pray convey to caucus my grateful thanks for their very kind message, which I most deeply appreciate. I am making steady and encouraging progress, and hope to rejoin them at the date already indicated."

Germany Sends An Impertinent Note To Entente

Arrests in Occupied Areas Must Stop Teutons Says

BERLIN, March 13—The German Charge d'Affaires in London, has handed to Premier Lloyd George a note regarding the Entente extradition list it was announced today. After asserting that the Imperial Court will be guided only by considerations of justice and will conduct an impartial inquiry, the note demands that the arrest of Germans in the occupied territories on charges similar to those enumerated in the extradition list shall cease, and that those arrested shall be delivered to German courts.

The release of Germans who for similar reasons have been detained in war prison camps also is asked for.

The note finally demands that the Allies abandon the reservations regarding their right to try for crimes committed during the war any Germans not mentioned in the list if encountered in Allied territory, saying that incidents arising out of the war should be consigned to oblivion with the advent of peace.

Otherwise the note says a restoration of normal relations between the different nationalities is hardly conceivable, and that the German Government, on its part, will be obliged to take measures with a view to the expiation of punishable acts committed during the war against Germany by Allied subjects.

Booze Novelties For Hotel In U.S.

Chocolates Calculated to Produce Complete Inebriation

LONDON, March 13—Camouflaged booze novelties for United States hotel consumption are regarded by some astute European manufacturers as offering a big field to exploit in the near future. An American who has just returned from Holland has brought several boxes of chocolate bon-bons of heroic proportions, a full pound of which if eaten at one sitting is calculated to produce a state of complete inebriation. He says many Americans sailing from Holland have taken quantities of the liquor-laden bon-bons home.

The ingredients of these big chocoate drops include qummel, brandy, rum, cherry brandy and other liquors. One enthusiastic American says a huge business in booze novelties is expected to be done as soon as the Mdry tourist army from the United States invades Europe. He declared one Continent chemist said it is possible to make a highly intoxicating snuff-box inhalation.

The Liquor Control Board here, in an effort to obtain data on the effects of over-indulgence of stimulants, has had carried out at King's College a number of tests on a man who volunteered to get drunk on different beverages. It found that it was very difficult for him to get intoxicated on the present English beer of three per cent. gravity. It was not necessary to advertise to get volunteers.

Allied Forces Menaced By Turkish National Forces

ARMY OF OCCUPATION HOLDING THEIR OWN WITH DIFFICULTY IN SMYRNA—50,000 ALLIED TROOPS IN CONSTANTINOPLE ASSISTED BY NAVAL UNITS.

Special Despatch to The Intelligencer, Canadian Press, Limited.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 13.—Greek, Italian and French forces of occupation in Smyrna, Adalia and Adana, Asia Minor, are holding their own with difficulty against Turkish Nationalist troops, it is indicated in reports received here. Fifty thousand Allied troops are in Constantinople and vicinity, and it is estimated that this force is sufficient to protect the city, straits and Sea of Marmora, with the co-operation of naval units here.

Light On Liquor Export Licenses

TORONTO, March 13.—The fact that 14 certificates for liquor export houses in Ontario have been granted by the Board of License Commissioners since the Drury Government came into power started a lively discussion in the Legislature yesterday. The Leaders of the Liberal and Conservative Opposition parties both took a hand and made it uncomfortable for Hon. H. C. Nixon, the Provincial Secretary. Hon. W. E. Raney came to the assistance of his colleagues and the Government went past the danger point with little damage. More may be heard of the affair next week, however.

The little tilt started with the member for Port Arthur, D. M. Hogarth. asking how many of these certificates had been issued and to whom. In replying, Hon. Mr. Nixon sought to explain some details. Mr. Ferguson took the opportunity to move an adjournment for discussion of the matter and caught the Government more or less unprepared. Mr. Nixon had sought to show that the Ontario officials only certified as to the premises and that the actual license of such export houses was a Dominion affair.

FEW AS POSSIBLE

Mr. Ferguson thought the approval of the Provincial authorities was necessary. Mr. Dewart got into the argument and read the statute. He wanted to know if the Board of License Commissioners was a mere rubber stamp. Mr. Raney explained that the Province only looked after the premises and that the matter was not generally known about.

"The boys seem to know," responded Mr. Ferguson, who asked if, under the circumstances the Dominion could debauch the entire Province. "Do you throw up your hands and say you can't stem the tide of liquor into this Province?" asked the Conservative leader. "Is there no restriction at all?" he asked.

A youth named Dillon of Ogdensburg was drowned at Prescott in a passage in the ice made by the car ferry.

Two-party lines for residence telephones will be the general rule hereafter in portions of Ottawa and other parts of Canada.

Eleven-Year-Old Shot And Killed

Boy With Rifle Sends Bullet Into Little Girl's Chest

TORONTO, March 13—Elsie Dunn, aged eleven, 149 Gamble avenue, was shot and instantly killed shortly after supper last night in her home by a lad named John Jones, also eleven years of age, who resides at 147a Gamble avenue, and was taken into custody, after Dr. Robert H. Fleming Coroner of the district, had conducted a preliminary inquiry.

The lad shot his friend with a twenty-two calibre rifle, which, it is stated, was in bad repair. The bullet entered her chest and death was instantaneous.

The children were playing outside the home with the gun, and the boy, it is understood, aimed at a tree when the shot miscarried and struck the girl in the breast.

Lower Prices Coming Says Professor

"The world has passed through many eras of high prices and again come back to normal. Prices are bound to fall again. In June or July of this year people will be rejoicing in a decline in prices," declares Prof. Humphrey Mitchell of McMaster University. "It must be remembered, however, that such a fall is always accompanied by a decline in prosperity, production and employment. The world is slowly getting back to normal. Low prices are coming again and with them will return the unemployment problem

"High prices are symptomatic to great purchasing power on the part of the people. The more money there is in circulation the higher the prices. The world, however, is slow in adapting itself to new conditions, and wages never rise as rapidly as does the scale of prices. High prices always bring eras of social unrest. In the age of Elizabeth and again after the Napoleonic wars, there were periods of acute social restlessness. Today, ever since prices began to rise in 1896, the world has become more and more uneasy.

Monarchist Revolution Staged In Germany

TROOPS OCCUPY WILHELMSTRASSE — PROCLAMATION STATES GOVERNMENT HAS CEASED TO EXIST, AND POWER OF STATE PASS INTO HANDS OF DR. VON KAPP, AS GENERAL DIRECTOR, WITH GEN. VON LUETT WITZ AS MILITARY CHIEF.

PARIS, March 13.—A proclamation issued in Berlin today declares that the Government of the Empire has ceased to exist and that the power of state has passed into the hands of General Director Von Kapp, who becomes Chancellor, and has appointed General Von Luett Witz as commander-in-chief of military forces. Berlin despatches state that the pro-Wilhelmstrasse, where the Government buildings are situated, by troops clamation declares the National Assembly dissolved. The Socialist party have declared a general strike, the despatch adds.

The issuance of the proclamation followed the occupation of the who had returned from the Baltic and had been in barracks at Doeberitz, in the suburbs. The troops entered Berlin this morning, it is stated.

MONARCHIST REVOLUTION.

NEW YORK, March 13.—Despatches indicate that Germany is in the throes of the long-expected counter-revolutionary monarchist struggle. Dr. Von Kapp, it seems probable, is Dr. Wolf-Gang Kapp, who became president of the German Fatherland party, a notorious pan-German organization which urged that Germany carry on the war to the bitter end. Major-General Baron Von Luett Witz was military Governor of Belgium for a period early in the war and later was a commander on the Verdun front.

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of Influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern. It is quite true that the number of cases does not constitute an epidemic such as caused the suffering and sorrow during the terrible days of 1918. Yet there is no disguising the fact that everyone should be on their guard against the disease.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand, one hundred and twenty-two cases of Influenza and 189 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease. But coming as it has, at the end of the winter, there is grave fear that an epidemic may occur. For spring, with its slush and rain under foot, its dampness and chill, its constant changing from cold to warm and back again, is a prolific source of coughs and colds, pleurisy and pneumonia.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is, GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not as well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are "run-down" through overwork or sickness; should build up at once. What they need is a Blood-purifier, a body-builder, a strength-giver, like "Fruit-a-tives", the wonderful fruit medicine.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system. "Fruit-a-tives" contains everything that an ideal tonic should have; to purify the blood, to build up strength and vigor, and to regulate the eliminating organs, so that the whole system would be in the best possible condition to resist disease.

Now is the time to build up your health and strength, not only as a precaution against the ravages of Influenza, but also to protect you against "spring fever" and the inevitable reaction which comes with the appearance of warmer weather. Get a box of "Fruit-a-tives" today and let this fruit medicine keep you well.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, trial size 25c, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

"COMING ATTRACTIONS"

Official War Photos at G.W.V.A. rooms, Corby Building, Friday evening March 19th, shows Canucks in action.

The G.W.V.A. are showing a remarkable collection of War Photos at the G.W.V.A. Rooms, Corby Building, Friday evening next. There are some clear pictures of the Canadians dashing into action at Valenciennes under heavy shell fire. The Light Horse is shown going into action at Vimy Ridge. At Courcelette a dispatch rider is seen inspecting a German trench and in danger of being attacked any moment by a murderous Hun. Shells bursting at Passchendaelle and guns and tanks in action; street scenes of Mons, Cambrai, and other cities; hundreds of photos depict every phrase in the life of the Canadian from Ypres to the Rhine.

The photos are the prints from the original negatives from which the famous colored enlargements were made, each is beautifully clear showing many individuals, and citizens who visit the exhibit may recognize persons they know.

The Exhibition will be open on Friday from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. at G.W.V.A. ROOMS, CORBY BUILDING. Admission 25c.

SETTLERS' DRIVE STARTS

Winnipeg, Man., March 13—The spring drive for settlers in Western Canada is started.

For five years railway officials, land salesmen, immigration commissioners waited for the time when cessation of hostilities would unlock the tide of immigration into Canada. It has come at last and now they are exultant.

Statements which agents make for the prospective immigration into Canada from the United States vie with each other in optimism. The most conservative is that this year's tide of settlers will double last year's or that 89,000 will make the great trek to the prairies. The most hopeful estimate puts the number at 150,000.

Estimates regarding expected immigration from England and other parts of Europe are notable for conservatism. Shipping facilities being meagre and Government restrictions difficult, it is not expected that a large number of immigrants will come from overseas. Those who do come will be mostly farmers, farm laborers or domestics.

Officials say that 50,000 inquiries regarding land have been received here.

Brotherhood Men Come On Mission

As the forerunners of a special delegation which is shortly coming from the British Isles to attend the World Brotherhood congress to be held in Washington in October next, Mr. Harry Whitehorn and Mr. W. G. Hooper have already arrived in Canada, with the object of touring the Dominion and the United States in the interests of the Brotherhood movement and will spend Sunday in Belleville.

Mr. Whitehorn is the chairman of the London Brotherhood Federation and is in the running for the presidency of the National Council and he is also on the outside staff of the Westminster Gazette. In addition he is official reporter to the Parliamentary committee of the Trades Union Congress. Mr. W. G. Hooper is a Fellow of the Royal Astronomical Society, a Fellow of the Theosophical Society and is connected with the Brotherhood council of Birmingham.

They will speak in Belleville churches, Sunday.

The object of this tour, Mr. Whitehorn explained, is the promotion of their aims and objects, namely, the creation of the brotherhood spirit, the spirit of good-will between employers and employed, and between nation and nation. He maintained that the brotherhood was particularly fitted to act as such a medium, that it embraces all classes of society and is not overloaded in any one direction. One thing it had done was to set its face against large contributions from the monied classes. In Great Britain the movement had caught on wonderfully particularly in the big centres of population and in industrial regions. While the movement was unsectarian and outside of the churches, yet it was closely associated with them and some of the best attended meetings on Sunday afternoons were held in London churches, though in some cases they had their own halls or used cinema theatres. At Harringay, in the north of London, Mr. Whitehorn said he was connected with a brotherhood 200 strong which had a very fine orchestra which performed every Sunday and also gave symphony concerts on week-nights.

WAR RELIEF WORK

But the Brotherhood movement does not continue its attention to meetings. Mr. Whitehorn told of the war relief work which was carried on from the very outbreak of war, when William Ward and he went over to France with money, clothing and food for the devastated areas. This work, he stated is still being carried on, and the fact that they still had some funds was largely owing to Canadian and American generosity. But they have gone farther afield and are now carrying relief to Serbia where their efforts are welcomed by the Government and farm colonies are being established for the care of broken up and scattered families, there being thousands of orphans and young people whose parents have been killed or have never returned home again. The last part of this scheme involves the expenditure of $500,000.

"Generally it seems to me that our task here is simply to present the movement on its spiritual side, with due regard to the fact that, so far as we can see, in no other direction will the difficulties associated with reconstruction be overcome," said Mr. Whitehorn. "The trade union movement is good as far as it goes, but without the spirit of good will between the two parties we shall never get any farther. We do not come here to teach people, but to assure them of our hearty desire to co-operate in the settlement of these problems and to enlist the sympathy of the men of this continent in this movement."

Messrs. Whitehorn and Hooper were entertained at luncheon at Montreal by Mr. T. B. Macaulay, hon. president of the Canadian Brotherhood Federation and addressed a public meeting at the Montreal Central Y.M.C.A. where they were welcomed by the Montreal Federation and on behalf of the National Council, by J. O. McCarthy, general treasurer and Mr. Thos. Howell, general secretary. The delegates came over on the Empress of France.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

(What the Press Agents Say)

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD"

Plays may go and plays may come, but the great American classic, "The Old Homestead" goes on forever. Now in its thirty-third year and still playing to capacity audiences everywhere, patronized not only by mothers and fathers, but the children as well, will be seen at Griffin's Monday March 22.

Mr. William Lawrence who has portrayed the character of "Uncle Josh" over twenty-eight hundred times, is still in the cast, as is also George L. Patch the old country fiddler for the past twenty-five years with "The Old Homestead" and many others, who have for many seasons been bringing laughter and tears in the most wholesome and human of all plays.

"LISTEN LESTER"

After one solid year's run at the Knickerbocker theatre, New York, "Listen Lester," John Cort's musical next Tuesday night, March 16th with the entire New York cast, chorus, production and special company orchestra. Though to be exact one should call it a dance instead of a run, for from the moment the curtain rises on the first scene, everything dances to a happy and dancey ending wherein an important packet of letters, which is in itself the danciest and most elusive thing in the play, is returned to its rightful owner. Meanwhile the feet, and what is more important, the hearts of the spectators are dancing merrily along in time to the music, and all personal troubles are forgotten. The story is jolly and entertaining, the lyrics are rythmic and full of swing, and the music tinkly and tuneful, the scenery is artistic, the costuming is effective, and the chorus is the daintiest, danciest and best that ever took any audience by storm.

GIRL HUNTING BABIES BECOMES FAMOUS MODEL

In "Human Desire" in which Anita Stewart will be seen at Griffin's tonight Miss Stewart has the part of an Italian girl who is intensely fond of babies, and for this reason makes a splendid Madonna for an American artist, who finds her friendless on the steps of an old stately home in Washington Square, New York. The love affair between the artist and the girl is developed as the picture proceeds. A two-reel Big V comedy, a Lyons-Moran comedy and two other plays will also be shown.

HARRY MOREY IN SPLENDID PICTURE

Harry Morey is appearing at the Palace tonight in a strong drama of capital versus labor titled "Honor of Bar X." The theme of the story is one of unusual interest and reveals how many of the large strikes of the last few months might have been averted if the situation was handled as Mr. Morey does in this picture. "The Village Venus" a two-reel Universal comedy, Pathe World News, Topics of the Day containing the wit of the world press and a beautiful Travelogue are also being shown on the same program.

JACK PICKFORD IN "BURGLAR BY PROXY

With prohibition practically assured, prospects are extremely unlikely that love affairs will drive men to drink. However, in "Burglar by Proxy," the latest Jack Pickford picture which will be seen at Griffin's this Monday to Wednesday night love drives a young man to burglary. Taking the part of Jack Roblin, in love with Dorothy Mason, Jack Pickford is taken into the Mason home when he is found apparently unconscious with his head resting on a blown-out automobile tire in front of Dorothy's house. A three day period of invalidism ensues which gives Jack a chance to get well acquainted with Dorothy. But several days later Dorothy is awakened to find Jack in her boudoir. Covering him with a revolver she informs him that he stole valuable business plans while he was in the house before and that she has absolutely no respect for him. Jack denies this and explains his presence by pointing into the court below where two gunmen are awaiting his return, demanding either his plunder or his life. Dorothy half-way forgives him, lends him her gun, and watches him put the burglars to flight. Later in the night she is awakened by a noise of shots and fighting downstairs. Jack has determined to recover the stolen plans, win Dorothy and her father's esteem, but it does not prove to be as easy a feat as he imagines. A two-reel Fox Sunshine comedy and three other selected and varied attractions are also announced for exhibition

Belleville Boy Scouts Bugle Band

Two Additional Drums Presented to Troop No. 1—Addressed by Mr. Mikel

Troop No. 1 of the Boy Scouts of Belleville held a lively meeting Thursday night when two drums were presented to them for their Bugle Band which now consists of 12 bugles and 4 drums.

W. C. Mikel, K.C., was called on to make the presentation and in doing so said to the boys that he hoped they would develop their musical talents to the highest degree. Bands have done a great deal to build up towns and to inspire great actions. This Band will help the Boy Scouts and the Boy Scouts will help to build up a Bigger, Better Belleville. Some of you boys, for the first time in your lives, took part in elections in the last municipal campaign. Make it your business to take an active part in every election campaign during the rest of your lives said Mr. Mikel. Go into election work, not for what you can get out of it, but for what you can put into it. Service should be the motto; service to your city, your Province, your country and humanity. Belleville is coming to the up grade, the dawn of a brighter day. You boys have now at least some chance to get employment. For many years past as our boys and girls grew up they were compelled to turn their backs on their Old Home Town and go elsewhere for work, 30,000 of our best boys and girls have gone away to build up other places. Wages were low, Mr. Mikel said his first wages when he started out to work for strangers as a law student was $1.25 per week. Labor is coming into its rights. Labor will have shorter hours and better pay. If you take a deeper interest in your city and can get every citizen to take a deeper interest in our city, we can make it one of the biggest and best cities in Canada. Till our citizens take a greater interest this cannot be done. At our last Municipal Elections only 1870 citizens took enough interest to come out and vote. There were over 2,000 voters who did not take enough interest to vote. We should have a Voters' League comprised of citizens pledged to go to the polls and vote at every election and endeavour to get others to do the same thing. Our Chamber of Commerce might create a Voters' League Committee. Get ready for Old Boys' Reunion next July and make a big noise for Belleville, concluded Mr. Mikel.

The boys all pledged themselves to do all in their power to boost Belleville.

HELPLESS AND STARVING

Boston, March 12—The steamer Tyee asked assistance in wireless messages, intercepted here which gave her position as about 90 mile seast of Five Fathom lightship, off New-York. The message said:

"Wireless disabled. Steamer out of course. We are starving."

The steamer Northern Pacific replied to the calls, saying she could reach the disabled steamer in four hours. The Tyee, a wooden steamer og 1,528 tons, was last reported sailing from Philadelphia for Fayal on November 12.

Racing is Necessary For Horse Breeding

OTTAWA, March 13.—The report of Dr. J. G. Rutherford, who was appointed a commissioner to investigate the whole question of race tracks and race-track betting in Canada, was heard in the Commons. It is anticipated that legislation based on that report will be brought down by the Government in the near future.

The commissioner does not recommend cutting off the charters of any specified tracks, neither does he say whether or not there should be a reduction in tracks or in the days of racing. He does point out, however, that the amendments to the criminal code in respect to the number of days of racing allowed on any one track appear to have been overcome by the multiplication of tracks in and about the large cities of central Canada against which there was no law. This has resulted, he finds, in a continuous racing season of extended duration in Toronto, Montreal and Windsor.

NECESSARY FOR BREEDING

The general trend of the evidence given before the commissioner in regard to the necessity for racing to horse-breeding was that racing was necessary to the continuance of breeding a certain type of horses and a certain type of horses and a certain freedom of betting was necessary to support racing.

The commissioner finds that illegal betting is under way in Canada at the present time, but evidence on this subject was very hard to secure.

The commission finds that long continued race meeting with betting as a public adjunct are likely in the communities in which they are held to exert a bad influence on young and inexperienced men, and others lacking in self control and moral stamina.

This tendency, he says, is specially evident to those cases in which the length of the meeting is excessively out of proportion to the size of the community in point of population.

It is, however, noteworthy, says the report that protracted race meetings which have taken place in Canada, have been conducted under the most unfavorable conditions in this respect.

MAINTAINS THOROUGHBRED

The report finds that bad effects fairly attributable to racing as carried on locally, are seldom and then in only slight degree observable from meetings of reasonable length, especially when these are conducted under the auspices and direct control of reputable and responsible citizens, not actuated by mercenary motives, but genuinely interested in racing as an enjoyable and manly form of outdoor sport or in the maintenance of the thoroughbred horse as an important factor from a national and patriotic point of view.

Dealing with methods of betting, the Commissioner says that much evidence will be found to the effect that the pari-mutuel system, for various reasons is greatly less likely to prove harmful than the older custom of book making, that it has now almost superseded it throughout the racing world.

The report shows that the substitution of the pari-mutuels for the bookmakers has practically eliminated from modern, well-conducted race course and its environment, the unsavory and undesirable satellites of the old betting ring.

The disappearance of touts and railbirds, he finds, has not only brought a marked improvement in the whole tone and atmosphere of racing, and especially of the race track itself, but it has at the same time added largely to the safety as well as the comfort and enjoyment of the spectators.

The report says that under the existing conditions it is possible to hold in Central Canada, 238 days of racing of which 98 are on the seven Montreal tracks and 42 in the three Windsor tracks.

Collegiate Institute Project Discussed

matter and all are entitled to deliberation in this matter. There was no sentiment in the city against the building of a public school, but there was for the building of a collegiate at present. If we could use old Albert College as a technical school (laughter.) The speaker said that those who laughed do not know what a technical school is. Let Albert College be erected first and a Collegiate Institute will no doubt follow. The city had great assets in its public schools. The element of time was at present against the building of a collegiate institute. Let us round up four square in our public schools. During this coming year the electors of the city should be asked to speak on this matter.

Will Fight for Collegiate

Principal MacLauring said that Albert College should not be placed against our Collegiate Institute, the common man's school. Albert College is a denominational institution and fees will be exacted from the students Through the press and otherwise we are asked to put off the building of a Collegiate Institute. He was going to fight for a Collegiate Institute as long as he was a resident of the city. The workingman's children have to be educated and they cannot be educated in Albert College. Why wait and wait? Why not put everything to the people if this matter is to be put to the people.

Col. Ponton—Let us get on all together in this matter. There are opinions that must be met and met reasonably and considerately. He was not afraid of the people.

Principal MacLaurin—I am not afraid of the public.

Mr. T. Blackburn stated if the Government's grant is to be withheld from our High School then it would be wisdom to build a Collegiate Institute.

Mr. F. S. Deacon—If the proposition of building a Collegiate Institute is submitted to the electors it would probably be turned down because many do not understand the matter properly. There is no prospects of prices being lowered for material within the next one or two years.

An Educational Centre

Dr. Baker, principal of Albert College, said he had one ambition for this city and that is that it be a great educational centre, an Oxford and a Cambridge. In educational work we cannot do too much for our boys and girls.

Ex-Mayor Ketcheson stated that there were two places in Canada with a debt lower than Belleville. Our net debt today outside the sinking fund is not so great. He moved the above resolution, seconded by Mr. Ackerman who spoke in support of it.

Albert College

Mr. W. B. Deacon in speaking of Albert College said that the building committee were in negotiation with architects in regard to plans. Buildings costing from $600,000 to a quarter of a million would be erected, and Albert College would not conflict with the scheme of the School Board. Albert College will help a Collegiate Institute and vice versa. He was not a knocker; as a knocker is on the outside and does not know what is going on in the inside Mr. Flint has knocked various improvements to the city.

The resolution was then adopted and the meeting adjourned after the singing of the National Anthem.

TAXATION OF WAR WEALTH TO STOP "VICIOUS CIRCLE"

London, March 13—Testimony before the Committee on Taxation of War Wealth, R. B. Blackett, Controller of Finance to the Treasury, advocated special taxation. He said there was real necessity for large contributions to the reduction of the national debt and urgent necessity to obtain cash by taxation. For this is most desirable, he said, to get rid of what he termed the everlasting rise in prices. He said the longer the situation was left the worse it would be, for the vicious system would continue and a crash would come.

Mr. Blackett said there were £1,000,000,000 in treasury bills and £1,000,000,000 in ways and means advanced to be refunded or paid off, and until this was done it would be impossible to stop the "present vicious circle."

Neutral Loans To The German

Must Be Approved of By the Reparations Commission

PARIS, March 13—It is expected that the Reparations Commission will take up immediately the question of Germany's payment of twenty billion marks in gold within the next three years. According to the terms of the treaty Germany was to submit within two months of ratification a proposal for the payment of a definite sum that she might be able to pay. No such proposal has yet been made.

It is now held by the French, in this connection, that any contemplated loans to Germany by neutrals or others must bear definite relation to the amount fixed by Treaty for Germany to pay in reparation, and that, therefore, negotiations for loans to Germany must be approved by the Reparation Commission, rather than by the other Allied Commissions, specially set up for the purpose as suggested in the London Conferences.

Diplomatic circles manifest much interest in the meeting of the League of Nations, called for Saturday in Paris, at which it is expected a commission to investigate Russian conditions will be appointed. It is understood that all the countries which have accepted membership in the League will be represented and that advisers on politics and labor will be present. As the Russian situation is regarded as urgent, owing to the economic chaos of Europe efforts will be made to start the Commission Russia-ward within two or three weeks, if diplomatic arrangements can be completed within that time.

Jan Smuts Scores Decisive Victory

LONDON, March 13—In the South Africa elections it is understood that the Nationalists shirked the Republican issue. A forecast of the result gives the South African party 48 seats the Unionists 34, the Nationalists 40, and Labor 12. The present position of the parties in the South African Parliament is: South Africans, 52; Unionists, 38, Nationalists, 27; Labor 5, and Independent 6; vacant 2.

The forecast of the result, evidently based on nearly incomplete returns which is given in the above cable, indicates that the South African party, under the leadership of Gen. Smuts, has scored a decisive victory over the Nationalists. The leaders of the Nationalist party in the recent campaign came out for separation from Great Britain and endeavored to rally all the forces opposed to British connection to their standard. They waged a bitter campaign, making political capital out of the charge that Yorkshire spinners have been profiteering at the expense of South African wool growers, and appealing to the racial prejudices of a section of the Boers. It was claimed that they also had the support of faction of the Labor party. As in the previous Parliament, Premier Smuts, it is expected will have the support of the Unionists in imperial matters, and the result of the elections, as shown by the early returns, is taken to indicate that there will be no attempt to withdraw South Africa from the Empire.

THIRTEENTH DIVORCE FOR MRS. A. L. YOCUM

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, March 13—Thirteen may be an unlucky number but it didn't cause Mrs. Alice L. Yocum to stop, look and listen, when it came to seeking her thirteenth divorce.

She got it, the thirteenth divorce, in Boone, Iowa, with John A. Yocum playing opposite her in the court scene.

The winning of the case against Yocum was the second victory of the kind in this state for Mrs. Yocum who has kept the courts busy breaking the bonds of matrimony.

Because of her repeated performance in the role of "the grass widow" the announcement that she was to star in "my thirteenth ex husband" attracted a throng to the court house in Boone.

Mrs. Yocum took her divorce as a matter of course. She declined to make any statement as to her future plans.

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

With the high cost of living still climbing, with cost of construction material almost prohibitive, and hard to get, every alert and progressive municipality in Canada is slowing up to take stock and consider how civic expenditures can be cut down this year and held in check. Financial experts, including the banking associations, are advising curtailment of public works this year by municipalities, and judging from their attitude money for public works will be dear and hard to borrow. We must recognize that this is an off year, and we are told by financial prophets that in a year or so public works can be constructed at a fraction of what it would cost today, and at a time when employment will not be as plentiful as it is today.

In certain quarters locally we are told that we must not stir up the ratepayers, that the soft pedal should be placed upon all discussion of the probable tax bills this year. This seems strange and carries a suspicious aroma of something still concealed in the way of contemplated, or possible, or probable, or some other kind of expenditure of interest to the men who pay the tax bills.

In one breath we are told that the Chairman of the Finance Committee solemnly warned the members of the City Council that they must cut their expenditure demands down to the bone, reciting expenditure of one million three hundred thousand dollars, which it was within the range of probability might be asked of the City Council this year. In another breath from the same quarter it is intimated that the Chairman of Finance was only twiddling his thumbs, figuratively speaking, that it was all a joke, and that he could just as easily have conjured up figures amounting to five million dollars or more.

It is to be hoped that the thumbs will stop twiddling, and that this peculiar sense of humor will cease functioning before many millions are conjured up. Ratepayers have an idea that there is more truth than fiction in this jest, and that the half has not been told as yet.

We prefer to believe that the Chairman of the Finance Committee was sincere and in the exercise of his bounden duty telling his colleagues that they must go slow in suggesting civic expenditure.

If there was any jest about the words there certainly was none about the figures, which speak for themselves, and are so real and living that for the most part they may have to be provided for in dollars and cents by the ratepayers, if not this year, then some other year, so it is well to get acquainted with them.

Schools, $350,000—no joke about that; Housing proposition, $500,000; Bay Bridge, $50,000; Patriotic Fund, $50,000; New Fire Hall, $25,000; Pavements and Sewers, $145,000; "Other Expenditures," $65,000; Gas Plant Improvement, $50,000,—all very real as possible expenditures, and in all probability only covering the high spots in civic expenditure which the City Council will be called upon to consider sooner or later. That there will be many other ways of spending civic money, some of them right and good and necessary, goes without saying. But no good purpose can be achieved by not taking the ratepayers fully into the confidence of the Council in advance. Criticism of civic expenditures after they have been made are invariably unproductive.

MURPHY-ROWELL SERIAL STORY.

The bitter attack made in the House of Commons by Hon. Charles Murphy upon Hon. N. W. Rowell have become quite a joke on Parliament Hill, and, outside of the fact that the feud takes up a lot of the time of Parliament which might better be employed in the useful transaction of the nation's business, the Murphy-Rowell serial story is not taken seriously anywhere. That Mr. Murphy's vehemence amuses the Press Gallery at least is evident from the following description of the affair by a correspondent of the Toronto Mail and Empire:

> Another stage in the argument of the political case of Murphy and Rowell was heard by the High Court of Parliament today. The controversy, which threatens to be as long protracted as the celebrated action of Jarndyce and Jarndyce, had its origin in a speech which Hon. Newton W. Rowell delivered at North Bay during the general election campaign of December, 1917, and in which Hon. Charles Murphy detected what he considered an attack upon the war records of members of French religious orders now settled in Canada. The case has now been before the House of Commons four times, and in the able hands of Mr. Murphy its ramifications have become as widespread and as complicated as did those of the monument of Chancery practice under the direction of those masters of legal fictions, the jurists described in Charles Dickens' famous novel. Five speeches have been delivered in the House. First, Mr. Murphy stated his complaint in March, 1918. One year later, Hon. Mr. Rowell replied. During the special session last Autumn the member for Russell made additions to his statement of claim upon a question of privilege.
> To-day Mr. Murphy resumed his argument and the President of the Privy Council spoke in rebuttal. Mr. Murphy opened upon the President of the Privy Council with the assertion that in his North Bay speech the latter had delivered an inflammatory harangue against Quebec, and against members of religious orders from France, and had deliberately kindled flames which others were quick to spread. The member for Russell concluded with a slashing attack upon the Orange order, based upon a circular dated March 1, 1918, prepared by the Legislative Committee of the Association, and marked "Confidential, to be read only behind the tyled doors of lodges and preceptories."
> The remainder of his address of two hours and a half duration, the member for Russell devoted himself to criticism of the personal and political conduct of Mr. Rowell as Liberal leader in the Ontario Legislature, and as a member of the Union Government. In all the words and works of Newton Wesley Rowell, the member for Russell found material for condemnation.

THE POLITICAL ISSUE.

(London Free Press).

What the country has to consider, in view of Mr. Crerar's attitude, is whether it is prepared to revolutionize its economic system, with the consequent disruption and instability which our trade must sustain in such circumstances. Are we prepared to stop the flow of United States industries and French industries to Canada? Are we ready to open our doors to the giant monopolies of the Eastern and Middle States and to drive our workingmen to live under another flag? Because if Mr. Crerar's policy means anything at all it means that he hopes to be able to buy more United States goods than at present. And if Canada is to enlarge her purchases from United States manufacturers it must be at the expense of the manufacturers of Canada and in turn of their employees.

Mr. Crerar complains that Canadian farmers are in the position of buying in restricted markets and selling in the open markets of the world. But this is only partially true. The duty upon United States made farm implements is near to the vanishing point. It is less than has been the difference in exchange brought about by the fact that we already are buying too little of that which is produced at home. Nor does the Canadian farmer sell altogether in the open markets of the world, because it has been estimated that 80 per cent. of his product is consumed in Canada, where he has the first call, and where his returns are materially larger than if he had to pay transportation and like charges in foreign countries.

There are more vacant farms in New York state than there are in Ontario. New York state farms are lower-priced than are Ontario farms. Yet these farmers have access to the cheaper farm implements which appeal so strongly to Mr. Crerar. They have the large market of the United States, too. Why is it? One reason probably is that the great cities of the state have their strong lure for the man in the country. Another reason may be that the cost of reaching the ultimate consumer in the United States is so great that the farmer gets an inadequate return for his share of the labor involved in production. Manifestly the condition of the farmer across the border is not better, it is not as good, as is that of the farmers of our own country. This being so, what have our farmers to gain by forcing Canada into the hands of the United States manufacturing monopolies which sooner or later will take from us the last dollar that we are able to pay. Had we not better retain our independence? What could repay us for the loss of it?

Addresses such as the one delivered by D. B. Hanna, president of the Canadian National Railways, to the Ottawa Canadian Club on Saturday are good to hear. Mr. Hanna is of an optimistic temperament. But no one will deny that he is a very practical and sagacious railway man, and if he is optimistic in his view of the prospects of the national railway system it is easy to believe that his optimism is not without justification.

Mr. Hanna is confident that before long the government railways of Canada will be on a paying basis and that the strong probability is that in a few years the returns will help to pay Canada's war debt. Pleasant talk, this, and in sharp contrast to the despairing chorus of predictions that government ownership of railways is likely to run Canada on the rocks of bankruptcy.

The one thing necessary to the success of the Canadian experiment is that the management be allowed a free hand. There must be no political interference with it. The railways must be kept out of party politics.

Good Work

Once there was a Chinaman who when drawing water out of a well saw the reflection of the moon. Said he to himself: "Oh, this is very serious, indeed. The moon has fallen into the well and it is my duty to try to take it out." Then he dropped his bucket and pulled as hard as he could—so hard that he fell on his back—and on looking up saw the moon in the sky. He said to himself: "Well that is good work!"

TEACHERS GIVEN INCREASE

The differences between the Kingston Board of Education and the public school teachers in regard to their demands for increases in salaries were settled and the impending strike of the teachers which was threatened for April 1 will not take place. The teachers withdrew their resignations which had been sent to the Board and the request of the teachers was then granted.

WOMAN LAWYER PRAISED

Woman's entry into the Supreme Court of Ontario has been so rare an occurrence that more than ordinary interest attached to the appearance there Thursday of Miss Helen Palen, barrister at law, on an appeal from a report of the Master in Ordinary. Following her very able presentation of facts and argument the Hon. Mr. Justice Logie warmly complimented her on the capable manner in which she had conducted her case.—Mail and Empire.

THE MARKET

A goodly number of our country friends were this morning in attendance upon the market. Excellent prices were obtained for all products offered for sale. Fresh dairy butter sold at from 65 to 70c per pound, the former price being for basket lots. Fresh eggs sold at 70c per dozen. Dressed chickens were exceptionally high selling at $4 to $4.50 per pair, according to size and quality. The ruling price for potatoes was $4.25 per bag.

NEW POLICE OFFICER

The Police Commissioners of this city have selected Mr. Peter Blake VanMeer as a member of the police force and from appearance the new officer will be the right man in the right place. He is 28 years of age and married and resides in the city. Mr. Van Meer was born in the Township of Tyendinaga, but had lived in the city for some time. He is 6 feet 1½ inches in height. For four years, he did service for his country overseas. The new officer was today sworn in and will immediately enter upon his duties.

KINGSTON HARDLY READY

Referring to the prospects of Kingston's development, as depicted by H. C. Acres at the Citizens' banquet on Tuesday evening, a prominent citizen remarks that in his opinion Kingston is hardly ready to take advantage of an industrial boom, or, in fact, any kind of a boom. He points out that fully one hundred houses are needed this season for the comfort and health of those who are living in cramped dwellings in different parts of the city and a new modern hotel. These things we must have now.—Kingston Whig.

THE HOUSING PROPOSITION

At a meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association of this city held on Wednesday evening the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Whereas the housing situation in Ontario and in Belleville in particular is very acute that the Federal and Ontario Governments be requested to grant further funds for the work of the Provincial Housing Commission and that the resolution be forwarded to all branches of the G.W.V.A. in Ontario for endorsation. And further all branches to send a copy of the resolution to their Provincial and Federal members immediately."

The New Brunswick Federation of Labor will hold a convention to organize an Independent Labor Party.

Wild West Holdup On Busy Broadway

NEW YORK, March 12—While Broadway was crowded tonight with theatregoers, three armed bandits, smashed in the window of a jewelry store at 37th street, kept the crowds at bay with their revolvers until they had emptied the contents of several trays into their pockets, and then escaped, shooting one pedestrian who attempted to stop them.

A few minutes later three men entered another Broadway jewelry store a few blocks up town, and after throwing pepper in a clerk's eyes, grabbed some trays of jewelry and ran from the store. Two men, alleged to be members of the trio, were arrested by the police after a chase.

Proprietors of the two stores estimated that thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry had been stolen.

The first robbery, in which Schwartz Brothers were the victims was engineered with daring. While rubbing elbows with passing pedestrians, one of the bandits slipped an iron bar through the handles of the door, so that it could not be opened from the inside. Then a brick wrapped in cloth was hurled through the window.

At the jingle of falling glass, Frank Schwartz ran excitedly to the door and tried to pull it open as he shouted for help. The crowd, also attracted by the crash, swarmed about the robbers two of whom continued coolly at their task of raking diamonds and rubies out of the window, while the third member of their party kept spectators away.

Gun Play Starts

Seeing the crowds halt and form in a semicircle around the store Patrolman Anthony Weigen came racing to the scene.

Just as he arrived and began to fight his way through the excited throng, the robbers called it a day's work, packed the last of the gems in their pockets, parted company and started, each for himself, to carve a way through the human semicircle.

Then came gun play. Sighting a man break away from the crowd and dart up Broadway, Weigen, with drawn revolver, gave chase.

The crowds took to cover as they heard the crack of a revolver, but Weigen had missed his aim, and the robber sped on.

In front of the fugitive was a subway air hole, with the cover off, and through this hole the bandit jumped to the subway tracks, fifteen feet below.

He narrowly missed being struck by a passing train, for the roar of its progress was heard on the street above a few seconds after the robber played his last card and won. For after the reserves had assembled in full force and searched the subway from 42nd street down to 34th street they found no trace of the daring bandit and were forced to admit that he had strolled to the nearest station, jumped up on the platform and escaped.

NERVOUS, THIN, AILING WOMEN

Vinol Will Enrich Your Blood, Banish Nervousness, Make You Strong and Well

Physicians Recommend Vinol and Druggists Guarantee It

Pale, nervous, ailing women always tired, and often fussy, make homes unattractive and unhappy.

You can readily change that tired, dragged-out, listless feeling to one of buoyant health by building up your blood, nerve and muscle tissue with VINOL.

It makes red corpuscles and enriches the blood, quickens the circulation, creates a hearty appetite, promotes sound sleep, strengthens the nerves and imparts renewed vitality, energy and vim to every organ in the body. The step quickens, the eyes brighten and a clear, healthy complexion replaces that pale, sallow color.

If such women could only realize the change that VINOL will make in their appearance, by restoring strength and health, they would not rest until they started its use.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like VINOL. Your druggist will return your money if Vinol fails to benefit you.

Letters To The Editor

BELLEVILLE CITIZENS

Los Angeles, California,
To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—When I use the term "School Board," I do not mean the entire Board, but only about four or five men who are urging erection of a Collegiate Institute and a Ward School. The other members who do not desire conflict with the men I refer to, seem apathetic and I believe are really opposed to the scheme. An examination of the amount demanded from the city for schools for ten years will show an alarming increase in the annual amount demanded. So great, that now the annual grant is nearly equal to the entire amount required by the Council to carry on the affairs of the city.

Albert College is a financial feeder to the City which granted a large sum in favor of the new College, which will be modern, teaching all educational subjects. The Board last year stated that $150,000 would be required for a Collegiate Institute. I said $250,000 would be nearer the truth. This year the Board asks $350,000 and $100,000 for Coleman Ward School, making a total of about half a million. I expect such a College is not required. Albert will supply all educational demands. If this scheme is carried you plant a dagger in Albert's heart, because the Belleville College will take away the students who Albert has a right to expect from the city.

Suppose the scheme is carried; $350,000 expended for which a mortgage must be put on all real estate in the city; the annual interest to be paid say at six per cent. makes a large sum. Add to this, thirty educated teachers each at a salary of at least $2,000. Add to this the annual cost of heating, light, care-takers of house and grounds and you have an immense additional expenditure. The head of the College must receive $5,000, instead of present salary of $2,500. Then it is said the old buildings, high school etc., require expensive repairs which we may call $50,000, or more.

They do not sell the former schools which are decaying rapidly.

My opinion is that $15,000 for Coleman Ward School would be ample. I have seen here a number of ward schools. One hundred thousand, would I believe, build ten such schools as are here.

The Dominion taxes are now $320 per head of the people of the Dominion as against about $20 before the war. Income tax is heavy, and every article we wear is hard to purchase, and we have to pay war tax.

The dollar now will buy only fifty cents worth of necessaries. It has shrunken one half.

Alderman Bone says the debenture debt will be doubled this year if the Board and City's demands are carried out. How can the orphans, widows, laborers and others pay these taxes? Renters must add these taxes to their rents and must leave the city and the houses must be vacant. Why burden these new industries with heavy taxes? Citizens of Belleville, consider these facts and others which will occur to you. Bring the force of public opinion at once to bear if you want to save your city from permanent ruin.

I may add the amount required for machines, books, etc., will be large. The moment a machine receives a patented improvement it must be thrown out and the new one obtained.

Yours truly,
JOHN J. B. FLINT

SERIOUS OFFENCE

Before Magistrate Masson this morning, Adolphus Deary of this city was charged that he did on the 10th day of March, commit an indecent act. The accused pleaded guilty and judgment was suspended for a few days. Mr. Carnew, County Attorney, represented the Crown.

COMMUTE STATUTE LABOR

Hamilton Township Council introduced a resolution at its last session to commute statute labor at $1.25 per day. Road work in this municipality has been carried on under the direction of path masters in the different divisions almost since it was set aside as a township.

TEACHERS GIVEN INCREASE

The differences between the Kingston Board of Education and the public school teachers in regard to their demands for increases in salaries were settled and the impending strike of the teachers which was threatened for April 1 will not take place. The teachers withdrew their resignations which had been sent to the Board and the request of the teachers was then granted.

WOMAN LAWYER PRAISED

Woman's entry into the Supreme Court of Ontario has been so rare an occurrence that more than ordinary interest attached to the appearance there Thursday of Miss Helen Palen, barrister at law, on an appeal from a report of the Master in Ordinary. Following her very able presentation of facts and argument the Hon. Mr. Justice Logie warmly complimented her on the capable manner in which she had conducted her case.—Mail and Empire.

THE MARKET

A goodly number of our country friends were this morning in attendance upon the market. Excellent prices were obtained for all products offered for sale. Fresh dairy butter sold at from 65 to 70c per pound, the former price being for basket lots. Fresh eggs sold at 70c per dozen. Dressed chickens were exceptionally high selling at $4 to $4.50 per pair, according to size and quality. The ruling price for potatoes was $4.25 per bag.

NEW POLICE OFFICER

The Police Commissioners of this city have selected Mr. Peter Blake VanMeer as a member of the police force and from appearance the new officer will be the right man in the right place. He is 28 years of age and married and resides in the city. Mr. Van Meer was born in the Township of Tyendinaga, but had lived in the city for some time. He is 6 feet 1½ inches in height. For four years, he did service for his country overseas. The new officer was today sworn in and will immediately enter upon his duties.

KINGSTON HARDLY READY

Referring to the prospects of Kingston's development, as depicted by H. J. Acres at the Citizens' banquet on Tuesday evening, a prominent citizen remarks that in his opinion Kingston is hardly ready to take advantage of an industrial boom, or, in fact, any kind of a boom. He points out that fully one hundred houses are needed this season for the comfort and health of those who are living in cramped dwellings in different parts of the city and a new modern hotel. These things we must have now.—Kingston Whig.

THE HOUSING PROPOSITION

At a meeting of the Great War Veterans' Association of this city held on Wednesday evening the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Whereas the housing situation in Ontario and in Belleville in particular is very acute that the Federal and Ontario Governments be requested to grant further funds for the work of the Provincial Housing Commission and that the resolution be forwarded to all branches of the G.W.V.A. in Ontario for endorsation. And further all branches to send a copy of the resolution to their Provincial and Federal members immediately."

Wild West Holdup On Busy Broadway

NEW YORK, March 12—While Broadway was crowded tonight with theatregoers, three armed bandits smashed in the window of a jewelry store at 37th street, kept the crowds at bay with their revolvers until they had emptied the contents of several trays into their pockets, and then escaped, shooting one pedestrian who attempted to stop them.

A few minutes later three men entered another Broadway jewelry store a few blocks up town, and after throwing pepper in a clerk's eyes, grabbed some trays of jewelry and ran from the store. Two men, alleged to be members of the trio, were arrested by the police after a chase.

Proprietors of the two stores estimated that thousands of dollars' worth of jewelry had been stolen.

The first robbery, in which Schwartz Brothers were the victims was engineered with daring. While rubbing elbows with passing pedestrians, one of the bandits slipped an iron bar through the handles of the door, so that it could not be opened from the inside. Then a brick wrapped in cloth was hurled through the window.

At the jingle of falling glass, Frank Schwartz ran excitedly to the door and tried to pull it open as he shouted for help. The crowd, also attracted by the crash, swarmed about the robbers two of whom continued coolly at their task of raking diamonds and rubies out of the window, while the third member of their party kept spectators away.

Gun Play Starts

Seeing the crowds halt and form in a semicircle around the store Patrolman Anthony Weigen came racing to the scene.

Just as he arrived and began to fight his way through the excited throng, the robbers called it a day's work, packed the last of the gems in their pockets, parted company and started, each for himself, to carve a way through the human semicircle.

Then came gun play. Sighting a man break away from the crowd and dart up Broadway, Weigen, with drawn revolver, gave chase.

The crowds took to cover as they heard the crack of a revolver, but Weigen had missed his aim, and the robber sped on.

In front of the fugitive was a subway air hole, with the cover off, and through this hole the bandit jumped to the subway tracks, fifteen feet below.

He narrowly missed being struck by a passing train, for the roar of its progress was heard on the street above a few seconds after the robber played his last card and won. For after the reserves had assembled in full force and searched the subway from 42nd street down to 34th street they found no trace of the daring bandit and were forced to admit that he had strolled to the nearest station, jumped up on the platform and escaped.

NERVOUS, THIN, AILING WOMEN

Vinol Will Enrich Your Blood, Banish Nervousness, Make You Strong and Well

Physicians Recommend Vinol and Druggists Guarantee It

Pale, nervous, ailing women always tired, and often fussy, make homes unattractive and unhappy.

You can readily change that tired, dragged-out, listless feeling to one of buoyant health by building up your blood, nerve and muscle tissue with VINOL.

It makes red corpuscles and enriches the blood, quickens the circulation, creates a hearty appetite, promotes sound sleep, strengthens the nerves and imparts renewed vitality, energy and vim to every organ in the body. The step quickens, the eyes brighten and a clear, healthy complexion replaces that pale, sallow color.

If such women could only realize the change that VINOL will make in their appearance, by restoring strength and health, they would not rest until they started its use.

For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, overworked men, feeble old people and delicate children, there is no remedy like VINOL. Your druggist will return your money if Vinol fails to benefit you.

Letters To The Editor

BELLEVILLE CITIZENS

Los Angeles, California.

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:—When I use the term "School Board," I do not mean the entire Board, but only about four or five men who are urging erection of a Collegiate Institute and a Ward School. The other members who do not desire conflict with the men I refer to, seem apathetic and I believe are really opposed to the scheme. An examination of the amount demanded from the city for schools for ten years will show an alarming increase in the annual amount demanded. So great, that now the annual grant is nearly equal to the entire amount required by the Council to carry on the affairs of the city.

Albert College is a financial feeder to the City which granted a large sum in favor of the new College, which will be modern, teaching all educational subjects. The Board last year stated that $150,000 would be required for a Collegiate Institute. I said $250,000 would be nearer the truth. This year the Board asks $350,000 and $100,000 for Coleman Ward School, making a total of about half a million. I expect such a College is not required. Albert will supply all educational demands. If this scheme is carried you plant a dagger in Albert's heart, because the Belleville College will take away the students who Albert has a right to expect from the city.

Suppose the scheme is carried; $350,000 expended for which a mortgage must be put on all real estate in the city: the annual interest to be paid say at six per cent. makes a large sum. Add to this, thirty educated teachers each at a salary of at least $2,000. Add to this the annual cost of heating, light, care-takers of house and grounds and you have an immense additional expenditure. The head of the College must receive $5,000, instead of present salary of $2,500. Then it is said the old buildings, high school etc., require expensive repairs which we may call $50,000, or more.

They do not sell the former schools which are decaying rapidly.

My opinion is that $15,000 for Coleman Ward School would be ample. I have seen here a number of ward schools. One hundred thousand, would I believe, build ten such schools as are here.

The Dominion taxes are now $320 per head of the people of the Dominion as against about $20 before the war. Income tax is heavy, and every article we wear is hard to purchase, and we have to pay war tax.

The dollar now will buy only fifty cents worth of necessaries. It has shrunken one half.

Alderman Bone says the debenture debt will be doubled this year if the Board and City's demands are carried out. How can the orphans, widows, laborers and others pay these taxes? Renters must add these taxes to their rents and must leave the city and the houses must be vacant. Why burden these new industries with heavy taxes? Citizens of Belleville, consider these facts and others which will occur to you. Bring the force of public opinion at once to bear if you want to save your city from permanent ruin.

I may add the amount required for machines, books, etc., will be large. The moment a machine receives a patented improvement it must be thrown out and the new one obtained.

Yours truly,
JOHN J. B. FLINT

No More Loans To Allies From United States

Deferring of Interest Payments for Three Years is Likely Policy

WASHINGTON, March 11 — Announcement by Secretary of the Treasury Houston that no further loans would be made to the Allies, was believed to indicate the adoption by the Treasury of the policy favored by the debtor nations of deferring interest payments for the next three years or more.

Under authority granted by Congress to extend ten billion dollars in credits to the Allied nations, the Treasury has made loans amounting to $9,659,834,649. Secretary Houston said that the remainder of the credits authorized would not be granted, as it was thought sufficient advances had been made.

Discussing the question, Treasury officials said that in view of the exchange situation and the unsettled economic condition of the European nations during the reconstruction period, it would seem advisable to permit them to postpone interest payments for at least three years. Then, it is believed, they would be in a position to meet their obligations.

With the interest on loans computed at five per cent. the total due the United States yearly is about $470,000,000, an enormous sum for the war-weakened countries to pay at present. If interest is funded into long-term obligations, the interest on the payments thus deferred will amount to only $23,000,000 yearly, which can be paid and the credit of the debtor nations maintained. Treasury officials are working on recommendations to submit to Congress as to the course to be followed if deferred payments are permitted. It has been suggested that the interest on the interest be charged off, but the proposal has met with strong opposition in Congress.

The chief debtors are Great Britain with $4,277,000,000; France with $3,047,947,777 and Italy with $1,621,338 986. Belgium's debt is $343,445,000 and Russia is charged with $187,729,750. Rumania, Serbia, Cuba, Greece, Czecho-Slovakia and Liberia are the other countries listed on the books of the Treasury.

When Baby Is Cross

Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him—something is the matter. It is not the nature of the little ones to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and the stomach, banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and relieve the other minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Oscar Bedard Ste. Sophie, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy for constipation. They relieved my little ones when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to all mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Spent His Time With Pacifists

PARIS, March 12—Tetsimony to show that Joseph Caillaux, former Premier, had relations with Italian pacifists, was introduced at M. Caillaux's trial before the high court of the Senate. M. Caillaux is charged with having attempted through "defeatist" intrigues to bring about a premature and dishonorable peace with Germany.

Charles Roux, counsellor of the French Embassy, at Rome testified that while M. Caillaux was in Italy in 1916, he associated exclusively with the pacifists Cavallinie, Rericcardia and Brunicardini, all of whom are at present under indictment on the charge of having intelligence with the enemy.

M. Roux reported M. Caillaux as saying that the peace overtures of Dr. von Bethmann-Holweg, former Imperial Chancellor, must be considered. The presence of Mr. Caillaux in Italy, his pacifist activities, his expressed desire to conclude an alliance of Italy, Spain and France, and the publication of President Wilson's peace not, M. Roux testified, were followed promptly by Swiss, Danish, Swedish and Norwegian notes. All were interpreted in Italy, the witness declared, as part of the German peace drive.

17 BOTTLES OF WHISKY FOUND IN DINING CAR

Bridgeburg, March 12—P. J. Townsend of Buffalo, a waiter employed by the Pullman Company, was charged under the Ontario Temperance Act with having liquor in his possession unlawfully, and was fined $300 and costs of $26. He was charged with being the owner of seventeen bottles of intoxicants found on a Toronto, Hamilton & Buffalo dining car on Jan. 17th, by U. S. Customs officials at Black Rock. Prosecution was made by Inspector Ferris of the License Department and by M.C.R. Detective D. Moyanhan. Townsend was chardged with being one of an alleged ring of railway employees who have, it is believed, been using their position as an adjunct to smuggling.

BERLIN MAGISTRATE LETS GERMAN ROWDY PRINCE GO

Berlin, March 11—The Magistrate at the preliminary inquiry held regarding the conduct of Prince Joachin Albrecht of Prussia in the dining-room of the Hotel Aldon Saturday night, when bottles, plates and other missles were hurled at members of the French mission refused the public prosecutor's application for the remand of the Prince in custody, saying he considered that prima facie case had not been made out. The Commander-in-chief for the Mark, however, ordered the Prince detained at the Moabit Prison, and it is expected that a charge will be preferred against him in a few days.

HEARST PAPER CALLED "MUD-GUTTER GAZETTE"

Albany, N.Y., March 12.—Governor Smith referred once more to William Randolph Hearst's New York evening paper as the "mud-gutter gazette," and attacked Hearst for publishing in yesterday's edition an editorial declaring that he vetoed a cold storage bill last session at the behest of the meat trust and the Wholesale Grocers Association.

Governor Smith declared: "Hearst's lying newspapers fool nobody. They are losing in prestige and influence every day."

Fast Ford Street Car Is Inpsected

DETROIT, Mich, March 11—Mayor Counsens and members of the City Council inspected the new Ford gasoline street car at the Dearborn tractor plant.

When the councill ors saw the car, which has been suggested as the type of equipment to be used on Mayor Cousens' proposed municipal street railway system the shell of the body was mounted upon the chassis, while workmen were engaged preparing exterior surfaces for painting.

Charles E. Sorneson, general manager of the tractor plant, who is superintending development of the new car, said it would be a month before it would be ready for a test run o Chicago over the lines of the Michigan Central. The car will be operated under its own power on the tracks about the plant before then, he added.

This test car is not the one that will be developed for use on local lines, Mr. Sorenson explained. The present model is designed for interurban service, and in addition to a power plant, double the size of that which will go into city cars, it is being equipped with a suburban type of body, standard railroad draft gear and airbrake equipment.

In the model being constructed, the exhaust is carried out through the roof of the car. In the equipment of the city car, the hot gases from the exhaust will be utilized to heat the car by carrying it through the radiators fitted alongside the car.

A single power unit of the type designed for gasoline street cars was shown while running on a test block for the officials' benefit.

Coupled to a big generator, it was speeded up to 1,500 revolutions per minute, when the indicator showed that it was developing approximately 85 horsepower. In practical operation, the motor operating at 1,000 revolutions per minute will produce 75 horsepower.

To demonstrate the lack of vibration when the motor was running at top speed, Mr. Sorenson balanced a lead pencil on end on top of one of the cylinders, where it stood without a tremor.

Mr. Ford told the councillors that while the car could be run at any speed up to 85 or 90 miles an hour, the engine would be equipped with a governor which would be set at a fixed maximum speed to insure safe economical operation o fthe car in practice.

ITALIAN GIRL CONFESSES MURDER

New York, March 12—Marie Tucci, a pretty 29-year-old Italian girl, walked into the Atlantic City jail and announced that she wished to be arrested because she had killed her sister, Mrs. Angelia Conti, in New York on Monday. The New York police who have been seeking the girl, immediately sent a detective to the New Jersey

The girl said she had shot her sister in self-defense after Mrs. Conti had threatened to attack her with a knife for refusing to go out on a party arranged by her. Then she wandered about for two days, and finally reached Atlantic City. She was hysterical when arrested.

The body of Mrs. Conti, shot through the right temple, was found in her apartment on West Houston street early Monday.
